GRACELAND
CEMETERY CO.S OFFICE
Removed to Montauk Block, 115 Monroe Street.

Large additions have recently been made to Graceland, nearly doubling its size, and the new part has been improved at great cost on the landscape lawn plan, and it equals in beauty any of the parks around Chicago.

The main features of the new part are, a beautifully undulating surface; picturesque lakes; fine lawns; smooth roads; a great variety of trees and shrubbery; water works for sprinkling the ground; thorough under-drainage; and accessibility by drives and by the street railway and steam dummy.

A large and growing fund in the hands of Trustees—Jerome Beecher, Esq., Treasurer—insures the perpetual maintenance and preservation of Graceland. Several sections have been laid out in the new part, and lots can now be bought there, and other sections will be opened as fast as they may be required.

MAGNETIC GIRDLE FOR MEN.

Are You Nervous, and Lack Vital Energy?

In all diseases of a nervous or muscular type, such as Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Overworked Brain, Exhaustion, or Loss of Vital Energy, Weak Back, Kidney Disease, our Magnetic Belt or Regenerator is made expressly for the cure of derangements of the procreative organs. Whenever any debility of the generative organs occurs, from whatever cause, the continuous stream of Magnetism permeating through the parts must restore them to healthy action. There is no mistake about this appliance. Years of use have tested it, and thousands of cures are testified to. Weakness from Indiscretion, Incapacity, Lack of Vigor, Sterility—in fact, any troubles of these organs is cured. Do not confound this with electric belts advertised to cure all ills from head to toe. This is for the one specific purpose.

Price of Belt, $10. Sent by express upon receipt of price, and, if not found as represented, money refunded. In ordering, send measure of waist. Remittances can be made in currency, sent in letter at our risk.

MAGNETON APPLIANCE COMPANY,
218 State-st., Chicago.

(Cork) Insoles: What They Do!

The Magnetic Insoles contain a series of Magnets, scientifically arranged, that form minute batteries, recharging the blood with magnetism, and exerting a tranquillizing influence upon the entire system through the consequent improved circulation.

Insulate the feet from the cold and damp earth, and thus prevent the abstraction of the positive force from the body.

Generate by their magnetic action an agreeable warmth and secure perfect circulation in the feet and lower extremities.

Cure Chilblains and remove all unnatural heat, perspiration, swelling of the feet and ankles.

Prevent, relieve, and, in some cases, cure rheumatism, neuralgia, and kindred diseases.

In all forms of chronic and nervous disease and debility are invaluable.

Are a great conserver and direct promoter of general health, and can be worn at all seasons of the year; being made very thin, take up very little room in the shoe.

One pair of the Magnetic Insoles will demonstrate the truth of these claims. Price, $1.00 per pair.

Fifty thousand men, women, and children of the City of Chicago and the West are wearing them.

The Magnetic Insoles will convince the wearer of the power residing in our other Magnetic Appliances.

Remittances can be made in one-cent postage stamps or currency sent in letter at our risk.

Sent by mail on receipt of price and the size of shoe usually worn, by the Magnetic Appliance Co., 218 State-st., Chicago, Ill., sole manufacturers of the United States.

For full instruction in the new Magnetic Treatment for nervous and chronic diseases send for the "new departure" in healing and physical culture, containing testimonials of the marvelous cures obtained from wearing Magnetic Appliances without the taking of drugs and medicines.

CHICKERING

THE KING OF PIANOS.

ALWAYS VICTORIOUS!

THE WORLD-RENOWNED

CHICKERING,

It was well said years ago that the Gold Medals awarded to the Chickering would make a KING'S RANSOM.

The latest triumph for the Chickering & Sons' Piano was at the Mechanics' Institute Fair in Boston, where they were awarded ONE GOLD MEDAL and TWO SILVER MEDALS over all competitors.

The Chickering Piano has stood in the front rank for nearly a century, always in the lead and always the first to introduce improvements. The inventors of

THE IRON FRAME,
THE OVERSTRUNG BASS,
THE CIRCULAR SCALE,
THE AGRAFFE BRIDGE,

All of which have been universally copied by all other makers.

Their last and crowning invention is the Complete Metal Action, substituting metal for wood in all parts of the action liable to be affected by dampness or changes of temperature, making it the only Piano in the world that is insensible to atmospheric changes; as wooden plows, wooden axletrees, wooden buildings, wooden ships, wooden clocks, wooden bridges have all been displaced by more substantial iron and steel, or other suitable metal, so the metallic action of the Chickering Piano is destined to displace the old-fashioned wooden action now in use by all other makers.

Splendid assortment of new Chickering Pianos, Grand, Square, and Upright, including some superb instruments for the Fall Trade, just received at the Music Rooms of

CALL AND EXAMINE

STEINWAY'S PIANOS

Have established for themselves such a world-wide reputation and stand so far above any and all rival makes that it is almost useless to add anything further in their praise.

However, one distinction which THEY ALONE of all the Piano makers of America can lay claim to is, that they themselves manufacture every part of their Pianofortes—including the casting of the full STEEL FRAMES used in all their styles—in their own factories and foundries. They are thus enabled to supervise not only the construction of all their instruments, but also possess the power to see that nothing but the best materials are used in every part of their Pianos, and are not obliged, as are all other Piano manufacturers, to buy the various parts of their instruments from dealers in such articles, the chief consideration of the latter being to put their Pianos together as cheaply as possible.

Steinway & Sons run their own Pianoforte Manufactory in New York City and their own Piano Case Manufactory, Saw-Mill, Iron Foundry, and Metal Works in Astoria, L. I.

W. W. Warren
WARREN'S ENTIRE WHEAT PATENT
FRANKLIN MILLS CO.
CHICAGO.

BREAD REFORM.

WARREN'S
ENTIRE WHEAT
PATENT FLOUR

Is a Flour of the Entire Food Substance of Wheat—and of that part only—discarding, therefore, the innutritious, insoluble husk or outer bran of the grain—not only that, but a flour in which every food element of the wheat is preserved in its purity and natural proportion, and therefore complete in nutritive value, and, furthermore, a flour of such texture and structure as will aid digestion and assimilation, and secure and develop in the bread-loaf all the lightness, porosity—largeness and weight—possible to a given quantity of flour.

All the Gluten and all the Phosphates of the wheat are in the Flour—and because of the perfection of the process of disintegration which is based upon the peculiar structure of the kernel—they are in it, in the only form and condition in which they can be fully developed and utilized in bread-making. These facts explain why this Flour makes so many more pounds of bread per barrel than ever before known in the history of wheat.

This Flour will always be kept up to this high standard, as it will be made under Mr. Warren's constant supervision, and dealers and consumers may always rely upon its being exactly as represented, i. e., a "Flour of the Entire Food Substance of the Best Wheat," without any of the insoluble, indigestible outer husk or skins of the grain, and the most complete, economic, wholesome, and healthful Food Flour ever produced.

This Flour Yields
25 PER CENT MORE BREAD
Than the Best Minnesota Patent Flour.

THE MASSACRE

OF SIX COLORED MEN AT LANCASTER, S. C., AND THE WOUNDING OF EIGHTEEN OTHERS—NO WHITE MEN SCRATCHED.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

LANCASTER, S. C., Sept. 30.—The bloody riot which occurred here on the 27th was the legitimate sequence of the aggressive policy of the South Carolina Democracy against free speech. On several occasions during the past two weeks, serious rows have occurred at Greenback and Republican meetings, for which the Democrats can alone be held responsible. Yet the leading newspapers in the State, notably the influential and powerful Charleston News and Courier, commend the red-shirted Democracy in breaking up these political meetings.

AT WINNSBORO

last week a Greenback meeting was crushed out by mounted and armed Red-Shirters, and the Greenback nominee for Governor, J. Hendricks McLane, an inoffensive and respectable gentleman, was shamefully maltreated. It is asserted by a prominent citizen of Columbia who was there that it was the evident purpose of the infuriated Democracy to murder McLane on the spot. As a matter of fact he barely escaped with his life. The News and Courier, which claims to mold public opinion and lead the people in South Carolina,

ACTUALLY APPLAUDED THE DISGRACEFUL PROCEEDINGS of the Winnsboro bulldozers. Of course this encouraged repetitions of these political disorders, and the Lancaster riot followed as a natural consequence. Thus far only Democratic versions of this bloody affair have been published, and these agree in casting upon the Greenbackers and Republicans the entire responsibility of the bloodshed. Since matters have quieted down different accounts have been circulated. The following is the substance of a prominent white Republican's statement concerning the riot: "Several days before the meeting,

WORD WAS SENT OUT to the Democratic clubs throughout the county to come to town prepared to break up Cash's meeting. Before Col. Cash assumed the rôle of Greenbacker he was very popular in Lancaster, but as soon as he announced himself an Independent candidate for Congress he became a target for abuse, and immediately lost the friendship of many prominent citizens of his district. But despite their enmity and malignity Cash determined to make the canvass and to be heard on the stump. He advertised to hold a meeting here on the 26th, and a large crowd of colored and white Greenbackers, Republicans and Independents, flocked to hear him.

HE MADE A FEARLESS SPEECH, in which he denounced the Democracy for violating the pledges made by Hampton. He censured them for passing unjust and grinding laws, originating a scheme to cheat the colored voters at the polls, attempting to suppress free speech, and for corrupt practices generally. During his speech there was no loud disturbance; but it afterward transpired that a party of bloodthirsty and hot-headed Democrats had premeditated jerking Cash from the stand and beating him with sticks. The vigilance of several trusted friends of Cash, who were apprised of

THE INTENDED OUTRAGE,

prevented its execution, and thereby probably prevented a much deadlier fight than actually followed. Cash, having finished his address, said he would accord to any Democrat present the privilege of replying. Mr. David Carter, editor of the Lancaster Ledger, who had sat near the speaker taking notes, rose to reply, and made a short, good-humored speech, in which he attempted to refute the charges made. After Carter had spoken a few minutes some of the Democrats commanded him to come down and not take part in the meeting; that

THEY WOULD HAVE THEIR FUN LATER.

Cash and Carter then left the stand to repair to the hotel in another part of the town. There was no unseemly demonstration over their departure, and the crowd began to disperse gradually. A prominent colored politician named Crockett, who stood near the stand during the speaking, and had been loud in his applause throughout Cash's speech, was approached by three Red-Shirters, who simultaneously attacked him with sticks, one having a drawn pistol. Crockett was badly beaten, and several colored men who came to his assistance were put to flight. During the mêlée the whites fired five or six shots, two colored men receiving slight wounds.

THE NEGROES FLED PRECIPITATELY

and did not return the fire of their enemies. Crockett, fearing he would be killed, went to the upper part of town, and, with fifty or sixty men who lived in the country, waited several hours, when the party mounted their horses and started for home. When coming down the principal street, they were confronted by a large force of armed Red-Shirters. One of the party drew a pistol and SHOT CROCKETT DEAD.

Many weapons now flashed from both sides, and there was a lively skirmish for several minutes, during which five negroes were killed outright, and not less than eighteen wounded, one of whom has since died, and the early death of several others is expected. It required several hours to fully restore order. The report that two white men were wounded is not true. Not one was hurt. My informant vouches for the accuracy of the above details. He opines that a repetition of the Lancaster massacre may occur at any day. Andrew Jackson was born at Lancaster.

NEW YORK POLITICIANS.

FOLGER.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30.—Gentlemen who arrived today from New York say that Judge Folger has no intention of declining the Saratoga nomination, and that he has little intention of resigning his position in the Treasury, and that he is now engaged in preparing his letter of acceptance.

SESSIONS.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The Sessions bribery case, which was to be tried Oct. 2, has been postponed till Oct. 9, on account of professional engagements of the Attorney-General.

THE GREENBACKERS.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The State Central Committee of the National Greenback-Labor party held a meeting today at the Sturtevant House. The party was declared by Chairman George O. Jones and several others to have passed through and beyond the state of ridicule and abuse, and to have reached a position where people are ready to hear and consider its doctrines. Reports were received from every Congressional district and from nearly every county in the State, and Chairman Jones estimated that the Greenback vote would be from 100 to 300 per cent greater than it was last year. From the reports of the delegates present it was learned that Congressmen have been or will be nominated by the Greenbackers in all the districts of the State the First, Sixth, Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-eighth. It is possible, however, that no nomination will be made in the Tenth and in one or two other districts. In nearly every county in the State pure county tickets will be nominated, and in every instance lawyers will be tabooed as candidates. A letter was prepared inviting the Republican and Democratic candidates for both State, Congressional, and county offices to discuss at public meetings the issues of the campaign. The Hon. Gilbert L. De La Matyr was present during a portion of the session.

EXCEPT

THE PROBLEM WITH MANY

just now is whether Secretary Folger will stick his candidature out and meet the people of the State at the polls or send in his letter of declination. It is quite certain that a certain large element are endeavoring to persuade him to decline, but so far without effect. It may be set down as almost a certainty that he will stay just where he is, both as to his State canvass and his position in the Cabinet, as he must be aware of the fact by this time that while he is not by any means certain of his election here it will be the part of wisdom for him to retain the portfolio of the Treasury until such time as his resignation may be requested by the President.

THE HON. EDWARDS PIERREPONT says he does not see how Judge Folger can withdraw from the present canvass. Mr. George Bliss says the idea of Folger's declining is ridiculously absurd, and that while the action of the Young Republicans of Brooklyn has had a depressing effect on the Gubernatorial candidate and others, it will certainly wear off, and that by election time this and all similar outbreaks will have spent their force. Mr. John J. O'Brien, chief of the Bureau of Elections here, speaking on this subject, says that Folger's present apparent apathy is caused by "the attempted stiffening of the Half-Breed backbone, but when the reaction sets in there will be a turn of the tide." In a week or ten days, Mr. O'Brien says, the Republicans will begin a campaign that will astonish the people.

THURLOW WEED

does not take a very hopeful view of the situation, expressing himself as follows today: "Unhappily there have been serious dissensions in the Republican party ever since the assassination of President Garfield. It was hoped that all these dissensions might be allayed and harmony restored by the action of our State Convention. In this, however, we are disappointed, and I see no way open but in promptly calling a new convention. There is time enough for such a movement, and such, in my judgment, would reunite the party and result auspiciously. The opposition, so strong and so pervading, is not to Judge Folger himself, but to the causes which ought to be ignored, and I think they would be obliterated in the way I have suggested."

CLEVELAND.

The letter of acceptance of the Hon. Grover Cleveland, the Democratic nominee for Governor, may be looked for about Tuesday. On that day the State Committee of the Anti-Monopoly party will meet in Albany to act upon the nominations of both parties. The indications are that they will indorse the Democratic nominees. Mr. Cleveland has promised to transmit his views on anti-monopoly issues to the meeting. It is also expected that, unless his letter of acceptance is placed in the hands of the Republican State Committee before that day, Secretary Folger will also communicate his views on the same subject.

POLITICAL ASSESSMENTS.

MR. HUBBELL'S REMARKS.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Conspicuous among the politicians at the Fifth Avenue Hotel today was Mr. Jay Hubbell. In a conversation on the political-assessment question he said that the hue and cry that had been raised about it was senseless and unjust. "Why," said he, "two years ago, during the Garfield campaign, I was really exacting, even to the extent of levying an additional assessment. No fault was then found with me, but, on the contrary, I was set down as a smart fellow, a true Republican, a patriot. Now, however, there has gone up a shout against the system, but it has availed nothing. Considering that this is an off year, we have collected much more than in 1879, the last off year."

FOR CONGRESS.

TENNESSEE—WHITTHORNE'S SUCCESSOR.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 30.—John G. Ballentine was nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Seventh District of Tennessee at Pulaski this morning after an exciting session of three days. This is the district now represented by W. C. Whitthorne.

PENNSYLVANIA.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 30.—E. L. Acker was nominated by the irregularly appointed conferees of the Democratic candidate for Congress as the Seventh District. The regular conference will take place Monday.

READING, Pa., Sept. 30.—Joshua Wright was nominated for Congress by the Greenbackers of the Eighth District.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 30.—Samuel F. Barr was renominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fourteenth District.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The Democrats of the Fourth District nominated Patrick A. Collins for Congress.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 30.—The Republicans of the Second District nominated E. M. Brayton for Congress.

NEW YORK.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The Democrats of the Twentieth District nominated Edward Wemple for Congress.

THE RAILROADS.

Still Further Decline in East-Bound Freight Shipments—Poor Prospects for the Eastern Roads.

Nothing could better illustrate that east-bound freight business from this city is exceptionally dull than the fact that there was another large decrease in flour, grain, and provision shipments during the past week. Instead of an increase in business during the latter part of the month, as is usually the case, because shortages have to be made good at the end of the month, there has been a steady decline from week to week this month, and the shipments for the past week—the last week of the month—were but 23,457 tons against 30,057 tons for the first week of the month, and against 32,019 tons for the last week in August. The decrease over the week previous amounted to 3,730 tons. A decrease of nearly 10,000 tons in one month when business had all along been exceptionally small and at a time when it ought to be booming is a matter which cannot well be treated lightly by the Eastern managers. The roads leading here from the West are bringing in larger amounts of grain at present than they have done ever before at this season of the year. Yet, as will readily be seen by the small shipments, the Eastern lines get but little of it. The bulk of the grain that comes here goes into elevators, and the little that is wanted in the East goes by the lake lines, where the rates are much lower than by rail. There is no prospect that under the present condition of affairs, even after the close of navigation, the Eastern lines will do any better than they are now. The prices of grain here are about as high as they are in the Eastern markets, and therefore it cannot stand the additional cost of transportation from Chicago to the East. It looks as if the heavy crops in the West and upon which the Eastern managers have been placing their hopes will not benefit the Eastern roads very much. The trouble is that the crops in the East and also in Europe have been unusually good, and consequently there is no demand for our stuff at the prevailing prices. Western producers and shippers will not dispose of their stuff at such prices as are offered in the East, for by accepting such prices after deducting the heavy transportation charges it would not pay them, and therefore they prefer to keep the stuff they have in anticipation of securing better prices hereafter. The Eastern managers have been hoping all along that the prices of grain in the West would go down sufficiently to enable its being shipped to Eastern markets. But just the contrary has been the case. Prices have not only not gone down, but they have gone up higher, while the prices in the East have not correspondingly advanced. Unless there is a break in the markets here very soon, the business of the Eastern roads will go still smaller than it is now. If a slight reduction in east-bound rates would help to stimulate the business a break in the rates would no doubt have occurred before now, but a small reduction would not stimulate the business in the least as long as the prices of grain in the West are as high as they are in the East, and for this reason the railroads prefer to maintain their present rates and get at least a good profit on the little business they get. If the present state of affairs should continue for some time longer several of the Eastern roads will find themselves in a bad box. The business they now get, in spite of the good rates they receive for carrying it, does not pay them enough to meet their obligations. The two new Eastern lines—the New York, Chicago & St. Louis and the Chicago & Atlantic—which are about to open for business, will necessarily still further reduce the business of the existing lines and make matters still worse than they now are. The roads which are suffering most are the Vanderbilt lines, which are not doing by long odds the same percentage of the business they were doing last year or in previous years. The Fort Wayne has lately been getting the bulk of the business, and the Pennsylvania people claim the cause of this to be that their facilities for handling the business have been greatly increased while those of the Vanderbilt lines have been correspondingly decreased. The percentage of the east-bound business carried by the Fort Wayne last week was 30.30, while its percentage for the corresponding week last year was but 14.90. The percentage of the Michigan Central last week was 15.50 and the Lake Shore 22.70, while for the corresponding week last year the Michigan Central carried 21.30 per cent and the Lake Shore 34.80. It is quite likely that this matter will yet make considerable trouble in the east-bound pooling arrangement. Vanderbilt demands that his roads be allotted about the same percentages under the new pooling arrangement as under the old one and the Pennsylvania claims to be entitled to a much higher percentage than it has had heretofore, and it presents the amount of business done during the last year as a justification for its demand. The Grand Trunk also demands an increased percentage of the business, claiming to be able to handle much more now than it did last year, and the business it has lately done justifies this demand. In order to give these roads the increased percentages they demand the percentages of the Vanderbilt roads would have to be materially reduced from what they have been under the old agreement. As there is no prospect that Vanderbilt will consent to such reduction, it looks very much as if the present pooling agreement will have to go to pieces, and that before many [illegible] there will be another wrangle for the business among the Eastern lines.

The following statement shows the amount of flour, grain, and provisions carried east from this city by the six Eastern pool lines for the week ending Sept. 30, 1882, and also the shipments by the same roads for the corresponding week last year:

| | Flour, brls. | Grain, tons of 2,000 lbs. | Provisions, tons of 2,000 lbs. | Total tons. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Mich. Cent'l | 15,718 | 1,357 | 708 | 3,623 |
| Lake Shore. | 6,877 | 3,049 | 1,592 | 5,330 |
| Ft. Wayne.. | 17,885 | 3,708 | 1,685 | 7,103 |
| Pan Handle | 6,377 | 1,381 | 1,315 | 3,332 |
| Balt. & Ohio | 2,033 | 1,060 | 566 | 1,829 |
| Gr'd Trunk. | 7,896 | 1,071 | 366 | 2,227 |
| Total, 1882 | 55,986 | 11,626 | 6,232 | 23,457 |
| Same week 1881....... | 69,282 | 30,603 | 7,810 | 45,336 |

The percentages this year were: Michigan Central, 15.50; Lake Shore, 22.70; Fort Wayne, 30.30; Pan-Handle, 14.20; Baltimore & Ohio, 7.80; Grand Trunk, 9.50. The percentages last year were: Michigan Central, 21.30; Lake Shore, 34.80; Fort Wayne, 14.90; Pan-Handle, 12.10; Baltimore & Ohio, 7.60; Grand Trunk, 9.30.

New Freight Tariffs to St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Des Moines to Go into Effect Tomorrow.

Mr. George L. Carman, Commissioner of the Northwestern Traffic Association, has issued the following circular to shippers, agents, and connecting lines:

On and after Oct. 2, 1882, and until Nov. 30, 1882, inclusive, unless sooner withdrawn upon reasonable notice, a special rate of 12½ cents per 100 pounds will apply from Chicago, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Racine, Racine Junction, Kenosha, Englewood, South Chicago, Washington Heights, Blue Island, Joliet, Seneca, Peoria, Beardstown, Wann, Alton, East St. Louis, and St. Louis, to St. Paul, Minnesota Transfer, and Minneapolis, on the following-named articles in straight or mixed car-load lots of not less than 20,000 pounds, if shipped on same day by one consignor to one consignee—viz.:

Iron—Bar, band, boiler, hoop, rods, bolts, hooks, nuts, nut locks, rivets, staples, strap hinges, washers, nails, spikes, horse or mule shoes (in kegs), estimated weight 100 pounds per keg; iron, sheet, common or galvanized; iron pipe, cast or wrought; iron roofing, railroad fastenings, chains, splices, spikes, nuts, and bolts; iron castings, heavy and plain; steel in boxes, bars, bundles, or plate, plow points and wings; wire, fence, barbed, and telegraph; wheels, car and locomotive.

The following new tariff on business from Chicago, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Racine, Kenosha, Englewood, South Chicago, Washington Heights, Joliet, Seneca, Peoria, Beardstown, Alton, East St. Louis, St. Louis, Hannibal, Quincy, Keokuk, Burlington, and Muscatine to St. Paul, Minnesota Transfer, and Minneapolis, will go into effect tomorrow:

First-class, 50 cents per 100 pounds; second-class, 40; third class, 30; fourth class, 20; Class A, 20; Class B, 15; Class C, 15; Class D, 15; coal-oil in barrels, C. L., 20; emigrant movables, C. L., 20; common lumber, C. L., 15; salt, cement, and land plaster, C. L., 10; coarse grain, malt, and beans, C. L., 17; railroad and pig iron, per gross ton, C. L., $3; horses and mules, $50 per car; cattle and hogs, $40 per car; sheep, single deck only, $35 per car.

To the same points, from Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, Port Byron, Cordova, Fulton, Clinton, and Lyons, the following rates will apply: First-class, 43 cents per 100 pounds; second-class, 34; third class, 26; fourth class, 17; Class A, 17; Class B, 13; Class C, 13; Class D, 13; emigrant movables, 20.

The Central Iowa Association will put the following new rates into effect between Chicago and Milwaukee and Des Moines: First-class, 75 cents; second, 60; third, 45; fourth, 30; class A, 35; class B, 30; class C, 25; class D, 20; wheat and flour, 25; barley, corn, rye, and oats, 20; lumber, shingles, or lath, 20; salt, cement, and stucco, 19; horses and mules, $72 per car; cattle and hogs, $60 per car; sheep, single deck only, $49 per car.

A new "special joint classification" has also been published in connection with the above new tariffs, which differs considerably from the old "revised joint classification."

Promotions and Changes.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 30.—The resignation of Thomas G. Shaughnessy as General Storekeeper of the St. Paul Road, to take the position of General Purchasing Agent of the Canadian Pacific at a salary of $5,000 a year, has been accepted, and Manager Merrill has appointed John A. Whaling as his successor. Mr. Whaling is a son of Auditor Whaling, and at present holds the office of Auditor of Expenditures, which is a very important one, as all pay-rolls, vouchers, and reports of material and labor expended are sent to him. Mr. Whaling's headquarters will be at the West Milwaukee shops, and he will repair there on Monday next to spend the month of October in becoming acquainted with the details of the work, as Mr. Shaughnessy's resignation does not take effect until Nov. 1, and he will "coach" Mr. Whaling until that time. The appointment meets with general satisfaction throughout the offices. Charles E. Dudley, the head bookkeeper in the auditing department, will be appointed to fill the place of the Auditor of Expenditures. Whaling is a pronounced advocate of civil-service reform, both in private and public business. Robert Dousman in turn will be advanced to the position of head bookkeeper, now held by Mr. Dudley. Both of the young men served long and faithfully under Auditor Whaling, and he has educated them to his style of work.

Pennsylvania Secures the Camden & Atlantic.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 30.—At last the Pennsylvania has secured the control of the Camden & Atlantic, thus giving it full control of all the avenues to the sea coast of South Jersey from Point Pleasant to Cape May Point. William L. Elkins, one of the Pennsylvania Directors, has for some time been buying up large blocks of the stock, which consists of 17,613 shares of the preferred and 7,548 of common, or a total of 25,161. Yesterday Mr. Elkins made a final purchase of 2,600 shares which, together with what he had, gives him a total of 12,600 shares, and a majority of fifty-two shares on a full vote of stock. No changes in the management of the latter company are anticipated before the next annual meeting. Very recently the depot contractor of the Pennsylvania Railroad was asked to make an estimate of the cost of erecting Camden & Atlantic station-houses in the style of those in use on the Pennsylvania Line.

Miscellaneous Items.

The Michigan Central yesterday brought in eight car-loads of European emigrants and the Lake Shore one car-load.

Mr. W. M. Gage, General Freight Agent of the Rock Island, has issued a circular announcing that Mr. E. MacPhetridge has been appointed Contracting Agent of his company, in place of John E. Utt, resigned, the appointment to take effect Oct. 1. All communications should be addressed to him at his office, 56 Clark street.

The meetings of the Southwestern Railway Association, the Colorado Traffic Association, and the arbitration meeting, which were to have been held at Commissioner Midgley's office Oct. 5, have been postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 10, on account of the inability of several of the managers to be present on the former date.

Oct. 15 the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railroad will commence running a line of elegant Pullman palace sleeping-cars from Chicago to Jacksonville, Fla. These cars will leave Chicago daily at 11:30 p. m., and make the run to Louisville, 323 miles, in eleven hours. This arrangement will no doubt prove a great convenience to the people going to Florida during the winter, who heretofore when going to that section of the country from this city had to change cars several times. The Louisville, New Albany & Chicago is making great efforts to please its patrons, and it ought to be well patronized.

A Young Man Who Had Already Made Himself Notorious Elopes with the Wife of a Citizen of Racine.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 30.—A young man named Irwin eloped with the wife of Silas Glass, a well-known resident of this city, she deserting her three children. She had a comfortable home. Irwin has been a boarder at Mr. Glass' home for some months, and Glass had no suspicion of the affair until after his return from Milwaukee, where he had been for a few days. Irwin gained considerable notoriety a short time since by his arrest in this city for the seduction of a young lady of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Mrs. Glass took with her $400 in certificates for money, which Mr. Glass had given her to deposit. It is thought that they are in Milwaukee.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1882.

THE steamer R. E. Lee—one of the most noted boats on the Mississippi River—was burned to the water's edge yesterday morning about thirty-five miles below Vicksburg. Twenty-one persons were lost. The boat had been freshly painted, and the flames spread rapidly. One of the passengers said: "She burned like gunpowder." The Mississippi boats at best are frail and inflammable structures, but this one was particularly fitted to burn quickly and carry as many as possible of the passengers to their graves. She was not only freshly painted, but loaded with 500 bales of cotton, which added fuel to the flames. The Lee was valued at $100,000 and insured for $50,000. She was the crack boat of the Mississippi River, her celebrated race with the Natchez being still the favorite topic of river gossip, and an invaluable reminder of the days when river traffic in the South was more important than the railroad competition.

JAMES H. HOPKINS has accepted the Democratic nomination to Congress in the Pittsburg district. He says he is in favor of protection to American industries, but opposed to monopolies, which is a laughable position, seeing that protection is the very embodiment of monopoly. The purpose and object of protection is to give a monopoly of the market to special interests at artificial and abnormal prices. This Pittsburg Democrat had better pull in his anti-monopoly flag, as it is a fraud, and sail under his real colors of monopoly.

CADET WHITTAKER, who had his ears slit or slit them himself, and succeeded in making quite a sensation thereby and arousing much sympathy, which subsequent investigation shows was not altogether deserved, having no further occupation as a soldier, has turned up in South Carolina as a politician, and wants to run for Congress upon the Bourbon ticket against Mackey in the black district on the Republican side. Cadet Whittaker's espousal of the Red-Shirt cause probably grew out of a feeling of revenge for his [illegible], as well as the feeling that his sore ears deserve the indemnity of an office. Prior to the lopping of his ears, Cadet Whittaker was a Republican. It is now evident that the Bourbons think their new apostle will make votes and draw off the blacks by exhibiting his scars as proofs of Republican ingratitude. They do not stop to think, however, that the blacks of South Carolina who have suffered for years from Democratic bulldozing and from the whips and the shotguns of the Red Shirts will not be moved much by the lopped ears of Cadet Whittaker. He may earn his price for the dirty work set him by the Bourbons, but he will not deliver any votes to them.

THE State Board of Equalization raised the assessment on personal property in Cook County 17 per cent, and on lands and lots 18 per cent each. Clark County was raised 59 and 30 per cent, and White 57 and 83. Menard County was reduced 40 and 6, and McHenry 23 and 19. Some of the Chicago corporations were "equalized" thus on their assessments of capital stock:

IN ordering the release of Dwyer Gray, of Dublin, Judge Lawson is said by the cable dispatch to have attempted to defend his action in committing him to jail. His only plea seems to have been that what he did was legal. But the release is a confession that sending the editor of the Freeman's Journal to prison was, even if legal, unjust and unwarranted. It was an instance of blundering and arbitrary judicial interference on technically legal grounds, in a case where judicial action should have been guided by considerations of equity and political discretion. The statements made by Editor Gray in his paper were clearly within the province of a journalist, and to imprison him for them was a most injudicious act of tyranny, which it was surprising to see Mr. Gladstone defend, as he did.

MR. GLADSTONE has not yet officially defined his Egyptian policy, but the English papers are suggesting ready-made policies for him without number. Among them the Spectator, which is one of the coolest and most reasonable of the organs, makes some very excellent suggestions—namely: that Egypt shall have a native Government; that that Government shall be placed beyond any danger from insurrection; that England shall insist on good internal administration; that Egyptian autonomy must be reconciled with Egyptian good government, and both with the permanent ascendency of Great Britain in the Khedive's Court. The suggestions, as we have said, are excellent, because they preclude all idea of the status quo ante, but how to secure them and how to effect this triple reconciliation is a problem which will puzzle the most acute of the Liberal statesmen.

THE Khedive of Egypt has the right to place whom he chooses at the head of his army, provided Turkey does not object, but it is not very flattering to Gen. Stone Pasha, the American officer, who for ten years past has been reorganizing the Khedive's forces, to be requested to step aside and make room for Baker Pasha, although he was the particular friend of the Prince of Wales. It will be remembered that Baker Pasha, as Valentine Baker, Colonel in the English army, attempted to commit a criminal outrage upon the wife of an English tradesman in a railway compartment and was arrested for it, and convicted. Public sentiment was so bitter against him that his friend, the Prince of Wales, did not dare to interfere, and upon the conclusion of the case he was dismissed from the English army by order of the Queen and soon after turned up in the Turkish army as a Pasha. He is now made commander of the Khedive's forces.

THE Legislative convention in the Ninth Senatorial District has become involved in a very unnecessary snarl, at least so far as the nomination of Mr. W. E. Mason for Senator is concerned. The fact is undisputed that Mr. Mason was the choice of the Fourteenth Ward delegation, and that this delegation of itself constituted a majority of the convention. Mason's nomination was therefore a foregone conclusion, irrespective of the decision of the contest in the Thirteenth Ward. This contest, by the way, so far as an outsider can judge of so complicated a subject, was settled in an amicable spirit by the majority of the convention in the resolution to admit half of each delegation. This is the usual way of settling contests when there is a sincere desire on the part of the majority to promote harmony and conciliate the minority. Except when the two factions of a convention are resolutely intent on cutting each other's throats they usually can compromise on a divided delegation, giving half to each side. Under the circumstances the bolters are put in an awkward position, from which they will have some difficulty in extricating themselves with credit or honor.

AMONG the resolutions adopted by the National Woman's Suffrage Convention at Omaha is one declaring it to be "the paramount duty of Congress to submit a sixteenth amendment which shall secure the enfranchisement of woman." The statement is simply ridiculous in its exaggeration. Certainly there are a good many things which Congress may do for the country in preference to the submission of a woman's-suffrage amendment to the Constitution. Changes in the organic law of the Nation are not of such trifling nature as to be submitted upon any demand that may be made. It will be time enough for Congress to undertake the initiative in an effort to force woman's suffrage upon the country when a majority of the States shall have conferred the ballot upon women. So long as there is no other evidence of a popular demand for the woman's enlargement of suffrage privileges and the radical change in woman's condition involved in the proposition except an occasional meeting of a few women with long names and short hair who cannot even point to a formidable backing among their own sex, it will be folly for Congress to give the subject any serious attention.

THE meeting of the Fourth Ward Republican Club last night fully equaled in interest and excitement any that have recently been held by that muscular organization. When the Fourth Ward Republicans cannot create a disturbance all the signs of an exciting canvass and a big turnout at the polls may be regarded as having failed. It was evident last night that the anti-Aldrich men were largely in a majority in the meeting, and the Aldrich men in sheer desperation sought to postpone or prevent a vote by a resort to technicalities. They demanded a roll-call for purposes of delaying. This is, if we understand the matter, filibustering—pure and simple. The amiable member from the South-Side district knows what "filibustering" is well enough. He has seen it tried often in Congress by the representatives of the Solid South. The anti-Aldrich men in the Fourth Ward last night accepted the situation good-humoredly. They adjourned the club meeting, and the persons present immediately resolved themselves into a mass-meeting. A delegate ticket, understood to be first and foremost opposed to the renomination of Mr. Aldrich, and, secondly, in favor of one or more of his opponents, was nominated, and no Aldrich ticket was agreed to. The proceedings indicate a very full turnout at the primaries, at which every vote on either side will be needed. The Fourth Ward probably has the decision of this question in its own hands, as it has had the decision of many contests before; it is hoped that all Republicans in that ward realize that the "eyes of the country are upon them."

THE announcement made some time ago that a large tract of the Adirondacks had been sold to a lumber syndicate was received with regret by those who lamented the destruction of the primitive beauties of its forests. A more serious objection is raised by Mr. H. W. S. Cleaveland, of Chicago, who writes to the Nation to point out the serious results that will follow if the mountains of Northern New York are stripped of their trees. In Southeastern France where the mountains have been cleared irretrievable damage has been done. The fields of Provence have been deprived of a screen to cut off the chilling Alpine blasts, and suffer for the want of the moisture that would have been gathered up in rains and snows on the wooded hills. Mr. Cleaveland quotes a prediction by the late George P. Marsh, that if ever the Adirondack forests were destroyed similar results would follow in New York. The self-interest of the individuals of the community cannot prevent such a calamity. Some supervision by the State is necessary. The obliteration of the pine is proceeding in the West at a ruinous rate for the lack of some intelligent control of the greed of individual owners, who are entailing great losses on the whole country.

THE COUNTY NOMINATIONS.

The matter of local politics is now occupying much of public attention. There are four Congressmen to be elected in this county, and the Republican and Democratic parties will have each at least one candidate in each district. This involves four conventions and eight candidates. One wing of the Democrats have nominated a candidate in the Second District, and in the Third District nominated Mayor Harrison, who has declined. That party has taken no action in the First or Fourth Districts. The Republicans have nominated Col. Davis in the Third District and Mr. Adams in the Fourth. The convention for the First District has been called, and the nomination will be made during this week. No action has been had by the Republicans in the Second District.

During the last ten days some action has been taken by the Republicans in some of the Senatorial districts, and it is possible that conventions will be held in the other districts so soon as the Congressional conventions are all out of the way.

The final struggle in the matter of nominations will be over the convention to be held for the nomination of county officers. This convention is to nominate a County Treasurer, a Sheriff, a Coroner, a Judge of the Couty Court, a County Clerk, a Judge of Probate, and a Clerk of that court, and five County Commissioners. These officers constitute to a great extent the executive government of the county. It is needless to say that the number of persons tendering their services to fill these offices is more than ordinary, showing that the spirit of personal sacrifice to serve the public has not altogether been exhausted.

This county, with about 700,000 inhabitants, with large property interests, and much dependent upon the fidelity and capacity of its officers, is interested in the election of this large number of officials, whose terms run for two, three, or four years. For all of these places the legal salary or compensation is large, and for others it is enormous, while in the cases of the County Commissioners the opportunities are equal to the ambition of the most avaricious or corrupt. There is no good reason why a respectable, competent, and strictly conscientious and responsible man should not seek any of these places, and find in any of them a fair and just compensation for his time, his ability, and his integrity. The wonder is that the men of that class seeking the places are not more numerous than they are. There are, of course, a great many persons seeking the places, but there are far more who would seek them, and are entirely qualified, who are so excluded by machine politics that they do not even venture to ask a nomination for any office.

There are several names before the public at this time of persons who have had some experience in public affairs, and who if nominated have most favorable records, but in the list of those canvassing the city by day and by night, bargaining and selling, trading and swapping, with a view of log-rolling in packing and governing caucuses and conventions, are to be found men who have followed the convention business during many years. All these offices have large patronage in the way of deputies, assistants, and clerks, and in the eternal processions going from saloon to saloon, urging the claims of the various professional candidates, are hosts of expectants who look forward to sharing this patronage. It is altogether likely that the conventions will seek for all these places men whose only recommendation is the efficacy and energy which they can show in getting delegates, who by a strange fiction are supposed to represent some portion of the general public, but really only represent the keepers of saloons and doggeries, which on such occasions have "voters" on tap to vote at any primary in any ward for any candidate of any party who will pay the most.

THE TRIBUNE has no disposition to advocate or oppose any candidate for office as against another candidate of the same party where both are personally unobjectionable; it desires the nomination by fair means of men respectable in character and competent and of unquestioned integrity. It desires these things, first, because the public have a right to these qualifications, and because it desires the success of the Republican ticket. This is no year for depending on party discipline for party success. The Republican States of New York and Pennsylvania have already, probably, been lost to the party because of the attempt to force upon the public by unfair means candidates who rely exclusively upon party machinery to elect them. The popular as well as the party sense of propriety revolts at such insults to public justice and public intelligence, and the insults will be resented at the polls.

The Republican party in this county has much at stake. Its hope of success depends upon the approval of men of intelligence, character, and respectability. It has nothing to expect from ignorance and the mob spirit, because in these it cannot compete with the Democratic party. It cannot afford, therefore, to insult the party and the public by nominating candidates selected from the stereotyped list of officeseekers, or selecting from the list of incompetents who expect to be nominated and thus force the party to vote for them. There was never an occasion when there was greater necessity for a county ticket made up of men representing intelligence and character, and free from all odious and scandalous associations and combinations. What is wanted is a ticket composed of men whom every citizen can feel justified in voting for without losing his self-respect. Any other ticket may find that its nomination was in vain, and that its defeat was due to the contempt shown for public opinion in its presentation to an intelligent as well as an independent public.

MR. HARRISON DECLINES.

After much perturbation of spirit Mayor Harrison has apparently decided not to be a candidate for Congress against Col. Davis in the Third District. At all events this is the reply he made yesterday to the committee of the "irregular" Democratic Convention which tendered him the nomination. There were traces of regret to be discerned in the long, rambling speech he made to the committee, and several references to that mysterious contingency which might have induced him to run. Mr. Harrison has at no time given any hint as to what this contingency is, but it is not difficult to guess. He is ambitious to go to the United States Senate. In fact, there is no office too high for his aspirations. If he were persuaded that by making the run for Congress he could secure the election of enough Democrats from Republican legislative districts in Cook County to obtain control of the next Illinois Legislature, and thereby assert an undisputed claim upon his party for a seat in the Senate, he would go into the fight. But he has evidently concluded that this is a forlorn hope. The most significant thing he said to the committee was that he had made up his mind he could "not benefit his party by making the race." That means that he is convinced he could not be elected, and at the same time could not contribute by his candidacy to the election of Democratic members of the Legislature who would not otherwise be elected. In view of this conclusion all his characteristically vain remarks about his "never running well unless he has a majority to whip" counts for nothing. He admits substantially that he could not overcome the Republican majority in this instance either for Congress or the State Legislature, and there the matter rests.

It cannot be doubted, Mr. Harrison's protests to the contrary notwithstanding, that he has been largely influenced in his latest decision not to run by the keen desire of the "gang" to have him remain where he is. The gamblers—headed by Mike McDonald—are averse to Mr. Harrison's going to Congress, for they would not be sure of obtaining a successor in the Mayor's office who would guarantee them protection in their unlawful business. There are at least 2,000 saloonkeepers who want him to continue in the Mayor's office, because a successor in that position might favor the adoption of a high-license system, which would reduce the number of saloons by one-half and leave them out in the cold. All the owners of the low dives who feel that they would be compelled to go out of business if a high license fee were established, or that they could not procure a license from any Mayor determined to preserve order, would likewise oppose Mr. Harrison's election to Congress. The great majority of those who flocked to welcome the Mayor home, who fired the rockets and the guns, and who furnished the funds for defraying the expenses of his late "reception," demand that Mr. Harrison shall stay where he is as a matter of justice to them. How are they going to get the worth of the money they have spent on him or be repaid for the enthusiasm which they have worked up in his behalf if they are not to enjoy his official protection? Mr. Harrison is naturally averse to encouraging the opposition of those classes which have heretofore furnished him with the most efficient support he has had.

Mr. Harrison, in his remarks to the committee yesterday, pretended that he has all along given out that he could not be a candidate. He may labor under this delusion, but as a matter of fact he has constantly held out a possibility of his sacrificing himself to his party's cause, and he has led the ward politicians a lively dance by his indecision. In taking this course, and finally declining to be a candidate, he has made the election of Col. Davis doubly sure. He has placed his own party in the Third District, and also the few Republicans who are dissatisfied with Col. Davis, in the position of urging that he (Harrison) is the only man who could possibly beat Davis. This may be very gratifying to Mr. Harrison's vanity, but it is hard on his party now that he declines to run. The Democratic managers and the disaffected Republicans in the district join in assuring Harrison that he alone has any chance to defeat Davis; but, after taking ample time to look over the field, he now tells these people in effect that he is satisfied he cannot beat Davis; the inevitable inference is that nobody else can, and Davis goes into the campaign with his election fully assured to him. If Harrison calls that a backing of his friends he has peculiar ideas of political obligations, and if he thinks he has earned the gratitude of his party by an indecision which makes party defeat certain in his district he will probably discover that he has made a mistake. Mr. Harrison is wise in deciding not to run, but he would have been wiser still if he had not flirted with those who tempted him.

LATE HONORS.

It has often been the fate of genius to wait long for its honors, and most usually they are posthumous. In such case they are gratifying as tending to send the name and fame of the genius down to posterity, but cannot be very satisfactory to the ghost of genius as it witnesses the elegance of the memorial marble and reads the glowing tribute cut into it, and thinks of the days when in the flesh it suffered from lack of bread and sympathy. Sometimes genius has the rare felicity of seeing the fruition of its labor, witnessing the acclamations of the multitude and receiving its reward, but such cases are rare. They usually ask for bread and get a stone. It is not often, however, that even the most neglected genius has to wait 800 years for his monument, but that fate has happened to Guido Aretino, of Arezzo, who has lain in his grave just about eight centuries since he first saw the light in his little Italian birthplace, not recking that he was destined to make a discovery that was to extend its influence down to latest time. If Guido's ghost wanders about under the pleasant Italian skies at night, revisiting the old haunts, it will now discover that his somewhat dilatory townsmen have erected a statue to him in this year of grace 1882, when all the civilized world is enjoying the fruits of his discovery in every opera-house, church, concert-room, and in every home where music plays its part in making it attractive.

Guido Aretino was a simple Benedictine monk, quiet and frugal in his habits, not caring for the great world, and infinitely preferring the scholastic and peaceful quiet of his cell, even to the pomps and pageantries of his church or to the splendors of holy days in Rome. One day, however, while the good man, who loved to sing, was in the choir of the Monastery of Pomposa, he listened to the voices of his fellow-monks who were laboriously and monotonously chanting the praises of St. John, and as he listened was struck with the gradation of the tones of the opening syllables of each line of the first three Latin verses: "Ut queant laxis, Resonare fibris, Mira gestorum Famuli tuorum, Solve polluti Labii reatum, Sancte Johannes." He went back to his cell and with him went the monotonous chanting of the monks, but, more than all, his head was busy with these first syllables and the notes corresponding to them. He revolved the matter in his mind and soon made a new and perfect system of solfeggio. Music in his day was crude, and before his system was formed it had advanced about as far as it could go, but Guido's discovery laid the foundation upon which all succeeding centuries have built. His fame reached the Pope, who invited him to Rome and studied his system. He would have had him remain there as an honored guest, but simple Guido preferred his quiet retreat at Arezzo, and in due time was gathered to his fathers and passed to that place where all good monks go, and where it is to be presumed he has by this time heard better music than that which he used to hear in the Monastery of Pomposa, and has made the acquaintance of the giants in music who builded such glorious fabrics of song and symphony upon his gamut. It may be that the statue has no peculiar charm to him as he contemplates it from the heavenly hights, but he must have watched with pleasure the magnificent manner in which his genius has been turned to account during eight centuries, and smiled complacently as he thought that, although the great composers were much more learned than he, their creations might never have seen the light but for his discovery. His scale has been the germ of every musical triumph and has made musical progress possible, and it dominates the complex and rugged periods of Richard Wagner equally with the chirpings and twitterings of the village composers of easy waltzes and pretty psalm tunes. It would be a pleasant task to follow the progress of music in Guido's own land since his death, from a period of remarkably brilliant success into its period of decline, from which it is now slowly emerging through German influences, but there is only space in a daily paper to consider the subject from the standpoint of news and to extend congratulations to the manes of Guido that at last he has as brave a statue as any of his compeers or successors, though he has waited long and patiently for it. The world having honored him, the church should do its share. If Cecilia, who was only noted for her skill in singing, was worthy of canonization, why not make Guido the patron of musicians and let him share the honors with the noble Roman lady of the beautiful voice?

THE ASSESSMENT TROUBLE.

Corporation-Counsel Adams has not contributed very materially to the solution of the assessment problem by the opinion which he kindly furnished THE TRIBUNE. It is very clear that there is an undervaluation; also, that a "fair cash valuation," ostensibly required by the law, would enable Chicago to raise fully three times as much revenue without exceeding the 2 per cent limitation on city taxes, and to borrow money without exceeding the 5 per cent limitation or debt. But it is the danger that the tax-levy would be run up to the limit and the debt increased to the highest possible figure which tempers the popular enthusiasm in favor of a literal interpretation of the assessment law. Chicago ought to raise more taxes, but not three times as much as it now spends. The embarrassment of a low valuation would be considerably increased by jumping to a cash valuation all at once with a Council which would be disposed to appropriate the last penny. Mr. Adams' proposition to induce the Governor to inaugurate a system of general prosecution against all assessment officers who shall assess property at less than its cash value might accomplish the purpose in view, and it might not. But before the valuation shall be increased threefold the taxpayers would like some assurance that the taxes shall not be increased in the same proportion. It may be wise to adopt a more liberal policy of expenditure for municipal purposes, but the property-owners of Chicago are not quite prepared to contribute three times as much as they have been paying.

THE SEPTEMBER WHEAT DEAL.

The wheat bears have got caught again, though not so badly this time as they were in July. They counted on a big wheat crop, in which respect they were right; but they miscalculated in regard to the quantity of that wheat which would come at their call during a few weeks after harvest. The farmers did rush their wheat to market during August, as the prices offered them were very attractive. But there was a wide difference between $1.35 and $1.02, the latter being about the top of the recent market till very near the close of the last month. The wheat has moved rather freely during September, but not in sufficient volume to enable the bears to break down prices for that month to the low figures at which they have sold longer futures.

It is believed that a little more than 500,000 bushels are undelivered on the September deal, which is perhaps one-fifteenth part of the total quantity sold to the longs. It is, however, probable that some, if not most, of the half million bushels will be settled up on Monday, as the stoutest of the shorts on the July deal walked up and settled at the last moment yesterday. Their example may lead to the avoidance of another committee and appeal to the courts. The squeeze is not a bad one, and the losers will meet with little sympathy if they refuse to pay after taking the chances of gain on the severe decline they had hoped for.

THE following curious observations of sound have, it is stated, been carefully verified by an extended series of experiments: The whistle of a locomotive is heard 3,300 yards; the noise of a railroad train, 2,800; the report of a musket and the bark of a dog, 1,800; an orchestra or the roll of a drum, 1,600. The human voice reaches to a distance of 1,000 feet; the croaking of frogs, 900; the chirping of chickens, 800. Distinct speaking is heard in the air from below up to a distance of 600 yards; from above it is only understood to a range of 100 yards downward. It has been ascertained that an echo is well reflected from the surface of smooth water only when the voice comes from an elevation. Other similar phenomena connected with the transmission of sound have been observed, but the results disagree, either from inaccuracy in the observations or from the varying nature of the circumstances affecting the numbers obtained. Such variations occur to an extent of 10 to 20 per cent, and even more. The weather being cold and dry, or warm and wet, are the chief influencing causes. In the first case the sound goes to a greater and in the second to a lesser distance.

A LETTER from Russia says that the people of that country do not divide society into smokers and non-smokers; they decline to make railway-cars a sort of battleground for those who love the weed and those who do not; they refrain from suggesting, either by word or deed, that a man's social qualities or respectability can be at all correctly inferred from his attitude toward tobacco. The reason of this is, that in Russia everybody smokes, and provision is made accordingly. Save the church no place is sacred from the weed. Every chamber of every well-kept house has its receptacle for cigar-ash. Hotels have similar conveniences, smoking being practiced as well as permitted in every accessible apartment in these buildings.

NEW YORK letter: Mrs. Eliza Waldron has just obtained a building-permit for the erection of a double store, 602 and 604 Broadway, extending through the block. The cost will be $150,000, and the rent will render it a very favorable investment. Here, too, is Mrs. Elizabeth Mehan, who has just begun the erection of forty houses at an aggregate cost of $400,000. These facts (and others that might be mentioned) show that New York contains a class of women-builders of great energy. Speaking of women in this connection, Mrs. A. T. Stewart may be mentioned as the richest landholder of the female sex in this city. Notwithstanding the exchange which she made with Judge Hilton, which was to him a bargain of $2,000,000, she still holds real estate to the value of $15,000,000. Among her best properties is the Fifth avenue palace, which cost $1,000,000, and the Metropolitan Hotel, which is now valued at $2,000,000. Then there is the Park Hotel; and then the vacant wholesale warehouse, for which the same sum has been offered and refused, her price being [illegible]00,000 more. In addition to the above is De Pau Row, in Bleecker street, which is worth $500,000; also churches, theatres, and dwellings, most of which are in the best part of the city.

THE new steamship Pavonia, the latest addition to the Cunard fleet, arrived at New York from Liverpool last Sunday. She is a sister ship to the Cephalonia, recently built. Her dimensions are as follows: 430 feet in length, 46 feet breadth of beam, 36½ feet depth of hold, and 5,500 tons gross register. She has accommodations for 200 cabin and 1,000 steerage passengers. She is built of iron throughout, with eleven water-tight compartments; has three iron decks; and her outside plating is made up on what is technically called the "edge-and-edge" system. She is capable of carrying a total dead weight of 5,200 tons. The ship is lighted throughout with the Swan electric light, each stateroom being provided with one light, which can be turned on or off at will. The engines developed upon trial 4,600 initial horse-power, giving a speed of 14½ knots an hour. The Pavonia is the thirty-fourth vessel built for the Cunard Line. The line has another vessel on the stocks, the Aurania, which is to be built of steel and is to be of the same size as the Servia. She will be ready for service early next spring.

THE Rugby colony in Tennessee has been visited by the head master of Clifton College, and he has communicated his impressions of it to the London News. Mr. Wilson writes that the experiment cannot yet be said to have failed, though it certainly has not as yet succeeded, and the prospect is not very bright. He thinks, moreover, that the settlement cannot succeed merely as a collection of country farms. The soil is not very rich, the work of clearing and tilling it is heavy, and labor is high. "Rugby must set up some business such as the making of sleepers, or staves, or furniture; or it must grow grapes and make wine, which seems a not improbable future; or it must take to canning fruit or vegetables, or rearing silk-worms, or supplying early fruit to the great cities of the North, or making charcoal and tannin, and other wood products." In other words, capital, skill, and energy may bring prosperity to Rugby as they have brought it to numberless other communities, Nature herself offering about an even chance of success.

NEVER since the discovery of gold in Australia, writes a Melbourne correspondent of the London Times, has there been a greater demand for all classes of labor, skilled and unskilled, than that which prevails at the present time. From the building trades and the goldfields, from the farms and from the squatters' runs, from factories, warehouses, and foundries the cry is for fresh hands. And "a few thousand domestic servants poured into the colony from England and Scotland at the present time would be instantly absorbed by town and country at wages which would astonish themselves and the friends they would leave behind them."

THE One Hundred and Seventh Illinois Volunteers will hold their annual reunion at Clinton, Ill., next Wednesday, and among the features of the program will be an address to the surviving members of the regiment by Gen. Julius White, of this city, who was in command of the organization when its first battle was fought.

The First Napoleon was very fond of pie. Napoleon's wife never did any cooking, however.

The Rev. Mr. Hoffman has been found guilty of all the charges preferred against him. Mr. Hoffman is now entitled to fly the pennant.

Gen. Butler has now been on the fence about ten days regarding that nomination for Governor of Massachusetts. Resolutions of sympathy for the fence are now in order.

Prof. Boss, of the Dudley Observatory, at Albany, says the comet was 16,000,000 miles from the sun Sept. 17 and 20,000,000 on the 21st. Probably the comet's mother-in-law lives in the sun.

An International Anti-Semitic Congress is now in session in Dresden, and a large attendance is reported. A great many people appear to have been buying ready-made clothing this year.

The Marquis of Lorne presided at the opening of an agricultural fair in British Columbia last Friday. It is understood that the Marquis was moved to this step by family reasons, his mother-in-law being some pumpkins.

Bran beds for babies are recommended by an Eastern paper. This seems to be a good idea. By carefully filling the baby with bran and then moving the bed out in the back yard it is thought that in many instances a good night's rest could be obtained by the rest of the family.

Emma Abbott's latest advertisement is in the shape of a long newspaper article telling how she acted in Kansas City the other night when her baby had the croup. A companion story giving the particulars of how Mr. Abbott would probably act if Emma had the croup is expected soon to be issued.

Mr. John F. Smythe, Chairman of the New York Republican State Committee, told a reporter last Friday that he was very confident Secretary Folger would accept the Gubernatorial nomination. It is believed that Mr. Smythe would also be willing to bet $10 to $7 that a duck will swim.

I've seen them again,
As the Dream stood by,
The beautiful years
I once let die.
As the Dream stood by
He whispered a word,
And the beautiful years
Once more appeared.
He whispered a word,
And its sound in truth
Was strong as a spell,
For that word was "Youth."
"O beautiful years,"
I eagerly cried,
"You will stay here now!"
But no voice replied,
And I saw them fade
Away through my tears.
They were dreams themselves,
Those beautiful years.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Allport, manager of the Midland Railway of England, now visiting New York, wears upon his watch-chain a number of gold medals, each inscribed as a life pass on the various English railroads.

George Francis Train is, of course, decidedly eccentric, but he is worth $80,000, has fine rooms in the Ashland House, and, although he refuses to speak to adults and writes whatever he may have to communicate on paper beginning with the word "citizen," he is the best versed man on public affairs alive today in the United States.

Secretary Folger's name was originally spelled Pfoulger. His first ancestor in this country came here in 1635 from Norwich, England, and settled in Martha's Vineyard. Peter Folger, the son of the original settler, was the grandfather of Benjamin Franklin. He not only officiated as miller, weaver, and interpreter of the Indian language on the island, but he was a poet of well-intentioned but doubtful ability.

"Mr. and Mrs. Howells, a sister of Larkin Meade, the sculptor," writes Mr. M. D. Conway in a recent letter, "arrived in London and settled themselves at South Kensington, in the pleasant house just vacated by Mrs. Proctor, widow of Barry Cornwall, and belonging to her. Howells has been lassoed by Longman to write for that new first-class sixpenny magazine which bids fair to revolutionize our periodical world. But this charming story-teller is so fêted and 'dinnered' that he finds he cannot get on with a work upon which he is engaged, and is about to tear himself away and seek solitude at Vevay. After that he will go to Italy."

Mrs. Gen. Lew Wallace has been permitted to see the greatest beauty of Prince Feramorz's harem in Turkey. Two wonderfully ugly black eunuchs met the visitor at the iron gate of a beautiful garden, and conducted her to a large room rather barren of furniture, but hung with fine Eastern draperies. Here she found the Prince's latest acquisition, whom she thus describes in the Independent: "Among the billowy cushons and vaporous veilings rose the young face. Oh! what a revelation of beauty! uplifted in a curious, questioning way, to see what manner of women these are who come from the ends of the earth with unveiled faces, and go about the world alone, and have to think for themselves—poor things! The expression was that of a lovely child waking from summer slumber in the happiest humor, ready for play. A perfect, sensitive, exquisit face, fair as the first woman while the angel was yet unfallen. A perfect oval, the lips a scarlet thread, and oh! those wonderful Asiatic eyes!—lustrous, coal-black, long rather than round, beaming under joined eyebrows."

M. Tourguéniet's admirers, says the London Athenæum, will be delighted to hear that a decided improvement has taken place in his health. One of his friends who paid him a visit recently at Bougival, near Paris, where he owns a charming summer residence, on the slope of a hill crowned by shady woods, found him able to move about a little and to converse as brilliantly as ever. He is for the present restricted to a milk diet, but he looks forward to a return to an ordinary life, and even to a possible visit to Russia next year. The novel which he was to have finished this summer has been laid aside for the present, but his visitor found him engaged upon a shorter story, which will probably appear in the Vestnik Evropy of St. Petersburg.

Mahmoud Fehmi Bey, Arabi's Chief of Staff, and now a prisoner in the hands of the British, is a small, insignificant-looking man. He was formerly employed in the Egyptian railway service, where his technical knowledge proved of great value, and became Minister of Public Works in the Cabinet formed by Arabi in February last. It is related that he found the social duties which his new rank imposed upon him very irksome, and at a diplomatic soirée, like a true Mussulman, suddenly broke loose from the European lady he was conversing with, and who had relied on him to be led to the souper. However, he appeased her anger by offering her his arm after supper in the most approved European fashion.

Albert Wolff, the witty chronicler of the Paris Figaro, has so long been a prominent figure in French journalism that one is apt to forget that Cologne was his birthplace, and that his first journalistic laurels were won in Berlin. In the stormy period of 1848 he gained distinction equally well with pen and pencil, and his witty drawings of that time are now being exhibited in Berlin in an antiquary's window. His "Müller and Schulze in the Art-Gallery" and other pamphlets were extremely popular, and he was even involved in a lawsuit with the publisher of Kladderadatsch concerning the priority in the use of the typical figures of "Müller and Schulze," into whose mouths, as is well known, the Berlin Punch has put its most biting sarcasms.

Since his arrival in this country a few weeks ago Mr. George Jacob Holyoake has been busily at work on his mission in behalf of English immigrants to the United States and Canada. On going to Canada he was the recipient of marked attention from the Government, and had several interviews with Sir John Macdonald and the Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Agriculture. At Toronto he was the guest of Prof. Goldwin Smith, who manifested a keen interest in the object of Mr. Holyoake's visit. On Friday last Mr. and Miss Holyoake were entertained at dinner by the Minister of Agriculture, a distinguished company of Government officers and others being present; and on Saturday they took luncheon with Sir John and Lady Macdonald. Before leaving Ottawa Mr. Holyoake also dined, by invitation, with the Premier at the Rideau Club.

Seldom is there recorded a more eventful life-story than that of Skarbeck de Malczewski, whose death at the age of 100 years has just been announced in Warsaw. He entered the Prussian army in his youth and was made a prisoner by the French at Jena, when he at once changed his flag, joined Dombrowski's corps, and fought so well at Eylau as to receive a high decoration at the close of the battle. At Hanau he was badly wounded. He accompanied Bonaparte to Elba, and came away from there with him, going to Italy as orderly officer to King Joachim Murat. At Gaeta the English captured him and handed him over to the Austrians, from whom he escaped in time to join Bonaparte at Waterloo, where he was again seriously wounded. Under the Czar's proclamation of amnesty he went back to Poland, entered the Russian army, and rose to a high rank, but when the Polish insurrection of 1830 broke out he joined it, fought desperately, was wounded, captured and sent to Siberia for life. After spending half a century in penal exile he was pardoned, and returned to his native city to die.

POLITICAL NOTES.

It is suspected that Gen. Butler's reluctance to accept the Gubernatorial nomination of the Massachusetts Democracy arises from his unwillingness to assume all and expenses of the campaign. These, it is believed, will amount to $100,000, and the General is shrewdly holding back his acceptance until he sees whether the rich members of the party are willing to come down. He doubtless fears that if he consents before an arrangement is made they will allow him to shoulder the whole burden.

It would seem that some preparations were made at Saratoga before the Republican State Convention met to obtain forged telegraphic proxies ostensibly from members of the State Committee. J. D. Westervelt, the Cashier of the Western Union Telegraph Company's office in Saratoga, stated to a reporter of the Saratogian on Wednesday that a few days before the convention met he was offered $5 by a young man for a "receiving blank." He told the stranger that he was not permitted to give out receiving blanks; that he would not give one for any money consideration. The stranger then departed.

The Kentucky Republicans have not made good use, it is feared, of their opportunities to elect Congressmen in that State. There were three or four districts in which they had a fighting chance, but the canvass for the Appellate Clerkship caused divisions in the party ranks, and it is doubtful if they are able to elect more than one member, and perhaps not that. Much of the trouble has arisen from the erratic course of Congressman John D. White, who refuses to take a Republican nomination and is running as an independent candidate. The Republicans now appear to have the best prospect in the Third District, where Dr. Godfrey Hunter is making a brave fight.

It has been claimed that Mr. Cleveland, Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, is an exceptionally popular man in Erie County. According to the Buffalo Commercial, election figures do not confirm this claim. It says: "Mr. Cleveland has three times appeared before the electors of Erie County as a candidate for their suffrages. In 1865 he was defeated by Lyman K. Bass for District-Attorney by a majority of 504. He ran even with the head of his ticket, and that was all. In 1870 he was elected Sheriff over Col. John B. Weber by a scratch, running 1,200 behind his ticket. Mr. Hoffman carried Erie County that year by a majority of nearly 1,500, and Mr. Cleveland by only 300, notwithstanding that the county was flooded with Tammany money in the interest of the Democratic ticket, and that the ballot-boxes were stuffed in the First, Third, and Eighth Wards. There is surely nothing here to indicate Mr. Cleveland's alleged wonderful popularity in this locality."

The Boston Transcript (Rep.) says: "Secretary Folger must feel that he has fallen among thieves when he reads the report that still another member of the State Committee which made his nomination possible obtained his membership through a forged proxy. The old Republican State Committee of New York was thus controlled by means that would have delighted Tammany. The new State Committee, with a majority of Administration men, was organized yesterday by the choice of the most objectionable man that could be selected in the State for Chairman, John F. Smyth, whose connection with caucus-packing in Albany still remains vividly in the memory of New York Republicans. This Administration campaign, began in the most monstrous fraud, is continued by means admirably calculated to drive away all decent citizens from the Republican party. The Arthur leaders seem to be endeavoring to render Folger's defeat as crushing as it is in their power to make it. What will it profit these corrupt politicians if they gain complete possession of the Republican organization of New York and lose the State? Presidential nominations don't lie that way. The leaders should be politically indicted, one and all, for cruelty to Folger."

The New York Tribune says: "The shadow of coming defeat has fallen over the machine ticket in Pennsylvania so heavily that it is doubtful if even Senator Cameron has any hope of its success. The Independent cause gains unmistakable strength every day. Its leaders are pushing their campaign with great vigor and enthusiasm, and are clearly winning the confidence and support of the people. The Cameron cause, on the other hand, is moving along in a listless and thoroughly heartless fashion. Eminent Republican speakers from other States, who were announced as having promised to speak for Gen. Beaver did not put in an appearance. Senator Edmonds has declined to come in a letter which contained a guarded expression of regret at the dissensions which imperil the success of the party. Senator Harrison has also declined, and others like Senators Frye, Hawley, and Sherman, and Gov. Foster are extremely likely to find themselves unable to enter the contest. No discreet politician is eager to ally himself with a failing cause, especially when it is also a bad cause. The machine ticket is, therefore, badly in need of able speakers. The local talent which is enlisted in its behalf is of very ordinary calibre and is not exciting any enthusiasm. Gen. Beaver makes brief and ineffective speeches and shakes hands with great vigor, while Don Cameron scowls in silence."

Twenty-two Passengers Saved—Heroic Action of the Pilot and Engineer—Grief in New Orleans.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 30.—This morning at 3 o'clock fire broke out on the steamer R. E. Lee, while on her trip to this city, about thirty miles below here, resulting in the total destruction of the boat, with a terrible loss of life.

The following is a list of persons known to be lost:

Cabin passengers:
Mr. Pointer, Marysville, Ky.
Mrs. McClellan, New Orleans.
Miss Adams, music-teacher, on the way to Baton Rouge.
An infant of Mrs. Scale, of Vicksburg.
Two colored women.
Also the following:
Frank Jones, fireman.
Ophelia Jones and Martha Webb, second and third chambermaids.
Thomas Fisher, Joe Murrell, Scot Cox, Thomas Collins, Irwin Duncan, cabin boys.
Samuel Brown, roustabout.
Kardof Swanson, carpenter.
William Westermaker, second engineer.
Tom Collins.

All the cooks and help except the pastry cook. The books of the boat and the United States mail were lost, together with a cargo of 500 bales of cotton.

THE LEE had just been overhauled and newly painted, and was on her first trip this season. She left Vicksburg yesterday evening for New Orleans with 500 bales of cotton and a good list of passengers. While opposite Point Pleasant, at 3:30 a. m., she was discovered on fire, and was immediately headed for the Louisiana shore and landed at Yucatan plantation, thirty-five miles below Vicksburg. In a few minutes she was completely enveloped in flames.

TWENTY-ONE PERSONS are believed lost, including many of the crew. The steamboat J. M. White passed the wreck about 6 a. m., and took the remaining passengers and crew to Vicksburg. S. C. Rawlings and Robert Smith, pilots, were both burned and otherwise hurt. The fire, it is supposed, originated in the pantry-room. So rapidly did the flames spread that it was impossible for passengers or officers to save anything except what they had on at the time. Capt. W. S. Cannon states that the steamer was owned by the estate of his father, John W. Cannon, and her commander, Capt. William Campbell. She was valued at $100,000. The crew was composed almost entirely of men who had been on the river twenty or thirty years. The boat, besides supply-pumps, had a new fire-pump with a fourteen-inch cylinder and 700 feet of hose. There were always three watchmen on deck.

PASSENGERS SAVED.

Thomas J. Spain, Tensas, La.
C. H. Chapman, of the steamer Naomi.
O. O'Rouke, New Orleans.
J. M. Farnum, St. Louis.
Mrs. Abrahams, Chicago.
Henry Mason, Monroe, La.
J. C. Slott, New York.
H. W. Neefus, New York.
J. M. Freedman, Vicksburg.
J. B. Berger, Easton, Pa.
W. W. Irish, Carlyle, Ill.
John H. Ludwigson, New Orleans.
Mrs. Searls, Vicksburg.
A lady with eight children, name unknown.

The Lee left this city last Tuesday on the first trip for five months.

The Lee had on leaving here about 415 bales of cotton. She took on some few more at landings below and about sixty-five bales from a small cotton-seed boat, so that when burned she had about 512 bales, also a large cargo of boots, shoes, and dry goods reshipped by the Vicksburg & Mississippi Railroad from points north and east to Natchez and other points below this city, 20,000 feet of lumber, a large quantity of doors, blinds, sash, etc., together with a large lot of miscellaneous freight.

SHE STOPPED TO WOOD about twelve miles below here at 12:30 this morning, and remained some time. The last landing made before the fire was at Ashwood, about twenty-five miles below this city. At the time the alarm was given the boat was under way. She was immediately headed for shore, and struck the bank in three or four minutes.

IN VICKSBURG.

Whenever a survivor was seen on the street immediately a large crowd would gather round, eager to learn whatever he knew of the sad occurrence. Numbers were seen with heads and arms bound up, some of them in considerable pain, while others were not so badly hurt.

MR. OVICE BELL, second clerk of the Lee, who was up at the time the accident occurred, stated: "I never saw anything burn so quick. I was aft at the time, and when I heard the alarm, knowing my partner, who sleeps soundly, and other officers were in the texas and in great danger, I rushed up to awaken them. The fire followed me so fast that by the time I had them all up my partner had his hair singed in getting down stairs from the hurricane roof, and I was forced to climb over the rail. The boat had just been freshly painted, and

SHE WENT LIKE GUNPOWDER."

Mr. Bell and a passenger who was interviewed think the fire originated in the pastry-room of the cookhouse, "though I don't see," said the former, "what the fire was doing in there so early, as the cooks are not called before 4 o'clock."

MRS. DAN SEARLS, with heroic presence of mind and motherly devotion, grasped her sleeping infant, and, arranging a life-preserver in her state-room about her person, jumped boldly into the water. By disarrangement of her life-preserver she was thrown upon her back and lost her grasp upon her child.

Capt. Campbell and the surviving officers all leave by tonight's train for New Orleans.

THE SAVED OWE THEIR LIVES to the admirable courage of Pilot John Stout. He stood at the wheel and gave hope to all by his firmness, and as the steamer rounded at Yucatan Landing the flames were fast enveloping the brave man in the pilot-house, who, despite the fire around him, with almost the last hope of escape gone, remained at his post until he gave word to the engineer that the boat had made the shore. Not until this was done did he for one minute take his hand from the wheel. He made his escape by the hurricane roof down the hog-chain to the lower deck, and from there ashore.

SOME THINK THE FIRE was the work of an incendiary, while others believe it accidental.

Engineer Perkins first saw the flames issuing from the pastry-room, in which there were no lamps at the time. The steward, Henry Carrmann, states no coal oil or other combustible material was ever kept in the kitchen, pantry, or pastry-room. He thinks it was of incendiary origin.

Engineer Perkins, instantly after discovering the fire, notified the pilot, and the boat was headed for the Mississippi side, and plunged with such force against the bank as to become firmly fastened. The passengers not cut off from the bow escaped to the shore.

THE CASUALTIES occurred among those having berths aft. Some of them, however, were rescued after jumping overboard. Those who succeeded in getting ashore were many of them half-clad, some hatless, others shoeless, and others still with scarcely enough clothing to cover their nakedness.

Much credit is given William S. Perkins, who was in charge of the engines at the time of the disaster. He stood nobly at his post until the boat landed and Pilot Stout told him he could go.

POPULAR GRIEF.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 30.—The States says: "The announcement of the destruction by fire of that grand old steamboat, the Robert E. Lee, will be heard with universal sorrow. The champion of the Mississippi waters, the favorite of all people, from New Orleans to Vicksburg, and named after the greatest of heroes and statesman, her destruction, just at the beginning of the cotton season, and after having undergone a thorough overhauling, will be a serious blow to her owners as well as the trade in which the Lee had been so long and faithfully engaged." The steamer was insured for $50,000.

THE TOTAL LOSS by the burning of the Lee and cargo is $175,000. The merchandise was fully insured.

THE ROBERT E. LEE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—The steamer Robert E. Lee was the fastest and best boat on the Mississippi, and cost about $200,000. She was insured for only $50,000 in local and Cincinnati companies and the Ætna of Hartford. She was 315 feet long and forty-eight feet beam, had nine steel boilers each thirty-two feet long and forty-two inches diameter, forty-inch cylinders, and ten-feet stroke. She had storage-room for 9,000 bales of cotton. She left this city last Tuesday on her initial trip of the season, after laying up several months, during which time she was thoroughly repaired and overhauled at an outlay of many thousand dollars.

HAD CAPT. JOHN W. CANNON lived until today, his heart would have broken, for, next to his family, his admiration was largely centered in his favorite steamboat, the Robert E. Lee, whose name and record stand as the grandest ever made by any other in Southern waters. While the hull that has just burned was not the one that made the fast and famous trip to St. Louis, the machinery is, and the same master mind conceived the more recent model, transferred the great name, and the public were wont to look upon the boat as one and the same, and many hundreds that have trod her decks in the past have felt the same pride in her that they did in

THE FAMOUS "RACE-HORSE OF THE MISSISSIPPI."

The Robert E. Lee was built in Jeffersonville, Ind., in 1879. She was of 1,479 tons, and since the death of Capt. Cannon has been owned by what is termed the New Orleans, Vicksburg & Mississippi River Packet Company, of which Capt. William Campbell and the heirs of Capt. Cannon are the largest stockholders. She was inspected by Messrs. Butler and Applegate, United States Assistant Inspectors at this point, on the 6th of September, and, upon leaving on this her last and fatal trip, was provided with FIRE APPARATUS second to no steamer in the United States. The records show that she had on board five independent fire pumps, two worked by steam, the other three by hand. In connection with these were 700 feet of hose, with ten openings for attachment at various parts of the boat. These pumps were situated forward, aft, and amidship. In addition to this she had on the hurricane-deck or roof fifty buckets, eight barrels, and two large tanks, all filled with water. Two metal and two wooden lifeboats were in their cradles upon the roof, and one working boat at the stern. One hundred and sixty life-preservers had just been put in perfect order and fifty-five floats were hung below in places easy of access.

HER CREW LIST numbers forty-four, all told, officers and men, headed by a Captain, and engineer, and steward of the largest experience. Until full particulars are received it will be difficult to comprehend how the fire, so well provided against, made such bad havoc. Kardof Swanson, the carpenter who was lost, was a Dane about 50 years of age, and had been for twenty-eight years in the employ of the late Capt. Cannon. The lost second engineer, Bill Westermaker, was about 24 years of age, a native of this city, and had been raised on the line since boyhood. young Tom Collins might have easily saved himself, but he had charge of "the bureau," or colored passengers, and in efforts at saving them he lost his life.

THE WEATHER.

Signal Service.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER OF THE ARMY, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1—1 a. m.—For the Ohio Valley and Tennessee, fair weather, winds mostly easterly, stationary barometer, and stationary or higher temperature.

For the Lower Lake region, fair weather, winds mostly northeasterly, and stationary barometer and temperature.

For the Upper Lake region, fair weather, northeasterly winds, stationary or higher barometer, and stationary temperature.

For the Upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys, partly cloudy weather, local rains in the southern portions, easterly winds, stationary followed by rising barometer, and stationary or higher temperature.

The Chief Signal Officer furnishes the following:

The barometer is highest in the Upper Lake region and lowest in Nevada. The temperature has risen from 1 to 8 degrees on the Atlantic coast and from 8 to 10 in the Middle States. Local rains are reported from New England, the Gulf States, and the Northwest. Northerly winds continue in New England, easterly winds in the South Atlantic and Gulf States, the lake region, and the Mississippi Valley. The indications are that fair weather will prevail in the South Atlantic States and the Lower Lake region today and tomorrow.

OBITUARY.

F. D. Oertel.

Mr. F. D. Oertel, a well-known member of the Board of Trade, died yesterday noon at his home, No. 219 Dearborn avenue. Mr. Oertel came to this country from Germany in 1859, settling first in Laporte, Ind. Afterwards he came to Chicago and traveled for a wholesale hardware house. Then he engaged in business on Kinzie street, and subsequently on South Water—the style of the firm being Oertel & Lamb. In 1863 the firm of McDermid & Oertel was formed, and continued till 1877, doing an extensive commission business on the Board of Trade. After the dissolution of this firm Mr. Oertel engaged in business on 'Change alone, and a year or two ago closed up his affairs and went to Denver on account of his health. In Denver he started a commission house under the name of F. D. Oertel & Co. He returned to Chicago about a month ago not improved in health. His trouble was consumption. Mr. Oertel was very popular and well-known on 'Change. He possessed unusual enthusiasm, activity, and kindheartedness, and was an excellent business man. His age was about 41. He leaves a wife in good circumstances.

The funeral will take place from St. James' Church, corner of Cass and Huron streets, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains will be interred in Graceland.

TRAIN ROBBERY.

An Affair Evidently on a Small Scale at Granada, Colo., Last Evening.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 30.—Tonight, about 8:30, the west bound passenger-train on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé was stopped one mile west of Granada by armed men, who helped themselves to the express matter, but took nothing from the passengers.

A WHITE MOUNTAIN TRAIN WRECKED.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The Eastern Railroad White Mountain train, which left Fabyans this afternoon, ran off the track at Rochester, N. H. Oliver Goldsmith, engineer, and A. M. Randall, express-messenger, were badly hurt. Obstructions had been placed upon the track. It was evidently the work of train-wreckers.

THREE MEN KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Near Cornwall Station, on the Middletown Branch of the West Shore Railway, three men were killed and three badly hurt by a premature blast.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—The Tariff Commission continued its sessions today. Communications were read upon various subjects, and Horace L. Brooke, of Baltimore, the iron manufacturer, made an argument on the subject of iron-ore and pig-iron. He thought no increase of duty should be made on iron-ore, but the duty on pig-iron was not sufficient.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

503,185 and 350,518.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Will you please state the population of St. Louis and Chicago at the last census?
L. W.

De Gustibus.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Should a lady take off her gloves before partaking of the holy communion?
PRECIEUSE.

[It is a matter of taste. The effort isn't great, and it accords with most persons' ideas of propriety to take off the glove.]

No Such Division Can Be Made.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—You will greatly oblige one of your readers by answering in your Sunday paper the following example:

Thirteen dollars are to be divided per ratio, in which A owns one-half interest, B one-third, C one-fourth.

Having had a discussion, with no result, I call upon you to give an answer, if it can be worked, and, if so, what is the answer?
F. B.

The Nickel-Plate.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Please explain through the columns of THE TRIBUNE the meaning of the term "Nickel-Plate" as applied to the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad, and oblige
A READER.

[When the road was in process of construction its President boastfully said, by way of indicating the thoroughness of its construction and its superiority to other roads, that it would be nickel-plated throughout. Hence the name.]

Only a Trifle.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Noticing that you report us as one of the principal creditors of Mark S. Thompson, permit us to decline this distinction and to add that we conduct our business in such a manner as to make it impossible that we should be the leading creditors of anybody. Mr. Thompson had some deals with us, but, agreeable to our rules, we closed them when margins lacked, and he owes us a mere trifle. Yours truly,
ROBERT LINDBLOM & CO.

Reply to "Officiousness."

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Your Springfield dispatch in today's TRIBUNE containing the assessment of railroads in Illinois as determined by the State Board of Equalization for 1882 has a paragraph injected in it relative to what it terms the "officiousness" of two reputable citizens who were deputed to look after the land interests of Cook County and the proper assessments of the capital stock of certain corporations, etc. It is evident this paragraph emanated from a certain Cook County member of that board (not the Hon. J. P. Root) who was instrumental in securing 77 per cent addition to the valuation of lands in the county last year. Doubtless this member was much annoyed by the presence of those gentlemen, especially since their exertions extended to the proper valuation of the capital stock of a certain West Division institution in which the man is peculiarly interested.
COOK COUNTY.

Evening Schools.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—It has been announced in your paper that evening schools will begin Oct. 2. It is desirable that all sections of the city should derive the same benefit from these schools. The evening high school being located on the West Side is only of use to West-Siders, and the South and North Divisions of the city are without any evening high schools. Persons living in these sections are deprived of the great benefits to be derived from these schools.

If this school were situated in some central point easy of access from each division of the city by street-cars the advantages would be distributed to so great a number of persons anxious to learn the branches taught that the expenses incurred by such a location (such as the rent of rooms for the school) would be small as compared with the good work accomplished and the larger number benefited by this desirable change.
A SOUTH-SIDER.

Nominate Jo Stockton for County Treasurer.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—If the County Convention acts wisely it will nominate for County Treasurer such a man as Gen. Joseph Stockton—a gentleman well and favorably known everywhere, a representative man, having the confidence of the business community, and possessing all the qualifications to make him an available candidate. He will be sure of success, and with him the entire ticket. Let wise Republicans start a "boom" for Joseph Stockton for County Treasurer. No hack politician or professional officeholder who spends time that ought to be devoted to the people's interests in canvassing the saloons and "fixing the primaries" can be elected County Treasurer on the Republican ticket this fall. As a German-American Republican I do most earnestly assure the readers of THE TRIBUNE that the question of nationality will cut a much smaller figure in this fight than the question of personal character, business qualifications, and fitness for office.
GERMAN-AMERICAN.

An Intolerable Nuisance.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Will you do many property-owners on West Washington boulevard the favor to call attention to the intolerable running of velocipedes and wagons on the block west of Leavitt street. It is altogether useless and discouraging for these property-owners to beautify and to endeavor to keep fresh and unbroken their parks and terraces, when, in addition to the multitudinous crowd of roller-skaters and these wagon-boys two of them are driving their velocipedes and wagons sometimes on the sidewalks and often on the green sod. Besides, it is dangerous to limbs of persons walking on those sidewalks. Ladies are run into. The wagons in particular are intolerable. Unless the Park Board immediately adopt stringent measures to protect the efforts to embellish their grounds—the fences having been removed—it will be better to have all these parks between the trees fenced in, and the property-owners to replace their fences, and the latter will do it unless the board adopt effectual measures to protect them.
WEST WASHINGTON.

F. M. Atwood Corrects Some Mistakes.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—I beg to call your attention to some errors in your article which appeared in this morning's paper referring to my throwing 100 overcoats from the roof of this building yesterday afternoon. You say: "Fearing that the city authorities would object, the proprietor of the place sent out a feeler Thursday in the shape of a request that he be given a detail of police for the occasion, expressing his willingness to pay for their services." This is wrong. I had no such fears, and sent no such "feeler." Last Monday I saw Superintendent McGarigle and asked his permission to throw these overcoats. He at first hesitated, but finally consented, only requesting that I advise him in season as to the day and hour, that his men might be on hand and insure good order. Agreeable to his request I sent him a letter Thursday stating that all arrangements were completed, and that Friday at 3 p. m. I should have the 100 overcoats thrown into the street.

I had not thought it necessary to trouble his Honor Mayor Harrison with the matter after seeing Superintendent McGarigle, but as my audience was gathering his Honor happened to chance this way, and very pleasantly advised me that it really would not do to blockade the streets as the people were doing, and if I was expecting to throw the overcoats at all I must do it at once and have it over with, that the crowd might be dispersed. I accordingly, twenty minutes ahead of my announced time, ordered my men to throw the coats as quickly as possible, and in less than five minutes we had thrown the 100 garments by actual count as I had agreed to do, and I herewith inclose my oath before a notary public to that effect, simply because you state I only threw thirty overcoats from our roof.

Again, you show a criticising disposition by calling them "mucilage-sewed coats." They were, of course, cheap, heavy, warm garments, such as most dealers would retail at $4.50 to $5. Did you expect they would be satin-lined garments?

As regards the advisability of allowing crowds like this to gather in our main streets for such exciting purposes, perhaps after this experience I shall not differ with you in judgment, but I am informed by many people scattered in various parts of the great crowd that all went off as good-naturedly as could be expected, and no serious results happened to any one. Very respectfully,
F. M. ATWOOD,
Successor to A. J. Nutting & Co.

Music in the Air.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—South Chicago, which is one of the most enterprising towns in the West, whose population numbers 10,000, 2,000 of whom are mechanics and laborers, and as many business-men, has nearly concluded that the world is about coming to its end. The village authorities of Hyde Park, who pass an ordinance at one meeting and repeal it at the following, have at last decided that the workingmen of South Chicago are unworthy of having the privilege of listening to the sounding of a piano, or a comic or sentimental song. We would be under the impression that they were converted by the Salvation Army were it not recorded in Scripture, "By their fruits ye shall know them." The manner in which they allow the Sabbath to be degraded, the open-air music, dancing, and fighting, where men and women intermingle with each other, drinking and boozing, and let the reader judge the rest—and in which some of our rulers take an active part at Turner-Hall every Sunday, to the disgust of every decent citizen in the community, fully convinces us that they are wolves in sheep's clothing.

But in South Chicago, only a few blocks from the above notorious place, no saloon is allowed to have music or a song. What a consistent state of things, to be sure!

We poor mechanics and workingmen, hundreds of us in boarding-houses, working from 4 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the evening before the fiery furnace and rolls, are not allowed to have any recreation in the evenings and during the coming long winter nights.

Why should our town be deprived of this privilege? I suppose no Philadelphia lawyer can yet tell.

Were it near election time, we would have a wide field, but it is six months hence, and now they show their authority.

But wait a little. There is music in the air. If they can deprive us of our recreation and evening enjoyment at present, they can't deprive us of going to the ballot-box at next spring's election, and don't you forget it. If a thousand young men who are unable to visit the theatre twice or thrice, or even once, a week be deprived of any social evening enjoyment in South Chicago, they will not and cannot be deprived of using their influence in the factories when those officeseekers will come around asking their suffrages.
SOUTH CHICAGO.

A DAY'S OBSERVATION!

Truly Chicago Is a Great City—1882-'3 Already Sure to Outdo in Many Lines of Business Even the Expectations of Its Most Sanguine Prophets.

A representative of this paper who is almost constantly among the larger and better class of retail houses of the city cannot but remark the frequency of the query from business-men of all kinds and on all sides of "How do you find business this fall?" and not until yesterday has even this exhaustive observation discovered any very remarkable cases of "boom." A call on Mr. Jno. W. Norris, the affable Western manager of the Diebold Safe & Lock Company, yesterday brought to life a state of facts that are really wonderful, and while they reflect great credit on a business concern enjoying such universal confidence of the public, we doubt if there is another city in the Union that offers such possibilities for business. No less than eight complete burglar-proof bank-safe outfits—all special orders just filled by their factory, and which are made up and sent on in lots as they are ordered—costing from $1,000 to $5,000 each, with their "Sargent" and "Yale" time-locks, stood on the crowded floor along with the large rows of large and small fire-proof safes, a great majority of which were already sold, were being shipped as fast as three great trucks could haul them to the depots, together with the frequent calls of customers with all sorts of wants in the line of "protection," made one realize that there was at least one house that was really "rushed." In the course of conversation with Mr. Norris, this gentleman says that their burglar-proof sales alone run from ten to fifteen orders a week, and that their sales in time-locks this month are considerably over $5,000, while in fire-proof safes it is an utter impossibility for their immense Canton manufactory to keep him supplied with sizes. Take this in connection with their numerous large public and private contract jobs, all of which go steadily and surely on towards completion, it makes a volume of business the like of which never before has been seen in the safe business East or West.

COUTANT'S.

Grand Millinery Reception Wednesday, Oct. 4.

This date will mark an era among milliners in Chicago, and to say that it will astonish many of them only half expresses it; the display already made behind those fine plate-glass windows gives but a faint idea of what this magnificent reception will be, and to those who desire to see a spectacle equal, if not superior, to anything displayed in this country we would advise them to visit the millinery palace of Coutant, which occupies the entire building, 145 State street. Mr. Coutant's past receptions have been universally attended, and all have been struck by the attention and courtesy of the managers and employés. In this special reception Miss Chapman, so well and favorably known, will preside over her department in her usual courteous manner.

FALL STYLES IN HATS.

The fall styles in silk hats are particularly graceful this year, with the narrow, rolling rim and slightly bell-shaped crown. Messrs. A. Bishop & Co., the leading hatters, 156 State street, are showing an unusually fine stock in this line, as well as all the novelties in soft and stiff hats for gentlemen, boys, and children. The Derby, with a variety of modifications, holds its place as the favorite stiff hat. For boys and children, the Scotch caps and the Turkish fez are prime favorites; the latter in particular is having quite a run with the little folks this season.

GENTILE'S ELECTRIC-LIGHT PHOTOS

Excel for artistic effects. He is making them in the Exposition daily and every evening by the Vandepoele Company light under the big whale. Studio, 170 State street. Four portraits only 50 cents in the Exposition.

Murder Will Out.

Also all corns, bunions, warts. Use Dr. Wing's Remedy. Sure cure. No pain. All druggists.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Arend's Kumyss should be the reliance of the physician in all those cases of debility in which prompt improvement of the general tone is imperative. Kumyss is the blandest and most easily digested food, and as such the best nourishment for a weak stomach: at the same time, through the process of fermentation which Kumyss undergoes, medicinal qualities are developed which we vainly look for in materia medica. In nausea, vomiting, extreme cases of dyspepsia, Kumyss acts like a charm, promptly relieving all the distressing symptoms of such cases. When the stomach rejects all else, Kumyss is retained and assimilated, affording the patient nourishment, strength, and comfort, and, as a logical consequence, nervousness ceases and refreshing sleep follows. In scarlet, intermittent, gastric, and typhoid fever, Kumyss is the best diet. It satisfies thirst and hunger and allays the fever. Kumyss has considerably the advantage over drugs, in that it never can do harm. To dose an irritable stomach with drugs is an absurdity which no intelligent physician attempts in this day. But not only in extreme cases should Kumyss be resorted to; it should be the chief remedy for a weak stomach under all circumstances. The dyspeptic brain-worker with a few glasses of Kumyss a day will improve his digestion and his nerve force. Ladies would be less nervous, more vigorous, and healthier-looking if they would add to their daily diet a few glasses of Kumyss."

Send for treatise on Kumyss. Beware of imitations.

Arend's Kumyss is not sold to the trade, but to consumers only.

HIGHEST STYLE.
The management of the West End Dry-Goods house, appreciating fully the importance of this department, have given it a large share of their attention, and have secured in connection with it assistants of well-known capacity and thorough knowledge of their specialty: Aiming at a standard of excellence which would enable them to take position with the best in the country. THEIR SUCCESS IS UNQUESTIONED.
Their Costumes were seen at all the most fashionable Watering Places, and it was a frequent subject of remark that the ladies of Chicago whose Dresses were made at the WEST END DRY-GOODS HOUSE were notable for the elegance and good taste of their toilettes.
It is no longer SAFE to make Dresses at home, the change in styles being so great as almost to amount to a revolution, and the prices charged at the West End Dry-Goods House (while making no pretense to compete with cheap work) are so reasonable, when the style and work are considered, and the saving in material from careful cutting so great, that it is at least doubtful whether it is cheaper to make them at home.

MR. SMALLEY'S LETTER FROM LONDON.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The New York Tribune's London special cable says: Egyptian matters are passing through a period of suspense. In the extreme scarcity of news, the papers devote elaborate editorials to the Cairo explosion. The chief point of the recent telegrams is the alleged prevalence of hatred for foreigners in the Cairo population. The incidents reported, however, indicate rather religious fanaticism than the existence of the alleged national feeling. English confidence in the Egyptian tribunals for the trial of Arabi is not profound. There are no signs here of a vindictive feeling, but Sir William Gregory's appeal for Arabi will only do him harm.

CONCERNING THE SETTLEMENT

to be adopted, the public is thus far in absolute ignorance. No Cabinet Minister has opened his mouth. An attempt to extract a speech from Gladstone this week failed. The press generally takes no definit line. The repeated effort of the Times to commit the country to a policy of annexation have evoked feeble response, and they have been abandoned for the present. The absence from London of every Minister and nearly every public man closes most of the avenues through which the London journalists usually seek knowledge of coming events.

CONTINENTAL CRITICS

are completely puzzled, and argue at cross-purposes with each other. They are reduced to attempting to extract hidden meanings from Mr. Fawcett's speech. Mr. Fawcett, not being in the Cabinet, knows no more of the Cabinet's policy than any other outsider. Punch's cartoon entitled "The Lion's Share," represents England with her foot firmly planted upon prostrate Egypt, defying the other European nations, but Punch, though often interpreting popular feeling accurately, appears this time to have overshot the mark. There is very little evidence of a general desire for annexation.

EVEN THE TORIES

admit the difficulty Mr. Gladstone would meet in repudiating express pledges. The one thing certain which appears is that the Anglo-French Control will not be reëstablished. Gambetta's persistent daily demand means merely that he wishes to be able to tell France hereafter that he would have saved her rights had he been in power.

THE MOST ASTONISHING INCIDENT

in the whole Egyptian business thus far is the assent in the Ministry to the nomination of Baker Pasha to be the head of the new gendarmerie. The provincial papers protest, though the London journals are mostly silent, perhaps from the absence of their editors. It is certain that the nomination will not be allowed to pass unchallenged in Parliament. The sole explanation is Baker's personal popularity in high quarters, where, the Queen excepted, it has always been thought that Baker was too severely punished.

AT CAIRO.

CAIRO, Sept. 30.—Many natives go about the city shouting with delight over the explosions of Thursday, and crying "This is the peeple's bonfire, lit by the people in honor of the Khedive's infidel friends."

Railroad traffic between Cairo and Alexandria is now completely established. The momentary uneasiness created by the fire at the station has subsided.

Eight persons have been arrested on the charge of having extended the fire caused by the explosion of Thursday.

The Khedive today conferred the Grand Cross of the Order of Osmanli upon Admiral Seymour.

The court-martial will commence work today.

A grand review of British troops was held this afternoon in the square before Abidin Palace, in the centre of the city, where the troops assembled after marching through the streets. The Khedive and his Ministers and a large number of Notables were present. The streets were crowded with natives. The Indian contingent and naval brigade were warmly applauded in the march past, which commenced at 4 o'clock and finished at 5:30. The strength of the force evidently made a great impression upon the Egyptians.

AT LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Times this morning says it is understood that Admiral Seymour is personally unwilling to accept the elevation to the Peerage.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE COERCION ACT.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The New York Tribune's London special cable says: The expiration today of the Coercion act extorts from some of the opponents of the Ministry the avowal of the substantial though not the complete success of that act. The Standard admits that Mr. Forster broke up the Land League as an organized and disciplined body. The Times declares that its real fault was that it was not stringent enough. This, I believe, represents the general English conviction.

THE CRIMES ACT,

which takes the place of the Coercion act, is more severe, and is already proving more efficient. Walsh's conviction of murder yesterday makes the third verdict of guilty from an Irish jury, and spreads a salutary terror, the more so because Walsh was convicted on circumstantial evidence. But already the weak Liberals in London appeal for clemency. Judge Lawson's liberation of Mr. Gray, through a pretense of ill-health, is not likely to have a good effect.

THE SPLIT AMONG THE IRISH AGITATORS

seems to be widening. Mr. Dillon's friends agree that his retirement is due to the rejection by Mr. Parnell of Mr. Davitt's crazy program. The most pessimistic of the English journals admits that the Irish outlook is generally hopeful.

THE LONDON PRESS,

as usual at this season, has resumed the discussion of familiar social grievances. It opens its columns to attacks on the water companies, on the money-lenders, extortion at restaurants and hotels under the guise of waiters' fees, and to debates whether the shops ought not to close early, and how Hammersmith Bridge ought to be rebuilt. Capt. Shaw's suggestions for safety in the theatres once more get a brief hearing, though little has yet been done. There is hardly one theatre that is not notoriously dangerous.

ALD. KNIGHT,

who was elected Lord Mayor yesterday, is a Liberal. This does not mean that Liberalism is gaining ascendency in the city, where Jingo Toryism prevails. The Aldermen succeed by seniority to the Lord Mayoralty, but nobody could be elected who is not pledged, as Mr. Knight is, to uphold city abuses and monopolies.

MRS. LANGTRY'S APPEARANCE

as Rosalind has given rise to some controversy. The great majority of the critics, however, are strongly condemning the mistaken conception and the inadequate rendering of the character, and consider her deficient in tenderness and devoid of poetical or imaginative qualities. The Times said bluntly that she has no heart. Others declared, "This is not Shakspeare at all." This hard judgment has not abated the curiosity of the public, which crowds the theatre nightly and applauds. The house last night seemed to consist mostly of strangers. I thought Mrs. Langtry's Rosalind full of evidence of careful study in a bad school, reproducing the traditions of the last generation, artificial, and wanting in conviction, and rather stagy than unartistic. She is intensely clever, but is mechanical, and substitutes a comic view of Rosalind for the romantic maiden of Shakspeare. The company is deplorable. The last two performances were given today. Mrs. Langtry starts for New York on the Arizona on Oct. 14.

MISS CALHOUN.

It is reported that Miss Calhoun, a young lady from South Carolina, and a grand niece of the statesman, who has been studying in London for the last two years, is shortly to appear on the stage as Hester Grazebrook and Rosalind.

MR. JENNINGS' LETTER.

Special Cable.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Jennings' cable says: The retirement from public life of Mr. John Dillon, the Home-Rule member for Tipperary, and son of the John Blake Dillon who took such a prominent part in Irish "National" politics a generation ago, is naturally the subject of much speculation in political circles. Everybody believes that Mr. Dillon has some other reason than that which he alleges. It will perhaps be found —at least I have good reason to believe that such is the case—that, even if Mr. Dillon has had no personal quarrel with Mr. Parnell, he disapproves most strongly of the Parnell policy, which is largely controlled by that "Kilmainham treaty" which has been proved mythical everywhere except in the domain of practical politics. Mr. Parnell and his personal followers, there is every reason to believe, will hold to the conditions of that much-repudiated "compact," and so endeavor to disarm and divide the opposition to the Gladstone Administration at the approaching session.

MR. DILLON, LIKE MR. DAVITT, is for a bolder and more uncompromising course. He would make no terms with the enemy. Mr. Davitt's new program (of which I doubt not the correspondents in Ireland have kept you fully informed) would, were it once adopted, render any compromise with the Gladstone Administration impossible. Nevertheless, the statement seems warranted that Mr. Parnell is disposed to accept what has been given, and cry quits at least for the present. For such a suspension of open hostilities there is something to be said. The good harvest in Ireland has done not a little to quiet the country for the time being, while at Dublin, as they are popularly termed on the other side of St. George's Channel, have given the Government an instrument of tried temper for the discouragement of the authors, or reputed authors, of serious outrages. To some extent, therefore, the existing condition of things favors the less radical policy of Mr. Parnell, but, if Messrs. Dillon and Davitt should unite their forces and work against him, the "Kilmainham policy" would perforce go overboard, and its supporters would find themselves compelled to purchase popular support by outbidding their rivals.

THE NEW "HANGING COURTS"

MY OWN IMPRESSION

is that you will find, during the autumn session soon to begin, that the "No Compromise" party is more powerful than Mr. Parnell or Mr. Gladstone supposes, therefore the session is not likely to be used—as the followers of the Premier would fain have it employed—for the exclusive purpose of gagging the House of Commons with that "clôture" which it is fondly fancied will not prove quite so abhorrent to Englishmen if it is styled a "closure."

STOCKS.

The disturbed state of the New York money market only affects the prices of American stocks, this market being steady. Three months' bills are taken at 4⅜ to 4½. Increased stringency, I may say, is not anticipated here. The Economist today thinks that any prospect of gold going to America would harden rates in London, it being generally admitted that the Bank of England is not in a position to stand a drain for export. If New York seeks money in London, London can get it in Paris. Meanwhile, the continual fluctuations in New York unsettle values here, disturbing an otherwise strong market.

GRAY MUST PAY HIS FINE.

To the Western Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—Judge Lawson has ordered the release of E. Dwyer Gray on the payment of his fine—£500.

Judge Lawson, while defending his act in imprisoning Gray on legal grounds, said he felt that justice had now been vindicated, better things being observable.

Justice Lawson, in ordering the release of E. Dwyer Gray, pointed out that since his imprisonment, a considerable change for the better had taken place in the tone of his paper, the Freeman's Journal. The Judge said the action taken by himself and the law officers had been effectual in preventing the course of justice from being impeded.

The order of the court in regard to Gray's sureties was made to prevent any publications similar to the objectional one from appearing, but in the event of such publications hereafter, the Executive had full power necessary to deal with them. He was also, he added, not without hope that a reaction would spring up against the system of crime and outrage which had long disgraced the country.

WALKERS.

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 30.—The six days' pedestrian contest for Sir John Astley's long-distance championship belt was concluded tonight. Littlewood made 415 miles, doing 414 miles in 70 hours and 20 minutes, beating Dobler's record in America of 414 miles in 72 hours. Littlewood takes the belt and £50. Day of Birmingham was second, scoring 377 miles, and Corbett of Aberdeen third, with 347. Pearce, of America, finished sixth, with 305 miles. The competitors walked twelve hours daily.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 30.—The Australian cricket team sailed today for New York.

TUNIS, Sept. 30.—The American Consulate here has been abolished.

LOTTERY DRAWING.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 30.—The fifty-eighth drawing of the Commonwealth Distribution Company was held today. The following prizes were drawn: Capital prize, $30,000, by ticket 73,531; second, $10,000, by 94,940; third prize, $5,000, by 33,467. The following drew $1,000 each: 27,661, 38,145, 52,227, 76,597, 84,833, 89,466.

THE PORT OF NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Six steamers cleared for foreign ports today, with 360,000 bushels of wheat and other freight.

AN ALLEGED FRAUD.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—I desire to warn the public against a party or parties operating in this city issuing a receipt for a certificate of membership in the N. M. T. Association with the Drummer, a Cincinnati publication. A telegram from the publishers of said paper says they have no one soliciting for them in Chicago. The representation made is that the certificate will be sent to holders of receipts from this office (No. 69 Dearborn street) and entitles them to reduced rates at hotels and on railroads; also that it has my indorsement. Any person making such representations is a fraud and a swindler, and should at once be arrested. Respectfully yours,

D. C. CHASE,
Secretary Northwestern Traveling Men's Association.

FLEETWOOD PARK.

VANDERBILT, GRANT, AND WORK.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Frank Work drove into Fleetwood Park this afternoon behind Edward and Dick Swiveller, and put them under the shed. He was not there to beat the record of his team, which stands out in big letters on the front of the judges' stand, but to look on at the introductory day's events of the sixth annual meeting of the National Association of Trotting-Horse Breeders. He saw a heat or two trotted, and drawing the ribbons over his pair disappeared in the direction of the city. He was hardly out of sight when William H. Vanderbilt, in a square-box wagon, with a pair of smoked-glass goggles on his nose, drew up at the clubhouse with his team Early Rose and Lysander Bay. "It's the first time they have been hitched together in two weeks," said Mr. Vanderbilt. Early Rose was on the off side. "She's generally hitched on the nigh side," remarked Mr. Vanderbilt, "but she drives well this way."

ORRIN HICKOK,

the driver of St. Julien, stepped up to the carriage, and Mr. Vanderbilt preëmpted his left ear for a short time. When he had done talking to Hickok he touched up his team and vanished in a cloud of dust.

During the afternoon Gen. U. S. Grant drove his chestnut mare, by Superb, into the grounds, and remained a short time. The attendance was not large, owing to the competition of Jerome Park, but many prominent breeders and horsemen were present.

THE TRACK

was in pretty good shape, although the late rains had made it rather heavy. The events opened with a stake for 3-year-olds by stallions whose get had not beaten 2:35, in which there were three starters. Mr. Hendrickson's bay colt Alroy, by Peacemaker; J. Van Patten's bay colt Victor Clay, by Victor Mohawk; and W. H. Tailer's bay colt Senator Sprague, by Gov. Sprague. The two heats were a walk-away for Alroy.

TIME.

| | Quarter. | Half. | Mile. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First heat | 41 | 1:20 | 2:44 |
| Second heat | 38¾ | 1:15 | 2:33½ |

SECOND AND THIRD RACES.

The second race, a stake for 3-year-olds, was a walk-over for George K. Sistare's bay filly Thalia, by Messenger.

There were two entries for the third event, a stake for 4-year-olds whose get had not beaten 2:30, as follows: Baker and Harrigan's bay colt Humbert by Bona Fide, and J. R. Van Patten's (J. R. Maxwell's) bay colt Lurline Boy, by Victor Mohawk. Humbert had it all his own way. Time:

| | Quarter. | Half. | Mile. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First heat | 41¼ | 1:20 | 2:41¾ |

THE FOURTH EVENT

was a stake for 5-year-olds by stallions whose get had not beaten 2:25. The entries were A. Goldsmith's bay horse Barrett, by Chester Chief; J. L. Russell's bay mare Lotta, by Florida; J. D. Willis' bay gelding Jupiter Norwood, by Norwood. Norwood dropped back at the start and Barrett lagged behind Lotta until three-quarters of the way around, when he came to the front and won easily. Three heats were trotted, Barrett taking them all. When he took the lead away from Lotta an old turfman remarked significantly: "That's a horse race."

TIME.

| | Quarter. | Half. | Mile. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First heat | 35¾ | 1:12 | 2:31¾ |
| Second heat | 37¼ | 1:13 | 2:35¾ |
| Third heat | 28¾ | 1:16½ | 2:35 |

For the stakes for stallions that had not beaten 2:40 only A. Goldsmith's bay horse Walnut, by Florida, came under the wire, and it was a walk-over. J. W. Makee's chestnut horse Young Fullerton, by Edward Everett, did not start.

THE LAST RACE,

a stake for mares that had not beaten 2:40, was an interesting event. The starters were J. L. Russell's bay mare Ruby, by Hambletonian Prince, J. D. Willis' black mare Bertha Clay, by Henry Clay Jr., and J. S. Story's bay mare Beulah, by Sweepstakes. The first heat was started with Clay off her feet, but no sooner was the word given than she settled down and went over the course without a skip. The three heats were finished with Clay first, Ruby second, and Beulah third.

TIME.

| | Quarter. | Half. | Mile. |
|---|---|---|---|
| First heat | 37 | 1:15 | 2:40¼ |
| Second heat | 37½ | 1:18½ | 2:37¼ |
| Third heat | 36 | 1:15 | 2:35 |

Red Cloud, with a record of 2:21, will be driven and Alroy will probably start to make a record on Tuesday.

JEROME PARK.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The attendance at the opening of the fall meeting of the American Jockey Club at Jerome Park today was very large. There were, however, several unwelcome visitors upon the quarter-stretch who looked solemn and severe, and their movements were so suspicious as to creat consternation among the ranks of the betting men. They were Inspector Dilks and his blue-coated myrmidons, supported by a strong reserve of detectives, who circulated in the crowd like lambs ready to be shorn. The bookmakers were all prepared for business, and ready to take their accustomed places before the races began, but Inspector Dilks promptly informed the officers of the Jockey Club that would not be allowed, and that District-Attorney McKeen would have the members of the club indicted by the grand jury if any violation of the betting laws was allowed on the course. When the bell rang for the first race, instead of the bustle and excitement usual on the occasion, it became as quiet and sombre as a funeral. Although the leading bookmakers did not attempt to do any business, several of the small fry moved about in the crowd like ghosts, and considerable betting was done quietly. All went smoothly with them until the second race, when the detectives pounced upon their prey. Harry Talmah, James Jackson, of New York, and Charles Revers, of Jersey City, were arrested and taken before Justice Gardner,

BETTING

IN THE HARLEM POLICE COURT.

Talmah, when questioned, said he simply entered a memorandum in an old telegraph book, and Jackson averred that he was only making a memorandum in a book in which he kept family and grocers' accounts. Both were held for further examination, and Revers was discharged for want of sufficient evidence. After these arrests, no further attempts at betting were made. Those who visited the track purely for the sake of witnessing good sport had ample cause for satisfaction.

FOLGER'S LETTER.

HINTS AS TO WHAT IT WILL CONTAIN.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—It was stated late tonight that, in reply to a note asking if Judge Folger's letter would be given to the press tonight, it was said by Mr. Sperry, the Judge's secretary, that the letter would not be given out for Sunday morning's papers. He would not say when it would be made public, but from fairly reliable sources it was ascertained that the letter will be sent to the newspaper offices Sunday evening or Monday afternoon at the latest. Those who profess to know say tonight that a large space in the letter will be devoted to and, it is understood, the candidate will surely animadvert on the conduct of some of his Stalwart friends at the convention, and will denounce, in strong language, all such methods as were there called into requisition. He will say that, for the good of the party, and under all the traditions of political management, the results of a convention are binding and should stand, irrespective of the methods used to effect these results. He will call attention to the fact that wire-pulling and all sorts of sharp tricks are indulged in at every convention, no matter what party it may be, the only difference being that in this case some of the sharp tricks have been exposed. He will also place his acceptance on the high ground of fidelity and devotion to his party, and add that, having stated before the convention met that if he were nominated he would accept, he cannot now consistently with personal honor refuse to run.

THE FORGED-TELEGRAM BUSINESS,

FREE CANALS.

THE MERCANTILE EXCHANGE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The New York Mercantile Exchange is one of the first organizations of business-men in the city to lead off in an effort to secure at the polls this fall a vigorous expression of sentiment in favor of free canals. Efforts will be made to induce members of other business organizations to contribute of their influence and their means. It is intended to distribute printed material furnishing the arguments in favor of free canals, so that farmers in particular in the interior counties, many of whom are opposed to the removal of all tolls, may become better informed upon the subject, and, if possible, have their prejudices softened, if not entirely removed.

MONEY WILL BE REQUIRED to do this, but the generous response of members of the exchange to yesterday's appeal is satisfactory evidence that no great difficulty will be encountered in replenishing the coffers whenever they are empty. A meeting which was held today to consider the necessity of acting upon the constitutional amendments relating to free canals was attended by between 200 and 300 gentlemen, and a great deal of interest was manifested. Many prominent gentlemen throughout the State sent in expressions of sympathy for the movement, and the resolutions adopted urged upon the voters of the State the necessity of voting for the constitutional amendments establishing free canals.

COUNTERFEITERS

OF CUBAN CURRENCY AND POSTAGE-STAMPS.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Dr. Felix Valdez, a dentist of 240 East Twenty-eighth street, and Louis d'Aigencour, an engraver of No. 301½ Elizabeth street, were arrested yesterday on a charge of counterfeiting Cuban postage-stamps and fractional currency. They were taken before United-States-Commissioner Shields today, and held in $3,000 bail for examination. Dr. Valdez gave bail, but d'Aigencour was taken to jail. Special-Agent Drummond got on the track of the counterfeiters on Thursday. D'Aigencour denied having anything to do with counterfeiting. In a trunk in the room were a number of dies and plates corresponding to the various parts of the 50 cent currency in circulation in Havana, besides dies and electrotypes for printing the Spanish postage-stamps of different denominations. There were several proofs of the dies and electrotypes, bottles of ink, and engravers' tools in the trunk. The presence of several works on engraving gave color to the belief that the owner was an amateur, but the excellence of the work dispelled any such illusion. When asked to explain why he was engraving dies for copies of stamps and currency, D'Aigencour said that he was doing the work for Dr. Valdez. He declared that no printing had been done from the plates in this country, but said they were to be sent to Cuba, where the printing was to be done.

SHEETS OF GENUINE POSTAGE-STAMPS,

MISSIONARIES

OFF FOR INDIA.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The steamer Furnessia, which left this morning for Glasgow, took out six Baptist missionaries for India. The names of the missionaries and the different districts in India to which they are assigned are as follows: The Rev. C. H. D. Fisher and wife, from Chicago, for Nellore, India; the Rev. L. A. Eaton, of Salem, Mass., for Bangkok, Siam; the Rev. A. A. Newhall, of Woburn, Mass., for Hanama, Konda, in the Teluga district, India; and the Rev. H. W. Hale, wife, and three children, from Maine, for Burmah, British India. The Rev. W. R. Williams, D. D., and wife, were to have sailed today for India, but were detained, and will sail Saturday.

A FORTHCOMING WEDDING.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A daughter of Mr. Theodore W. Phinney, of Chicago, will be married Thursday next in All Saints' Chapel at Newport, R. I., to Mr. William Grosvenor, of Providen ce.

THE LAST OF STEWART'S.

There was little indication in Stewart's store today that the last day of its occupancy under the name of A. T. Stewart & Co. had arrived, yet such was the case. A new wholesale firm, however, will take possession of a portion of the building. Of the new firm Samuel Grocock was at the head of Stewart's hosiery department, Horace C. Sylvester was at the head of the Paris branch of the house, Edward R. Hilton, a son of Judge Hilton, was in Paris, and Henry Graham Hilton, another son, has been in the mill department for two years. The closing of A. T. Stewart & Co.'s business throws about 13,000 people out of employment, 7,000 of whom were in this city.

SUING FOR THE VALUE OF A LOST STEAMSHIP.

The owners of the steamship Edam, sunk in the collision with the steamer Lepanto, have filed a libel in the United States District Court against the Lepanto for the recovery of $443,789.

DROWNED AT SEA.

The British steamer Venice, from Yokohama, arrived today much damaged by the recent gales. The chief officer, Elliott, was washed off the bridge and lost.

FAILURE.

The embarrassment of the Avery Manufacturing Company, at 812 Broadway culminated in the Sheriff taking possession of the concern.

LIEUT. DANENHOWER, of Jeannette fame, has begun lecturing. He is to appear at the Brooklyn Academy of Music next Tuesday evening.

RUMOR SAYS that C. P. Bryce, one of the Nickel-Plate Railroad syndicate, has not only settled $500,000 on his happy-faced wife, but is considering the purchase of the Murphy-cottage property at Long Branch.

FORGERS.

August Rabe, William Rabe, and Ernst Meilman, who were arrested on board the steamer Furnessia last August at the instance of the German Consul, who demanded their extradition on the charge of forging bills of exchange for 6,000 marks on the Deutsche Reichsbank of Berlin, were this morning brought from Ludlow Street Jail, and United States Commissioner decided to hold them for extradition. The papers were at once forwarded to Washington, and as soon as the warrant for extradition is issued by the Secretary of State they will be taken to Berlin for trial.

WRESTLERS.

This evening M. S. Mahon, champion collar-and-elbow wrestler, and James C. Daly, the champion Irish-American athlete, signed articles for a wrestling match to occur Oct. 23.

YELLOW-FEVER.

How They Feel at Pensacola in the Midst of Their Troubles.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 30.—This night ends September with 783 cases of yellow-fever to date and seventy-eight deaths. The disease has been spreading rapidly for a week past, and has unfortunately been chiefly confined to very poor people, colored people, for a wonder, being peculiarly susceptible to its ravages. Southern people, especially those of Mobile and Memphis, sent most liberal contributions, and our local board have been enabled to promptly relieve all distress up to this time. The vouchers for the promised $150 per day from the National Board of Health have been sent on, and the money will be forthcoming, which, though vastly inadequate, will be of great service in keeping a sufficient fund in the hands of the local board. The sanitary condition of the city is confided to the Local Board of Health, and, while it has refrained from making any formal appeal to the country for contributions or aid of any sort, still free and voluntary contributions are thankfully received, and will be intelligently and economically expended. All such should be sent direct to D. G. Brent, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Health. This board has 120 paid nurses on duty today, in addition to about a dozen sisters of mercy. The paid nurses cost frequently $3 per day. The board has furnished numberless needed articles to the destitute for four weeks past, and a great deal of medicine and medical attendance. How long its resources will hold out to meet the immense expense no one can predict. The Marine Hospital service, with its large means, contributed nothing and will do nothing except to offer to establish a sanitary cordon, from which, in the face of local quarantine, no earthly good could result, but which would involve a useless expenditure of public money. Cordons will not pay for nurses or relieve the destitute.

THE FASHIONS.

Latest New York Modes.

New York Evening Post.

Short dresses, striped fabrics, puffed and plaited skirts, or plain ones trimmed around the foot with immense ruches, are still leading features of the latest fashions from abroad.

Among the newest and prettiest bouquet-holders is one made in the form of a thistle-bloom, in silver and green enamel. The shape of the flower is well adapted for the purpose the design serves to fulfill.

Whole tabliers of ficelle lace, made in small mesh with the finest twine, in gray or écru, are worn over handsome dresses either of plain or brocaded silk. To this tablier are added deep collars and wide turnover cuffs of the same lace.

Plain linen collars and cuffs are assuredly to be worn again, and very deep cuffs and Charles II. collars are preferred by many followers of this severe fashion. They look trim and neat, but it will take some time to reëstablish the custom of wearing them after the more negligé fashion of wearing lace alone.

With the pretty and very becoming velvet basques, over white or light muslin or silk skirts, are now worn tiny black velvet capote bonnets, faced inside with pale pink or pale gold satin, and trimmed outside with tea-roses, scarlet-geranium blossoms, or shaded wall-flowers, not mingled, and but a single kind on a bonnet. The flowers are set around the crown as a wreath, or in one large cluster just above the left ear.

Parisian modistes are making up dress-skirts with the loose overlapping Louis XIV. puffs down the fronts, and panels at each side trimmed in a variety of ways. Sometimes one panel is laid in flat kilts, and the one on the opposit side is covered its whole length with double-box plaits. Other skirts show the panels covered with quilles of narrow flounces on the right side, and cascades of lace on the left, or where lace is an unsuitable garniture, an echelle of cords terminating with handsome pendants at each end is seen.

Among the late novelties in fancy goods are lace boas. They are made of treble box-plaited ruffles of white or colored lace, so as to form a complete double ruche—this tied at the throat with a knot of ribbons, and again at the belt, with long ends falling over the skirt of the dress. The most elegant for general use are made of black Spanish jet-beaded lace, with ribbons of black satin or moiré. The daintiest and most expensive for full evening dress wear are made of white imperial point lace, either plain or painted in the centre of each scallop, and in the midst of the soft wave of the lace are set small artificial flowers. The ribbons correspond in color with the flowers chosen.

A very elegant reception-dress, made by Grange and Magenties, has a trained skirt of Persian mauve-tinted satin, trimmed around the bottom with a shell pleating of imperial point lace, headed by a fringed ruching of mauve of the most delicate tint shading to a deep purple. In the midst of this feather-like ruching nestle large unmounted tea-roses. The overdress is of mauve-tinted India-silk muslin, embroidered in garlands of tea-roses and purple pansies, and draped at each side with great bunches of artificial tea-roses and pansies. The bodice of satin is draped with a bertha of imperial point lace caught together at the belt with a spray of the same flowers. The pale mauve gloves to be worn with them are half a yard in length, and are hand-painted with tea-rose buds.

In new fabrics for autumn dresses the flowered patterns so fashionable during the summer no longer appear in anything like the majority, although they have not become really unfashionable. The cashmere designs seem likely to enter into a new lease of favor. Tiny patterns of Oriental design in a great variety of colors, the intermingling of which takes off any effect of gaudiness, are to be seen in both silk and woolen materials, as well as in fancy mixtures of both fabrics. These are not, as a rule, employed for entire dresses, but rather for effective appliances, such as panels, scarfs, vests, revers, and facings. On the other hand, plaids—not in the Scotch, but in the Madras style—prevail in the latest goods. Here again the colors are most harmoniously blended. Uncertain shades of blue, with every possible shade of yellow or gold, deep cardinal, dull shades of mauve, grays, and browns in a variety of shades are favorable mixtures, which are as different as possible from the bright-colored Tartan plaids.

Waistcoats grow in favor. Many of the dark woolen dresses being prepared for early fall wear are enlivened by waistcoats either real or simulated, made of velvet, silk, or serge. White silk waistcoats are also seen under tweed jackets, with turn-down collars and lapels like a gentleman's coat. They are buttoned down the front, and the great consideration is the buttons, which must be jaunty and rich-looking, and in harmony also with the color of the tweed fabric which, if it be brown, calls for bronze or copper buttons; or if the tweed is in heather mixtures, enamel buttons inlaid with different colors—red predominating—is the proper selection. Very elegant-looking promenade costumes made of olive green and dark myrtle green crossed with hair lines of cardinal or old gold, have waistcoats of dark green velvet, or of royal cardinal serge, fastened with gold buttons, and trimmed with rows of gold braid or gold braiding in arabesque designs.

MARINE NEWS.

A Greatly Improved Demand Yesterday for Vessels to Carry Grain.

Room Taken for Over 400,000 Bushels of Wheat, Corn, and Flaxseed.

Dock and Other Notes—Vessels Passed Port Huron—Vessel Charters—Around the Lakes—Port List.

Lake Freights.

There was a greatly-improved demand yesterday from shippers of grain for vessel-room, especially for Buffalo, and the largest fleet of carriers for some time past was chartered. Rates, however, showed no change, being 2¼ cents a bushel on corn and 2¼ on wheat and flaxseed to Buffalo, and 1¾ cents on corn to Sarnia. There was but very little inquiry for carriers to lower Canadian ports, the shipments to those places seeming to have been flattened out within the past fortnight, owing probably to a decline in coal freights from Lake Ontario ports. The improved demand from shippers for vessels did not seem to encourage owners, especially those who own sailing craft, most of whom seemed to think that yesterday's inquiry was simply a temporary "spurt" on the part of those who were compelled to ship grain eastward to cover contracts, and that as soon as their wants were supplied that things would drop back in the old rut again, notwithstanding it is said that coal is coming forward at Buffalo, it is believed that enough is arriving to make the inquiry for carriers at Buffalo, the line steamers being amply able to carry all the tonnage needed by shippers, and to which the preference would be given unless there was a material reduction in carrying rates to this port and Milwaukee. There is nothing in freights to tempt vessel-owners to send their vessels to the lower lakes, and they are likely to allow the steam transportation lines to monopolize the business for the balance of the season. The charters yesterday were the following vessels:

| | Bushels. |

John Fossell has been nominated by the Anti-Monopoly Club for Representative in the Thirteenth Senatorial District.

The Hon. George B. Loring, Commissioner of Agriculture, is expected in the city today. He will stop at the Grand Pacific Hotel.

The nine public night-schools of the city will open tomorrow night. The sessions begin at 7:30 o'clock and continue to 9 o'clock.

Bishop H. W. Warren, of Atlanta, Ga., will preach this morning at Trinity M. E. Church, on Indiana avenue, near Twenty-fourth street.

The members of the National Board of Visitors for Soldiers' Homes passed through the city yesterday on their return from Milwaukee.

The internal-revenue receipts yesterday amounted to $25,235, of which $18,031 was for spirits, $1,989 for cigars, $4,308 for tobacco, and $855 for beer.

Mr. J. E. Woodhead, of 171 West Washington street, who was seriously injured last Sunday by the overturning of his buggy, is recovering steadily.

The Knights of St. Chrysostom elected for Chief Knight Albert Bayer, vice Jacob Sherk, resigned, and James E. Murray Junior Knight, vice Albert Bayer, promoted.

At a meeting of the Class of 1879 of the Union College of Law of Chicago, held Friday, Sept. 29, resolutions of respect were passed to the memory of William R. Yourt, a former classmate recently deceased.

The Coal Exchange held a regular monthly meeting at the Grand Pacific Hotel yesterday afternoon. O. W. Goit presided. An attempt was made to boost up prices without avail, and the meeting adjourned subject to call.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street, TRIBUNE Building, was as follows: 8 a. m., 65 degrees; 10 a. m., 68; 12 m., 69; 3 p. m., 70; 6 p. m., 68; 8 p. m., 67. Barometer, 8 a. m., 29.75; 8 p. m., 29.78, rising barometer.

S. H. Harris, of New York; M. D. Losell, of Fargo, D. T.; C. C. Darling, of Providence, R. I.; Judge W. D. Williams, of Marquette, Mich.; D. E. Dyer, of Boston; John F. Cremin, of Philadelphia; and John J. McDonald, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, are at the Tremont.

J. J. Hogan and wife, of La Crosse, Wis.; R. T. Mitchell, of Nevada, Mo.; T. B. Gordon and wife, of Baltimore, Md.; J. B. Carter, of Portsmouth, England; T. H. Ashdown and wife, of Winnipeg, Manitoba; and C. C. Lane, of Prescott, Ari., are at the Sherman.

Fowler Bros. commenced an attachment suit Friday, which was suppressed for service, against Mark S. Thompson & Co. to recover $12,000 which was loaned Mark S. Thompson. It is charged that the latter has left the State with the intention of removing his property, so that his creditors cannot seize it.

The leading members of the Old Settlers' Association have agreed to lay the corner-stone of the new hospital buildings on the 25th, which is in accordance with the invitation extended them. They have not arranged the details, but it is given out that the Hon. John Wentworth will make the speech of the occasion.

The Hon. I. Huddy Leigh, of London, England, passed through Chicago a few days ago en route for Liverpool, and while here he visited R. W. Dunstan. Mr. Leigh has been spending some time on the Pacific coast, and while there completed the purchase of 600,000 acres of land in Oregon for an English syndicate for immediate colonization.

The boys and girls on the West Side who have organized as Friends of Animals now have fifty-five members, and are increasing without urging. Their library now contains over 100 books. Office, 846 West Adams street. Report for September: Animals saved from torturing death, 11; animals saved from cruelty, 21; cases reported to Humane Society, 2.

Commissioner Senne will tomorrow introduce a resolution looking to transferring the money realized from the sale of the Reform School property to a fund to be known as the Hospital Building fund. The money in question is now idle in the treasury, and he simply wants it transferred to meet the expense of the additions to the County Hospital.

Stephen Munker, of No. 34 McHenry street, yesterday identified the body of the ruffian killed by Mr. Dyniewicz, editor of the Polish Gazette, as that of Joseph Krueger, driver of an express wagon. Mr. Munker says that Krueger attended a Polish wedding the night before he was killed, and probably that was the commencement of the spree which ended so disastrously for him.

George Campbell, whose gambling den on Cottage Grove avenue was raided a few nights ago, was fined $100 by Justice Prindiville yesterday for keeping a common gaming-house, and he paid the fine. Campbell's place was raided on complaint of Mrs. Elizabeth Berry, whose husband had lost considerable money in the place at different times. Berry and two or three other witnesses swore that Campbell was the proprietor of the establishment, and that they had lost money at faro directly to him. No defense was offered.

Frank Gordon, the St. Louis murderer, who was arrested Friday night by Officer Granger, was fined $100 yesterday by Justice Wallace for vagrancy, but the fine was suspended to give the fellow a chance to leave town. Three years ago, at the corner of Twenty-second and Washington streets in St. Louis, Gordon, then about 17 years old, stabbed to death an aged saloonkeeper named Herman Troxler, the knife used being one that Gordon had stolen that same night from a butcher-shop burglarized by him and his pals. On account of his tender years and because he was a poor washwoman's son he only served a year in jail for the murder—one of the most brutal ever committed in St. Louis.

Two burglars entered Peter Kearns' residence at No. 116 West Jackson street about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by raising a side window. Mrs. Kearns discovered the intruders, and, of course, commenced screaming. The burglars fled, but not before Officers Williams and Barrett arrived on the scene. They started in pursuit of the burglars and finally captured them in an alley in the rear of 198 South Desplaines street. They were both without shoes, having left their footwear in Mr. Kearns' back yard before entering the house. In their possession were found articles of jewelry and other small trinkets belonging to Mrs. Kearns. The prisoners proved to be Frank McDermott and Rodney Haskett, both notorious characters. They were locked up at the Desplaines Street Station.

The field and staff officers of the First Infantry Regiment held a special meeting at the armory last evening, at which it was decided to give a first-class promenade concert at the armory on Saturday evening, Oct. 21, and the following officers were appointed as a Committee of Arrangements: Col. E. B. Knox, Chairman; Major and Surgeon John Streeter, Capt. George Gibson, and Quartermaster A. L. Bell. St. Barnard Commandery will give an exhibition drill in the attractive movements of the Knights Templar order, and three or four of the best companies of the regiment will give exhibitions in military drilling. The full band of the regiment will be in attendance, with the new and gorgeous uniforms recently brought from New York, and dancing will close the evening's enjoyment.

The regular Saturday evening meeting of Unity Church Club was held last evening in the club-rooms in the church edifice on Dearborn avenue, President Bishop in the chair. At the close of the regular program Messrs. Finnity and Hall for the affirmative and Messrs. Shuman and Storck for the negative debated the question, "Resolved, That theatres should not be open on Sunday." The vote at the close of the debate was in favor of the negative. Mr. George C. Miln, late pastor of old Unity, who organized the club, was present by invitation, and after the exercises spoke briefly to the members whom he looked upon as representing the best work he had done while at the head of the parish. He would soon leave the city to travel through the country, but in his journeyings he would always think of Unity Club, and hope that its members would "live long and prosper." Speaking of the question that had been discussed Mr. Miln said that it was of considerable significance, and he thought that it would be eventually decided by itself sooner or later. He had not fully made up his mind if really legitimate performances should be given on Sunday evenings or not. After a brief social session the club held a business meeting and adjourned.

A fashionably-attired lady who refused to give her name, but who is said to be the wife of a wealthy tobacco manufacturer of this city, had a sorrowful tale to rehearse yesterday morning when she arrived at the West Side Union Depot on a Milwaukee & St. Paul train. She had just returned from a visit to Burlington, Wis. At that place she bought an excursion ticket to Chicago, getting it very cheap from a stranger. The ticket proved to be all right, but the lady discovered after getting on the train that the ticket was all she had in her purse, although at Burlington it contained $500 in large bills, which she had carelessly exhibited when purchasing the ticket. She thinks the stranger who sold her the ticket managed to get the $500, or that the money was stolen by a red-headed man who left the train very mysteriously at Western avenue.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

One of the most important events that has ever occurred in the order of Knights of Pythias of Illinois transpired at the Matteson House Friday evening, being the formal organization of the Twelfth Grand Division in the world. The meeting was called upon authority of a warrant issued by the Supreme Chancellor John P. Linton, in accordance with the new laws adopted at the last session of the supreme body in Detroit. The following delegates representing every uniform division in the State of Illinois were present: Sir Kt. Com. E. L. Brand, Sir Kt. Herald John Gabriel, of Fort Dearborn Division Chicago; Sir Kt. Com. C. A. Sullard, Sir Kt. Lieut. Com. E. A. Myers, Sir Kt. Herald A. A. Shube, of Washington Division, Jerseyville; Sir Kt. Com. A. J. Elvig, Sir Kt. Lt. Com. Edward Holmgreen, Sir Kt. Herald C. J. Nelson, of Scandia Division, Chicago; Sir Kt. Lt. Com. A. H. Michelson, Sir Kt. Lt. Com. Ole Mae, Sir Kt. Herald C. Peterson, of Apollo Division, Chicago; Sir Kt. Com. George O. Gurnsey, Sir Kt. Lt. Com. W. D. Kennedy, Sir Kt. Herald M. Purtell, of Chicago Division, Chicago; Sir Kt. Com. George W. Schuessler, of Belleville Division, Belleville; Sir Kt. Lt. Com. C. A. Palmer, Sir Kt. Herald George Woodruff, of Princeton Division, Princeton; Sir Kt. Acting Com. Tom H. B. Camp, of Bushnell Division, Bushnell. One of the most popular members of the order, Eugene C. Race, Past Grand Chancellor, was appointed special Deputy Supreme Chancellor to preside at the organization and election of officers, and he appointed Sir Knight Mark Pollock as Secretary, and the Grand Division was organized by the election of the following officers: Grand Commander, ranking as Colonel, E. L. Brand of Chicago; First Assistant Grand Commander, ranking as Lieutenant-Colonel, T. P. Streeter of Princeton; Second Assistant Grand Commander, ranking as Major, A. J. Elvig of Chicago; Adjutant, C. A. Sullard of Jerseyville; Surgeon, Dr. C. A. Palmer of Princeton; Chaplain, John Gatnel of Chicago; Quartermaster, George W. Schuessler of Belleville.

A QUEER SUICIDE.

It was rather a queer plan that a sailor named George Johnson adopted for ending his earthly career. He was one of the crew of the schooner Tempest, Capt. R. C. Smith, which arrived at this port early yesterday morning. Between 3 and 4 o'clock, when the schooner was near the crib, Capt. Smith discovered a dark object in the water by the side of the vessel, and that the object in question was being towed by the vessel by means of a small rope tied to the rail. Further investigation developed the fact that the object in the water was Johnson's dead body, the head being in a noose at the other end of the rope. Ultimately the body was removed to the morgue. Johnson had been with the Tempest about a month. It is not known whether he was married or not, where he lived, or why he should want to commit suicide.

RAILROAD SMOKE, NUISANCE CASES.

Several smoke-nuisance cases against railroad companies were tried before Justice Wallace yesterday afternoon. Prof. Paton, for the prosecution, was the only witness to testify in any of the cases. In the case of the Wabash Road, the first on trial, he swore that he had seen certain locomotives belonging to the company issuing dense volumes of smoke inside the city limits. The attorney for the Wabash did not try to prove that the smoke was not dense, but argued the evidence was not strong enough for a conviction unless the prosecution could specify as to the name or number of the locomotives in question, and prove positively by whom they were owned. They court thought the name on the tenders of the locomotives indicated the owner, and that it was not necessary to state exactly which locomotive or locomotives were throwing out the dense smoke. The Wabash was fined $50. The Illinois Central was fined $50 also, the evidence and arguments being the same as in the first case except that the General Superintendent, Mr. E. T. Jeffery, made a long argument against the fairness of the ordinance. The Chicago & Alton and the Milwaukee & St. Paul Companies were fine $50 each, allowing their cases to go by default. The case against the Michigan Central was dismissed, arrangements having been made by that company to use coke engines in the city. The case against the Grand Trunk was dismissed because Prof. Paton was not ready to go to trial. In the cases where fines were imposed appeals will be taken.

THE CITY-HALL.

A case of diphtheria was reported yesterday from No. 115 String street.

The Mayor's bride sailed from Liverpool in the steamer Bothnia yesterday.

Controller Gurney returned yesterday from the East. He had on a brand-new suit of clothes, but wasn't accorded a reception.

The employés at the City-Hall were happy yesterday when they heard that Mayor Harrison had declined to run for Congress in the Third District.

The Department of Public Works yesterday opened bids for sewers on Dayton, Jay, Park, and Thirteenth streets, and on Seminary avenue.

The Committee on Wharves and Public Grounds met. It was intended to consider the ordinance granting the right to the "Nickel-Plate" Road to lease a part of the Lake-Front for the purpose of erecting thereon a temporary depot. Neither the railroad nor the property-holders were represented. Ald. Shorey was of the opinion that the city had a right to grant a lease of the ground. He saw no objection to it, provided the company paid for the privilege. Ald. Wetherell wanted to know about the injunction. Ald. Shorey said there was no injunction. Ald. Ryan thought about $6,000 per year was a fair lease price, if all the protecting and vacating clauses were put in. Ald. Wetherell doubted the right of the city to make such a lease, and he thought it should not be granted. Ald. Storey said that the lease could be terminated at any time. The City of Chicago had a right to grant the lease if it was disposed to do so. Ald. Wetherell claimed that the city had no right to grant a site for a building to the Trade and Labor Council, and he wanted to be consistent. The whole matter was finally laid over until next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

THE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY considered the ordinance providing that no carriages, wagons or other vehicles shall follow the funeral of a person who has died of small-pox or other contagious disease. Action upon it was deferred.

The committee had also under consideration an ordinance covering the matter of killing overzealous dogs which take a delight in chewing up little children. The Law Department had prepared an ordinance covering the matter, which, if carried out and adopted, would annihilate every canine in Chicago. Ald. Wetherell said that the ordinance would be a godsend to Chicago if adopted. Action was deferred.

The claim of Cheny Parker for a $40 suit of clothes which he claimed was lost while he was a patient at the pest-house was considered, and he was recommended to bring suit before the proper court.

Ald. Geohegan's resolution in regard to the Mayor reporting to the next regular meeting of the Council the name of each and every person now filling an official place whose term of office has expired by limitation was taken up. Ald. Geohegan thought the resolution was a fair one, as all the bonds of such officials expired with their official terms. Ald. Shorey thought that it was the duty of the Mayor to obey the city resolutions, but it was not the province of the Council to instruct the Mayor. The committee decided to recommend the passage of the ordinance. Alds. Dalton and Shorey voted against it.

The matter of opening Dearborn street to Taylor was the theme of considerable discussion. Mr. Thomas, for the property-holders, insisted that the street should be opened at once, and that there should be no delay in the matter, as the public interests demanded it. The property interests in the vicinity had been neglected for nine years, and these people should have some certainty guaranteed to them.

There was a delegation of property-owners present who wanted the street opened. The committee considered the matter but came to no conclusion.

PERMANENT STREETS.

Mayor Harrison, Commissioner of Public Works Cregier, and Mr. Cameron of Messrs. Cameron, Amberg & Co., yesterday had a talk on pavements. The Mayor and Mr. Cregier both feel that the present system of caring for pavements in Chicago insures no permanency, and they are anxious that some permanent manner of caring for them might be adopted. In London, the Mayor said, the pavements are guaranteed for seventeen years. A contractor lays a pavement, and when it is completed he receives 60 per cent of the contract price. At the end of three months he receives 30 per cent more, and 10 per cent is held back for two years, during which time the contractor keeps up the pavement without cost to the city. For the next seven or eight years he gets a stipulated price, which is increased for the last seven years, so that at the end of seventeen years the city comes into possession of a first-class street. The streets are all cared for in this way. The city inspects the work only when done, and the contractor is held accountable by holding back his money, which is not paid over until he furnishes a job up to specifications. At the end of each fiscal year the cost of maintenance and the condition of each street is taken. The Mayor says that some system will be evolved by which our streets can be rendered more durable and better cared for.

THE MAYOR'S EXPLANATION.

Mayor Harrison said yesterday that he knew nothing of the advertising dodge which was attempted on Madison street Friday afternoon until he happened on the street. He had gone down to his lunch, and when he reached THE TRIBUNE office corner he had the first intimation of the gathering crowd. He asked a policeman in the vicinity why he did not keep the street clear, and he told the Mayor of what was to occur. The Mayor did not want the overcoat throwing to go on, but the officer said that the firm had a permit from Chief-of-Police McGarrigle. He wanted the officer to get it and let him see it, and they wormed their way through the crowd to the store together. The permit could not be found. By this time the crowd had grown so dense that traffic and business was impeded, and the Mayor ordered the coats to be thrown down so that the crowd might be dispersed. They were thrown down all at once, and then the Mayor dispatched a policeman for the patrol-wagons to disperse the crowd. The firm had Mr. McGarigle's permit; but had the Mayor known anything of it he says he would have objected to it. He doubted if this sort of advertisement was of utility to anybody; and, while it resulted in no harm, the gathering together of so large a crowd might have produced serious results, either through pocketpickings, some one getting hurt, or a still more serious disaster. Had the Mayor known of it the thing would never have taken place.

UNDESIRABLE TENEMENTS.

The Tenement House and Factory Inspectors last week made twenty-eight special examinations. They inspected 206 dwellings, containing 2,119 rooms, occupied by 2,577 persons. They also investigated 73 factories, 93 stores, and 76 miscellaneous places, employing 5,944 persons. They served 73 notices and saw that 57 sanitary defects were remedied. The places found to be especially defective were as follows:

No. 1815 Butterfield street, a three-story brick of twelve rooms, owned by J. Dunlap, and occupied by sixteen persons. The plumbing is defective, the wastepipes being untrapped.

No. 696 Noble street, a one-story brick of seven rooms, owned by John Wituski, occupied by sixteen persons. The drainage is bad, the sewage being deposited in the front of the lot, where it lies festering and breeding disease.

At No. 3 Fox place the waste-pipes are not connected with the sewer, and the filth is deposited on the ground to rot.

At 2359 Archer avenue, a two-story frame, owned by G. L. Wilson. There is a saloon on the first floor. The plumbing and drainage are defective. There is no connection with the sewer in the street, and the waste-pipes empty their filth upon the ground in the basement, creating a horrible stench and a great nuisance. The water-pipes are leaky, and the entire premises are in a general tumbledown condition.

No. 11 Milton avenue, a two-story and basement frame, owned by John Muller, occupied by fifteen persons. The drainage is defective, and the waste-pipes are untrapped.

No. 51 Milton avenue, a structure similar to the above, owned by John Dowdell. Defective drainage and offensive privy vault. No. 60 Milton avenue, like defects.

No. 53 Milton avenue, a two-story and basement frame, with a two-story house in rear, owned by Charles Jansen. The drainage is defective. The privies are full and offensive. The catch-basins need cleaning, and there is an accumulation of filth and garbage under the sidewalk.

No. 83 Chicago avenue, a two-story and basement frame, owned by C. Grogan. Defective plumbing and drainage.

No. 280 West Washington street, a two-story and basement brick of eleven rooms, occupied by ten persons, Griffin & Dwight agents. The inspector reports that the drainage is poor, and that there is sewage under the house. He had served notice on the agents, and Mr. Griffin remarked that he was very desirous of trying issues with the Health Department. He says that he finds great difficulty in compelling agents to make even the most necessary sanitary arrangements, and that they express a disregard of the orders of the Health Department.

Southwest corner of West Van Buren and Canal streets, a two-story and basement brick factory building, owned by B. Lowenthal. The plumbing and drainage are poor and defective. The basement is poorly fitted for the use of a shop, and is not a place fit to work in.

SUBURBAN.

LAKE.

The residents in the vicinity of Ashland avenue and Forty-eighth street of the Catholic faith are about to have a long-felt want satisfied. The committee to whom has been intrusted the work of gathering funds for the building of St. Rose Church have met with commendable success, and the work will be renewed with increased vigor. The church is located on the corner of Ashland avenue, near Forty-eighth street. When completed it will be forty feet in width and eighty feet in length, and will cost $8,000, of which sum about one-half has been collected. A fair will be held in the edifice the latter part of this month, at which time it is expected the remainder of the sum needed will be realized.

Owing to the energetic work performed by the Citizens' League in prosecuting saloonkeepers who sell liquor to minors and drunkards, the former considered it about time to call a halt and band themselves together for self-protection. A meeting was held accordingly at No. 735 Forty-third street, and a large gathering of liquor-dealers was present. However, no business of any importance was transacted, and the meeting adjourned to convene at the Town-Hall Monday evening, when it is expected that something definit will be done regarding the future movements of the organization.

The immense viaduct through the Union Stock-Yards is at last completed. The wide stairway for the accommodation of foot passengers is in working order, and is extensively patronized. Heavy traffic is not as yet commenced.

The Sons of Temperance, Stock-Yards Division No. 73, have elected the following officers to serve the ensuing term: Gregory Hunniford, W. P.; Miss Lena Burkhard, W. A.; James Adid, R. S.; Mrs. N. Swift, A. R. S.; James W. Thompson, F. S.; Mrs. R. Niel, Treasurer; Nathaniel Swift, Chaplain; Henry Jones, C.; Robert Sandels, A. C.; James Beatty, J. S.; William Doonan, O. S. The reading-room is one of the chief features of the organization.

George T. Williams, Secretary of the Union Stock-Yards & Transit Company, returned from New York yesterday morning. He gives a graphic account of the great floods in the East which occurred last week.

LAKE VIEW.

The friends of the Lake View High School, Prof. A. F. Nightingale Principal, again rejoice that the school has been awarded, with one exception, all the first premiums and the sweepstakes in the Educational Department of the State Fair just closed at Peoria. The pupils were examined in twelve subjects. The questions were the same for all the schools, and each subject was examined by a special committee appointed by the State Superintendent, and the percentage marked on each paper. Many of the best high schools in the State competed. Lake View receives thirteen diplomas and $64, including the two sweepstakes. Oakland takes the second sweepstakes.

JEFFERSON.

The public are now in full possession of the particulars surrounding the death of Prof. H. W. Towne, who was burned to death in Dakota so recently. The remains reached here on Thursday, and were forwarded to Batavia for interment. Funeral services will be held at the Congregation Church in the village. The community has seldom received a more severe shock than in the death of Prof. Towne, who was universally respected and esteemed.

SOUTH CHICAGO.

B. A. Ulrich bought yesterday for a Board of Trade man eleven half-acre lots in the South Shore Subdivision for $700 per lot. The lots are north of the Westfall tract, the spot selected for a summer resort, and lie near the line of the proposed Illinois Central Branch to South Chicago. An offer of $750 each for fifteen other half-acre lots in the same subdivision was not accepted.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Quite an unusual excitement is caused by the extraordinary display at P. F. Ryan & Co.'s favorite dry-goods establishment, corner Peoria and Madison streets, of an immense new stock of black and colored silks, all the latest novelties in dress goods, cloaks, etc. Mr. P. F. Ryan has just returned from New York, and it is but just to say that Chicago can exhibit no goods finer or better. They should be seen by every lady.

An exchange says: Some friends lately visiting Mr. Whittier found him overrun by a deputation of ten or a dozen young schoolmistresses, who had come from Lawrence, Mass., in a body to demand his autograph. Such are the penalties of fame and genius. Some reporters lately found the best Mayor Chicago ever had (for politics) overrun by a crowd of his Democratic supporters grabbing for advertising-overcoats. Such is the penalty of not being duly respected.

The old-established and popular jewelry house of N. Matson & Co., corner of State and Monroe streets, besides carrying the largest and most complete stock of diamonds, watches, and jewelry, have lately added a new department—that of producing original designs, in either simple or elaborate styles, adapted especially for presentation or special gifts. These are made from artistic and accepted drawings by their special artist.

A Chicago minister makes a note of the fact that he has never seen a lady reading a newspaper in a street-car. It takes a Chicago minister to describe the fine points of a lady's conduct on the street.

Merchant tailoring, as conducted by Mr. Joseph Roche, 81 Dearborn street, may properly be classed as one of the fine arts. With the finest and latest fabrics and the skill and taste of Mr. Neil, whom the people all know as one of Chicago's best cutters and fitters, no wonder Mr. Roche's store is thronged with people seeking for the latest and best. Observe that he makes wedding outfits a specialty.

Up to the year 1200 only one person in 650 could read or write. Tailors had to dun in person, and when a young man wanted to let a girl know that he loved her he had to meet her at the gate and come right to the point. In the latter case at least history repeats itself, but it's the point of the old man's boot the young man comes to nowadays.

Why not secure—before too late—one of those bargains in parlor suits, $50 and up; chamber sets, $30 and up; fine carpets, 75 cents and up; elegant base-burners, $25 and up; the Empire and Andrews folding-beds, $18 and up, from the Empire Bedstead Co., 383 West Madison street, for cash or credit?

All visitors to the Exposition are astonished at the statement made by the manufacturers of the celebrated "Corticelli Silk"—that 10,000,000 silkworms are weekly sacrificed to supply the popular demand for their productions.

A Cape May correspondent says that a Boston lady at that place wore a dress trimmed with a fringe of fresh violets, which were renewed every time the dress was worn, at a cost of $150. We have no particular objection to this able liar's inventing an infernal fool, but we do protest against this tucking her off on Boston.

A choice selection of fall and winter imported overcoatings now displayed by Upham & Purinton, tailors, 91 Madison street.

They have now brought out a horse-collar which buttons behind, and if you see an old equine prancing around you may know that he feels a bit stuck up.

Remember Charley Newton is now with "Cooper," the hatter, 134 Clark street. Best goods, latest styles, and lowest prices.

When the wind blows over Mt. Washington at the rate of 108 miles an hour, as it did the other day, those who are up in the world wish themselves down.

Everybody is pleased with the "Williams" folding bed, manufactured only by Wirts & Scholle, 222 Wabash avenue.

England will have the 500 American mules shipped last week left over for another war. The average mule is good for three of 'em.

A full line of fine overcoatings, evening suitings, and full dress goods, at Turner's, 85 Madison street. Inspection invited.

Americans who know what a "a beautiful Circassian girl" looks like say that not one of them could hold a candle for looks to the majority of girls to be found eating gumdrops at American county fairs.

"By George! What elegant coffee." "Yes, you can get it at Blackall's, 172 State, 49 Clark, or 172 West Madison streets."

You can get out of Philadelphia by rail 1,140 times in twenty-four hours, and if that isn't often enough you can hire a special train.

Instantaneous and perfect photographs by Joshua Smith, 206 North Clark street.

New York has consumed 4,000,000 watermelons this season, and is now figuring on what a monument the rinds would have made. Now is the time to take a census. The population has probably been doubled.

The crayon artist and photographer of the West Side, Ahlborn, 335 West Madison street.

The signal service is now ready to announce the approach of cyclones over six hours in advance. This will give most men time to pay old debts and return borrowed tools.

Families supplied with old Crab Orchard Whisky. P. O'Neill, 357 State street.

The evening sessions have commenced at H. B. Bryant's Business College.

Man is like a glass of beer. Blowing the top of his head off settles him. That is, we guess so. We never saw—a man's head blown off.

THE WINDSOR EUROPEAN HOTEL.

We are glad to learn that our neighbor, Mr. Gregsten, the popular manager and proprietor of this hotel, does a larger business than any other hotel of the same capacity in the United States. The daily arrivals are simply immense, all of which is accounted for by the perfect management and reasonable prices.

"DRUNKENNESS MADE OUR HOME A HELL.

Cinchona has made it a Heaven." So writes a wife a year after her husband's cure. Dr. D'Unger, discoverer of the remedy, 81 Clark street. All cases cured.

THE BEST.

The very best place in Chicago to obtain a thorough practical business education is at the Metropolitan Business College, opposite McVicker's Theatre, where are to be found able and experienced teachers, a thorough course of study, and pleasant and well-lighted rooms. Day and evening sessions.

FREDERICK BOSCOVITZ.

Piano studio, Ayer Building, corner State and Monroe. Teaching hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Or address care Lyon & Healy.

STYLISH HATS.

The magnificent display of stylish little bonnets and novel hats attracts throngs of ladies at Hagedon's, 42 and 44 Madison street.

Don't Die in the House.

"Rough on Rats." Clears out rats, mice, roaches, bed-bugs, flies, ants, moles, chipmunks, gophers, 15c.

The most elegantly-finished cabinet photos at the "Elite," Stevens' studio, 108 Dearborn street, corner Washington. Only $3 per dozen this week.

German and other styles of furniture at J. A. Colby & Co.'s, 217 and 219 State street.

School shoes 20 per cent less than South Side prices. Pierce's, 281 West Madison street.

Buck & Rayner have a dentifrice which whitens and preserves the teeth.

We recommend Eldredge sewing-machines.

Arrival of the Distinguished Irish Leader Last Evening.

He Declares that Landlordism Is Practically Dead in Ireland.

Home Rule Is Not Far Distant Under a Scheme of Federation.

Mr. A. M. Sullivan, ex-editor of the Dublin Nation and ex-member of Parliament for Meath, arrived in Chicago last evening at 8 o'clock. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Frank Agnew, R. J. Prendergast, E. F. Dunne, P. T. McElherne, Patrick Meledy, J. J. Fitzgibbon, and Harry O'Ruarc, met the distinguished gentleman at South Chicago. At the Michigan Southern Depot, in this city, Mr. Sullivan, who was accompanied by his wife and daughter, was met by an old friend, Mr. T. P. O'Connor, P. W. Dunne, W. J. Hynes, Mr. Murphy, W. J. English, and a few others. Carriages were in waiting, and the party were driven to the Palmer House, where a number of friends were waiting to meet the distinguished visitor. Among those who called during the evening and chatted with Mr. Sullivan were M. E. Stone, W. K. Sullivan, M. W. Ryan, and John R. Coffey. As soon as Mr. Sullivan could disengage himself a TRIBUNE representative sought an interview, which Mr. Sullivan readily granted. Asked what was his special purpose in visiting America Mr. Sullivan said that he came here for recreation and for the benefit of his health. He had no intention of lecturing or speaking in public when he first determined to visit America. But Mr. Parnell, Mr. Davitt, Mr. Dillon, and Mr. Egan urged him to speak in half a dozen cities, believing that he would be more readily listened to by conservative men in America than would the more advanced men of the Irish party, for, though he was not as advanced as Mr. Parnell, there were other members of the Irish party more advanced than the leader. Mr. Parnell and his colleagues thought it all important to reach that conservative class already alluded to, and as they believed Mr. Sullivan could reach that class he felt it his duty to make the experiment. He would try in the various lectures he would deliver to give the history of the present movement in Ireland, to deal with those fases of it which merited as he believed most attention, and to state what he thought would be the outcome. He had in his Eastern lectures dealt with the general aspect of the Irish question. In his future lectures he would deal with certain features worthy of attention. He had not yet determined the subject of his Chicago lecture, but he thought that he would deal with the leaders of both parties to the recent struggle, and with the outcome of that struggle.

Of the effect of the recent agitation in Ireland, Mr. Sullivan said that no person who had not seen it could appreciate it. It had added immensely to the independence of the people; had improved their social and material condition, and given them a glimpse of a better state of things.

THE FETTERS HAD FALLEN FROM the minds and limbs of the people. They had become self-reliant and self-asserting. To take the material aspect of the case alone The agitation had kept during the last three years $25,000,000 out of the pockets of the landlords; that $25,000,000 had been used to buy boots and shoes for the children of the peasantry, had been spent for clothing and to add to comforts of their little homes. Landlordism was practically dead. A Land act such as no European legislature had ever passed had been passed to meet the demands of the people, but it was passed too late. Ten years ago it would have satisfied the people: now it does not. They will not be satisfied with disasming and crippling landlordism. They want to kill it, and they will succeed.

But, continued Mr. Sullivan, all this has not been accomplished without sacrifice. The farmers of Ireland have behaved with a fortitude, in a spirit of generosity and liberality for which few ever gave them credit. Mr. Sullivan recounted several instances where farmers had let their fleeces, which in open market would bring thousands of pounds, go to emergency men for a mere bagatelle in order to vindicate a principle, to maintain unity of organization, and to keep the ranks opposed to landlordism unbroken.

"Now," said Mr. Sullivan, "the best fase of the whole agitation is that those who have passed through the fight unhurt are not forgetful of their comrades; they have determined that they shall not suffer for their constancy. That they shall not is one of my purposes in addressing American audiences; it is this which has led to the formation of the committees for the relief of evicted tenants in Dublin and throughout Ireland."

Mr. Sullivan said the operation of the Land act would force fully one-third of the Irish landlords to sell, but the Irish tenant was not yet prepared to buy under the Bright clauses. The market is falling. The tenants will wait until it falls still further. An agitation for land reform in England will bring it very low.

Being asked if he believed that Mr. Dillon's resignation of his seat for Tipperary was owing to differences between himself and Mr. Parnell, Mr. Sullivan pronounced an emphatic "no." Mr. Dillon, who is the very soul of truth and honor, says that it is on account of ill-health that he resigns, and that is the reason. Of course Mr. Dillon does not quite agree in opinion with Parnell. Mr. Dillon was more radical than Mr. Parnell, just as Mr. Parnell was more radical than himself (Mr. Sullivan). But the time has come when Irishmen can agree to disagree. Mr. Sullivan expressed the hope that Mr. Dillon would accept the terms of the Tipperary people, who offered him a year's leave of absence in the hope that he WILL WITHDRAW HIS RESIGNATION.

Mr. Sullivan's attention was next called to the statement of Mr. Leatham that should obstruction be persisted in by the Irish members Ireland would be disfranchised. He denied that the Irish members practiced obstruction, and ridiculed Mr. Leatham's statement as pettish and extravagant, the result of bad temper. The English members would not if they dared resort to Mr. Leatham's indicated method. The time of brute force as far as England is concerned in Ireland was passed.

As to the future Mr. Sullivan has high hopes. Ireland is on her feet. She has made immense strides in the last five years, and who knows what the next five will bring forth? The man who would have predicted five years ago that such a measure as the Land act of last session would be law at this date would be deemed a lunatic. It is no secret that Mr. Gladstone has thought seriously a federation scheme for Great Britain and Ireland. "I will not say," said Mr. Sullivan, "when Ireland shall have home-rule, but I am sure the date is not far off." Mr. Sullivan hoped for much from the conference next Saturday in Dublin. He hoped it would not attempt too much. The Land-League movement was successful because it was restricted—confined to one issue. He thought it unwise to have too broad a program. He has confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of the Irish leaders. He spoke hopefully of the Home Manufacturers' movement, praised the Dublin Exhibition, and said that after the extension of household suffrage to Ireland Parnell would have the support of all but eight of the Irish members in the British Commons.

Mr. Sullivan was not surprised at the release of Mr. Gray. Judge Lawson's action in reference to Mr. Gray was disgraceful, without precedent, and the very acme of illegality. It was no secret in England that Gladstone, Lord Spencer, and Trevelyan had privately condemned Lawson's course. That he should command the release of Mr. Gray yesterday was but a stultification of himself. He had to eat the mud pie of his own making.

Mr. Sullivan attributes the change in the Irish peasantry to the influence of the penny press and the schools.

Mr. Sullivan is now in his 50th year. He is a native of Bantry, and is in every sense of the word a self-made man. He acquired his education at the village school, and at an early age was thrown on his own resources. He began life as a draftsman, being employed in connection with the Dublin Exhibition of 1851. He soon after became connected with journalism, first on the Liverpool Post, and next on the Dublin Nation, of which he became proprietor in 1855, on the retirement of Charles Gavan Duffy and John Cashel Hoey, the latter now of the London Spectator. Mr. Sullivan in 1858 established the Morning News, which was afterwards changed into the Weekly News. In 1874 Mr. Sullivan for Louth, defeating Chichester Fortescue, now Baron Carlingford, by a very large majority. In 1880 Mr. Sullivan was reëlected for Louth, but was given as a colleague Mr. Philip Callan, with whom he refused to sit. He resigned, and on the election of Mr. Parnell for Cork Mr. Sullivan was elected for Meath, which seat Mr. Parnell resigned. Owing to failing health Mr. Sullivan was obliged to retire at the commencement of the present year. Mr. Sullivan was considered one of the ablest orators in the present and last Parliament, and has been frequently complimented by Messrs. Gladstone, Bright, and the late Lord Beaconsfield. He is a pronounced temperance man, and in connection with the late Prof. Smyth was instrumental in having passed the Irish Sunday Closing law. To Mr. Sullivan, and not to Mr. Butt, must be credited the formation of the Irish Home-Rule party. With his advocacy of the election of John Martin in Longford in 1869 in opposition to the Whig candidate, Greville Nugent, it may be said that the agitation which has since become so formidable commenced.

WAS ELECTED MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT

Mr. Sullivan will be given a reception at the Irish-American Club Monday evening, after the lecture in Central Music-Hall. He will leave for Milwaukee Tuesday.

COTTON.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 30.—This was the busiest day in cotton ever known in New Orleans on account of the September squeeze and the forced deliveries of over 13,000 bales of cotton. This amount was taken out, handled, and weighed ready for delivery, and only the rain prevented its removal.

To the Western Associated Press.

THE FOURTH WARD.

An Anti-Aldrich Ticket Put in Nomination by the Club.

A large and very lively meeting of the Fourth Ward Republican Club was held last evening in the Armory Hall.

E. O. Seymour offered a set of resolutions looking to the entire elimination of the primary and nominating convention systems and the substitution therefor of what he called a "nominating election," to be held in the same manner as a regular election. Under this system the candidate of each party receiving the highest vote would be the man to vote for at the election, or would stand in the light of the regular party nominee. It was provided that judicial officers must receive a majority of all the votes cast, and that the people should bear all expenses of this nominating election and the printing of the tickets. The plan was referred to the Special Committee on Primaries.

Mr. W. D. Bishop moved that the Chair appoint a committee, consisting of one delegate from each precinct and one at large, to prepare a delegate ticket to be voted on at the Congressional primaries Tuesday next.

Mr. G. B. Jones moved as a substitute to refer the whole matter to the primaries. In the discussion which followed it was charged that the movement for the choice of a delegate ticket was engineered by the opponents of Aldrich, and that it was sought to name a delegation instructed against him.

Mr. J. L. Allen moved to lay the substitute on the table. On this a call of the roll was demanded, but it seemed this would require the calling of 700 names, and Mr. Allen moved that the vote be taken by rising, and that the rule be suspended for this occasion. The Chairman pointed out that this could not be done under the constitution. Mr. Bishop suggested that the club had no roll of membership anyhow.

The Aldrich men moved to adjourn amidst a scene of the liveliest confusion, a dozen speakers claiming the floor at once. The motion to adjourn was put at last, and although the vote was very close the chair decided that the "noes" had it. His decision was greeted with a storm of hisses and with uproarous cheering. Again the roll-call was demanded by a dozen members of the club. Ex-Ald. Clark again moved to adjourn but the Chair declined to put the motion. Messrs. Sullivan and Allen renewed the motion on the ground that a few men had come there determined to obstruct business, and the motion went through with a yell.

The gathering immediately resolved itself into a mass-meeting for the purpose of listening to the candidates present, and Coroner Mattson and Simeon W. King spoke.

Mr. Bishop renewed his motion made before the club for the appointment of a committee to select a delegate ticket to be voted on at the primaries.

Mr. Arthur B. Farwell opposed the motion, believing that the tickets had already been prepared, and that it would be useless to name a new crowd. Nobody would be bound to vote for a ticket thus selected.

Leander Stone said that a number of members of the club had left the hall, and a ticket prepared in the manner suggested would not do any good.

Mr. R. M. Johnson said the meeting could prepare a ticket if they chose, and it would not be forced upon any one.

Mr. Bishop said the committee was opposed to Aldrich and that there had been corruption in it.

The motion for the appointment of the committee prevailed, and as the Chairman went on to name the members Justice Hammer satirically suggested that it might save time to announce the names of delegates as already selected. The committee was appointed as follows: W. D. Bishop, E. C. Huling, L. Goldhart, D. E. Livermore, G. T. Williams, George W. Bishop, Judge Couch, A. W. Pickering, B. W. Young. The committee, which was understood to represent Dore and Coy, retired, and in their absence J. L. Allen made a speech on the general situation and the duties of voters. His summing up was decidedly unfavorable to the present incumbent of the First Congressional District, to whose record in connection with the river and harbor steal he alluded in uncomplimentary terms.

The committee reported the following list of delegates to be voted on at the primaries, the meeting indorsing the same: E. L. Barber, E. C. Huling, W. D. Bishop, Joseph Pollak, J. L. Allen, Louis Goldhardt, M. J. McGrath, Thomas La Beau, C. H. Willett, E. Olson, Robert Vierling, Charles Wardwell, S. D. Foss, O. S. Cook, O. H. Pickering, B. Fowler, George H. Harlan, H. E. Mallory.

The meeting then adjourned.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Report of the September Grand Jury—Sentence-Day.

The September grand jury having completed their labors filed into court yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and presented to Judge Moran an additional batch of ninety-six indictments together with 168 "no bills." The court complimented them for their industry and their strict attention to business, stating at the same time that he had been informed by the Clerk that they had done more work than any grand jury Cook County had ever before had.

The grand jury reported that they had visited the Poor-House, County Farm, and Insane Asylum, and found everything thereabouts in "apple-pie order."

The grand jury also visited the County Jail, and found that 277 prisoners were therein confined. Of these 232 were men, 23 women, and 22 boys. Fifteen of the prisoners are under indictment for murder or accessories thereto in some sort or other, and 229 for larceny, burglary, and similar crimes. The number sentenced to the penitentiary during the present term was 20, all of whom will be removed to Joliet next Thursday or Friday, and 14 of the number were sentenced to imprisonment in the jail.

Mr. Price, the clerk of the County Jail, has been engaged during the past week in compiling the following statistics for the State Board of Charities. The figures are for 1881 only, but there may be many deductions drawn from them even at this late day:

|---|---|
| Prisoners on hand Jan. 1, 1881 | 300 |
| Committed during year 1881 | 2,784 |
| Discharged during year 1881 | 2,442 |
| Sent to penitentiary, etc. | 417 |
| Remaining in jail Dec. 31, 1881 | 225 |

| | COMMITTED. | | COMMITTED. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Males… | Females… | Males… | Females… |
| January | 237 | 10 | 39 | 1 |

| November | 223 | 17 | 17 | 4 |
| December | 223 | 31 | 8 | .. |

There were committed for larceny, 1,046; burglary, 398; robbery, 263; assault, 153; false pretenses, 80; disorderly conduct, 60; debt, 45; murder, 42; rape, 32; receiving stolen property, 29; embezzlement, 28; bastardy, 27; riot, 22; threats, 19; perjury, 17; miscellaneous, 105; insane, 348; United States prisoners, 60.

Of the number convicted 110 were sentenced to the jail, 16 United States prisoners were sent to Chester Penitentiary, and there were 206 insane persons sent to the asylum, and 142 alleged insane persons discharged.

SENTENCE DAY.

Yesterday being the last of the terms of Judges Hawes and Moran upon the criminal bench, both dignitaries were kept busy finishing up their calendars. Before Judge Hawes: Defendant's motion for a new trial in the People ex rel. Anna M. K. Gordan vs. Bright Grunda was overruled, and execution ordered to issue; the case of the People ex rel. Seabring was appealed by the relator; the City vs. Davis was reinstated and then dismissed; a motion for a new trial for Samuel Booth and John Smith was withdrawn as to Booth, and overruled as to Smith, and both defendants sentenced to one year in the penitentiary; a motion for a new trial for George Dankward, alias Allen, a somewhat eccentric fireman, was overruled, and prisoner sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; John Turner withdrew a former plea, and pleading guilty to petit larceny, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction; William Walter, burglary, had his sentence of Sept. 11 set aside, and was then sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary; John Schultz, burglary, was sentenced on a plea of guilty to two years in the penitentiary; John Thompson, burglary, one year in the penitentiary; John Thompson, the Desplaines farmer who in a desperate quarrel shot Christian Howard in the face causing him to lose both his eyes, sentenced to the House of Correction for one year; Sandy Roswell, one year in the House of Correction.

Before Judge Moran: Mary McElligott, implicated with Buckley, Johnson, Grady, and others known as the Klein burglars, was granted a separate trial; August Munike, assault, fined $50 and costs; Charles Dixon, plea of guilty to petit larceny, three months in the House of Correction; Winfield S. White, plea of guilty to petit larceny and remanded; John Behan, burglary, new trial granted, the defendant having been found guilty at the present term and awarded one year in the penitentiary; Charles Kean, petit larceny, six months in the House of Correction; John Richards, plea of guilty to petit larceny, sixty days in the House of Correction; R. G. Hirschfelder, the fraud who swindled benevolent-minded people out of contributions to a fictitious institute for feeble-minded children, sent to the House of Correction for one year, and fined in addition $50 and costs, which is to be worked out as provided for in the statute, and sentence in five other cases was suspended; John Colle, larceny, one year in the penitentiary; Charles Strong, robbery, motion for new trial granted, whereupon the defendant pleaded guilty to petit larceny, and was sentenced to the House of Correction for eleven months; Harry Robinson, plea of guilty to petit larceny, six months in the House of Correction.

Judge Gardner's calendar for the October term in the Criminal Court contains a number of important cases. The Walsh-Gibbs election-fraud case and the Ben Eyster manslaughter case are set for Monday; the Manson McMullen hog-stealing case and the Gribler jury-bribing case for Tuesday; the Thomas McLoughlin murder case for Monday, Oct. 9; the Sturia murder case for the day following; the case of "Jack" Sturges and the Condon murder case for Oct. 11; William Zinke murder case and the two Chinamen held as accessories to the murder of a countryman, Oct. 16; Eugene Dougherty murder case, Oct. 19; James McNamara, wife murder, Oct. 20; and John Prindle, the bridewell murderer, Oct. 23.

THE BOYS STRIKE.

The A. D. T. Messengers Raise a Row About Their New Superintendent and Lose Their Places.

Yesterday morning it was learned that the A. D. T. messenger boys had imitated the North Side conductors and struck on account of a new Superintendent and some sensible regulations introduced by him.

manger of the A. D. T. service, was asked by a TRIBUNE reporter for a statement of the facts in connection with the boys' strike. He said that the boys received $19 per month and were required to work from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. They were also called upon every third Sunday, and occasionally on week-nights, when there was a pressure of business, they had to take turns in working until 9 p. m. But in such cases they do not have to get down as early as usual next morning, and they were always notified in advance so that their parents might know. About ten days ago the company transferred Mr. F. M. Buck from Station No. 17, at Harmon court, to the Central Office. The position given him was practically a new one, the gentleman who filled it before having done so in connection with other duties. There had been some complaints by patrons, and the company desired to increase the efficiency of the service. Mr. Buck visited the offices of a number of down-town patrons and learned the faults complained of, and the improvements desired. By sending in messages from a number of points and timing the responses he became satisfied that there were delays of which customers were justified in complaining. He therefore issued an order to the messengers that they must keep up to the tariff or time-table in responding to calls, and for breaches of this rule the boys were fined. On this they made a violent "kick." Some quit and some were discharged. Mr. Buck insisted that the boys should go on a run in response to messages, and they were fined if they violated this rule.

Mr. Firman said further that the boys got much higher wages than were paid to cashboys in stores. The trouble, as he understood it at that time (the interview was had early in the day), was with the day-service boys, and those that worked at night came under entirely different rules. He understood that the Western Union boys received from $22 to $25 per month, but they were as a class older than his boys, and he thought the wages paid were sufficient. Each boy had to have a uniform, consisting of a good suit of clothes, a rubber coat and leggings, cap and cape, which was supplied for $18.25. The clothing if obtained in any store would cost $25. For this the company became responsible and deducted the amount in monthly installments from the boys' pay. The boys had made no demand on him or any of the officers of the company, so far as he knew, for an increase of wages, nor had they stated any grievances under which they supposed themselves to be suffering. As he was informed, they came to the La Salle street office at 8 a. m. and then struck. From there they went to the different offices to get the other boys to join them. At noon a committee of the boys waited upon him with a demand to be relieved entirely of Sunday work and for an increase of pay to $20 or $21 per month, he did not remember which. He referred them to Mr. Sunny, and they went off. That was all he knew at that time of the affair, but he expressed the opinion that the whole business had been engineered by some of the older lads who had been a little too long in the service, and whom it would be advantageous to get rid of.

THE BOYS TELL THEIR WOES.

During the afternoon a reporter dropped into the alley opposite the Chamber of Commerce, where the main office is situated, and there found a group of the small-sized strikers talking over the situation.

"On a strike?" asked the reporter of a good-looking youngster who stood apart from the others.

"Wha' d'ye want to know fur?" he questioned, suspiciously.

"I'm a reporter of THE TRIBUNE, and I want to get the boys' story about the strike."

"I dunno much about it, but I'll get one of the big kids to tell you," and he started over to the group of boys, and said: "Say, fellers, there's a 'porter of THE TRIBUNE, and he wants us to tell 'im about the row." Upon this the whole crowd started for the reporter, and completely surrounded him. A small, pocket-edition youngster acted as spokesman, and said:

"I'll tell ye how it wuz. Wese kids is gittin' $19 a month and we wants $21. That's why we struck. Then the new manager is no good. If wese loses a car-ticket he docks us 10 cents, or if wese short he docks us the same for every wun."

"Yes," chipped in another, "an' he fines us if we talk in the room. He's no good," and this verdict appeared to meet with unanimous approval on all sides.

"When did you start your strike," asked the reporter.

"Dis mornin' at 7 o'clock," said the spokesman. "De kids met at de tunnel, on Franklin street, an' den marched to office 14, on Halsted. Wese got de kids out o' dere, and den started aroun' to de udder offices an' got de res' o' de gang. At wun place wun o' de kids struck de manager wid his dinner."

"Did what?"

"Smashed him wid his grub. Had it dun up in a paper an' giv' it to 'im in de snoot," and at the recollection of this episode the crowd laughed heartily. "We caught wun kid on the car and trun him off and made him go wid us. Den de gang got big an' dey called de parole waggin an' we skipped, an' dat's all."

"Where did the strike originate?" inquired the reporter.

"No, it waz on Wes' Madison street."

"I mean where did it start?"

"In dis office," said he, jerking his thumb toward the window. "We bin fixen' it for two days."

"What boy started it?"

"Ye'll never fin' out. We don't giv that away."

"Are the Western Union boys going to strike?"

"Naw," he said, contemptuously, "dose kids is afraid."

A Board of Trade man came along at this point and asked the reporter what the row was.

"Strike," said the reporter.

"Newsboys' strike," he asked, and the boys came near mobbing him. A policeman came along, however, and dispersed the youthful strikers with his locust. As the reporter moved off the spokesman yelled:

"Will de TRIB-be full in de mornin'?" and the newspaper man assured him that it would be unless the printers were.

All was quiet and deserted inside the main office, and new boys appeared afraid to apply for the vacant places for fear that the banditti in the alley would treat them harshly. The company advertised today for new hands, and will be all right by tomorrow. As for the strikers, they were probably spanked by their parents last night when it was found out that they were out of a job.

THE DUMMY ROAD.

An Adverse Opinion by the Supreme Court on the Power of the North Side Company to Use Steam.

A copy of the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of the Town of Lake View against the North Chicago City Railway Company has just been received by Mr. W. C. Goudy, to whom THE TRIBUNE is indebted for the loan of it. The opinion was delivered by Justice Mulkey, who, after stating the object of the suit—to enjoin the company from running dummy cars operated by steam in the Town of Lake View—and after quoting provisions of the law of 1865 incorporating the Board of Trustees of the Town of Lake View, says:

"These provisions, in the absence of any legislative grant authorizing the use of steam as a motive power for the purpose of propelling street-cars, we are of opinion, warranted the town in passing the ordinance in question. We do not at all question the proposition which has been argued with so much elaboration by appellant's counsel, that under a general grant of power over nuisances like the one in question, town authorities have no power to pass an ordinance declaring a thing a nuisance which in fact is clearly not one. The adoption of such an ordinance would not be a legitimate exercise of the power granted, but on the contrary would be an abuse of it. But in doubtful cases, where a thing may or may not be a nuisance, depending upon a variety of circumstances requiring judgment and discretion on the part of the town authorities in exercising their legislative functions under a general delegation of power like the one we are considering, their action under such circumstances would be conclusive of the question. . . . An ordinance passed by a town or city having, as in the present case, a general power over the subject, declaring such obstructions nuisances, would be valid on its face, and a conviction might properly be had under it without any extrinsic proof to show the act complained of was in fact a nuisance. In all such cases it is sufficient to show the existence of the fact constituting the nuisance, and so we regard the use of steam in the manner specified in the ordinance for the purpose of propelling street-cars along a public street in a thickly-populated town in the absence of any legislative grant authorizing it to be done. Such a use of steam under the circumstances stated is per se a nuisance.

With respect to the remaining question, that the act complained of is authorized by the company's charter, little need be said. It is conceded the company's charter authorized it to maintain and operate a street railway along and over the street in question, and it is contended that inasmuch as the charter is silent as to the character of the power to be used in propelling the company's cars the company has the option to use for that purpose either steam or horse power as it may prefer. We think in such a case it would be more reasonable to hold the Legislature intended the company should use that kind of motive power in propelling its cars which would be most conducive to the best interests and having occasion to use the street as a common highway, and which was then in ordinary use in this State. Giving the charter this construction, horse and not steam power was clearly intended.

But outside of this consideration we think it sufficiently appears upon the face of the act itself that horse and not steam power was intended by the Legislature. The title of the company's charter is in these words: 'An act to promote the construction of horse railways in the City of Chicago.' The Constitution then in force contained this provision: 'No private or local law which may be passed by the General Assembly shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title.' In conformity with this constitutional provision, the company's charter contained but one subject, namely 'horse railways,' and that was expressed in the title. No allusion either in the title or body of the act is made to steam railways, and to hold the Legislature intended to include the latter as well as the former kind of railways would be in effect to hold that that body intended to violate the constitutional provision just cited, and this we are not at liberty to do. We think it clear, both from the title and body of the act, that its provisions relate only to horse railways, and hence the use of steam as a propelling power could not have been intended by the Legislature. . . . The judgment of the Appellate Court will be affirmed."

THE CABLE-CAR CASE COMES UP AGAIN.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the North Side Railway Company, holding that the use of steam power in running cars in Lake View is unlawful, has aroused Mr. Ballou to make another effort in his case to prohibit the running of cable-cars in the South Division of the city. Judge Gardner some time ago dismissed his bill on the ground that the act of the Legislature giving the charter was in effect broad enough to cover street-railways operated in part by steam, and not simply horse-railways, but Saturday Ballou made an application to have a rehearing, in imitation of the practice of the Supreme Court. Judge Gardner, however, goes to the Criminal Court tomorrow, and could not hear the case, and it was accordingly continued to some future time to be fixed.

A TRIBUNE reporter called last evening upon Mr. C. A. Dupee, of the law firm of Dupee & Judah, counsel for the cable road, and showing to Mr. Dupee a copy of the Supreme Court's opinion in the North Side dummy case, asked him what bearing he thought it would have, if any, upon the cable road. Mr. Dupee stated that he had previously seen and carefully read the opinion, and had conversed with Mr. Goudy, the attorney for the North Side Company, and that while the language of the opinion was undoubtedly broad enough to apply to the cable road, he had no reason to anticipate that the decision ever would or could be applied to that road. He held that there were railroads, and street railroads, two specific classes only, and he saw no reason for likening the cable road, run as it was with stationery engines and an underground cable, both entirely out of the way of travel in the thoroughfares, to a steam engine or dummy road. The language in places of the decision he thought a little inconsiderate, but he had no anticipations that the decision as such would be construed as against the cable road.

In answer to a question as to what he intended to do about the matter, Mr. Dupee stated that Mr. Goudy would undoubtedly apply for a rehearing of the case before the Supreme Court, and there were so many new phases of the case to be urged against such a decision, that he had no doubt a rehearing would be granted. Then, as attorney for the cable road, he intended to apply for leave to file a statement as regards the cable road, and this he felt sure would bring about a modification of the language in the decision. Application for a rehearing must be made within ten days and arguments must be submitted within the thirty succeeding days. The case would therefore speedily come before the court in its new shape, and a final decision might be expected within sixty or ninety days at the earliest.

CONGRESSMAN DAVIS.

A Valuable Testimonial from the Letter-Carriers.

The quiet of Hoyne avenue, between West Adams and West Jackson streets, was somewhat pleasantly disturbed last evening about 9 o'clock. Col. George R. Davis, the present Congressman from the Second and renominated to represent the Third District in Congress, resides in that block in a modest little cottage. He was made the subject of a very pleasant surprise by the letter-carriers and their friends, who presented him with an engrossed copy of resolutions adopted by them. The carriers met at the West Madison Street Postal Station, and from there, about 150 strong, headed by the drum corps of George H. Thomas Post, No. 5, G. A. R., marched to the residence. There had gathered in the neighborhood fully 1,000 persons, who filled the street. When arrived at the house, the Post-Office Quartet sang several songs, and when Col. Davis stepped upon the porch he was received with thundering cheers. When the music had ceased Mr. John Mears presented the memorial, which was incased in an oaken frame, gilded, of the Eastlake pattern, and very elaborate, the inside border being royal purple velvet. The memorial itself was a magnificent piece of engrossed work and probably equals, if it does not excel, anything heretofore executed in this city in like character. The heading is elaborated rustic lettering, with a rustic border of boughs and vines, all done in ink with pen, the body being a beautiful clear and plain script. The memento reads as follows:

Hon. George R. Davis, member of the House of Representatives, Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congress for the Second District of Illinois—HONORED SIR: As a small token of appreciation of the very valuable services rendered us at Washington, at and during the session of Congress lately closed, we, as letter-carriers, who are benefited and favored by the law just passed, beg leave to present this token of appreciation and heartfelt thanks, hoping you will prize it as a souvenir of your intercourse with us.

For several years past we have been serving under a law that was unjust and subversive of discipline and good fellowship among us. We resolved to go before the Congress of our country with our grievance, fully appreciating the difficulties under which we labored. We consulted you; you heard our case; you became interested in our behalf; you promised us that you would do all you could for us, and right royally have you redeemed your pledge. We feel and know that very much of our success is due to your persistent efforts, both in the committee-rooms and on the floor of Congress, in securing for us one of the best laws of which the employés of any branch of the postal service can boast. We feel justly proud of it.

Therefore, in this manner, we, as letter-carriers of the City of Chicago, wish to tender you, as our much-valued friend, our honored and faithful representative, our sincere and heartfelt thanks. Rest confident that your kind and judicious words of encouragement and advice during our struggle for recognition will ever be cherished as sweet incense in the hearts of all letter-carriers of the City of Chicago.

MR. JOHN B. MEARS,

President of the Carriers' Association, made the presentation as a testimonial to which Col. Davis could look to in the future as coming from as true friends as any man ever possessed.

Col. Davis replied by saying that he thanked them more gratefully than they could possibly imagine for this call upon him to his unpretending little home to present these resolutions for the slight service he had rendered them. In Washington he had only done what he could, because they had had a committee who vigorously presented their claims. There were no employés in the Government service like the carriers. They labored in and out of doors, in sunshine and in storm. Whether the weather was frigid or torrid they had to labor, regardless of hours. They could lose no time. They received no vacation, and when one was ill a substitute was put in his place, whom he himself had to pay. He believed that the letter-carriers should receive even better pay than they did, because they earned the Government in this city $900,000 per annum, and the Government could afford to pay them well. He believed in the laborer in all avocations receiving a fair compensation for his labor. He then gave a brief history of his labors in Congress on behalf of the letter-carriers and for more complete and better postal service in this city and the West. He was grateful to them for the visit, and the presentation of the magnificent memorial. He then invited them into his house, where Mrs. Davis, assisted by Mrs. Snow, dispensed the hospitalities of the household. Among those present were Col. P. M. Clowry, George D. Buckley, Harry Wager, A. McLeod, Max Polachek, George B. Swift, E. C. Snow, Guy T. Gould, James Newbern, James W. Brockway, T. C. Theilepape, and John B. Mears.

THE OAR.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The scull race between William Elliott, ex-champion of England, and George Gaisel, of Harlem, for $500, came off this afternoon over a three-mile course, and was easily won by Elliott. Gaisel led until within a short distance of the rounding stake, when he got entirely wide of his course, thus allowing Elliott to round the stake with a three-minute lead, which he considerably increased on the return stretch. Elliott's time was twenty-three minutes.

JOHN F. BURRILL.

Return to Springfield, Ill., Under Arrest, of the Grand Secretary of the Masons of This State—His Disgrace.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 30.—John F. Burrill, late Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge A. F. and A. M. of Illinois, arrived in the city this afternoon under arrest for the embezzlement of about $7,000 of the Grand Lodge funds during 1879 and 1880. The stealings began in 1878, but the larger portion of the "crooked work" was done during the two following years. By some skillful manipulation of his accounts he succeeded in causing them to stand the test of official examination, and his books today stand approved by the Grand Lodge. The "crooked work" was only discovered by the present Grand Secretary about three months ago. The fact was reported to the Grand Master, who ordered an investigation. This work was duly performed, and the discovery was made that Burrill is more than $7,000 short in his accounts. A prosecution was ordered, and steps were taken to arrest the culprit, who had been traced to Minneapolis, Minn. The requisition papers were issued last Wednesday, and this afternoon the officers arrived with Burrill in charge. He was taken before 'Squire Kane, where he waived examination and was sent to jail in default of $10,000 bail. The arrest of Burrill causes a good deal of excitement but not much surprise among the Masonic fraternity of the city. His record of late years has not been very high, and since his marriage with Mrs. Cummings, who was formerly a housekeeper at his house, he has not been held in high esteem. In the fall of 1880 Burrill's divorced wife created a sensation by stating, in a newspaper interview, that Burrill had obtained a fraudulent divorce from her without her knowledge. This sensation was immediately followed by an application for a divorce of Burrill from his wife. The bill was filed in the Circuit Court of this county, and it charged Mrs. Burrill with committing adultery with Dr. J. Norman Dixon, of this city, Surgeon-General of the Illinois National Guard. Mrs. Burrill left the city, and did not make a defense to the divorce proceedings, but Dr. Dixon applied to the court for an order allowing him to make a defense and prove the charges of adultery with him to be untrue. In his petition Dr. Dixon presented a copy of the bill and decree of divorce obtained by Burrill in Kansas. The bill was sworn to by Burrill, and contained the allegation that he was a citizen of Kansas and had been for a year past. At the time he was acting as Grand Secretary of the Illinois Masonic Grand Lodge. The charges against Dixon were thereupon withdrawn, and a divorce by default was taken. Burrill soon afterwards married Mrs. Cummings, his housekeeper. About the time of his marriage Burrill resigned his position as Grand Secretary, just one month before the expiration of his term of office. That act created some surprise at the time, but, in the light of present developments, the cause is easily ascertained. Burrill will be prosecuted for embezzlement, and an effort will be made to collet the stolen funds from his bondsmen.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 30.—Something of a sensation was created in Minneapolis this evening by the ground facts of what was at first hinted to be a case of mysterious disappearance. John F. Burrill, of Springfield, Ill., had not been seen at his desk in the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway office since last week Friday, nor could his wife or family give any account of him. It now transpires that he was arrested by a gentleman named Smith and a detective on Friday, and taken back to Springfield on a charge of having embezzled $8,000 while acting as Treasurer of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Illinois. He came to Minneapolis a year ago with his wife and four sons, and secured employment in the Minneapolis & St. Louis office, while his wife started a boarding-house. They prospered in a worldly way, and worked themselves into the good graces of people in a social way.

THE DEADLY BOLOGNA.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 30.—George Traves, wife, and children, residing in Bridgeport, had a narrow escape from death by poisoning last night. They ate for supper a quantity of bologna sausage, purchased at a neighboring grocery. Shortly afterwards they were seized with violent pains and sickness of the stomach. They then became unconscious. A physician attended them the whole night, and they are not yet out of danger.

The League Championship.

In the subjoined table is given the positions occupied by the different clubs in the league championship race at the close of yesterday's play and the positions they will most likely occupy after the schedules are finished. Providence has one game to play with Boston, and Cleveland one each with Detroit and Troy, there being two games between Cleveland and those two clubs. The Troy tie will probably not be played off, but the Providence-Boston and Cleveland-Detroit games will be played tomorrow. Chicago has won the championship by at least a majority of two games, as Providence cannot now reach a total of over fifty-three games won. By a series of the most brilliant victories ever scored by any league club Chicago has steadily advanced from fifth place, which it occupied about the middle of June, to first place, while Providence, which at one time held a lead of six games over Chicago, finishes the season two and it may be three games behind. This is a remarkable termination of a remarkable contest. Handicapped at the outset by insufficient practice during April, Chicago began the season in bad shape, and what with adverse luck and streaks of poor fielding play the team fell toward the rear. It was not until after the middle of June that the upturn began, and the natural and legitimate superiority of the Chicago team began to show itself. The march up the hill was a brilliant one, and barring an occasional set-back the progress was steady and full of pluck. The most critical period was the 12th, 13th, and 14th of September, when Chicago won three straight games from Providence and reduced that club's lead to one game. This was what broke the heart of Providence and gave the championship. Had Providence won one game out of the three it would have quit Chicago with a lead of two games, and would probably have won the championship. For Chicago to have won the emblem of supremacy under such conditions is by all odds the most creditable achievement in the annals of ball-playing. The clubs now stand as follows:

| | Chicago | Providence | Buffalo | Boston | Cleveland | Detroit | Troy | Worcester | Games won | Games yet to play |

Chicago 6, Buffalo 5.

The championship season of 1883 closed in Chicago with one of the most remarkable and interesting games played here this year. It was the twelfth meeting between Buffalo and Chicago, and both teams were desperately bent on winning—Buffalo in order to improve its standing and make sure of third place and also to have it to boast that it had beaten the champions seven out of twelve games; Chicago because of a desire to leave no possible room for quibbling over the championship result, and to avoid losing a single series to any club. About 4,000 people witnessed the game and enjoyed its exciting phases immensely. Chicago came on the field with a new player in Scott, late the first-baseman of the Spalding Amateurs and later of the Fort Wayne Club, who was played in place of Anson, the latter being somewhat lame as the result of a cold. Anson, however, sat in the grand-stand and saw his boys pull out of a desperately hard hole. Scott played a beautiful game at the base, and showed up strong and sure at the bat. The game was an extraordinary one in many respects. Up to the end of the first half of the seventh inning it seemed as though Chicago was destined to lose by the toughest kind of luck. The home team were doing by far the best batting, but so perfect was Buffalo's field work that ten clean hits by Chicago had produced but two runs, two men being cut off at the plate by Purcell's fine throwing from left field. On the contrary Buffalo had profited by two errors to make five unearned runs—three in the fourth off two singles, a base on balls, a wild pitch, and a fumble by Burns, and two in the seventh as the result of a single, a double, and Burns' wild throw. But after a time luck changed, and three errors by Buffalo gave three unearned runs, and with good batting Chicago grabbed the game. Run-getting began in the second inning, when, after Burns had gone out, Corcoran hit for a base, stole second, and scored on Flint's single. In the third Williamson got his base on a hit, stole second, made third on Scott's out, and tallied on Kelly's single. Buffalo took the lead in the fourth and increased it in the seventh in the manner above described, but in the last half of the seventh Chicago made two unearned runs, the result of a base on balls, a single by Williamson, and a fumble by Foley. The score was tied in the eighth, when Corcoran made first on White's fumble, and stole second, but was thrown out at the plate in trying to get home on Flint's single. Flint stole second, and was batted home by Dalrymple's single. Matters looked squally for Chicago in the ninth, when White hit for two bases as a starter. Force flew out to Corcoran, and Galvin was given his base on balls. Purcell then sent up a high fly which Quest dropped in the cleverest manner possible, and then passed the ball to Burns, who first touched White on second, and then touched the bag and put out Galvin on the force. It was the cleanest double play of the kind ever seen here, and the big crowd cheered heartily. Williamson, who for his four times at bat already had three singles and a double, now came up for the fifth time, and drove the ball over right-field fence for two bases. Scott gave Richardson a very puzzling fly which was muffed, Williamson going to third, and Scott to second. Kelly sent a furious high-liner to left, which Purcell got under but could not hold, and Williamson came in with the winning run, amid prolonged cheering. Purcell's muff made no difference with the result, as Williamson could easily have scored if the fly had been caught. In every essential particular Williamson's play was extraordinary. Aside from his great record of three singles and two doubles for five times at bat, he played his base in marvelous fashion, once grabbing with one hand a foul bound on a keen run, again hurling himself bodily against the wire fence in his effort to secure a foul play, and a third time running up the seats in left field to secure a foul. The crowd was very enthusiastic as it was, but would have been much more so could it have known that this matchless ball-player had just signed a contract to play next year with the Chicago team. Excepting for the errors noted Buffalo played a very strong game, but was outbatted and outfielded, and lost fairly.

Providence vs. Boston.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 30.—The last league game of base-ball of the season in this city was played here today between the Boston and Providence clubs, the latter winning by a score of 3 to 1. The visitors won the toss and sent the home team to bat, the latter failing to score, although by base-hits of Sutton and Morrill and Rowen's base on called balls the bases were left full. For the Providence nine the first four men at bat made single hits, and the next man got first on an attempt to put out at the plate. This looked dubious for the Red Stocking nine, but by two good throws by Burdock from second base two Providence men were caught at the home plate, and the sixth man at bat flew out. After the first inning Matthews seemed to settle down to his work, as only two base hits were made off him after that. Farrell scored an unearned run in the fifth inning on Deasley's wild throw to third base. Burdock scored Boston's solitary run, his own two-base hit landing him safely on the second bag, from which point he got third on Wise's short infielder, and home on Matthews' scratch hit. At the end of the first half of the eighth inning Deasley sprained his ankle in running to first and Rowen went behind the bat, Buffinton taking the latter's position. There was a very fair attendance.

Detroit 7, Cleveland 7.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30.—Drenching rain fell an hour before today's game, and the grounds and ball were wet and heavy. The contest was long and tedious and poorly played, the monotony alone being relieved by the large number of runs made. Whitney started in to pitch for Detroit, but was relieved by Robinson in the sixth inning, while Bradley relieved McCormick in the same inning. Both nines strove to make runs, as the result of the game decided which of the two should occupy fifth place. The eighth inning opened with the score a tie and the light rapidly growing dim. Cleveland got two out before a run was made, but after the Detroits got in two runs on errors. No effort was made to put them out, and they ran around bases at will, scoring six runs, when Knight was given out for not running to his base. All this time the Clevelands and the crowd of 800 made a vigorous kick against playing further in the dark, but Bradley only said "Play ball." After one of the Clevelands had been put out he called game, however.

An Understanding in Providence that the Nine Games Will Be Played.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 30.—President Spalding, of the Chicago Club, accepts the inevitable in the matter of the Philadelphia compact, and agrees to play the nine games as league championship games. He telegraphs President Winship as follows: "If you wish it, we will advertise the games as league championship games. Let us get this thing settled." The following dates have been agreed upon: In Providence, Oct. 10, 11, 12, and 13; in Philadelphia or New York, Oct. 16; in Chicago, Oct. 18, 19, 20, and 21. Providence has canceled the St. Louis dates on account of playing these league championship games. Providence signed with Richmond, the pitcher, today, and hopes to secure Stovey. About all of the present team will remain, except George Wright and possibly Ward, and they hope to retain him.

The Chicago Team of 1883.

The announcement was yesterday made by President Spalding that the entire Chicago team, only excepting Nicol, who has mainly figured as a substitute, is now under contract for 1883. This news will be received with unbounded satisfaction by the patrons of base-ball everywhere, for it would indeed be a pity to break up a team which has won the championship three consecutive years. It would, moreover, be very difficult to improve the team, which will be made up as follows:

Anson, Capt. and 1b. Williamson, 3b.
Kelly, r. f. and change c. Burns, s. s.
Corcoran, p. Quest, 2b.
Goldsmith, p. Gore, c. f.
Flint, c. Dalrymple, l. f.

With the addition of one or two A 1 players as substitutes—say Ewing and Pfeffer, of Troy—this team would again be invincible in its qualities of batting, base-running, and fielding. Given the two best pitchers, the two best catchers, the best first-baseman and third-baseman, and the best outfield, while second-base and short-field are cared for fully up to the average, and it is not easy to see how Chicago could be beaten in any year. Without a single exception the members of the team were anxious to put their names to contracts for 1883. The only possible hitch was in the case of Williamson, who by misrepresentation had been induced to sign a contract with the Allegheny Club of Pittsburg, of which he was to be third-baseman, Captain, and manager. He was assured that Bennett, of Detroit, had been signed by Pittsburg as catcher, and that unlimited money had been raised to secure the star team of the United States. To be the Captain and manager of such a team was a strong temptation to Williamson, especially as his own salary was to be $2,000. But on learning that he had been deceived regarding Bennett, who had signed for next year with Detroit, and feeling indignant at the misrepresentation resorted to in order to obtain his engagement, Williamson took counsel and found that a contract secured through falsehood was not binding upon him, and he at once returned the contract and the money advanced thereon, some $200, and notified the Allegheny management that he held himself absolved from any obligation to it. The Chicago management held the same view, and were, moreover, indignant at the unfairness of the Allegheny Club in taking advantage of the league law prohibiting the reëngagement of players before the expiration of the championship season. Accordingly Williamson was invited to sign with Chicago for another season, and he gladly and promptly affixed his signature to a contract. It is not unlikely that the Allegheny Club will set up a howl about bad faith, but that Williamson will, under the circumstances, be sustained by public opinion in remaining with the club that has the strongest claim upon his services there is no manner of doubt.

Gossip of the Game.

Troy beat Philadelphia yesterday 4 to 2.

Louisville beat St. Louis yesterday 6 to 3.

The Lakesides beat the Lawndales 18 to 1.

The Athletics beat the Baltimores yesterday 6 to 3.

The Actives beat the Smyths 14 to 6 and the Lone Stars 10 to 0.

The Prairie Queens beat the Chicago Lithographers 17 to 4.

There is a rumor that Doscher will manage the Detroits next season.

The Detroits had to pay Bennett $2,500 to retain him for next year.

The Springfield Fire & Marine Insurance Company team beat the Toss-ups 16 to 7.

The next meeting of the league will be held at Providence on the second Tuesday of December.

Rowe, Brouthers, Richardson, Force, Galvin, and Foley have signed with the Buffalos for '83.

The Metropolitans and Philadelphias will not be regularly elected members of the league until the December meeting.

Hankinson, of the Metropolitans, is reported to have signed with the Philadelphias for next year.

Including the three extra games played here by Buffalo the total attendance at league games in Chicago this year has been upwards of 127,000.

Dorgan and Houck, of the black-listed men, will undoubtedly go to Detroit; Crowley to Buffalo; Caskins to New York; and Gross to Providence.

Henderson, Neagle, Tim and John Manning, Lewis Moynahan, McClellan, Bushong, and Hayes will, it is said, comprise the Philadelphia team next season.

In a series of three games between the Married and Young Men's Sodalities of the Holy Family Parish, the young men lost the first game and won the two last.

Bancroft is authority for the statement that the Detroits will retain Wood, Hanlon, Bennett, Farrell, and Weidman for 1883. Powell, Whitney, Robinson, Derby, Knight, and Foster will be released. Knight will join the Athletics of Philadelphia. The Detroits want Connor, Ewing, and Welch of the Troys.

"Reader": A clean steal to second, followed by a two-base hit, or by a base-hit which cannot be fielded to the plate ahead of the runner, makes the run an earned run.

Weidman, of the Detroits, has an attack of quinsy every year, and that is what is the matter with him now. It came on earlier than usual this season, and he went to his home in Rochester Saturday.

"J. W., Chicago": Bets on the championship are not affected by the playing of the Buffalo-Chicago series in Chicago. Chicago has won the championship, and will be awarded the pennant at the annual meeting of the league Dec. 2.

In the forty-five league games played in Chicago this season the runs batted home by the different players of the Chicago team have been as follows: Anson, 43; Williamson, 40; Kelly, 40; Gore, 38; Flint, 37; Dalrymple, 32; Burns, 28; Corcoran, 27; Nicol, 10; Goldsmith, 9; Quest, 8.

The enormous salaries demanded by league players is going to break up the organization. They are all asking from $1,500 to $2,800. Some of them will get it next year, but after that there will be a scratching around among ball-players for situations in civil life. When President Hulbert died the backbone of the great organization was broken. It remains broken today. Had he lived the present trouble would have been averted. There is no one to take his place and pilot the league into safe waters once more, and the outlook is squally indeed.—Cleveland Leader.

The Directors of the Cleveland Club, at a recent meeting, voted to place the strongest nine possible in the field for next year. The past season has been a success financially. It is too early yet to state what next year's nine will be. There are to be a number of radical changes, and of the present team not more than five or six will be retained. Another statement is to the effect that the Cleveland Club has signed most of its players for next season. McCormick and Briody will be the first battery; Phillips, Dunlap, and Muldoon, the basemen; Glasscock, short-shop; Evans, of the Worcesters, and Hotaling, of the Bostons, in right and centre field; and probably Rowe in left field. This releases Tilley and Shafer. The second battery has not been decided upon.

ALLEGED DEFALCATION.

The Confidential Clerk of an Insurance Agent Turns Up Missing.

Another name has been added to the list of defaulting employés, Joe W. Carter, the confidential clerk of F. Van Voorhis, General Agent of the British-American Assurance Company, in the National Life Building, having been missing for over a week, while his accounts as far as they have been looked into show a discrepancy of something like $2,000. Last week Mr. Van Voorhis was out of the city on business, and during his absence Carter, who was left in charge, had things all his own way. Mr. Van Voorhis, who was yesterday seen by a TRIBUNE reporter, stated that Carter had appropriated cash remittances from the country, and had secured $1,600 from the bank during his absence, signed checks in blank having been left by him to be used in case of an emergency while he was gone. A part of this $1,600 Mr. Van Voorhis said had been used to meet current expenses, but the major portion had been appropriated by Carter. He could not tell just how much Carter had taken until he could hear from all of his country agents, which would be in less than a week. He employed Carter, he said, upon the recommendation of Mr. H. H. Browne, an insurance agent having an office in the same building, and it appeared that Carter had acted the same with Mr. Browne nearly two years ago.

The reporter then called upon Mr. Browne, who stated that Carter was in his employ for eight years previous to January, 1881, when he collected $1,600 on the street, in premiums, and left. The matter had never been settled. He always regarded Carter as one of the best of men at his branch of the business, and when he recommended him to Mr. Van Voorhis, who, he said, had employed Carter before he saw him, he told that gentleman all of the circumstances surrounding the $1,600 defalcation, and added that, while he considered that Carter was a tiptop man in the business, he wouldn't put him where he could have the handling of money. He didn't believe when Carter went to work for Mr. Van Voorhis that he would ever do anything "crooked" again, but he did not believe that he would be put where he could have an opportunity to get away with any more. Carter is about 30 years of age, and outside of these cases bears a first-class reputation. He always seemed a steady man, and no one could be found who would believe that he speculated at all. His whereabouts are at present unknown, and his family have broken up housekeeping and gone to live with Mrs. Carter's father.

CLOSING THE SARATOGA SEASON.

A Saratoga correspondent writes as follows: "The Saratoga Convention has adjourned, and the great hotels are once more comparatively lifeless. If the past season at Saratoga has developed any one fact of more importance than another, it is the popularity of Old Congress Spring. It has stood the test of a hundred years, and its life seems self-renewing. The words of Martin Van Buren still hold good: 'The sober, second thought of the people brings them back year after year to Saratoga and the Old Congress, to find the former the most enjoyable of all watering places and the latter the best, the purest, and safest spring water in the world.' All the springs are not alike, however. Much sickness has been caused from drinking from the newer and harsher waters, Hathorn especially. Mrs. Judge Andrews, wife of Judge Andrews, of the New York Court of Appeals, has been very sick this season, suffering, as she and her friends say, from functional disorders caused by the Hathorn Springs waters. Others have been similarly affected. This spring is one of the new ones, and the water is composed largely of carbonized iron and lime saline. As iron excites the system, so does lime produce the slacking effect upon it as seen in a bed of fresh mortar, which smokes in the pain of its ignition. It is merely possible that these new, harsh waters, both domestic and foreign, may prove a passing fancy. But time is already showing their bad effects, and the people are going back to the less drastic and, in many respects, most perfect water which bubbles from Old Congress Spring.

A FLIGHT OF FANCY.

For The Chicago Tribune.

Did ever, sometime, a voice resound
On your ear a moment, whose ev'ry sound
Made the heart stand still—then quicker beat
With the glad remembrance of something sweet?
Of a bygone time, when every breath
Which came from her lips was life or death?
Of a rustle of silk, or a light step's fall,
Which stirred the blood like a bugle-call?
I remember once in a darkened room,
When the air was filled with the Summer's bloom,
That a voice unexpected the silence broke,
And I knew in a moment that she who spoke
Had years before been more to me
Than ever another can live to be.
There was breathed in each tone that subtle spell
Which only my darling could use so well;
A magic lute played by fairy hand
Could scarcely more every sense command;
And Memory bridged in a moment o'er
The gulf from the Now to the years before.
I paused a moment—then crossed the floor
To clasp the woman I still adore.
Was it a fancy, or did I trace
An odor of spirits breathed on my face?
While a voice exclaimed, "Ach, ye nasty baste!"
So I cussed and released Old Chores' waist.

LECTURE BY FELIX ADLER.

Prof. Felix Adler, of New York, will lecture at the Grand Opera-House this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock—subject, "The True Method of Religious Reform." He will be followed by William M. Salter, of New York—subject, "Do the Ethics of Jesus Satisfy the Needs of Our Time?" Tickets 50 cents, to be had at the door. It has been objected to the liberal reformers of the day that their labors are all of an iconoclastic character—all their efforts being directed to pulling down the theories and structures of others, and furnishing nothing of any substantial benefit in their place. It is claimed by the friends of Mr. Adler that his teachings are not open to this criticism; but that on the contrary they are practical in the highest degree, and tend to the positive benefit and improvement of society and of the race. The Alliance says: "Mr. Adler is an earnest and graceful speaker, a profound thinker, and his address cannot fail of interesting and instructing all who hear it. Of Mr. Salter, who is also to speak, we have heard the most favorable reports as a speaker, and know him to be a most excellent gentleman."

Chippendale did not make furniture at first, but was an architect and designer. The Cabinet Makers refused to work after his drawings, on the ground that they were too light and unsubstantial, and they certainly look so on paper, hence he became a manufacturer himself, and his book, a large folio with two hundred engravings on copper, is evidence that his business must have been extensive—it is entitled "The Gentlemen's and Cabinet Makers' Director, Being a Large Collection of the Most Elegant and Useful Designs of Household Furniture in the Most Fashionable Taste, by Thomas Chippendale, Cabinet Maker and Upholsterer, and sold at his house in St. Martin's Lane. MDCCLIII." Genuine specimens of his work and period are of course rare and valuable. Howard & Co., of Fifth avenue, New York, whose store is as interesting as any museum, have an agent constantly traveling through England attending sales in the old towns and buying in one place a chair or settee, in another a table or kneehole, and by this means secure very fine specimens. These are first sent to London, where the old mahogany being polished by hand shows color which only age can give, then to New York, where any one interested can always see a fine collection, and which no visitor to that city should omit.

The Chicago Fall Running Meeting.

The people of this city cannot complain that there has been any lack of turf-sport here during the season which is drawing to a close. One running and two trotting meetings have already been given, and during the present week five days will again be devoted to the runners, a very attractive program for a meeting of that length having been arranged, and in all the fixed events a large number of entries have been made. Commencing Tuesday, the first event will be a dash of seven-eighths of a mile, all ages, for a purse of $250, to be followed by the Prairie Stake for 2-year-olds that have not won a race prior to Sept. 1, 1882. The distance is the favorite one of three-quarters of a mile, and the eighteen engaged are Golden Plover, Grismer, St. Mary, Reba, Murmur, Tahota, Cedar Grove, Charley Lucas, Adventurer, Allanoke, Idle Pat, Ada Ban, Black Gal, Katie Fletcher, Spray, Vis-a-Vis, Lady Lyon, and Butler Ball. Out of this lot seven or eight, and perhaps ten, of the best are sure to face the starter, and a fine contest is insured. Next comes the Illinois Stake for 3-year-olds, same conditions as the Prairie Stake, and the seventeen entries include Sunday, Ruth, Harry Doswell, Rufus L., Effie H., Derby Day, Gleaner, Viron, John Sullivan, Botherem, Monarch, Ranger, Bernice, Sullivan, Silvie, Carlton, and a chestnut filly by Buckden, out of Oceana. Nearly all of these youngsters have run well during the present season, and as the distance is a mile and a half—long enough to effectually dispose of non-stayers—something notable in the way of a race may be expected. The day's sport will conclude with a mile-heat race for all ages, a style of racing that always finds favor with the public.

The games on Wednesday begin with a selling purse, a mile and an eighth, which is followed by the Northwestern Stake, a mile-and-three-quarters dash, for all ages. This distance is sufficient to make it certain that nothing but a really good horse can be the winner, especially when the character of the field is considered. The entries are Iosco, Clara D., Sunday, Boatman, Monogram, Pearl Jennings, George Hakes, Metropolis, John Davis, Duchess of Norfolk, and Bonnie Bird, nearly all of whom have established reputations as good race-horses. California, it will be noticed, has three representatives, Sunday and Clara D. belonging to "Lucky" Baldwin, while Duchess of Norfolk will carry Mr. Theodore Winters' colors. Boatman has been a good horse all this season—in fact, he and Bootjack were for a time the mainstay of the Young stable, while John Davis, Pearl Jennings, and Metropolis are too well known to need further mention. A heat race at five-eighths of a mile will follow the Northwestern Stake, the closing event of the day being a handicap, one mile and a half, over six hurdles.

The Lakeside Stake, one mile, for 2-year-olds, with penalties for winners, comes first on the card Thursday, fifteen colts and fillies having been nominated. They are Vera, Ascender, Bondholder, St. Mary, Rushaway, Mollie Moore, King Lyon, Charley Lucas, Adventurer, Aztec, Idle Pat, Lord Raglan, Black Gal, Katie Fletcher, and Wheat Bread. All the best 2-year-olds in the West and South are engaged in this stake, and as the distance is not too far fast time may be expected. Then comes a selling race, mile and a quarter, followed by the Autumn Stake, for 3-year-olds, mile heats. The entries in this race number twenty-one—a very large showing for a heat race of any description—they being Sunday, Boatman, Monogram, Mistral, Ruth, Rufus L., Derby Day, Effie H., Mediator, Gleaner, Alborak, John Sullivan, Botherem, Lda M., George Bunnell, Stanton, Anglia, Ranger, Bernice, Fly Dance, and Spiegelburg. A handicap at a mile and three-quarters closes the day.

Friday's proceedings will begin with a three-quarter mile dash for all ages, after which comes the October Handicap, a mile and a quarter, the weights and entries for which will be found elsewhere. There are three other events set for this day—a selling purse, one mile and three-quarters, a steeple-chase purse, and a mile dash for all ages.

Saturday closes the meeting, and five races are to be run, the first being the Boulevard Stakes for 2-year-old colts and fillies, one mile. In this the entries are Lucky B., Gano, Vera, Ascander, Bondholder, St. Mary, Rushaway, Reba, Idle Pat, Mollie Moore, Cedar Grove, Charley Lucas, Adventurer, Lord Raglan, Black Gal, and Lady Lyon. Then comes the Interior Stake, a mile and three-quarters dash, for 3-year-old colts and fillies, Sunday, Boatman, Monogram, Pearl Jennings, Mistral, Botheren, Ruth, Stanton, Anglia, and Duchess of Norfolk being named to start. The third race is a selling purse for all ages, one mile and an eighth; the fourth a mile heat race for all ages, and the fifth and last a three-quarter mile dash for all ages.

The Great Rival Double Teams on the Track.

The New York Sun of last Thursday has the following concerning the Work and Vanderbilt teams:

"There they are, half a mile apart," exclaimed a horseman who sat on the porch of the club-house overlooking the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Association yesterday.

He referred to the rival teams which have become lately the talk of the trotting world.

Near the three-quarter pole, jogging moderately, but with a grace of motion that could not fail to attract the attention of any lover of creatures of beauty, came the chestnut horse Edward alongside his bay mate, Dick Swiveller, driven by their handsome, gray-haired owner, Frank Work. Passing the quarter-pole, with graceful, dainty steps in perfect unison, trotted the beautiful pair of brown mares Early Rose and Aldine, taking a little gentle exercise. They are better matched as to color than the rival team. Early Rose is a shade darker than Aldine, and wears boots, while her mate goes clean limbed. Behind them sat the familiar form of William Blair, clad in his usual sombre suit of black. Blair has made the best trotting record with a single horse (Maud S.) and many believe that he has made the best team time by a shade.

Even if the drivers felt inclined for a brush yesterday, the track was in no condition for a trot. Pools of water stood here and there, rendering it altogether too heavy for speed. For this reason the trots announced for yesterday were postponed until Friday.

No horse question was ever discussed more earnestly and feelingly than that as to which is the superior team. It is the daily subject of conversation on the porch among gentlemen watching the trotters. While the majority of bankers and brokers stand by Mr. Work's team, Mr. Vanderbilt has a strong backing among the veteran members of the association.

Edward and Dick Swiveller are now kept at the track in two of the finest stalls in Mr. Rogers' stable, the best on the grounds. A new skeleton wagon, weighing 100 pounds, arrived for the team yesterday.

All the horses at the track are in splendid condition, with the exception of the unfortunate Clingstone. He had improved since the Boston trot, but while exercising on Sunday twisted his near hind leg so as to strain some of the ligaments. Although doing well yesterday, and moving in his box without apparent lameness, his handlers hope he would not start again this year.

Chester Park Races.

| Wallansee | 2 | 2 |
| Alborac | 3 | 3 |

Time—1:51; 1:54.

One and one-quarter miles, Square Dance first, Iosco second, Annie G. third; time, 2:21½.

Three-fourths of a mile, Rosalind first, St. Martin filly second, Murmur third; time, 1:21¼.

Three-fourths of a mile, Fellowplay first, Fiona second, Pat Farrell third; time, 1:21¼.

Track Talk.

Rayon D'Or, the celebrated French stallion recently purchased by W. L. Scott, of Erie, Pa., has arrived in London, and will be shipped to this country Oct. 4.

The London Sporting Times thinks that Mr. Lorillard's colt Sachem should win the Cambridgeshire. This race was won last year, it will be remembered, by Mr. Keene's Foxhall.

Seminole, one of the colts sent to England two years ago by Mr. J. R. Keene and returned to this country not long ago, has been sold to Charles Reed, Saratoga, N. Y. He has been gelded, and will hereafter be known as Defiance.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed by horsemen at the manner in which the recent running meeting at Louisville was conducted, and it is understood that in the future the owners of several well-known stables will decline to run their horses there.

Sweetheart, the California filly, whose 3-year old record of 2:22½ stands next to the 2:21 of Phil Thompson, was brought to New York from the Pacific coast last winter by Orrin Hickok, but the change of climate caused almost a total loss of speed, and she will be bred.

Milt Young, who has sold his string of racers and gone into breeding, has among the brood mares on his farm Kelpie (dam of Janet and Duke of Montrose), Fonwitch (sister to Fonso), Beatitude, Bliss, Beatrice, Black Maria, Olivia, Wildfire, Perhaps (Perplex's dam), Matagorda, Nana, Sozodont, Belle of Maywood, Gladiola, Patti, Square Dance.

Mr. L. Graham, of Philadelphia, Pa., has recently purchased of Mr. J. F. Caldwell, at Brighton Beach, the ch. g. Barney Lyon (3), by Barney Williams, dam imp. Maud Lyon, by Lord Lyon, out of Maud, by Loup Garou. Barney Lyon is well bred, and of twenty-one starts he has won nine races, some of which were very fair performances. Price paid, $1,500.

The br. c. Ballard (3), by imp. Billet, dam Katie Pearce, by imp. Leamington, out of Stamps, by Lexington, the property of Messrs. McIntyre & Swiney, Kentucky, burst a blood-vessel in his head while running in the Kentucky Stallion Stakes at Lexington. The extent of the injury is not reported, but it is to be hoped it is not serious.

Lafayette Broadnax, trainer of Capt. William Cottrill's racing stable, died suddenly at the Louisville race-track a few days since from heart-disease. He was 62 years old, had been in Capt. Cottrill's service for nine years, and was considered one of the most competent trainers in the country. Capt. Cottrill had the remains handsomely incased and sent to Mobile, Ala., the late residence of deceased.

At Sacramento, Cal., on the 18th inst., the Jennie B. Stake, for all ages, one mile, named after the winner, Jennie B., who won the stake last year in 1:42¾, was decided. One of the conditions of the stake is that it is to be named after the winner if Jennie B.'s time is beaten. On the day above mentioned the race was won by the bay mare Night Hawk (5), by imp. Haddington, out of Napa Queen, by Norfolk, in 1:42¼. Until this time is beaten the stake will be known as the Night Hawk Stake.

Referring to the county fair at Rome, N. Y., the Utica Observer of Sept. 22 says: "There has been a step forward in the matter of horse races. Whether or not it has caused a step backward in a religious point of view readers can judge. A minister entered his horse in a race at the county fair, and yesterday got into the sulky and drove. When one of the other drivers ran his horse and passed him on the backstretch, the parson went into the judges' stand and made as grand a 'kick' as any old driver. Another man who drove in one of the races was a Methodist, and when the other drivers tried to crowd him to the fence he made their spokes rattle; one of them got his wheel 'dished.'"

The black mare Cozette, by Blumberg's Bashaw, and with a record of 2:19, has been driven for a year on the road by Mr. E. S. Stokes, of New York. On Sunday last news was brought from the stable to the Hoffman House that she had lost her tongue. Dr. Liautard was sent to make an examination, and the facts established are these: The groom was trying to look into her mouth, and he had firmly grasped her tongue. She is a nervous mare, and she struggled to get away. He held on, and a sudden movement caused the grinders to close upon the tongue and cut it off. The tissue was healthy, and the severed part was five inches long. Mr. Stokes gave Mr. Bergh an order to destroy the mare, but the order was not executed. Dr. Liautard is the veterinary adviser of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and he was in favor of delay. Cozette is now being fed on slops, and she is doing so well that Mr. Stokes has refused an offer of $500 for her. She will be kept for breeding purposes.

THE EQUITABLE BUILDING ASSOCIATION.

Hitherto building associations have had only a sparing patronage in this city, but there is no doubt that they will rapidly multiply and prove of immense service not only to the working classes but to the best interests of law and order. Tomorrow will witness the opening of the latest of these associations—"The Garden City Equitable Loan & Building Association"—which has been recently organized upon the most approved and equitable plan yet devised for their working. The published list of its Directors embraces the names of men whose high standing in leading commercial, real estate, and banking houses guarantees faithfulness in management and success. With an authorized capital of 10,000 shares the association starts out with a subscription list of nearly 3,000 shares already applied for. Like the older type of loan and building associations this one will lend the money necessary to buy a homestead only to its own members or shareholders (who become such by paying the modest sum of twelve and one-half cents per week as the installment on each share), advancing $100 upon each share of stock subscribed for the borrower, upon interest and the payment of a premium for the preference of the loan, but, unlike them, it proposes to advance the whole $100 on each share, accepting payment of its premiums in weekly installments, while the older type deduct the whole amount of the premium in advance from the amount of the loan, which results in so much of a diminution of the cash on hand to the borrower.

H. B. BRYANT'S BUSINESS COLLEGE.

This college has a very large and able faculty, offers a very extensive, thorough, and practical course of study, and possesses every facility known to the department of business education. In addition to the regular business course, this institution conducts a very large and flourishing English department, while its department of shorthand and type-writing is the most extensive in the country. Many young men and young ladies have already entered for the fall and winter terms, and a much larger number will make their arrangements tomorrow. Visitors are always welcome.

POUND OF CANDY AND ELEGANT BOX 25 CENTS.

Our readers who have not tried those 25-cent pound packages of Krantz's candy put up in a beautiful box should do so at once. You will find them at 80 State street—nowhere else.

The extraordinary exhibition of fine and elegant fancy wares, such as are only manufactured in Paris, are an attraction at the Parisian Novelty Store, No. 237 West Madison street. They should be seen to be appreciated. The enterprising gentlemen who have come to Chicago with a view to presenting these Parisian novelties deserve our heartiest encouragement. Their goods, although the finest of their kind, are offered at remarkably low prices.

William Scarlett, 10 years of age, was dusting out his father's library at 385 Centre street yesterday, when he ran across a revolver which he examined. He raised the hammer and the weapon was discharged, the ball passing through the palm of the left hand. The wound is not considered dangerous, though tetanus may result.

A Review of the Congressional and Legislative Situation—The Look of Things in the South Side District.

The political decks are being gradually cleared as the time for the November set-to draws nearer. During the past week the Republicans closed up their work in another district—the Fourth—by the nomination of Senator Adams. The Democrats in that district are divided into three camps, respectively labeled Tree, Colvin, and Hoffman. The toughs and the terriers, who remember how cavalierly Judge Tree treated their nomination a few years ago, have said they will have none of him, and when it comes to a contest between the toughs and the "silks" on the North Side, as elsewhere, the former have a way of coming out on top. Harvey Colvin is their man, but they can't get him to leave his business and take a nomination—to say nothing of a defeat—and Francis A. Hoffman Jr., is to be run out in the vain hope of catching the German vote. Mr. Adams, who has just returned to the city from a post-convention rest, apparently expects that Hoffman will be his competitor before the people. Having become rather intimate with the Germans throughout the district lately, speaking their native tongue, and not disdaining a moderate indulgence in their national beverage, Senator Adams is evidently undisturbed by the Democratic tactics, and will give his opponent the hardest kind of fight. With a good lead in the city, and a still stronger one in the country, his election is placed beyond a peradventure.

Three candidates are already running in

THE BRIDGEPORT DISTRICT—

Sheridan, Curran, and Artley—while the Anti-Monopolists, as they delight to label themselves, have taken the field during the past week and nominated Ald. Altpeter. In the meantime, the friends of John F. Finerty are still circulating those petitions, and have thus far obtained nearly 2,000 signatures. The Finerty movement, in short, is growing in strength and in numbers every day, and when the petitions are called in and presented there is apparently little doubt but that Finerty will accept, and stump the district as he only can stump it. With so many candidates running the result, of course, is little better than a matter of guess work. The chances are, however, that some of them will drop out before the fight becomes very brisk, or will merely figure on paper, and that the real contest may be narrowed down to Sheridan and Artley, or, as is still more probable, to Sheridan and Finerty, in which event the former will be put to his stumps to win.

The Democratic machine has asserted itself, and Carter Harrison declines to enter the lists in

THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The McDonalds, the Mackins, the Gildays, and other patriots of that numerous order, have apparently succeeded in convincing the Mayor not only that he is "handier" to the party where he is, but that if he did run the resulting Republican turnout would be only so much the worse for the Democratic county ticket, which will have all it can do without being handicapped. But Carter is a fickle creature at best, and his acceptance of a nomination one day and his declination the next have prepared the public for almost anything. The chances are, however, that after changing his mind every other day or so for another week or two, he will settle back into his original position, refuse to run, and allow Baldwin, or Gurney, or some other Congressional impossibility, to be led like a lamb to the slaughter, and the few sorehead Republicans who have been egging him on will gradually crawl under the canvas and help swell Col. Davis' majority.

THE FIRST DISTRICT.

The only district in which neither of the leading parties has made its nomination is the First. For that reason it is now the very centre and hub of popular interest, not for anything the Democrats may do, but as regards the outcome of the strife in the Republican camp. The first active skirmishing will open up tomorrow afternoon in Hyde Park, where the warriors at the primary will figure for the control of the village convention, which selects delegates to the Congressional. The Aldrich workers have steadily insinuated for some time back that Mr. Coy would not carry Hyde Park. Within a couple of days, however, they have virtually given it up, and one of them yesterday admitted to a representative of THE TRIBUNE that Mr. Coy would come into the convention with Hyde Park and Lake solid, and with three votes from the country. This will give the Stock-Yards men seventeen to start with. The primaries in the city wards and the remaining country towns will be held Tuesday afternoon, and the convention Wednesday morning. The Fourth Ward is now the turning-point in the race—if it hasn't been all along. The contest in that quarter has apparently developed into a fight between the Harper party, which is assumed to be for anybody to beat Aldrich, and the Woodard-Dunham-Higginbotham wing, which is pronounced for Aldrich. An Aldrich and an anti-Aldrich ticket will be run, but the real fight will apparently be on the Harper and anti-Harper issue. Henry Best, although a candidate for Coroner, has gone into the Aldrich camp, taken his political life in his hands, so to speak, and set about the lively task of "downing" Harper. The Aldrich men are confident of getting the best of it, but the other side have set their teeth and say it can't be done. Whoever carries the ward will secure eighteen votes in the convention—a plum which each side realizes the importance of striving for. In the Third there will be a sharp fight between Aldrich and Dore. John H. Clough, who was recently classed as a Dore man, is said to have found it necessary to back water since he became a candidate for the Senate, and is now represented as cultivating the friendship of the Aldrich workers. This has added a new complication to the situation. According to a story current on the streets yesterday, however, the real body and brains of the Aldrich party served notice on Mr. Aldrich that if he hoped to get the Third Ward, and didn't want the said body and brains to desert him, the most judicious thing he could do was to let Clough severely alone. The notice is said to have had a powerful effect, and Clough's overtures in that direction will be likely to cease. The action of the Third Senatorial District Committee yesterday in deciding to fight the Senatorial battle ten days later than the Congressional, will tend to concentrate attention on the latter until it is over, and to some extent remove a few of the complications and block some of the trades, which threatened to confuse the whole business had the two fights come off at the same time. The chances, of course, are that Aldrich will carry his own ward in spite of the lively race the Dore workers promise to lead him. In the Second, as usual, the situation is a good deal mixed. Whether there will be more than one ticket nobody knows, or, if he knows, cares to tell. Dore is said to have made inroads on Coy's Second Ward colored men, but the Second is an exceedingly uncertain quantity at best, and some of the wise heads in that locality have advised the canal man not to run a separate ticket, but to fix up a compromise affair with Aldrich and Coy, and thus make sure of a part of the delegation, even though it be a small one. But no agreement of any kind has been reached, and the Aldrich forces evidently expect everybody to go it on his own hook. The First Ward, according to the general figuring, will undoubtedly be for Dore at the start. Whether it stays or not, apparently depends upon the strength he develops in other quarters. It is perhaps needless to say that the Aldrich people expect it to flop to their leader on the second ballot and nominate him with the usual éclat. Mr. Aldrich is now endeavoring to persuade his constituents that this will positively be his last farewell engagement. This method of campaigning, though not a new one with him, evidently has its effect upon a class of citizens who, unable to decide between the new material in sight, are wont to conclude towards the last of the canvass that the old is good enough for them, and go to the primary and vote accordingly. The Aldrich figurers are "laying for" just this class of citizens, and propose to get them in just about this way. In their calculations, they confidently count on the First, Second, and Third Wards, and enough out of the Fourth and the country towns to nominate on the first ballot. Even should they lose the First, they claim to have a chance of carrying the Fourth entire. The possibility of losing both, however, does not seem to have dawned upon them as yet, and the result of the primaries in those wards may be a sad and sore disappointment. Should Coy carry the Fourth and keep what is now conceded to him he would go into the convention with thirty-eight votes and need three more to nominate him. The Aldrich men have apparently carried the war into the Fourth Ward to prevent that very contingency, for a candidate who lacks but three votes is dangerously likely to get them. The fear that Coy might come that near a nomination, and possibly some doubts as to their power to transfer voting forces, may also have had a good deal to do with preventing the consummation of that alleged deal by which Coy and Dore were to pool their issues. At any rate, they haven't pooled up to date—a circumstance which seems to give the Aldrich people a deal of comfort just now, and set them to claiming that the combination can't be made.

As the Congressional contests are gotten out of the way thicken. Those uncertain quantities known as the Trade and Labor party, the Anti-Monopolist party, and the Prohibition party have either taken the field or threaten to, and there will be more legislative nominees to the square inch this fall than either of the great parties will care to see, even allowing for the usual mortality which prevails among a certain class of candidates after a convention. That quantity most uncertain of all, numerically speaking—the Prohibitionists—will probably make no very serious contest except in the Third and Sixth Senatorial Districts, and even there the only curiosity over the result will be to see how small a vote they poll.

The Democrats have taken no step yet with regard to holding Senatorial conventions, except in the Seventh District, where they can only elect a minority Representative, and the Republicans have put in the past week trying to extricate themselves from trouble in certain quarters and taking on an additional load in others. The two interesting districts just at present are the Fourth and Ninth. Two sets of nominees have been put in the field in the first named—Messrs. Parish and Lawrence by one convention and Messrs. Whitney and Campbell by another. By election-day, the chances are that the second set will have been drawn off.

The trouble in the Ninth, where the "disturbers" last evening put a second ticket, will prove less serious as election-day approaches. Several of the "disturbers" are deeply interested in the county fight and will cool off as the danger of inciting antagonisms to their county favorites presents itself. Each of the House nominees by the "disturbers'" convention will naturally seek to save himself, which means to sacrifice the other, and each, in order to catch votes from Mason's friends, will be very apt to "let up" on Mason and allow Scharlau to go it alone. Before the thing has run on very long the "disturbers'" nominees will thus be apt to fall a foul of each other and the movement gradually dwindle into insignificance. There has been some talk of arbitration, and it may come, but whether it does or not everybody will probably be pledged before hand to abide by the result, and in this way there may ultimately be but one ticket in the field. Mr. Mason strongly insists that he was fairly and regularly nominated, and, while he has yet not formally accepted the nomination, will probably do so in a few days, and enter upon a vigorous campaign in a district where he has campaigned before and made a brisk and winning fight. He insists that, as the Fourteenth Ward elected thirteen Mason delegates, under all the rules and precedents of the party those thirteen delegates had a right to say who should be the nominee for Senator. He was not at the convention, and denies that he was anywhere near it, had anything to do with the Thirteenth Ward contest, or, in fact, knew that there was to be a contest. The Baird and Decker delegation made the contest and sacrificed themselves in order to prevent the nomination of Phelps and Nicholson—a faction quarrel with which he had nothing whatever to do. If there is any reason to "kick" against anybody, as he puts it, it is against the nominees for Representative, and not against him, inasmuch as he carried a majority of the convention to start with. Independently of the manner in which the nominations were made, it is pretty generally conceded that those nominations themselves are strong ones. Mr. Mason has already served as a member of the House with credit to himself and the district he represented. As a lawyer he has enjoyed a large legal experience and has handled several important litigations. Mr. Wendel, one of the nominees for Representative, is a popular German in the Fourteenth Ward and a man of property and good business, while in Mr. Peterson the Scandinavian element has a representative who will draw largely upon that nationality at the coming election. In short, the ticket is a strong one, and if the Democrats have counted on taking advantage of the "disturbers'" bolt and stealing an extra member or two, they will be doomed to disappointment. Judging by a number of "straws" which have come to the surface since the convention adjourned, Mr. Green B. Raum has really less cause to feel thankful over the result than was at first supposed—a circumstance which may also have some influence in quieting the "disturbers" and restoring the wonted harmony.

Mayor Harrison Peremptorily Declines the Nomination of the Democratic Irregulars—It Would Not Be for the Good of the Party—Domestic Reasons.

The committee appointed by the irregular Democratic Convention of the Third Congressional District to wait upon Mayor Harrison and find out whether he would be their candidate dropped into his office about 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Muir, the Chairman, told about the assembling of the convention and the belief of the delegates that they had a right to call upon any member of the party to make the race that they saw fit. They unanimously passed a resolution requesting Mr. Harrison to accept the nomination, and the committee had called to get his answer.

Tom Courtney said it was not only the unanimous wish of the Democrats, "but a large and respectable element of the opposition party" in the district had personally requested that his Honor accept.

"Of course," said the Mayor, "I thank you for the compliment that you pay me. I have given out again and again, to individuals and through the press, whenever I have had the opportunity, the fact that I could not under any circumstances become a candidate for Congress. There are private, domestic reasons which it is neither necessary nor proper to explain here that make it exceedingly objectionable to me to break up my household and take my family to Washington for a Congressional term. I have no desire for the position at all, and so gave it out. I notified members of your convention the morning of its holding that, if they nominated me, I should peremptorily decline. I did acknowledge to one of them that I could conceive that would make me accept. That contingency, however, I did not tell to anybody, nor would I have mentioned it, because it would have looked, I have no doubt, like forcing the very circumstance. I have told the reporters every day since you made your nomination that, with all the lights then before me, I should certainly decline. What might turn up afterwards I could not tell, though I believed nothing would change my mind. I am forced this morning to say to you that under no circumstances whatever can I become a candidate for Congress. I acknowledge the compliment, and concede that to make the race and win a victory would be of very great personal benefit to me. I acknowledge to you that I don't see that it is by any means a forlorn hope that I would be leading if I were to make the race. I have never made one in Chicago for Congress or the Mayoralty that I did not have to face larger odds and more adverse circumstances than I would have to face now. When I was first elected to Congress I had 4,000 majority two years before against me, and there was no disruption in the other party. When I made the second race it was under different circumstances. When I ran for the Mayoralty both times I had a very large adverse majority to overcome. So that you can see (and I say this for the benefit of some other good man that I hope you will put up) that your nominee will not be making a hopeless race. I have won with greater odds against me before, and he may win with the odds against him now. I acknowledge my obligations to my party.

"I declare here a thorough party allegiance, but I have consulted with a great many—have talked with friends and with men who, while not friends are not enemies, and the general impression is that the benefits to my party, if I should run, are doubtful, or rather the chance of benefit is, and that I ought not to be forced into a race at this time. As to the call from my brethren of the opposition party, of course I owe nothing to them. I would be glad, if I ran, to get their votes (and my party might force me in); but, taking all the advice I could possibly get, I have come to the conclusion that I would probably not benefit my party by making the race. Some person else can do just as well. I want to say to you here that if you act wisely and have complete harmony in the Third District I see a hope of success.

"The Republican party is tottering. Whatever grand issue it may have claimed to have had in the past it has none today. There is but one thing for the Republican party to work for now, and that is spoils. There is not a single issue in the party that can hold it together. They are fighting for the spoils with such rancor that they will lose Pennsylvania, and in New York they have used 'ways that are dark and tricks that are vain,' honest men everywhere admitting that their convention is a stench. Even a great partisan paper in Chicago which could swallow a party devil but half greased, is so disgusted with that convention that it is spewing up Mr. Folger, and publishes with immense gusto every attack upon him coming from New York. Ohio is going Democratic. But I need not talk about Ohio and Indiana, because there are other issues there. In New York and Pennsylvania, however, the defection grows out of the perfect disgust at the ways and means men have adopted to keep themselves in power. The same feeling that makes a party paper here disgusted with Mr. Folger is making hundreds of Republicans in your own district disgusted with the ways over there. It is in the atmosphere that the Republican party is tottering, and their only hope in the world for success in 1884 is that

THE DEMOCRATS MAY MAKE FOOLS OF THEMSELVES.

They have counted upon that so much in the past that I think even the foolish Democrats who may try to get to the front will not be very loud-mouthed, but will be governed by wise counsels; and in 1884 we will elect a President, and not be cheated out of him as we were in 1876.

"My advice to you is this: Don't have a stiff backbone until you get to the polls. Stiff backbones out of your party are unwise. John Kelly has surrendered a piece of his vertebræ, so have his opponents, and they are having a love-feast and will carry New York. There are to be two conventions apparently in your district. I hope they will unite and have perfect harmony. Meet with that committee. Let it at least be said that the Democrats don't quarrel when they are shooting at the enemy—that they only quarrel among themselves. Keep your powder dry and your flint picked, and shoot where you can hit the right game.

"Now I think you have my answer. It is impossible for me to accept the nomination. I have said this all the time to the papers as far as I could. From respect to you I have felt that I had no right to tell any newspaper what my answer would be until you called upon me. I know you are a sincere Democrats. I will help you to get somebody else—some good man. We have excellent timber over there, and when we get him in the field I will do all I can to aid you in winning a victory. But, gentlemen, let us have no want of harmony."

"Your refusal is peremptory?" asked Mr. Muir.

"Yes," replied the Mayor, "I regret that the nomination was made, because I told several of the committee if nominated I could not accept. I didn't think the contingency would arise. I could have brought about the contingency myself that would have forced me to accept. But I am compelled to decline."

Mr. Clinton said the Democrats of the Thirteenth Ward would deeply regret that Mr. Harrison had done so.

"I am Mayor of Chicago," went on his Honor, "by the votes of the Thirteenth and other wards. I owe to the people my undivided attention here, and I want to give it. They very kindly allowed me to recuperate my health on the other side of the water, and now that I am back I feel that except under very extraordinary circumstances. If I were to go into the fight, I would not have a moment here—I would have to abandon the office. I would feel it almost my duty to resign the Mayoralty if I went into the fight, as I would go in heart and soul. I never do otherwise, and I never count the majorities before election. My rule is, that there is one man around the corner that I may get, and I go for him. Therefore, I do not feel that I would be doing my duty. I acknowledge my obligation to you, and if I felt it my duty—that it was in the interest of my party to run—I would not care what my personal sacrifices were, I would accept. But I have had advice from all around me, and not from parties interested. It is said that the friends that don't want me to run are eating city bread, but my advisors were not of that class. Many of the men at the City-Hall have said to me, 'If you feel like running, Mr. Mayor, we will give you all the help we can.' I have taken the sense not only of my party friends in Chicago, but I have even consulted party friends outside, and they all agree with me that, under the circumstances, I had better not make the race. I never run well unless I have a majority to whip. I believe we can beat Mr. Davis. If we put up another good man he will win."

I OUGHT NOT TO NEGLECT THE CITY'S BUSINESS

When the committee entered his office the Mayor asked if they had any cigars, saying that if he accepted the nomination they would expect him to furnish them. When the talk was over his Honor said he might apply to them some time for something, and then he would have cigars.

The convention will reassemble in Parker Hall at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

The Republican County Convention to Be Held Oct. 17—Increased Facilities for Voting at the Primaries—Proposed Reforms.

The Republican County Central Committee met yesterday afternoon at the Grand Pacific, ex-Ald. Quirk in the chair. The Town of Maine sent in a request for an additional polling-place, which was referred to the committeeman from that district. James H. Burke moved that every committeeman send in to the County Board a list of polling-places for his ward and the names of two Republican judges of election in each precinct. It was only too usual for Republicans to put in as judges men whose sole qualification was that they were of no earthly use anywhere else. The Democrats did not make this mistake. The motion prevailed.

Kirk Eastman moved that the country primaries be held Saturday, Oct. 14, those in the city on the 16th, and the convention on the 17th. The motion prevailed, and it was decided that the convention meet at 11 a. m.

It was moved that the primaries both in the city and the country be held between 4 and 7 p. m.

George R. Bliss said that unless the precinct system should be adopted the hours named would not be long enough.

J. H. Burke moved as a substitute that the roll be called and the committeeman from each ward name the hours of voting acceptable to his constituents.

Mr. Bliss argued in favor of a uniform system. He did not believe the party was ready to adopt the precinct primary system, because there was no registration.

HOURS OF HOLDING THE PRIMARIES.

Mr. Burke's substitute was carried by a vote of 13 to 10, and the roll was called so that the committeeman from each ward should announce the supposed wishes of his constituents. The first four wards voted to fix the voting hours at from 2 to 7 p. m. From the Fifth to the Ninth inclusive they voted for from 4 to 7 p. m. Jim Burke answered for the Tenth that they wanted all day, and it was fixed that the polls should be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. The Eleventh Ward asked from 12 m. to 7 p. m., and the Twelfth and Thirteenth from 4 to 7 p. m. The Fourteenth declared for a five-hour primary—2 to 7 p. m. The Fifteenth, Sixteenth, and Seventeenth wanted to vote between 4 and 7 p. m., and the Eighteenth between noon and 7 p. m. In the country districts 4 to 7 p. m. was agreed upon.

The Fifth Ward Central Republican Club petitioned for one judge at each precinct, and the matter was referred to the ward committeeman.

A petition was presented from a very large number of Republican voters of the Fourteenth Ward asking for precinct primaries in that ward. Ex-Ald. Baumgarten was granted ten minutes in which to support the prayer of the petition. He said the Fourteenth was the largest ward in the city, and it was impossible, unless the precinct system was adopted, for the Republican voters to get around, as some of them had to travel two to three miles to the polling-place.

Commissioner Rahlfs said if it was referred back to him as committeeman from the ward he would defer to the expressed views of the majority.

Kirk Eastman made a specious plea for such reference.

Mr. Rahlfs said he would change his vote and fix the voting hours in the Fourteenth from 12 to 7. The petition was then referred to the ward committeeman.

The Town of Hyde Park was permitted to appoint the delegates by the clubs as heretofore.

John M. Smyth moved that the apportionment of delegates be the same as at the County Convention of 1881. Col. Scribner wanted it based on the same vote as that which was taken as the basis for the recent County Convention.

J. H. Burke claimed that the Cullom vote ought to form the basis of apportionment, while Col. Scribner desired it to be based on

THE GARFIELD VOTE.

It was decided that the latter should be the basis, and that the convention should consist of one delegate for each 200 votes cast and one for every fraction exceeding 100.

Col. Scribner moved to appoint a committee of five to prepare a set of rules for the management of primaries. He said he made this in the interest of honest elections. The committee should report at an adjourned meeting to be held one week hence. The object of his motion was that none but Republican votes should be cast at Republican primaries. [Applause.]

Mr. Collins, of the Second District, said no man should be allowed to vote at a Republican primary until he had at least once voted the Republican ticket at a general election. In addition to this each delegate ticket should be allowed one challenger inside the room.

John M. Smyth said there was not sufficient time left in which to change the system of holding primaries, if such action should be contemplated by the motion, and he hoped the motion would not prevail.

A motion to lay on the table was voted down—yeas, 9; nays, 13. The motion then prevailed, it being understood that the report should be submitted to the meeting of next Saturday for approval.

On motion of Mr. Burke it was decided that each committeeman should submit at the next meeting the names of two judges in each precinct of his ward.

Mr. Potter asked permission to hold two polling-places in the Town of Lake, which was granted. The committee then adjourned for one week.

The Second Senatorial Convention in the Fourth District—Whitney and Campbell.

The "other" Fourth Senatorial Republican Convention was held yesterday afternoon in Owsley's Hall. To prevent outsiders from crowding in on the delegates admission was by ticket, and there were few present except those entitled to admission.

Frank H. Collier called the meeting to order, when Walter S. Hull was elected temporary Chairman. The call for the meeting was then read and the credentials of the delegates called for. It was stated that there were two sets of delegates from the Eighth Ward, and both were invited to present their credentials. A committee on credentials—consisting of Messrs. Williams, Bolcom, Parker, Loughlin, and Dunning—was then appointed.

Mr. Russell moved the passage of the following resolution:

Resolved, That in all cases of contested seats in this convention it shall be required as an indispensable condition precedent to the admission of such contestants that they shall unequivocally pledge themselves to abide by the nominees of the convention and give them their undivided support.

The resolution was passed with one dissenting voice.

The delegates from the Eighth Ward, headed by Chris Mamer and B. McDevitt, then left the hall.

The Committee on Credentials reported regular delegates from all the precincts save the Fourth of the Twelfth Ward. In this precinct the committee recommended the admission of George E. Foss. Only one set of credentials had been received from the Eighth Ward, and the committee recommended that the delegates from that ward be admitted. The report was adopted.

The convention proceeded to nominate two candidates for the Legislature.

Mr. Worthington nominated Col. L. H. Whitney, and the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Bolcom nominated J. L. Campbell and F. O. Carter nominated J. L. Parish. On a call by precincts Mr. Campbell received twenty-five and Parish one. On a motion to make the nomination unanimous, Mr. Carter voted no.

Col. Whitney and Mr. Campbell were then introduced to the convention. Both expressed their confidence in being elected, and claimed to have received the regular Republican nomination, the other convention being an irregular one.

A resolution was passed instructing the Representatives in the Legislature to secure the passage of a law legalizing primaries, the same as other elections, so that illegal voting, corrupt judges, etc., shall be punished.

Mr. Parker moved the passage of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the basis of representation on the Senatorial Committee of this district be in the proportion of one committeeman for every three delegates elected to this convention except in that part of the Eleventh Ward lying within this district, which shall be allowed one representative.

In accordance with the above, that portion of the Eigth Ward lying within this district having cast about 1,200 votes for Garfield and having six delegates will be entitled to two committeemen. That portion of the Eleventh Ward within this District 1, and the Twelfth Ward, having polled 4,190 votes for Garfield, and having twenty-one delegates, will be entitled to seven committeemen.

The resolution was adopted.

After the appointment of a Central Committee the convention adjourned.

A Strong Call for J. J. Curran to Run in the Second Congressional District—His Letter of Acceptance.

The following correspondence needs no explanation:

To John J. Curran, Esq.: Believing in your integrity and ability to represent the Second Congressional District of Illinois in the United States Congress, and deprecating the unfair means resorted to at the so-called primary election held in our district on the 13th inst., we most respectfully request and urge that you suffer your name to be used as an independent candidate for said office at the November election, at the same time we promise you our hearty and undivided support.

MR. CURRAN'S REPLY.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30, 1882.—Messrs. L. H. Turner, R. W. English, D. J. Pate, and others—GENTLEMEN: Your esteemed favor of the 29th inst. is just at hand, and it is with inexpressible pleasure that I read the hearty assurances of sympathy and support in the communication before me. Especially gratifying is it to know that the position I have assumed in regard to the candidacy of the Second District meets with your commendation and indorsement. As I have before stated, I did not consider the withdrawal of my name from the convention, in consequence of the extreme dissatisfaction felt at the questionable manner in which the primary was conducted, as sufficient reason for abandoning that position among the contestants which the professed desires and pledged support of my friends entitled me to; but now assured as I am that my course meets the approval of the respectable elements of the district, of earnest, candid men, competent to judge for themselves, and unwilling to accept as obligatory the arrogant dictations of a packed convention, I shall enter the race with renewed vigor, confident in the success of openly-avowed principles and freedom from factional prejudices and unworthy affiliations. From the support of those bound hand and foot by the conventional machine wires, I neither expect nor desire aught, but I am a candidate for the free and untrammeled suffrages of unbiased men, who believe that I can adequately represent their interests in the Congress of the United States, and are willing to confide to my care the fostering and protection of those interests. Knowing as I do that it is such men as these to whom I am indebted for this voluntary manifestation of their confidence and good will, it affords me much pleasure to tender my sincere thanks for their testimonial, and to signify my entire willingness to be considered the exponent of such an element. I shall esteem it an enviable privilege to be placed in the field as the choice of so intelligent and unprejudiced a constituency.

It is unnecessary for me here to again define my position and views regarding the vital, living issues of the day. They are well known to the voters of the Second District, and are, I trust, identical with the convictions of the responsible and thinking portion of the community. My record as a man and a citizen for years past lies open before you, and I can only pledge you that if in the coming election you shall do me the honor to name me as your Representative, the duties of the position shall be conscientiously administered in strictest accordance with the principles of justice and honor, and on the broad and comprehensive platform of philanthropy and the public weal. Thanking you once again for your flattering preference, I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

JOHN J. CURRAN.

The Third Ward—An Aldrich Ticket Put Up by the Club—In Favor of Precinct Primaries.

The Third Ward Republican Club met at Martine's Hall, corner of Twenty-second street and Indiana avenue. About 250 voters present, most of whom were members.

Mr. Gile, from the committee, submitted thirty-three names from which were to be selected eleven delegates to the First District Congressional Convention.

Mr. Merrick submitted an amendment to the constitution providing for a committee of three in each precinct to whom application for membership shall be made. It went over for a week.

Mr. Halleck moved that the club proceed to ballot for delegates.

After some talk, in order to prevent illegal voting, it was decided to call the roll and let each member vote when he heard his name.

The following gentlemen, who are for Aldrich, were selected, they receiving ninety-three votes to seventy-three for all others, there being fifty-three straight Dore tickets: E. G. Keith, John L. Thompson, John Summerfield, J. L. Barnum, Ira W. Buell, E. L. Jayne, D. L. Shorey, George Ecton, Soren Matheson, Louis Wampold, Daniel F. Crilly.

Mr. Merrick called for the report of the Committee on Precinct Primaries.

Mr. J. H. Clough, the Chairman, submitted it. They were of opinion that many of the reasons that prevailed for the subdividing of the ward into precincts at the legal elections existed in favor of the same division for primary or party elections. As arrangements for holding primaries to select delegates to the Congressional Convention soon to convene were already made it seemed unwise to attempt any change at the present time. They could see no insuperable objection to holding precinct primaries for the approaching Senatorial and County Conventions if the club desired them and the respective committees acceded to its wishes. With reference to all conventions of the party to be held subsequent to the next November elections, the committee recommended that the precinct system be substituted for the general ward system in selecting delegates to represent the Republicans of the ward in such conventions.

The report was laid over for a week.

The club then adjourned until Saturday night.

The Second Set Nominated in the Ninth Senatorial District.

The Thirteenth ward delegates who were ruled out of the Ninth Senatorial Republican Convention Friday, and some delegates from the Fourteenth Ward, met last evening at Benz's Hall, on West Lake street, according to agreement, and proceeded to nominate a ticket. Besides the delegates the attendance was large, the hall being crowded, and considerable interest was manifested.

The body was called to order by ex-Ald. Quirk, and William Williams was called to preside. Upon taking the chair he expressed regret that a second convention had been necessary, and following this a Committee on Credentials was appointed, and they subsequently reported admitting the delegates who had been excluded by the convention of the day before.

The next order was the nomination of a candidate for Senator and two candidates for Representative, and the honors fell without dispute upon C. E. Scharlau for Senator and W. A. Phelps and W. R. Nicholson for Representatives.

The nominations were all made by acclamation, and the nominees came forward and accepted. In their speeches they referred to the alleged irregularities of the former convention, charging corruption upon some of the primary judges, and assailing the nominees, especially Mr. Mason, who, they claimed, had promised them that he would not be a candidate for Senator under any circumstances.

Frank J. Smith addressed the convention in the interest of the ticket, deprecating the primary system, and urging the necessity of reforms in the criminal law, and the meeting came to an end by appointing William Williams and C. C. Dombernowsky as members of the Central Committee.

The Democrats Will Hold Their County Convention Wednesday, Oct. 11.

A meeting of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee was held last evening in the club-room of the Palmer House. There were forty members present out of a total membership of forty-six, and a good-sized lobby watched the proceedings from afar off through the glass doors and windows. The pantomime must have been very amusing, as looking space was in demand. All was apparently quiet until just before adjournment, when Billy Frawley, of the Twelfth, and Frank Agnew, of the Eighteenth, appeared to have a grievance, and made excited speeches. They were answered and quieted by Ald. Cullerton and Hildreth. In the lobby outside was a committee from the Iroquois Club bearing a petition and plan for pure primaries, but they said that Secretary Mackin had scorned their proffered suit and shut them out. One of them said, however, that they could not expect such a crowd to take any stock in pure primaries, and, after lingering around an hour or so, the committee withdrew with their documents.

After adjournment Secretary Mackin escorted the reporters to the State Central Committee's headquarters, in Room 23, and told them that the committee had ordered the county primaries for Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 10, and the County Convention for Wednesday, Oct. 11. There is to be one polling-place in each ward and county town, and the polls will be open from 5 until 7 o'clock. The President, Vice-President, and Secretary were appointed a committee to arrange all details for the convention, with full power to act. Secretary Mackin introduced a resolution to the effect that the basis of representation be one delegate for every 200 votes cast for the Hancock and English Electors, and one extra for every fraction of 100 votes and over. The resolution was adopted. The committeemen were instructed to present their lists of primary judges at the next meeting of the committee for approval, and to hand in their lists of general-election judges to Clerk Filkins for the approval of the County Board. The primaries and conventions in the various Senatorial districts, excepting the Second and Seventh, are to be held about a week or ten days after the County Convention. The committee adjourned to meet next Wednesday evening at the same place.

"Mr. Mackin," asked the reporter, "what were Frawley and Agnew so excited about?"

"Why, they wanted to present their lists of primary judges tonight, but about two-thirds of the committee persuaded them that they didn't want to do anything of the sort. The committee wants to scrutinize the lists, so that no loaded lists can be forced down the throats of the honest voters, and so that any one who does not like the lists can have a chance to complain and air their grievances. That will all be done at the meeting next Wednesday evening."

"The gentlemen of the Iroquois Club tell me you treated them harshly. Is that so?"

"Funny? I never saw anything like it," and Mr. Mackin leaned back and laughed. "They approached me before the meeting," he said, "with a long document mapping out a plan for purifying the primaries, and wanted to present it to the meeting. You know those fellows have no more idea about practical politics than Tilden, and I asked them if they knew what the introduction of such a plan as they had been airing in their club would cost. They said they had not, and I then propounded the query whether their club would give the committee a certified check to try the plan upon which so many men had spent their time, and brains, and energy only to meet failure. That staggered them, as you know any of those fellows would yell 'Stop thief!' if you took $200 from them. So I barred them. Funny? I never saw anything like it," and he laughed again at the recollection of the committeemen he had frozen out.

Having all the information desired the Secretary of all the committees bowed the newspaper man out of the room with all that consummate grace and politeness to which he owes his middle name.

Completing the New Election Districts.

The Committee on Public Service of the County Board completed the work of redistricting the county yesterday, except, possibly, some of the country towns, where the changes, if any, will not be material.

Among other work done was the redistricting of the Eleventh Ward, as follows:

First Precinct—Bounded by Ohio, Curtis, Kinzie, and Noble.

Second Precinct—Bounded by Ohio, Noble, Kinzie, and Ashland avenue.

Third Precinct—Bounded by Kinzie, Curtis, Fulton, and Ashland avenue.

Fourth Precinct—Bounded by Fulton, Curtis, Washington boulevard, and Warren avenue, and Ashland avenue.

Fifth Precinct—Bounded by Washington boulevard, Curtis and Aberdeen, Adams and Throop.

Sixth Precinct—Bounded by Washington boulevard and Warren avenue, Throop, Adams, and Ashland avenue.

Seventh Precinct—Bounded by Adams, Aberdeen, Van Buren, and Ashland avenue.

Eighth Precinct—Bounded by Van Buren, Loomis, Twelfth, and Ashland avenue.

In the Town of Lake two precincts were added, and the boundaries were revised as follows:

First Precinct—Bounded by Thirty-ninth, the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne Railroad tracks, Garfield boulevard, and Ashland avenue.

Second Precinct—Bounded by Thirty-ninth, State, Forty-seventh, and the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne tracks.

Third Precinct—Bounded by Forty-seventh, State, Garfield boulevard, and the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne tracks.

Fourth Precinct—Bounded by Garfield boulevard, State, the town line, and Ashland avenue.

Fifth Precinct—Bounded by Thirty-ninth, Ashland avenue, Fifty-fifth, and west town line.

Sixth Precinct—Bounded by Fifty-fifth, Ashland avenue, and south and west by the town line.

In the Town of Thornton a precinct was added. The new boundaries are as follows:

First Precinct—Bounded on the north by the Calumet River and the south lines of Secs. 16, 19, and 20; on the east and south by the town line, and on the west by the town line and the east lines of Secs. 16 and 20.

Second Precinct—All that part of the town north and east of the Calumet River.

Third Precinct—Bounded by the Calumet River, the east line of Secs. 16 and 20, the south line of Secs. 16, 19, and 20, and on the west by the town line.

With the changes already given, the above completes the work, except, perhaps, the Town of Lyons. The list will be handed to the County Board tomorrow and approved, whereupon an adjournment will be had until Thursday to appoint the polling-places and the judges of election.

The Gamblers' Candidate.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—There being no Democratic paper here must be the writer's excuse for asking the privilege of your columns. As the time of election is rapidly approaching both parties, of course, present names of possible contending candidates, and each party claims and expects the loyal adherence of every voter belonging to it. There is no denying the fact that the chances for success of the Democrats have not seemed so favorable for many years as at present; a large foreign-born element of good, industrious, liberty-loving citizens have been frightened by the intolerent and intermeddling spirit of Puritanical fanaticism with the private affairs of others, and they have resolved to cut loose from the party which they have so long supported and to join the Democratic party, which always has come to the rescue, and been a bulwark and protection against all fanaticism. Under such circumstances it doubly behooves the Democratic party to put forward a full and good ticket, composed of men well known in the community, of irreproachable character, and of Democratic antecedents—men whom to know is to honor them. It is no secret that a set of unscrupulous and disreputable adventurers, whose very presence in the councils of the party is a drawback to its success and a disgrace to the honorable members, are now trying to force on to the ticket the name of our Superintendent of Police, Mr. McGarigle; the strikers and blowers openly defy the honest wishes of the Democratic voters and boast that money sufficient is on hand to buy up any opposition to their wishes, and seemingly, at least, the movement has the tacit support of the Mayor. Let these people take warning that the independent Democratic voters are not prepared to tolerate and support an avowed gamblers' candidate, and that no allegiance is due to a nomination brought about through such corruption. When the Democratic Convention expects our votes they must present us good, honorable Democratic names, and not men who by nature, inclination, and education belong in another political camp, and who never have been and are not now Democrats, and whose only claim consists in the friendship of the gambling fraternity. Surely our party can present as honorable a set of men as can be found anywhere on earth; and when such attempt is made to choke such nomination down our throats it is no prophecy to state that it will be squelched at the polls if no redress can be obtained in the convention. Let the delegates take warning by former attempts to place Republicans on our ticket—recollect John Wentworth, Horace Greeley, etc. If we are obliged to vote for a Republican we intend to do our own choosing. Give us a respectable Democratic ticket, or give us none.

DEMOCRAT.

Notes.

The Irish Republican speaks in high terms of the candidacy of W. H. (Hank) Ruger for State Senator from the Fifth District.

The Finerty movement in the Second Congressional District shows no signs of abating. Nearly 2,000 names have been secured to the petition requesting him to take the field against Sheridan, and the better element of the district rejoices in the prospect of being represented at Washington by a gentleman, a polished writer, a powerful orator, and a true Irishman.

The Third Senatorial District Republican Committee met yesterday afternoon and decided unanimously to call the convention for Oct. 14 at 10 a. m., and the primaries for Oct. 13 between 4 and 7 p. m., the judges and polling-places to be named at an adjourned meeting to be called by W. R. Page, the Chairman. Commissioner Purington and Dan Wrenn, out-and-out candidates for the Senate, were present, as was also Randall H. White, who seemed to be looking after the interests of the alleged Clough-White combination. Everybody seemed perfectly satisfied, if not delighted, that the Congressional and Senatorial fights were to be kept as far apart as possible.

The newly-organized Republican League of the Second Ward met at No. 363 Wabash avenue last night, elected officers and declared in favor of Aldrich for Congress. The club decided to prepare a ward ticket of Aldrich delegates to the Congressional convention. The officers elected last night were Edward G. Mason, President; E. S. Isham, J. Crerar, John B. Drake, F. D. Gray, and W. R. Page, Vice-Presidents; H. H. Rose, Secretary; Philo A. Otis, Treasurer. The league will meet again Tuesday night.

It is a good deal more than likely that Mr. T. T. Gurney, the Controller, will be the nominee for Congress on the Democratic ticket in the Third District. After the Mayor had declined the nomination yesterday he quietly told members of the committee who waited upon him that he thought Mr. Gurney could be induced to run. He regarded him as a man strong enough to capture all wavering votes and the full strength of the Democratic party. The Mayor regards Mr. Gurney as the best man for Controller, and he would hate to lose him.

The following delegate ticket has been chosen in the interest of Mr. W. H. Harper, of the Fourth Ward, a candidate for Representative in the Second Senatorial District, and will undoubtedly be elected, as it should be, at the Fourth Ward primaries to be held Tuesday evening, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock, at the corner of South Park avenue and Thirty-third street: S. D. Foss, O. D. Wetherell, Anson Gorton, S. H. Sweet, E. G. Buckley, D. H. Hammer, Gilbert Montague, A. D. Eddy, G. W. Couch, M. J. Wilson, B. F. Horton, T. H. Patterson, G. M. Chamberlin, William Garber, Samuel Wright, S. C. Welch.

There was considerable consternation and chagrin created among the Post-Office employés in this city yesterday when they were assessed another 1 per cent of their salaries for political purposes. It was only a short time ago that they were called on to pay Jay Hubbell 2 per cent, and this assessment came without any notice whatever. Every man, woman, and boy employed in the office was simply invited to pay over the 1 per cent forthwith without further ado. To some this was an exceedingly hard deal, inasmuch as it was unanticipated and their salaries were small, while they had many little mouths to feed at home. The letter-carriers loudly protested, and it is said that some of them refused point-blank to fork over.

The refusal of Carter H. Harrison to run for Congress in the Third District has set the sorehead Republicans to thinking. Yesterday afternoon Frank Collier and the Mayor held a private séance, in which Gurney's name was freely used. Subsequently a TRIBUNE reporter called upon George Sherwood, and he touchingly remarked: "We'll find a man." The fact is that the Democrats as well as the "soreheads" are perplexed as to whom they can nominate who will even have a decent following. Mr. Gurney was waited upon last evening by several Republicans, who urged him to become a candidate, pledging him both money for campaign purposes and active support. Mayor Harrison undoubtedly favors Gurney, and it is more than possible that the Democrats will unite upon him.

ART IN CHICAGO.

Two Important Foreign Pictures.

There has been on exhibition for a short time at O'Brien's Art Gallery a painting which has attracted not a little attention from the public in general, who see at a glance the strength, power, and naturalness of a picture wonderful in technique and true to life, telling its own story so simply that no title is needed to explain it. There is not in the large collection of the Exposition a single painting, if we except the delightfully realistic donkeys of De Pratere, so forcible and satisfying as this work, called "Matrimonial Difficulties," by A. Glisenti. It is the story of the first quarrel between a couple of young Swiss peasants whose condition in life is shown at once by their surroundings. The large canvas is occupied by these two figures seated opposit each other at an old deal-table which is guiltless of cloth and very much the worse for wear. The meal has evidently just been concluded, as a dish of the chapest and commonest kind stands empty before the head of the family, and beside the dish are a knife and pewter spoon. The dispute has evidently been a serious one, for the young wife has turned partly around, and, with hands clasped so tightly over the back of her chair that the blood is forced to the finger tips, is resting her chin upon them and rather sadly meditating over the quarrel. The husband's face, on the contrary, wears a grim, determined look that indicates his intention of not being the first to give up. He is right, and he knows it, and he will stick to it forever if necessary. Aside from the sentiment expressed in the well-told story, one cannot but admire the picturesque peasant costumes, subdued, yet strong in color, while the greasy old table, and ragged, rush-bottomed chairs seem to be fairly laughing at the foolish young couple, who have too much goodness in their faces, despite their anger, not to kiss and make up. The great strength of the picture, however, lies in the treatment of the flesh tones. The contrast between the strong, brawny, muscular arms of the man, and the soft, bare, brown arms of the woman, who evidently works out of doors, is well rendered, and the artist's knowledge of anatomy is shown in every swollen vein and strained chord of the arm and hand clasped around the young husband's knee.

Another foreign picture of unusual interest and merit is also to be seen at O'Brien's. It is painted by A. Caddioli, and depicts a scene in the interior of Titian's studio, in which that artist is the central figure. The room is a charming one, luxurious and rich in all its appointments, and the artist having roughly sketched his idea of the painting of his celebrated Venus, and hung the cartoon upon the wall, has arranged everything for the reception of his model. A coach covered with graceful drapery and soft cushions has been prepared, his easel stands beside it, upon the floor lies his palet brilliant with colors. Titian, noble in figure, face, and bearing, is seated in an arm chair beside a lovely golden-haired girl, who has consented to become his model, but after allowing herself to become partially disrobed by her two friends hesitates and laughingly tries to cover her bare shoulders with her hands. The artist is earnestly endeavoring to overcome her scruples and persuade her that it is all right, while her friends look on with amused interest. A beautiful woman is just entering the door, bearing a tray containing refreshments. Her dress and that of the other ladies, including the models, indicate that they are people of wealth and position, and that the perpetuation of the young beauty's charms is the only inducement for their unwonted exposure. The detail and finish of the picture is admirable, and a high price is set upon it.

An Interesting Departure in Decorative Art.

There was established in London some seven or eight years ago what is known as the Royal School of Art, the most perfect institution of its kind in the world. It was founded by the Princess Helena, who desired to assist English gentlewomen in reduced circumstances to become independent and self-sustaining. Only the daughters of officers and other professional men are admitted to its privileges, which are exceptionally fine, the instruction given and designs and material used being far superior to that of any similar school. The embroidery silks and worsteds used are manufactured exclusively for this institution, and are obtainable only through art schools, as the manufacturers are not allowed to supply them to regular dealers, and as they are of the richest shades and finest quality they are considered more desirable than any other make. The designs used are all original and artistic, many of them being by William Morris and Walter Crane. After a sufficient course of instruction those ladies who are thought to be competent to teach are given certificates signed by the Princess, who is the President of this Royal School of Art Needlework, and upon application from other art schools one of their number is sent out to impart the superior instruction which she has herself received.

The Chicago Society of Decorative Art made such an application some time ago, and in response to it there arrived in this city last week from London Miss S. Smith, who comes with the highest recommendations as to her ability to design and execute a very superior class of artistic work. Instruction will be given both in ecclesiastical and secular embroidery, and as the society has recently invested a large sum in materials from the London School of Art, and has the special agency here of what is known as Tiffany goods, they are prepared to supply those who desire the choicest silks, crewels, and textures that are to be obtained. Classes meet for instruction every Monday and Thursday at the rooms of the society, No. 170 State street, and if sufficient applications are received an additional class will be made up on Saturdays, principally for the convenience of teachers and children who are unable to attend on other days.

"The Treasury of the World."

Frank G. Bromley and Frank R. Green are Chicago boys, born within our city limits, and they together have painted a picture of which Chicago may feel proud.

This picture, which is of large size, being six by ten feet, is the result of several months spent in the mountains of Colorado from actual studies of the most painstaking character made lovingly in the cañons and gorges on the cliffs and hights of the most picturesque region of the world. Exact reproduction of individual scenery is the work of the topographer, not the artist, but a faithful fac simile of the character of the region depicted should be the first aim of each. A blending together of the separate incidents of beauty, copied with microscopic care, into one harmonious and homogeneous whole, and forming a composition congruous in all its details is the province of the true artist, and this these Chicago boys have done, producing a painting which, while not giving a survile portrait of any place, so accurately represents the grand features and minuter details of Colorado grandeur as to be equally pleasing to the lover of beauty, the student of geology, the unsophisticated miner, and the cultivated connoisseur. The idea of these young artists was an artistic, original, and poetical one, and they have excellently and faithfully carried it out. They made careful sketches of the most prominent points of interest on Pike's and Long's Peaks, making the true curvatures of outline, the peculiarities of stratification, the capricious forms of the snow patches, the silvery glitter of the graceful streams which trickle, tumble, and break down their sides, and that aerial translucency which bathes the entire landscape. Neither have the brother artists labored after meritorious effect; there is no forcing attention by overloaded sunsets or theatrically-rouged cliffs. The slaughter-house pail and the mustard-pot have been alike ignored. They have chosen a summer's afternoon for their general effect; the sky is blue, with large masses of cumulous clouds, with a heavier one threatening a mountain-storm at the extreme marge of the picture. The far distance shows a peak with its multitudinous varieties of surface sufficiently made out to satisfy the best posted, yet not minute enough to be hard or mechanical. The streams from its sides by well-defined pathways fall into a lake in the mid-distance, which is characteristically concealed by the luxuriance of a plateau. In the foreground rise lofty cliffs of granit, here and there studded with pines, cedars, and tamaracs, while dwarf aspens, maples, and the stunted mountain willow give brilliancy of color to the nearer rocks. These rocks are painted with absolute fidelity to nature, showing the action of currents, of frost, and of time. A stream of living water tenderly touched into amethyst beauty by the declining sun tumbles over bowlders and between rifts into a gloomy chasm the sides of which are here and there gay with flowers indigenous to the mountain range. Taken altogether it is a fine picture, showing technical skill, artistic feeling, and careful study, which must force appreciation. The artists have christened it "The Treasury of the World," and it will from tomorrow be on free exhibition at O'Brien's art gallery on Wabash avenue.

Notes from the Galleries and Studios.

The Academy of Fine Arts will begin its fall term tomorrow morning on the second floor of "D" Battery. A great many of the old pupils have signified their intention of continuing their studies during the coming year, and there have been numerous applications of new pupils, so that the prospect for a large school the coming year is very encouraging. The same teachers that were employed last year, with one or two additions, will continue during the coming year. The evening classes will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday evenings, instead of Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, as last year. It was the intention last spring to have the new building, which is now being erected on Van Buren street, near Michigan avenue, completed in time for the fall term, but owing to the numerous delays in beginning the work it will not be completed until late in the fall. In the meantime the academy will occupy their present quarters in Battery D Building.

Mr. Stornay, who will be pleasantly remembered in connection with the collection of Braun autotypes which he brought to Chicago last spring, has arrived in Philadelphia, bringing with him an important accumulation of art treasures, and writes that he intends to reach Chicago by next Christmas. Mr. Stornay further announces that he has secured for the purposes of exhibition, and will bring to America Munkaczy's great picture, "Christ Before Pilate," for which it was reported the Austrian Government paid $100,000, and again that the French Government bought it for $150,000, but which has really never been offered for sale. The owner, Mr. Sedelmeyer, in Paris, is making a large fortune out of the exhibition of the picture. In Vienna it is said he made $30,000, and in Pesth $20,000. Last summer the picture was placed in the gallery of Agneau in London, and the returns were in two months $60,000. It is now being exhibited in Liverpool, after which it will go to Manchester, Dublin, Birmingham, Glasgow, Edinboro, and next winter in the German cities. One year from this time the picture will be brought to this country by Mr. Stornay, and will be exhibited to the public in all the large cities.

The Soldiers' Monument Association of Baraboo, Wis., has selected the design for a granit monument surmounted by a bronze statue of a soldier, prepared by Mr. Leonard W. Volk, the well-known sculptor of this city. The managers of the association have decided to issue lithographic prints of the monument as finished and with its near surroundings. These will be furnished to the subscribers of the monumental fund at $1 each.

Last week concluded the third week of the Exposition exhibition, and no year has the art gallery attracted so many visitors as the present. The rooms are almost constantly thronged, and in the excellent and varied collection there is something to suit every taste and educate every eye.

ON THE BOARD.

The Hesing Appeal Dismissed by the Supreme Court—A Growl from the Defeated—Yesterday's Markets.

A Springfield dispatch announced that the Supreme Court had decided in the case of Hesing against the Board of Trade in regard to the vacation of La Salle street, that the appeal was dismissed. The first ground for this decision was that the application was a public matter, instituted by the people, the name of Hesing being used merely for the sake of convenience as relator. This gave him no right to appeal the case, as he distinctly denied having any personal interest in the action, but that he was simply acting for the public. The second ground for dismissal was because if an appeal was allowable at all it should have been taken to the Appellate Court instead of the Supreme Court. No other points were referred to in the case.

Mr. E. Roby, attorney for Hesing in this case, was asked yesterday what he thought of this ruling. He said it leaves the case wholly undecided. It merely decides that the relator cannot compel the Attorney-General to proceed in chancery. It leaves all other remedies open. The merits of the case are the right of the Board of Trade or any corporation or person to occupy La Salle street—a public thoroughfare.

"What are the other remedies?"

"At any time any Attorney-General or State's-Attorney can file such an information or any private person can procure an indictment of the nuisance and so remove the obstruction from the public streets, or it may be that the bill of A. C. Hesing now pending in the Superior Court may accomplish this same result."

"Does the second ground for the decision give an opportunity to take the case into the Appellate Court?"

"Can't say that it does until I have seen the text of the order."

"Does this decision end the case?"

"No. This was only an experiment. It is not a good plan to leave a case untried, and so far the merits of the case have been entirely untried in any decision that has yet been rendered. It is quite possible that this is a country governed by men, and not by laws. That it is a Government of officers, and no individual or any protection for any public right which he enjoys in common with all the other people of the State, except by the favor of those who happen to be elected to office. It is a common remark that the masses of the people have no rights. That heavy money powers can do as they please, and through technical appliances of the law can prevent the mass of the people from any remedy. This case may be one of that character—one that proves the truth of the assertion. In the Union Building Association case, decided last March, the court said that it might be admitted that the taking of the street was illegal, but as that association was only injured as one of the body of the people it could not, in its own name, maintain a bill for any injunction to prevent the illegal act.

HAS ANY SHARE IN THE GOVERNMENT,

In this case just decided the court seems to hold that the individual citizen has no right to set the prosecutor in motion; but that if any body of men or any railroad company choose to plunder the State or violate the rights of all the citizens they have only to make their peace with the prosecuting officers, and the people of the State are entirely powerless. Whether we shall conclude to let the case rest in this position, or attempt to obtain the enforcement of the law, we have abundant leisure to determine."

Mr. John R. Bensley, of the Board of Real-Estate Managers, said he considered this decision of the Supreme Court as final—as an absolute settlement so far as relates to the vacation of La Salle street.

The granit for the new building is being turned out rapidly by the quarrymen in the East.

THE MARKETS YESTERDAY.

The September wheat deal was closed yesterday. The quantity defaulted on was estimated at 320,000 bushels, of which it is expected that a good portion will be squared up without resorting to a committee. The price for September wheat was $1.07, and late $1.08 was bid by the clique. There was some complaining, but several dealers seemed to think the price was not exorbitant, saying Mr. McGeoch might easily have run it up to $1.15 if he had wanted to. Mr. McGeoch himself says he absolutely hated to go into the deal, and tried hard to have the shorts cover at prices under a dollar, but they wouldn't. He declares all those who refuse to settle will be spotted, and he will never make a trade with any of them again. The deliveries of cash wheat were placed at about 400,000 bushels, which, with the stock in store, is supposed to be in the hands of those alleged to have run the deal. The puzzle now is how they will get rid of this property without loss.

Mr. William Dunn has returned from his trip over the Northern Pacific Railroad. He reports that the yield of wheat in that section will fall below recent estimates, estimating the average at fifteen to twenty bushels.

W. T. Baker and D. A. Driver & Co. each filled in a lot of 100,000 bushels September wheat yesterday at $1.08, the top price of the day.

Leopold Bloom bought 20,000 barrels February pork yesterday at $19 per barrel. It is said to have involved a loss of 30 cents a barrel on a sale made earlier in the week.

C. A. Raymond has arrived home from his tour in the Adirondacks.

PROF. DAVID SWING.

What the Central Church Pastor Observed During His European Tour.

No Religion in France, and Nothing to Speak Of in London.

The London Newspapers—Napoleon's Tomb—Prince Albert Memorial Church.

Prof. Swing returned from Europe Wednesday, and will preach at the Central Church this morning.

"My health is tolerable," said he to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday, "but not completely restored. I come back a little better than when I went away, and I hope to get straightened out in a week or two."

"Did you enjoy the trip on the ocean?"

"The passage over was beautiful. A great many people were seasick coming home on account of the strong winds and rolling, but I was not sick either way. Going across the ocean is simply a luxury—about like staying in a hotel for eight days."

"Where did you go?"

"First to London, and staid there a while. Then to Paris, where I remained about two weeks investigating everything. Then back to London, and, after two weeks there, during which time I visited all the places of interest in and about the city, I went to Edinburg, and made that city headquarters for two weeks while doing Scotland."

"What do you think of the effete monarchies?"

"They are pretty nice. France is a Republic, you know, and England virtually so. I found everywhere great civility and order. No beggars were to be seen, and in the six weeks I was not able to detect any case of swindling on the part of hackmen or anybody else."

"Did you see any of the great Englishmen?"

"No. They were all out of the city, as it was their vacation period. I was surprised to find that Gladstone and the others were off fishing just like Americans—fishing for salmon or trout—or in the highlands shooting grouse. I suppose nine-tenths of the distinguished clergymen and lawyers were out, as we say, hunting, or fishing, or summering."

"You visited the House of Commons?"

"Yes, and heard very poor speaking—nothing like as good as we have in America. And the same is true of the pulpit."

"You went to church?"

"Yes. I found no religion in France. The churches were empty, and in London not much better."

"WHAT OF THE THEATRES?"

"They are conducted on what might be called the parlor plan. Each theatre is an elegant parlor really. Ladies sell the tickets, and lady ushers lead you to your seat just as in a private house. The theatres and opera-houses in London and Paris are like a private concert at Mrs. Field's or Mrs. George M. Pullman's. The ladies sit without their bonnets on, and conversation is carried on in whispers. There is a certain refinement and elegance in France and England that is not seen in America generally. But the tickets are very high—always $2.50 in any good theatre."

"How did you like the London method of conveyance?"

"It is excellent. One or two persons can go anywhere within a mile for a shilling, or two miles for 1s. 6d.—about 36 cents. There ought to be a similar cab system in Chicago, as it is a most perfect system of transportation. There are street-cars, but they don't seem to be so popular as they are in America on account of the cabs."

"And the railways?"

"They would be perfection if they had the American cars. Their cars are objectionable—little couped-up things; but the tracks never cross a wagon road on the same level—they either go under or over it—so there is no danger of accidents, and the trains run into the heart of London over houses or through tunnels as fast as out in the country. On almost any trip they make thirty-five or forty miles an hour."

"Are their hotels any better than they used to be?"

"Yes; the great rush of Americans abroad has compelled them to build beautiful hotels. There has been a perfect revolution in them during the last two or three years, and now there are houses like the Windsor in New York in Paris, London, and Edinburg."

"How did you like their buildings?"

"They are simply a little better than ours—would average better. They have better colleges and better libraries, as they put more money into such things than the people of this country."

"You looked at the newspapers?"

"It has been claimed that those of London do not give as much attention to fires and dog-fights as the Chicago papers, but I read them over carefully to see, and I couldn't discover a particle of difference in that respect. Our

PAPERS ARE JUST AS GOOD

as the London papers of the highest orders. The London dailies will devote just as much space to a fire, or a dog-fight, or a man-fight as THE TRIBUNE; and, indeed, I saw in one of the London papers an article that THE TRIBUNE would not have published. It said: 'We are sorry to learn that the Duke of Gloucester suffered a misfortune the other evening of having some villainous man go into his park and cut off five inches of the tail of one of his best cows.' That was worked up with a good deal of sensation. It was a pity the law couldn't reach such rascals, etc. The space devoted to five inches of cow's tail was equal to about two squares of THE TRIBUNE. There is the same human nature over there as here. Everybody wants to know the particulars of every little thing. In fact, I am willing to say that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is twice as good as any English or European journal."

"What was the most impressive thing you saw?"

"The tomb of Napoleon, under the dome of a church."

"And the most beautiful?"

"The chapel built by the Queen in memory of the Prince Consort. It is at Windsor Castle, and is a small building, perhaps 40x60 feet, but cost $3,000,000. The floors, and walls, and ceilings are of marble, on which are pictures of the important scenes in the history of religion, both in the Bible and out of it."

"How did the people as a whole strike you?"

"They are dull compared with Americans—not full of observation. It is perfectly vain to ask a Frenchman or an Englishman what such or such a thing is. Traveling between Paris and London I was in the same carriage with a nice Frenchman. I saw some men, as I supposed, digging up peat on the road, cutting out black blocks and piling them up. I said to him, 'I suppose that is peat.' He said, 'No. Black bricks are fashionable now, and I think they are digging up black clay to make black bricks.' I found that he had been going between London and Paris two or three years, and yet never knew those men were taking out peat. I asked an Englishman if American reapers were much used, and he said no, though he believed there were a few in the country. Going from London to Edinburg, I saw thousands of them. The people are quieter than Americans. Each one

ATTENDS STRICTLY TO HIS OWN BUSINESS.

There is no universal information among them, and they don't desire it. The man who sells tickets at the station doesn't known when the train starts; and if you ask the proprietor of a hotel he refers you to the porter. I found law and order to be remarkable. The people are so accustomed to law that it seems to a visitor that he is in some kind of a military school, where all are going according to some fixed program."

"Do Englishmen like America?"

"The aristocracy of England try to give the least possible attention to America, and their particular papers say little about it, but the common people are full of America, and in all the common churches where I went the minister prayed earnestly for the President of the United States and for the 'Nation so tied to us by literature, history, and religion.' It was wonderful what prayers were offered there for the United States; but go into a cathedral, and America would not be mentioned."

BUSINESS PERSONALS.

PERSONAL—HER ROYAL HIGHNESS the Princess Louise wishes me to convey to Prof. De La Banta her extreme gratitude since having been induced to examine the merits of his toilet preparation placed at her disposal while in Chicago. Her Majesty has deemed it advisable to rarely recognize such favors, much less accord them special mention; but owing to his high reputation, the marked value of his book, "Advice to Ladies," and the exceptional quality of such articles as were kindly submitted to her consideration, she is not only prompted to this digression, but glad to acknowledge such evident merit. He will kindly pardon the delay in this recognition, and accept the sincere thanks of Her Majesty, THE PRINCESS LOUISE,
Per Count Farington, K. R. G. S. S. D. L. D.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 22, 1882.
Ladies have but to note the flattering encomium from the above distinguished source to be justified in overcoming natural pejudices against my profession, methods, and preparations. My Skin Bleacher and Fat Stimulant, my Developer, Permanent Depilatory, Tiger Lily, sold by all druggists. Bernhardt Beautifiers, Rouge Pencils, Hair Invigorator, Color and Bleacher, Black-head Lotion, Spanish Wrinkle Balm, and my great Pimple Lotion, which never fails, with many others are marvelous, and the prices reasonable. Consultation free. Ladies exquisitely made up for parties, weddings, the stage, etc. Call or address Palmer House, parlor floor. Follow halls from elevator to the right to 117. DE LA BANTA.

PERSONAL—BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXions, charming, delightful, winning, fascinating, brilliant, natural, and permanent, produced by using Dupree's "Oil of Beauty," the incomparable skin-beautifier. It has no rival; none question its efficacy. The free test proves it. Ladies, come and try it free. A complexion clear, white, smooth, pure, and bewitchingly attractive is your reward for using "Oil of Beauty."
Laboratory and reception-rooms, lady attendants, 167 South Clark-st.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES.

A LADY GOING TO EUROPE WILL sell her beautiful brown mare Bashaw Maid for $300; she cost $850 one year ago, at which time she showed three heats in 2:31, 2:29, and 2:28¾; she is warranted to show all her heats below 2:30 or better, and warranted sound and kind. She was sired by Young Bashaw, son of Grand Bashaw, dam Kate Thorn, by Mambrino Chief, sire of the Great Lady Thorn. Bashaw Maid is 7 years old, 15¼ hands high, has fine form and finish, showing her fine breeding; is a very free and pleasant driver, fears nothing, wears no boots, never had any training for speed, but is a natural trotter. Owner has driven her the past year, and to procure her a good home is more an object than price. Will not deal with horse-jockeys. Call at owner's residence, 1234 Michigan-av., near Twelfth-st.

ATTENTION! SLEIGHS—WE PREsent this year the largest and finest stock of any previous year of two-seated (Russian style), speed, swelled-side, jump-seat, and Portland sleighs. We have spared neither time nor expense to present them to the public in first-class style. Our prices are reasonable. We sell at wholesale and retail, and invite all to give us a call before purchasing.

GOLD SPECTACLES AND EYE-GLASSes; single pairs below wholesale cost, and adjusted to the eyesight by retiring optician. 147 Randolph-st., Room 6, after 12 noon.

LOOK WITH ALL YOUR EYES. YOU do not want to pay your money out for an art that will avail you nothing, either as an accomplishment or for a business. You do not believe you can learn how to paint a beautiful picture in water-colors with but one lesson. You do not believe any one can earn $10 per day with the Russian art. The remarks above are what we are used to hearing daily. Now, then, if you want to make $10 per day and want the accomplishment of the day, do not say it can't be done; you don't believe it, etc.; but come and see us fairly and squarely, and inquire of us how it can be that with no knowledge of painting or drawing you can learn how to paint in water-colors with but one lesson. How can you earn $10 per day, etc. We will tell you all this with pleasure. You take no risk; if you are not satisfied do not pay. We guarantee satisfaction. Try it; if you cannot paint the pictures equally as good as those on exhibition by the Russian Art Company do not pay us one cent. If you want a business where you can be your own master, and have plenty of easy work at home that will pay you $10 daily, come and see us, we will show and tell you how it can be done. No canvassing; no dirty work. Learn how to paint pictures in water-colors with but one lesson. Teach it to others. Paint pictures of your friends, and decorate your home with pictures painted by your own hands. Do not wait too long. We may go South, then you will say, Oh, I did not know they were going away; I wish I had not waited so long, etc. We know all about it; people will procrastinate, but remember we tell you right here that the time is limited, and if you want to learn the Russian art of painting pictures in water-colors with but one lesson you must do so soon. We have no branch, and no agents. Call and see specimens at the only and original office of the Russian Art Company, corner State and Madison-sts. Elevator, 75 Madison-st., Room 36. Open Sunday from 10:30 to 1.

SCENES IN IRELAND.

Wretched Tools and Cabins of the Peasants—Children and Crows.

An Officer's Description of a Man-Hunt, and His Distaste for the Work.

Correspondence New York World.

DUBLIN, Sept. 18.—In riding along in the train from Queenstown to Dublin one is struck, as one looks out of the window of the car upon this new-old country, by two things: the fields are exceedingly small, and the crows are very numerous. The land has been cut up by stone-walls and hedges to that extent that it has the appearance of being divided into a series of little patches of ground, any one of which might be cultivated, one would think, in less than half a day. These patches or plots of ground—I cannot call them fields—generally have in them two men and one woman, or four men and two women; the proportion appears to always be the same. These people are working with the most forsaken-looking hoes any man ever saw. Alongside of these the hoes which used to be employed in the large plantations in the South before the War, heavy and cumbrous as they were, were miracles of invention and progress.

THE IRISH HOE

appears to consist of a handle in which there is timber enough to insure strength at any rate, and a blade about four inches wide, heavy and cumbrous to the last degree, and fixed to the handle in the same way that a pickax is put on, by sliding it down until the bulge at the end of the handle prevents it going any farther. With such a tool, hoeing in the ordinary sense becomes an impossibility, and all that one can do is to chop, chop, chop at the land as though he were endeavoring to slowly hammer it into a state in which the sowing of seed would be possible. It was enough to make one feel tired to see these men and women swinging these miserable tools up in the air and bringing them down again against the surface of the ground which was being "cultivated." The result in proportion to the labor was so pitiably small, so miserably inadequate, that one felt as though the work must produce in the minds of the workers that feeling of almost despair which always comes from labor that amounts to nothing. Yet hour after hour and day after day the peasantry of Ireland keep up this everlasting chopping in order to make the soil yield food and rent.

Generally in one corner of one of these little plots of ground was situated, if any were there at all,

THE CABIN OF THE WORKERS.

Fancy to yourself a low hut made apparently out of mud or earth, the doorway coming up to the eaves, yet so low that a man of ordinary hight was obliged to stoop on entering. The roof, with its steep pitch covered with old thatch, in many places is marked a bright green with moss. The cabin is generally built at the base of some little hill—a most excellent arrangement, insuring the drainage of the hill-side into the cabin itself. The yard, or whatever the inclosure around the cabin may be called, looks as though it had not been cleaned up within the memory of man. In this yard there might be a pig or a goat, or possibly, if the man was well off, a donkey. The pig and the goat roam uneasily around searching for food; but the donkey stands with lowered head and sorrowful mien, patiently waiting for better days! If there should happen to be one place higher than another in the yard, this is selected as the proper spot to pile the manure; and the drainage from this forms a pool generally in front of the door. Sometimes the cabin has a window; but oftener there is none, and light and air come in through the open door. This door, in order that nothing may stand in the way of two of Heaven's gifts for which no rent is paid, is about as ramshackle a concern as can be imagined, and, when it is what is by courtesy called shut, the ventilation is quite as good as when it is open. On top of the cabin is the chimney, built apparently of the same mud-deposit which furnished the materials for the cabin itself. From the outside it has an appearance as though the attraction of gravitation had at one time been too strong for it, although a sense of duty saved it before it was too late. From this chimney curls a light blue smoke, almost colorless, telling of the smoldering peat-fire upon the hearth inside.

In front of the cabins are

THE CHILDREN.

Little things of 7 are lugging their baby brothers and sisters around in their arms—the babies being so nearly the size of their nurses that the sight would be ludicrous were it not so pitiable. Sometimes you see them playing together, and their play is, that they are being evicted! Babies march up and order other babies to quit the corner of the yard which they have made the house; and these in turn resist and fight—good humoredly. But the children who are playing are all very young; for when they are old enough, say 9 or 10, they must begin their apprenticeship at the chop, chop, chop which is to fill up so large a portion of their lives. The train stops near one of these cabins, and the children cease their play and begin to beg: "A copper, sor, for the love o' th' blissed Virgin!" Rags such as never I saw represent their clothing. They are dirty; they wear no shoes; their hair is unkempt; they have a pinched look, as though they were hungry; yet in many cases they are very pretty. The deep blue eyes and the white teeth are beauties which even squalor and misery cannot hide.

I began this letter by saying that one was struck while riding through the country by the vast quantities of

CROWS.

And this is but the truth. Many as are the small plots of ground which the people dignify by the name of fields, it seems as if there was a flock of crows for each. You do not lose sight of one flock before seeing another, and it is not at all uncommon to see two or three flocks at the same time. Owing to the fact, I suppose, that, judging from the clothes they wear, the people want all the rags that can be procured for themselves, there seems to be a difficulty about getting up scarecrows. At least those I saw were the ghastliest parodies upon scarecrows that can be imagined. A respectable scarecrow in America would feel ashamed of associating with such disrebutable-looking brethren; and certainly no crow with any self-respect would permit himself to be humbugged by such looking things. This enormous increase in the number of crows is the direct result of disarming the people, because the farmers who would keep them down have no guns to shoot them with. Of course it would be wildly absurd to claim that a people should be allowed to carry arms—supposing, of course, that there is good and sufficient reason for the disarming of them—simply to keep down the crows. But, with so many thousands of these birds flying about, it must be that the loss in grain is by no means light. The crows seemed fat, too.

At the time of the unveiling of O'Connell's statue I had a talk with a young officer in one of the regiments stationed in Ireland, who had come to Dublin for the celebration. He gave me a better idea than ever I had before of demanded of the regiments here, and of the feelings of the officers about that work. "I am stationed in County ——," he said, "and I have commanded a troop there. Four nights in the week I have to take my men out, and ride after the constabulary under the leadership of some magistrate, hunting for men with arms. Now, in the first place, we make noise enough to let any man within a mile know we are coming, and the magistrates are never satisfied unless we come out with all the jingle it is possible to make. We ride around for two or three, or may be four, hours, and then we go back to barracks, not having seen, much less caught, any man with arms or anything like them. The man who would allow himself to be caught under such circumstances would be little less than a fool. It is a fact that nearly all the men there are armed, or at least have guns, though the game is almost exterminated. But we never catch any of them, and never will. To tell you the truth, I am sick and tired of the work."

THE KIND OF WORK

"How do the people look upon these man-hunts?"

"How do you suppose they look upon them? They hate us with a bitterness of hatred that cannot be described. And I do not wonder. Of course, if it became necessary in the way of discipline to fire upon those people, I would order my men to do so, and they would obey. But the fact of the matter is, that many, and in fact most, of the rows which take place are brought about by the constabulary, or the magistrates, or the landlords and their agents. They treat the people as

THOUGH THEY HAD NO RIGHTS AT ALL.

If I were in the place of those people, I would fight just as they do, only I would fight a great deal sooner. We soldiers see all this, and we see how the people are treated. I know lots of fellows who have resigned rather than stay in Ireland, and if I could do the same I would. The work of 'suppressing' the people, as the magistrates call it, is the most distasteful you can imagine. It is not soldiering—it's only doing police duty; and I for one would welcome a transfer anywhere to get away from it. Half the time the magistrates want us to fire when there is no more cause for it than there would be for me to fire at you now. It's a horrible thing, firing at people who can only throw stones at you in return; and I do not enjoy shooting down a crowd when I believe that the people in that crowd have only done what I would do were I in their places. I'll fight, of course—that's my profession; but I do not like butchering people because some frightened landlord or magistrate sees fit to read the Riot act."

I thought this, as told to me, was worth the telling again. ALFRED BALCH.

UNNOTICED SEWER-GAS

enters all dwellings, promoting general indisposition, impaired appetite, malaria, and all sorts of diseases which frequently defy remedial aid. No mechanical device can effectually keep it out at all times. Surgeon Sternberg, U. S. A., officially states that the smell of carbolic acid in a foul privy is of no account, as it takes an enormous quantity to do any good. The chemicals used in the germicide are powerful and practically odorless. They do not deodorize, but actually prevent the necessity of disinfection.

REGULAR TRADE SALES
Tuesday, Oct. 3, 9:30 a. m., and Thursday, Oct. 5, 9:30 a. m.

Both these sales will be again very thoroughly assorted with goods that are especially in immediate demand. We have some large stocks just received from manufacturers that they are very anxious we should place at once, and the various lines include many new things in addition to the usual classes of merchandise generally found upon our bars. In many particulars these sales will be more than ordinarily attractive. The season for selling is now at hand, and our instructions are imperative to dispose of all consignments as rapidly as possible; and we desire to say in this connection that our Thursday's sales are fully as attractive and important to the trade as any we make, and, moreover, the lines sold Thursday are in many respects essentially different from the lines of Tuesday, from the fact that our consignments cover more classes of goods than we are able to offer in any one day.

THE CHRIST PICTURE.

Were it only a myth thin wove
On a lost world's threadbare Hope,
Which could but our longing prove
With the tyrant death to cope,
Still it were sweetest, best,
Of dreams dreamed under the sun,
Making men's lives to be blest,
By making men's hearts to be one.
There sorrow and gladness meet,
And the crossing of wills is there,
And the living that makes death sweet,
And the dying that makes life dear.
There at the foot of the Cross,
In the perfect type of His kind,
Man learns his gain in a loss,
And his loss in a gain to find.
The life that is freely spent,
And eager itself to give,
To bring to a brother content—
In a love like this men live.
While the life that itself would save,
Setting self all things above,
Dies, ere it reaches the grave,
In the dismal dearth of love.
—London Spectator.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCILS.

THOSE RECENTLY HELD AT NEW HAVEN AND QUINCY.

Hartford Courant, Sept. 27.

The council called to meet in New Haven for the examination and installation of the Rev. Newman Smyth, D. D., over the First Congregational church in that city, and the council called to meet in Quincy, Ill., for the examination and ordination of the Rev. Mr. Thayer as pastor there, have been anticipated with eager interest and no little anxiety by many people, both ministers and laymen. It was felt that, as the questions which were to come before the councils were of vital interest in the theological discussions of our time, so their deliberations and decisions would be of the utmost importance as defining or indicating the limitations of freedom for variations of belief among Congregational clergymen in good and regular standing in their denomination. As regards the New Haven council, little doubt was entertained of its conclusions by those who remembered how victoriously the long struggle between Dr. Bushnell and his opponents terminated on the side of freedom, and what numerous precedents for a broad construction of doctrinal standards are to be found in the history of Connecticut Congregationalism. But there was more doubt in the result in the council at Quincy. There a previous council had been held which was evenly divided for and against the candidate, and which was only prevented from coming to a negative majority of one by the vote of Dr. Newman Smyth, himself a theological "suspect." There, too, by the letter-missive convening the council, the "question of liberty within the Congregational lines" was distinctly raised for determination, so that the decision must regard not only the person of the candidate but the principles of the denomination. It will be seen that in such a case there must be grave elements of uncertainty as to the conclusions that might be reached.

Our readers—such of them as have any interest in these matters—need not to be informed that the "burning questions" on which these assemblies were called to deliberate and decide are such as pertain to the doctrine of human probation, future punishment, atonement, and the inspiration of the Bible, and that public interests centres chiefly in the discussion of the first two of these doctrines. During the last quarter of a century the conviction has been gaining ground in evangelical circles that the traditional doctrine of probation is wise above what is written in the Scriptures. A large number of English theologians, Anglican and Nonconformist, have refused to limit the term of probation for all men alike, at death. There is nothing in the standards of the Episcopal church to forbid or discourage such a position, and many of its leading clergy have stood there. Among the Congregational ministers of this country the same opinion has been gaining favor of late, until it is claimed by intelligent observers that the number of those who occupy this position is very great, and comprises many of the leading preachers of the denomination, and not a few of the scholarly and orthodox men who occupy chairs in colleges and seminaries.

Their position requires definition. They do not hold future or continued probation as a part of Christian doctrine, nor do they advocate or encourage the preaching of it. They merely affirm its possibility in many cases, and refuse to assent to the old doctrine which rigidly, and universally, and (as they think) unwarrantably limits the term of probation to this period of earthly life. They hold the question of continued probation as an open question.

Little need now be said of Dr. Newman Smyth, whose name has been before the public for many months in connection with the Andover controversy, and whose books have been widely read at home and abroad. We are credibly informed that two of the Bishops of the Anglican Church have taken special pains during the last summer to commend his books as most valuable and helpful restatements of Christian doctrine. On what evasive grounds the Board of Visitors for Andover Seminary negatived his appointment there by a bare majority, after his warm indorsement by the faculty and trustees of that institution, is well known. Then the old historic church of New Haven called him to its pastorate. The "Old South" in Boston was eager to secure him. He accepted the call to New Haven, and last week was examined and approved by a council comprising all the Congregational Churches in New Haven, several old churches elsewhere, and such eminent men as Profs. Porter, Fisher, Dwight, Harris, Barbour, and Egbert Smyth, of Andover.

Let us record his own declarations on the questions that were prominent:

> That the present dispensation ends with the day of judgment; that the world age is a time of probation, and that every person born has one sufficient probation under the conditions of grace; that the end of probation is the day of judgment, which day of judgment for the individual is his confirmed self-determination in good or evil; that the end of probation of the individual is not and cannot be in any outward circumstance, temporal accident or physical change like the death of the body; that the conditions of eternal life are offered in the Gospel, and that whosoevr willfully rejects them is in danger of the sin against the Holy Ghost which is never forgiven; that if sufficient probation is not furnished in the world to infants, idiots, antediluvians, some heathen and children who have no moral chance, God will provide some probation in Hades—I can but believe Christ's preaching to certain spirits warrants this assertion; that a logical deduction of the Biblical doctrine of the atonement permits me no authority to offer any time but now for repentance, but that Christ may have opportunities unrevealed to us; of what constitutes this probation we are not the judges, but God shall judge; that the obligations of Christian missions rest on the commandment of God, will increase as our conception of God's love increases, and that the cause is not to be bound up with extra-scriptural limitations of God's mercy; that such terms as "endless time," "everlasting duration," are permissibly expressive of the finality and permanence of the judgment, but not of that eternity which transcends comprehension. I do not accept the burdens imposed on this faith by the traditions of men, adding vain and imaginary views of eternal life; I cannot believe in annihilation—the question how far moral personality is self-vacated I am content to leave until the future for an answer; I cannot find that there will be a reconciliation of all evil to God; I think that Jesus leaves open as a danger the final rejection of the Holy Spirit; I would preach the possible, verifiable, moral elements of retribution and be content with a humble reverence and reserve as to the last things, of which there can be only negative conceptions—God has not chosen to reveal them to us now.

The significant fact, to be pondered, is that after such a statement the council there convened, with one single vote in the negative, voted to approve and install Dr. Smyth over the leading Congregational church in Connecticut.

The church in Quincy is less widely known than that in New Haven, and the Rev. Mr. Thayer has not made such a name or attracted such attention as Dr. Smyth. He is vouched for as a gentleman of good ability and character, who has enjoyed the good training of a journalist for some years.

The council that was first summoned to examine him came to an even division. Newman Smyth's voice saved him from a negative vote. In such a state of suspension the church wisely determined to call another and much larger council in which no member of the previous council should participate. Obviously enough, there would be much deep feeling here and there. Many felt that this man must not be approved. The trouble with him was, as with Dr. Smyth and others—on the questions of probation chiefly. The second council was in session two days. On the second day, and while the session was in progress, the telegraph brought news of Dr. Smyth's approval at New Haven. It may be surmised that such a telegram would carry some light with it.

The Quincy Whig gives a full report of the examination, from which we make a few extracts:

> Upon the issue of the atonement there was a prolonged investigation. Mr. Thayer held substantially that the coming of Christ, His life and suffering, and His crucifixion, were the carrying out and the consummation of a purpose in behalf of humanity; that the death of Jesus was not demanded by God as punishment for the sins of the world, but that Christ made the sacrifice of life, suffering, and death in behalf of sinners. The atonement would not have been complete without the death and resurrection. Mr. Thayer, however, would not set up any dogma as to consequences had not this purpose of the life and character of Christ been carried to its fruition.

Touching the time of probation and the possibility of repentance after death, Mr. Thayer expressed himself unequivocally that all persons are given a fair opportunity of repentance "either here or hereafter," and "that all mankind will, at some time, be given full opportunity for salvation."

Being asked if he had modified his views since the meeting of the previous council, the candidate answered distinctly, "In no respect!"

Of what transpired in the secret session of the council nothing is positively known outside its membership, except that there was a "prolonged and animated discussion." But the result was not again even division, but substantial agreement. It was a decision on two points: First, on the point of approving or disapproving Mr. Thayer as a candidate for ordination to the ministry of a Congregational church; and, second, on the point of "the question of liberty within Congregational lines."

The decision and deliverance of the council on the first and chief point reads as follows:

> Resolved, That this council, having examined the Rev. Frederick A. Thayer in his Christian character and theological opinions, approve him as a brother of undoubted Christian character, of sincerity in the Gospel ministry; and judging by his written statement and its subsequent explanation as holding theological views in substantial harmony with the faith of the Congregational churches. And, while not accepting all his speculations, we unanimously recommend his installation over this church.

This resolution, in such a case, of such a council, can scarcely be overestimated as to its importance. Here, again, comments are uncalled for. He who runs may read and understand. He who tarries and looks a little closely may read a whole history, and considerable prophecy, too, between the lines.

Having made this deliverence on the personal question, there was little need of any further deliverence on the abstract question of "Liberty within Congregational lines." The whole is greater than any part. But it may have been felt to be a necessity to touch that question in such a way as to comfort the souls of some brethren who had come into the previous agreement as by a violent wrench. And so, on the second point, it was resolved:

> That the letter missive calling this council having raised the question of liberty within Congregational lines, we hereby declare our conviction that the area of such liberty is bounded by the supreme authority of the Holy Scripture. We would further express our conviction that the Scriptures do not teach the doctrine of a future or second probation.
> Resolved, That we do not understand the Rev. F. A. Thayer to teach the doctrine thus disapproved.

And Mr. Thayer, who had "in no respect" changed his views since half the members of a large council, including such men as Drs. Goodell and Goodwin, had voted him inadmissibly heretical, was approved and installed by a much larger council "holding theological views in substantial harmony with the faith of the Congregational churches," and it was declared by the same council that the "area of liberty within such [Congregational] lines is bounded by the supreme authority of the Holy Scriptures."

We leave comment and criticism to the religious newspapers, contenting ourselves with putting before our readers such a statement of these cases, in their true relations, as will enable them to judge of their full importance and true bearing. That the "area of liberty within Congregational lines" has received considerable enlargement, few will doubt.

A NEW THEORY OF HELL.

ONLY THOSE DAMNED WHO DAMN THEMSELVES.

The New York Independent (an orthodox Congregational organ) submits to its readers a few of Prof. Franz Delitzsch's positions:

> The spirit of man cannot possibly die in the same sense as the body. Such a death is inconsistent with its nature and its origin. It cannot be dissolved into its primitive elements, for it is not composed of elements. Nor can it be annihilated, for it is of direct Divine source. It is conceivable that God might, without actually destroying it, reduce it to a state of unconsciousness; but that He does not do this, even when the soul is past all hope of redemption, is evident from His not doing it in the case of the lost angels.
> The sin of Satan was direct, and effected a total obduration, an entire extinction of the Divine image in him. The first sin of man was indirect, and effected but a partial extinction of the Divine image. And so long as the human soul has not yet proceeded to such an intensity of sin as entirely to have obliterated the image of God it is still redeemable.
> The words of the creed, "He descended into hell," are no Romish myth. Christ descended into Hades, the intermediate state, and presented Himself to the collective body of departed spirits as the Prince of Life. The pious dead saw Him as their Redeemer, the hardened sinners as their Judge, and to that vast multitude who had passed from life without entire addiction to sin He preached the Gospel and offered redemption.
> The resurrection bodies of the lost will not be pneumatic, but only psychic and fleshly. They will be devoid of all those qualities which could serve to hide the inner hatred and disorder of the lost soul.
> But does not the perpetuity of a world of evil spirits conflict with the Christian doctrine of the "restoration of things"? If the whole creation were but a single creature this might be so; but, as it consists of an infinity of personal individuals, it suffices to vindicate God's sovereignty, that all those who have realized their ideal be gathered into the kingdom of love, while such as have definitly resisted all the approaches of grace, and have thus destroyed themselves, are relegated to the realm of night, where they can no longer harm or disturb. Thus God is, in fact, "all in all." The right has conquered. Evil is shut up within bounds. There is no need that evil should be annihilated in order that, as with the six days of creation, so the six days of human history may also be pronounced a complete success. On the contrary, both anthropological, psychological, and ethical considerations call for the possibility of an eternal damnation; for, as man cannot be saved by force, it must be possible for the will to hold definitively fast to its imbenitence, to reject forever all grace, and thus to prefer its eternal damnation. Nor does this possibility of an ever-during impenitence imply an eternal possibility of repentance; for experience shows clearly that evil, when persisted in beyond a certain point, assumes the form of an unchangeable natural necessity. Within definit limits a turning point, a conversion is yet possible, provided that gracious outer conditions concur with the inner effort of the sin-bound soul; but, in the nature of the case, there must occur a point in the growth in evil beyond which all possibility of change ceases, and, though we dare not arbitrarily fix this point at any stage within time (e. g., at the hour of bodily death), yet we are forced to place it this side of the definitive consummation of the world's history. So long as time is not as yet swallowed up in eternity, the conversion of sinners must be possible; for the true Christian conception of time is that it is a condition of probation and of grace. So long, therefore, as the sinner is within the limits of time he is under the merciful forbearance of God. But when not simply this or that portion of time, but time in general has ceased—that is, when both the earthly life time is over and also the whole period of the intermediate state has terminated—and when the general resurrection and the transformation of physical creation shall be complete, then it is impossible to conceive any remaining possibility of conversion in those who have resisted all previous influences of grace. Surely, by this time, the nature of such as shall remain impenitent will have become so obdurate that no possible advance of grace would weken in them any response. Hence, any such fruitless advance of grace will not be made, and the sinner will remain under the doom which he has definitly chosen.
> This possible eternal continuance of evil is a great stumbling block to human reason. We are constantly tempted to imagine this or that escape out of the uncomfortable dualism. Let reason do this as it may see fit, but let it not pervert the Scriptures. The Bible teaches the eternal personal existence of all personal creatures.
> But how are we to conceive of the eternal existence of the saved and the lost? It will not be a monotonous standstill. The blessed are rooted in the ever-enduring life of God. This divine life is to them an eternal present throughout all eons of eons. There is no past which they will wish back, and no future which they would prefer to their present. Their present is the presence of God. To be without this presence and to endure this lack forever is of itself the hellish torment of the damned.
> All who are not clothed in the glorious light forms of the resurrection to life are sunken away under the wrath forms of night; and in the darkness of this night they live forth a self-consuming life, a life which is as if it were not (ein wie nichtseien des Leben).

Dr. Delitzsch agrees with Rothe in regarding the pains of hell as the inherent effects of sin. He damns only those who damn themselves, an outrageous, deliberate, definitive rejection of every conceivable approach of Divine grace.

ALLEGED APOSTACY.

PROF. E. P. GOULD RETIRED FROM THE NEWTON THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION.

New York Tribune.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—The orthodox religious community is again agitated over the alleged apostacy of a prominent divine, whose case somewhat resembles that of the Rev. Newman Smith. This time it is the Baptists whose nerves have been put on edge.

The Journal says: A paragraph which appeared recently in a religious weekly announced that Prof. E. P. Gould had retired from the chair of New Testament Interpretation at the Newton Theological Institution. In connection with the history of this matter it is necessary to say that a by law of the Institution provides that the several departments shall be entirely independent of each other, the heads of the departments holding equal rank as regards their teaching, and the President, who is one of them, exercises the functions of that office only as regards the external conduct of affairs and the regulation of matters other than those pertaining to the doctrines to be taught.

The first intimation which Prof. Gould says he had of any movement to depose him was in June last, when the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees recommended at the annual meeting of the board, without assigning any reason therefor, that it was deemed advisable that Prof. Gould's chair be declared vacant. Upon being asked to give their reasons for the recommendation, the members of the committee made the charge that there were grave differences of opinion on denominational doctrines between the Professor and the Rev. Dr. Hovey, the President. Upon learning of this charge, Prof. Gould waited upon the President and asked the truth of the matter. Dr. Hovey replied that such differences of opinion did exist, but were not radical or in any way such as to be considered heretical. Prof. Gould pressed his inquiries further, and was answered that the differences were sufficient, in the judgment of the President, to be prejudicial to the interests of the institution. There came there, he said, young men with minds not yet trained to form opinions. It was those opinions that they were to receive, and if they had one set of opinions impressed upon them in one class-room, and a different set in another, it would lead to discussion not only as to the merits of the instruction, but of the instructors as well, which would result in harm to students and professors alike. Finally, a special committee of five was appointed carefully to consider the matter, "to report to the next annual meeting of the board, or sooner, at their discretion."

After several meetings and much delay the committee reported three to two in favor of Prof. Gould. It was admitted that the Professor's theology was all right, there being no ground for dismissal in this direction. The laymen took the matter up, and urged that "reports" concerning Prof. Gould's heretical opinions were gaining currency, and to the detriment financially of the institution. The final vote stood thirteen against Prof. Gould and nine in his favor, exclusive of the President of the board, who did not vote, but who sides with the minority. Of the thirteen negative votes ten were cast by laymen. Prof. Gould has has retained his chair in the institution for thirteen years, and has been regarded as an able man. He is probably a little too liberal to suit the strictest of the sect.

GENERAL NOTES.

There are said to be 700,000 Protestants in France.

The sale of Bible and other Christian books is rapidly increasing in Japan.

In Berlin, with a population of 1,145,000, the church attendance is less than 35,000.

There are 2,728 names on the roll of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association.

The Pitcairn Islanders are said to be a very religious people, and never weary of singing Sankey's hymns.

The 200th anniversary of the introduction of Presbyterianism into America will be celebrated next year.

The Universalists of Maine have advised that money be appropriated to buy new books for the library of the State Prison.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold their ninth annual meeting at Louisville, Ky., Oct. 25-29.

Five hundred conversions are announced at Oswego, N. Y., as the result of the evangelistic labors there of Mrs. Maggie Van Cott.

The Presbytery of Chicago will hold its semi-annual meeting in the Presbyterian Church of Hyde Park tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

The evening services of Grace Episcopal Church will commence this evening at 7:45 with a fine musical service. The Rev. Clinton Locke, D. D., rector.

A sect called "New Israel" has risen among the Jews. It abandons circumcision, abstenance from certain viands, and changes the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day.

A large legacy to home missions was that lately paid from the estate of Eliza Butler, of Hartford, Conn.—$21,688.70. It went into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society.

Those interested in Spiritualism in this city are congratulating themselves upon the engagement by the Second Society of Spiritualists of Mr. J. Frank Baxter of Boston, one of the ablest and most eloquent exponents of that belief in the country.

Lake Forest University has just had its most prosperous opening. The increase in the number of students in all departments has been very large. All the main buildings have undergone extensive repairs and improvements which occupied the entire summer.

Dr. H. L. Wayland, of the National Baptist, in a paper on "Progressive Spelling" shows that his ideal language embraces a new alfabet in which every distinct sound shall have its symbolic equivalent. But he does not think the English-speaking world is ripe for such a boon.

The conference of German church governments at Eisenach resolved that Nov. 10, 1883, the 400th anniversary of Martin Luther's birth, should be universally celebrated in the Protestant churches of Germany. The revised copy of Luther's translation of the Bible was remanded for further revision.

The annual missionary meeting at the Centenary Methodist Church will be held tomorrow night. Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer, showing results for the year, will be presented. Addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. Hitchcock, P. E., and the Rev. Dr. S. H. Adams, of Evanston, and other interesting exercises.

A public meeting will be held (probably in Farwell Hall, Chicago) at 8 p. m., on Monday, Oct. 9, in the interest of the Episcopal Church Temperance Society. The chair will be taken by the Rt.-Rev. the Bishop of Illinois, and addresses will be made by the Lord Bishop of Rochester, England, by Mr. Robert Graham, Organizing Secretary of the Church Temperance Society, and by various other clergymen and laymen.

A revival of religion may be confidently looked for among fashionable ladies this season as "prayer rugs" are among the latest of fashion's freaks. They are imported from the East, and are such as Mohammedans use. An exchange describes them thus: "They are usually about three by four feet in size, and can be distinguished by the design, which always represents some large figure at one end and pointed at the other. Places are indicated for the hands and knees. Devout women procure the real things from an importer, and without facing Mecca, bumping their heads on the floor, or removing their shoes and stockings, like the sons of the Prophet, still actually do use them to kneel on while praying. They are said to be a great comfort."

The Woman's Baptist Missionary Society of the West will hold its regular October meeting in Davenport, Ia., in connection with the State anniversaries. The first session will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18, at which time the semi-annual reports of the board will be presented, and a short address from Dr. Murdock, of the Missionary Union, is expected. The second session on Thursday morning will be devoted to a view of the home field, a paper, an address by Miss L. Ella Miller, and a free conference.

The German Missionary Society of Berlin, who have a number of missionaries in Zululand, recently agreed to request Cetewayo to give them his protection when he returns to South Africa, and at the same time resolved to send a deputation to London to have an interview with Cetewayo. Cetewayo, however, expressed reluctance to grant an interview, and accordingly the deputation was not sent. A petition embodying the society's request will be sent to Cetewayo, in the hope that the object in view may be secured in this way.

The project of raising a million dollars in the Protestant Episcopal Church as a "centennial thank offering" has not been given up, although it has languished in a somewhat discouraging sort of a way. During October special collections and subscriptions are asked for in this behalf. The plan is to have the fund invested and its income spent in giving or lending money to aid feeble churches to build. No great enthusiasm is felt in the Episcopal churches on the subject, and the probability of the whole million-dollar fund being raised is exceedingly small.

PERSONAL.

Prof. Swing has returned from Europe, and will preach at Central Music-Hall at 11 a. m. today.

A letter from Paris states that Messrs. Moody and Sankey are to begin in that city a series of religious services Oct. 8, to be continued two weeks.

The cable announces the death of Mgr. Joachim Lluch y Gaciga, Archbishop of Seville. He was born in the Diocese of Viel about the year 1813.

The Rev. C. F. Clapp has accepted an invitation to preach at Bethany Congregational Church, and will begin his work there about the middle of the month.

William Gibson, a "captain" in the Salvation Army, has been obliged by the Harwich County Court, England, to pay £50 compensation for injuries inflicted upon a laborer.

Dr. Newman Smythe, after passing a rigid examination as to his orthodoxy, has been installed pastor of the Centre Church, New Haven, the pulpit occupied for fifty years by Dr. Leonard Bacon.

The Rev. John C. Hill, who leaves this city Monday for his missionary field in Central America, will preach this evening at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, corner of West Jackson and Peoria streets.

The Rev. Joseph Cook, who, during a storm on his journey from Japan to Australia, was thrown down a hatchway with such violence as to tear asunder some of the muscles and cartilages of his ribs, has completely recovered.

A son of the Rev. George O. Barnes, the evangelist, is about to begin a career as an evangelist. He is 22 years of age, is a college graduate, and has been carefully instructed by his father in the methods of evangelistic work.

Deacon William Richardson has been expelled by the Hanson Place Baptist Church, Brooklyn, on the charges of disorderly talk and immoral conduct made against him for causing the building of a street-railroad on a Sunday in May last.

The late Rev. Dr. George W. Musgrave, a Presbyterian pastor of Philadelphia, bequeathed $30,000 to Princeton College, to be invested till it reaches $50,000, to found a Musgrave Professorship, and $17,000 to other Presbyterian institutions.

The Rev. W. H. Brewster has just retired from his pastorate of the Blue Island Congregational Church. He is in his 70th year, but in the enjoyment of admirable health. He goes with his wife to Grand Harbor, Mich., to live with his children.

The Rev. Charles Spurgeon Jr., of London, who comes to Chicago to attend the Christian Convention, Oct. 11, 12, and 13, is invited to be the guest of the Chicago Baptist Social Union, and be welcomed by that body at its next meeting, Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, at the Palmer House.

The Rev. George C. Capron, of Boston, was recently ejected by the Congregational Council for erroneous views about probation after death. Last Sunday he preached a sermon in the Congregational Church at Wayland, Mass., in which he strongly asserted his belief in a probation after death, and supported his position by arguments from the Bible and church history.

The Rev. M. Ross, of the Presbyterian Church at Sunbury, Pa., having been forced by his congregation to resign, prepared an abusive farewell sermon for delivery last Sunday, but seeing reporters present, he ordered them to leave. As they did not do so, he went out, got another sermon, and promised to preach the expected one next week with closed doors.

The Rev. Edward C. Towne, who has lately returned from several years' residence and study abroad, has in preparation three lectures on the "Natural History of Creation and Development in the World of Life." The views advanced in these lectures get rid of the protoplasm theory of the basis of life, and of the minor theories of Darwinism; but they confirm and greatly strengthen, Mr. Towne thinks, the main doctrine of evolution.

SUNDAY SIFTINGS.

Alas! that so many people look upon religion simply as a fire-escape!—Boston Transcript.

"Tomorrow's Sunday, isn't it, mamma?" "Yes, dear." "Mayn't I play with the cards and build castles with them?" "Certainly not, dear!" "But, mamma, mightn't I play with the prayer-books, you know, if I built a church with them?"

The title of the lesson was, "The rich young man," and the golden text was, "One thing thou lackest." A teacher in the primary class asked a little tot to repeat the two, and, looking earnestly into the young lady's face, the child said: "One thing thou lackest—a rich young man."

A woman forgot to send home some work on Saturday. On Sunday morning she told a little girl who lived with her to put on her things and take the bundle under her shawl to the lady's house. "Nobody will see it," she said. "But is it not Sunday under my shawl, aunty?" asked the child.

They were talking of Æsop's fables. "Æsop was no fool," said young Jo from Eton to Lavinia. Mrs. Ramsbotham, entering at the moment, overheard this, and at once replied: "Well, I don't know about that. At all events, it was very wicked of him to sell his birthright for a mess of porridge."—Punch.

Rector (whose curate has lately left the parish), visiting old woman—"Well, Betty, I expect you will miss Mr. Robinson a good deal?" Betty—"Oh, yes, sir! He were a beautiful young man, sir!" Rector—"Well, he was a very good man, Betty; but I don't know about his being exactly 'beautiful.'" Betty—"Oh, he weren't much to look at in the face, I know, but, lor', sir, his innards was lovely."—Judy.

During the rebuilding of an orthodox church in a Massachusetts town the society worshiped morning and evening in the Unitarian church, the building being occupied in the afternoon by the Unitarians. A visiting clergyman at the evening service, having called upon the Lord to bless the evening and moring service, added: "And wilt thou bless as much of the afternoon service as thou approvest."

The Light-Opera Season at the Grand Opera-House.

During the past week the Hess Acme opera company has had large audiences every night at the Grand Opera-House, and has presented in succession the familiar operas of "Fra Diavolo," "Chimes of Normandy," "Olivette," "Martha," "Bohemian Girl," "Mascotte," and "Maritana." The company is a strong one, both in point of numbers and in personnel, and is entitled to credit for the manner in which the different pieces have been presented. This commendation is of course relative, and applies to this organization by comparison with the majority of the traveling combinations seen here last year. The orchestra is weak, and should be better balanced and better drilled to render the performances more enjoyable and the musical part nearer to the standard of the dramatic portion. As it is Mr. Hess has several persons in his company who can act, some who sing, a few who can do both, and also two or three who can do neither. This is the mixture generally found in such companies, it is true, but as a general thing those possessing the last qualification are apt to be in the majority. Such is not the case here, for Mr. Hess has been fortunate in his engagements for the work outlined for the season. The principal difficulty he has now to contend with is a tendency to indifference and listlessness on the part of the performers, leading naturally to a lack of that life and animation on which the success of these light operas depends. Mr. Hess has brought forward two new singers, Miss Cora Miller and Miss St. Quinten, in regard to whom there has been felt some little curiosity, especially in regard to the former, since it is from the ranks of amateurs and novices that the singers of the future must come. As a singer Miss Miller is a success, and as an artist a failure. She has not the faintest conception apparently of the actor's art, but stands and voices her solo numbers as though on a concert platform. A clear voice, high, florid, and well-trained is a good thing and pleasant to hear, and this Miss Miller offers—and that is all. She has sung in only one opera, and we find no announcement of her reappearance. Miss St. Quinten, on the other hand, is an actress of uncommon ability—the best Serpolette we have ever seen—and gives life and spirit to whatever she undertakes, so conscientious is she in her work. Her voice does not impress us as remarkable in quality or volume, but it is well managed, and in the "Bohemian Girl" displayed a sweetness in some of the numbers and a good method we had not supposed it to possess. We should have been glad to have seen the little lady in some of her other rôles. During the coming week she will probably be heard in "The Mascotte," and as Rose Friquet in a new opera to be given Friday or Saturday night, if the business manager succeeds by that time in finding a libretto among his possessions. The title of the work is "The Dragoons of Villars," and it has not yet been given here, although not a new work. Miss Randall, Miss Elsner, Miss Leighton, and Messrs. Peakes (Henry and James), Wilkie (who has been singing well since the first night), and Smith, also Messrs. Jones and Tams, are well and pleasantly remembered here. The chorus numbers thirty or more voices, and considerable attention is paid to the mounting of the plays. For this week the repertory will be as follows: "Olivette" tonight; "Mascotte" Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday; "Bohemian Girl" Wednesday matinée: Thursday, "Chimes of Normandy"; Friday, "Olivette"; and Saturday, probably, "Les Dragons de Villars."

The Outlook for Italian Opera.

Col. Mapleson will have the Italian operatic field in this country entirely to himself this winter. None of the other organizations that were so loudly heralded have materialized, and "Her Majesty's" purveyor of operatic food will be without competition. As yet Mr. Mapleson has made no positive announcement of the operas to be given, but he has sent a list of the principal singers engaged to support Mme. Patti, and indulges in his customary promises and high-sounding declarations. The list of soloists is a strong one. In addition to Patti and Nicoolini, the engagement is announced of the Canadian prima donna Mme. Albani, the contralto Scalchi, the baritones Galassi and Durat, and the Polish tenor Mierzwinsky. Mlle. Rossini will also be a member of the company, and Signora Zagury, better remembered as Miss Laura Harris. Signora Lavis, another member of the company, is a new prima donna of whom nothing is known. Mr. Mapleson sends a long list of operas from which those to be produced during the season will be selected, but among them are only two which are not more than familiar to all opera-goers of the past twenty years. The first opera to be given will be "L'Africaine," Oct. 16, in which Mme. Savio will make her first appearance. Col. Mapleson has telegraphed to his agent in New York to reduce the price of boxes for the season, which will be cheerful news for those who paid the first price.

Mr. Tomlins and His Class for Children.

> To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.
> CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—SIR: I learn from the columns of your paper that Mr. Tomlins has started a class for teaching children to sing. And in the last issue of the Saturday Herald Mrs. Eddy has a paper on the voice, in which she forbids the attempt to develop children's voices.
> When authorities differ who shall decide?
> Yours,
> A CHILD'S FRIEND.

We might say, by way of brief answer, that when "authorities differ" the best way to settle the question is to let common sense decide it. It used to be irreverently stated that when doctors disagreed the patient was pretty sure to get well. In this case we must plead ignorance of the arguments used by Mrs. Eddy in the paper referred to, as we have not read it. As to Mr. Tomlins' plans and purposes we are, however, somewhat familiar with them, have attended his "children's class," and have cordially indorsed the work he has entered upon. It is true most of the authorities disapprove of teaching children to sing at too early an age. But that is plainly on the supposition that such teaching involves a forcing of the voice, an attempt to develop power, and a consequent straining of the vocal organs. Teachers either seek to bring out phenomena, or are unwilling to wait and bring the young voice along slowly. Mr. Tomlins proposes to do exactly the reverse of all this. He permits no loud singing, and instructs the children that physical exertion never should accompany good singing. The child first crawls, then walks; first spells, then reads. There is no valid reason why the rudiments of vocal culture should not be imparted to young people, and the foundation laid for appreciation of good music. To correct the tendency to strain children's voices by developing power only is certainly commendable, and is the chief feature in Mr. Tomlins' plan. The scholars now fill Apollo Hall, and the lessons are attended by large numbers of older people—parents and others—so that the success of the project is assured as to numbers. It is not intended to make any exhibition of the children, but only to help them to understand music and to cultivate their vocal organs slowly, gently, and gradually; and we think "a child's friend" need have no fears as to the consequences.

Musical Notes at Home.

Miss St. Quinten is Mrs. John Wood off the stage.

The date of Mr. Boscovitz's first recital has been changed to Oct. 10.

Miss Annie M. R. Barnette, of the St. Cecili Academy of Singing, has returned to the city.

Mrs. Schoonhoven has returned from Europe and is singing in the choir of Emmanuel Church.

The Lewis-Ingersoll organization has changed its name to that of the Chicago Quintet Club."

The usual Sunday afternoon concert will be given at Turner-Hall today. The program has not been received.

Miss Emma Heckle is now in the city ready for concert engagements. She will not sing at Prof. Swing's this winter.

On Friday evening Mr. Liebling, assisted by Miss Jaeschke and Mr. M. S. Bartlett, gave his first piano recital. A scherzo of Sharwenka's was the novelty of the occasion.

The seventh season of the Mendelssohn Club of Hyde Park opens tomorrow night with a meeting at Flood's Hall. Five concerts are to be given. "The Messiah" is the principal work to be studied.

Prof. H. S. Perkins is engaged to conduct the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Penobscot Musical Association at Bangor, Me., Sept. 26-29. Among the soloists are W. H. Stanley, tenor, and Gertrude Edmands, contralto.

Dr. Leopold Damrosch and his orchestra of fifty musicians will give a concert in this city the latter part of November. Mme. Martinez will be the soloist. The orchestra will also visit Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Milwaukee. It is under the management of Mr. Darby, of Toledo.

Mr. Marcus Mayer, who is Mr. Abbey's general business manager, was in the city on Thursday. Mme. Nilsson will give one concers here at Central Music-Hall Dec. 5. She will be assisted by M. Blorsken, tenor; Del Puente, baritone; Miss Hope Glenn, contralto; the Mendelssohn Quintet Club, of Boston, and C. H. Pratt, pianist.

Milward Adams announces the Miss Thursby will give three concerts in this city on the 17th, 20th, and 21st of October. The names of the artists who will support Miss Thursby are: Miss Emily Winant, contralto; Miss Maud Morgan, harpiste; Sig. Ferranti, buffo baritone; Mme. Carreno, pianiste; and Maurice Strakosch, musical director.

Manager Hess considers that the presentation of "Bohemian Girl" by his company was "so good" that he intends to repeat the performance. All right! Mr. Hess is not the first manager who has fallen in love with his own work. As to the "large house" Thursday night, if it was, as Mr. Hess says, the second largest of the season, then we have greatly misjudged the other audiences.

The rehearsals so far held by the Beethoven Society angur well for the coming season. The active members are studying Verdi's "Requiem Mass" with diligence, although it is to be given now for the sixth time. Miss Medora Henson will sing the soprano part in the mass, and will study it under the tuition of Mr. Georg Henschel. She left for Boston for tnat purpose on last Thursday.

The Bijou Opera company commences tomorrow night a season of light opera at the West Side Opera-House. "The Chimes of Normandy" is the first opera announced. The members of this company are substantially the same as those composing the Chicago Church Choir company, which latter organization is to be perpetuated under the Presidency of Milward Adams, and will at once begin rehearsing some light operas.

The first concert of the Mozart Society will occur Oct. 26, under the direction of Mr. Bartlett. For this occasion Miss Antonia Henne, of New York, has been engaged as the solo attraction. Miss Henne, although never having sung here, is no stranger in name to the musical people of this city. This entertainment of the Mozart Society will be looked forward to with interest. The extra concert tickets now in the possession of the associate members will be good for this concert.

Mr. Edward Heimendahl announces a series of orchestral concerts at Central Music-Hall this winter under his leadership. The programs of these concerts will comprise the works of the old masters, as well as the productions of contemporary composers, the second part each evening being devoted to music of a popular order. A prominent artist, vocal or instrumental, will assist at each concert, and Mme. Teresa Carreno will be the soloist for the first. The first series of three concerts will be given on Tuesday evenings, Nov. 14, Dec. 19, and Jan. 30, 1883.

A series of five organ recitals will be given by Mr. H. Clarence Eddy at Hershey Music-Hall every Saturday noon, commencing Oct. 7. The programs will comprise a large number of the most important organ compositions from Frescobaldi, Buxtehude, and Bach down to Merkel, Guilmant, Saint Saëns, Best, and other modern writers. Each program will be interspersed with attractive vocal numbers, and the following well-known singers will assist: Misses May Phœnix, Della Oakford, Margaret P. Sperry, Alma Bate, Lulu St. C. Tuthill, Messrs. W. C. Coffin and J. L. Johnston.

The Apollo Club, at its recent meeting, elected the following-named officers for the season of 1882-'83: Henry Strong, President; E. F. Chapin, Vice-President; C. L. Bingham, Secretary; William Cox, Treasurer; W. H. Harvey, Librarian; and William L. Tomlins, Musical Director. The Board of Management consists of Messrs. Henry Strong, E. F. Chapin, E. A. Otis, M. C. Armour, and C. L. Bingham. Gen. Strong was tendered an informal reception at Apollo Hall on Monday evening last, and his very happy speech on that occasion evoked considerable enthusiasm. The first concert by the club will probably be given the latter part of November.

Musical Notes Abroad.

Henri Ketten, the famous French pianist, is reported to be dying.

The Music Festival at Worcester, Mass., the past week has been very largely attended, and is considered a success in all particulars.

M. Capoul begins his fourth tour in this country next month, his first visit having been in 1871, when he came with the Mme. Nilsson company.

The Mendelssohn Club of Cincinnati have published their program for this season, and only one work by the great maestro after whom the society is named will be given.

Mr. Theodore Thomas has control of the orchestral score of "The Redemption," by Gounod, for two years, and it will be the first work given by the New York Chorus Society this season.

Herr Wachtel, the phenomenal and apparently indefatigable tenor, is just now appearing in a series of his favorit rôles at the Kroll'sche Theatre of Berlin. The veteran singer is in his 60th year.

Minnie Hauk will begin a concert tour in this country at Boston Oct. 26. After leaving Boston she comes to Chicago, and then to San Francisco. Next season she will be here with Carl Rosa and his opera company.

A Canadian society was first in the announcement of a projected performance of Gounod's "Redemption" in America. The Händel and Haydn Society of Boston have underlined the work for their triennial festival next May.

Mr. Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" has stopped short half-way through the biography of Franz Schoberlechner. More than a twelvemonth has elapsed since part fifteen was published, and there are no signs of the next part.

Three chorus-singers have had a hard time of it in St. Louis. They went there on an engagement by the agent of the "Ideal opera company" (not the Boston Ideals), and when there had their promised salaries cut down from $18 to $10 a week, because they were not sufficiently good-looking and did not fill the front seats. After considerable insulting talk they were discharged from the company, and their landlady promptly followed suit by turning them out of the house with less than $2 a piece in their pockets in a strange city at night. They at once sought that modern refuge of all distressed and oppressed individuals—a newspaper office—and told their woes to a sympathizing editor.

Mme. Materna made her first appearance in Vienna after her American tour on Sept. 2 in "Tannhäuser." She was enthusiastically welcomed by the public, and received an ovation after the second act. Among the floral gifts sent to her was a miniature ship flying the American flag.

Mme. Selina Dolaro and Miss Lillian Russell are said to have become bitter enemies, owing to the latter lady having stolen a march on the former by singing "The Silver Line," from "Lord Bateman," last week, a song which Miss Dolaro intended to have introduced in "Manteaux Noirs."

"Les Manteaux Noirs," given for the first time in this country at the Standard Theatre, New York, on Tuesday night, was a great success, both libretto and music being highly praised. The latter is spoken of, however, as not altogether original, but "light and pretty," and containing numbers which will prove "catching and popular."

The orchestral prelude to Wagner's "Parsifal" will be given by the New York Philharmonic Society at their first concert. This prelude has hitherto been heard only once in public, at Breslau. Mr. Thomas also has in hand a manuscript copy of the third act of "Parsifal," from which selections will be rendered by the Brooklyn Philharmonic Society.

Among the notable productions of the New York musical season will be Gounod's new oratorio, "The Redemption," a new symphony by Max Bruch, who will visit this country and produce, with the Liederkranz Society, his "Frithiofsaga" and "Odysseus." New works by Anton Dvorak and T. Von Beliczoy will be produced by the Philharmonic Club, and a new sextet by Heinrich Hoffman, for flute, violin first, violin second, viola, and 'cello.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Notes from the South Water Street Markets.

Yesterday closed a busy week on South Water street so far as the trading in fruit was concerned. The layout in this line differed somewhat yesterday from that presented the week before. Peaches are still ahead as regards receipts, but the daily arrivals are constantly growing less. While losing in quantity, the quality has been growing better, and the daily receipts now comprise fruit specially adapted to the preserving process. The receipts of this fruit during the past week have aggregated about 75,000 baskets. Prices have varied little, though the slight change made has been in the direction of cheapness. The range for peaches yesterday was 40 cents to $1.00, the latter for very choice, but most sales were made at 50@65 cents. The receipts are now exclusively from Michigan, coming from South Haven, Saugatuck, Douglas, and Fennville.

Apples continue plentiful, most of the fruit on the market coming from Missouri, where, as was stated last week, an abundant crop has been grown. Michigan sends a few. Choice red table apples command $2.75@3.00 per barrel, but a very good class of fruit can be had at $2.00@2.50, while the poorer kinds are sold at $1.00@1.50.

Grapes are very plentiful, and this fruit is also the product of the Michigan banana zone. Trade in grapes has been quite active during the week, and the enormous sales suggest mountains of jelly. The Concord was salable yesterday at 4@5 cents, with the more delicate Delaware going at 8@10 cents.

Blackberries are still coming forward, though the receipts are dwindling perceptibly daily. The force on the street yesterday was at a range of $1.00@1.25 per case, or 6@8 cents per quart.

Plums are nearly out of the market, the few coming in being brought from Canada, and consist of the blue damson, green gage, and Lombard, selling at $1.00@1.25 per box.

Quinces have just begun to put in appearance, coming from Michigan. The crop is reported to be light, but the quality of those already marketed has been excellent. This fruit sells from 75 to 90 cents per peck-basket.

Pears are not so plenty as at the beginning of the week, and good Bartletts were selling yesterday at $1.00 per peck-basket, or what is designated as such. The inferior kinds sell at a range of 50@75 cents per basket.

There is yet few cranberries on the market, and prices are only nominal so far. They are held at $2.25@2.50 per bushel, with few sales reported. The crop this year is said to be light.

Melons are still a drug on the market, though few dealers care to handle them. Watermelons are sold at from $7 to $10 per 100, when that price can be realized, but in several instances car-lots containing 1,500 melons have been offered for sale at $20, and in a number of cases the goods have been sent back to the shipper. Michigan muskmelons sell from 60 cents to $1 per dozen, and go slowly at that.

The trade in vegetables continues active, and prices of most kinds remain as low as a week ago. Potatoes yesterday were selling up 10@15 cents higher, or 65@70 cents per bushel, on account of the scarcity for the time. There is an abundance of them, but the farmers are now busy with their fall work, and find no time to send their goods forward. A large part of the city supply is brought in daily by the country wagons, and the trade in this vegetable on South Water street is very small. Sweet-potatoes are dull at $1.25@1.50 per barrel for Illinois-grown, and $3.75@4 for Jerseys.

Of other vegetables there is a great plenty, the ruling prices yesterday being as follows: Squash, 75 cents @ $1 per dozen, the latter for the Hubbard; onions, $1.25@1.50 per barrel; beets, 30@40 cents per bushel; cabbages, $2.00@2.50 per 100; turnips, $1 per barrel; carrots, $1.25 per barrel; celery, 35 cents per dozen stalks; tomatoes, 50 cents @ $1 per bushel; peppers, 75 cents per bushel; cucumbers, $1.25@1.50 per bushel.

FOUR HEROES.

For The Chicago Tribune.

I met a brave old officer
All carved with battle-scars,
Who lost a leg and a brave right arm
Under our flag of stars.

I grasped the vet'ran by the hand—
My heart thrilled at its touch;
I sympathized with his empty sleeve,
And honored the soldier's crutch.

"I have fought," he said, "on fifty fields,
'Neath our country's honored flag;
I've measured swords with the fiercest hordes
Of Beauregard and Bragg.

"I've lost three sons in the contest
That raged for the land we love;
Three gallant boys gave up their lives,
And are now on guard above.

"Yes! Noble boys as the State could boast—
Harry, and Will, and Fred—
Brave and true as e'er follow'd a drum—
Virginians born and bred.

"Willie fell at Malvern Hill,
While charging Longstreet's lines.
I lost this arm at Fredericksburg—
This leg at Seven Pines.

"Poor Fred was killed at Gettysburg,
Fighting among the brave
'Gainst Ewell's fiery infantry,
And fills a soldier's grave.

"My boys have answered their last tattoo.
My life seems a stormy dream;
I'm waiting to join my wife and boys
On the deathless side of the stream."

"And what of Harry?" I gently asked.
"Did he perish in the strife,
On some red field? Does blank vacancy
O'ershadow your empty life?"

"Yes! Harry was always a wayward boy;
He fought on the other side;
He fell on the field where Stonewall fell,
And died ere Stonewall died."

CHARLES J. BEATTIE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29, 1882.

There are many fine trees in the forests of America, but those of the Yosemite Valley grow to twice the hight and have twice the circumference of our great poplars and sycamores. England produced hundreds of lofty poets, but Shakspeare grew to double the hight of their highest genius and to twice the width of their largest fame. America has produced a score of excellent pianos, but the Hallet, Davis & Co. reaches high above all their claims to merit and has a world for renown while the others enjoy a neighborhood reputation. The trees acknowledge the Yosemite giants to be their kings; the poets call Shakspeare their sovereign; and it doesn't impeach the merits of other good pianos to call the Hallet, Davis & Co. sole monarch of the earth.

REAL ESTATE.

No Speculative Demand for Any Kind of Outside Acre Property.

The Inquiry for Inside and Residence Lots for Investment.

Danger of Overdoing the Building of Flats—Too Many Going Up.

The Chicago & Evanston Railroad Materializing Rapidly.

Plans Completed for Two New Elegant City Residences.

THE MARKET.

Lot and Acre Property.

The popular verdict of real-estate dealers upon the market during the past week was about the same as that expressed for six weeks previous, "on the whole present prospects may be considered decidedly encouraging," but as far as can be learned from them there is really no improvement in the market. There is no speculative demand for any kind of property, the inquiry being almost entirely for inside and residence property for immediate improvement and investment. Just how soon the fall boom will strike the market is now a mystery, as the strenuous efforts of the dealers to work up the usual autumnal rush have been ineffectual. However, all are doing a good steady business—better than last year at this time—and very little complaint is heard except regarding the painful dullness in acre property. The average real-estate man is far-seeing, and is generally able to figure out difficult problems in his business, but as yet he has failed to account for the lack of interest in acre-property. It can't be, he argues, that it is held too high, although he is aware that one owner of a tract for which he paid $40,000 a little less than a year ago last week refused $80,000 for it, and with refreshing indifference declined to name the figure he would accept. The Garfield purchase, which has been reported, is not generally regarded as a wise investment, although the improvements of that town of which Mr. Dreyer speaks elsewhere, will not detract from the value of the property.

THE BUILDING OF FLATS.

A question which aside from the regular market is commanding the attention of owners of property and dealers in the enormous increase in the number of flats throughout the city during the past year, and the prospective increase during next year. At present the demand is good for this class of dwellings and owners experience no difficulty in renting almost any sort of traps they may put up at a good figure. But the question is, Are not too many traps being built? And will not the wholesale construction of all sorts of flats result very soon disastrously to the owners? The judgment of many very sensible men is that it will—that it will result in a reduction in rents that will make even the small investment made in some of the illy-constructed houses very poor indeed. If they alone would suffer there would be little cause for apprehension. But the reduction of rents in houses constructed on improved plans would also follow. While this might be a condition of affairs eminently satisfactory to the rent-payer, the owner is interested in averting any such consummation. The flat fever, however, has not yet reached the crisis; and before the turn comes Chicago will have doubled the number of flats now within her limits. The craze has also extended to several suburbs where it would generally be supposed there would be no necessity or desire to economize space, and recently permits have been issued for large buildings of this character in several of the larger towns.

There has been a noticeable healthy increase in loans during the past few months, 6 and 7 per cent now being the ruling rate, with plenty of money on good property and a good demand for it.

The Chicago & Evanston Railroad.

It is pretty well settled that the Chicago & Evanston Railroad will be transferred from the paper upon which it has been so many years to the ground shown in the recent tracings made by the engineer of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Company, and that South Evanston at least and intermediate points will have the connection with Chicago that has been so long desired. Work was begun on the construction of the new road at Fullerton avenue last week, and the promise has been made that it would be pushed as rapidly and as far as possible. As yet the company has not succeeded in convincing the people of Evanston that it would be to the lasting advantage of that hamlet to have the road enter it by way of the lake shore, and the probabilities are that it will experience considerable trouble in making the people see the matter in that light. A strong effort is being made, however, in that direction, and it may prove successful, but the chances are against such a result. Owners of property along the line of the road report nothing in the shape of a boom on account of the new work. On the contrary, there is, if possible, even less inquiry for property in that section than previously. A dealer who is handling a good-sized tract on the projected road in conversation yesterday afternoon said: "People are more careful than they were a few years ago. I have known the time that if a line like that proposed was even surveyed people would have fairly gone wild over the matter, and property would have been raised fairly out of sight. Now, however, when the work has actually begun they hold off. The reason of this doubtless is that they have no assurance that the road will ever go beyond the city limits, and they have been bitten often enough to make them cautious. I don't know that the road will ever be finished, and I doubt if the people who have hold of it do."

Another Manufactory for Garfield.

Mr. E. S. Dreyer, the Washington street banker and broker, is responsible for the statement that the new Town of Garfield is to have a larger and even better boom than that given it by the location of the locomotive works in its heart. Mr. Dreyer returned from New York ten day or two ago after an absence of two days, and to a reporter imparted the following information:

"You may publish," said he, "that within a month there will be a big factory started alongside the locomotive works, far larger than they. It will be the biggest thing of its kind in the Union, if not the world, and the parties—the moneyed men interested—are now on their way here from the East to fix the thing up; that is, as to some details, for as to main outlines a contract is already completed. What will it be? Well, I can't tell all the minutiæ just yet—not until those Eastern gentlemen arrive, but, generally speaking, it is to be a manufactory of railroad supplies, and connected with the Garfield Locomotive-Works. What kind of supplies I must not now state. It won't be a stock company, either, but will be handled by cash-down men—New York and Boston millionaires. Not a dollar will come from Chicago. The projectors have stock in the Chicago Locomotive-Works, and though the two institutions are separate in management they are interdependent in operation. "How much money will be invested, did you say?" "At least $2,000,000. The company will build not only the factory, but also houses for the men. Work will be supplied for at least 1,000 employés. The company will own the buildings and rent them to the workmen." "The works will be started within a month?" "Yes, building will commence within that time in order to have the works in operation early next spring."

Chicago & Atlantic Improvements.

A trial trip over the Chicago & Atlantic Railway to North Judson, Ind., and return, which was made on Friday of last week, justified the statement of the officials of the company that the road will be open for business early in December. By the completion of this road a large extent of territory highly suitable for suburban residence will be thrown open to the public, and several additions be made to the long list of Chicago's suburbs. As a forerunner of what is possible and probable, it is stated that a new town is to be laid out at Highlands, a station on the Chicago & Atlantic, twenty-six miles from Chicago. One hundred and fifty acres are to be subdivided, streets laid out, and general improvements made. The location is extremely suitable for residence purposes, and the land high and well wooded. At Boone Grove, some twenty miles further, a similar subdivision will be made under the direction, it is said, of the Chicago & Atlantic Railway Company. The location at this point is also highly desirable, and of the same general character as that at Highlands. At the crossing of the road over the Kankakee River the company propose to establish a commodious club-house, lay out extensive grounds, and open to the public an excellent resort for hunting, fishing, boating, and the other attractions usual to places of that character.

Correcting Discrepancies.

A few weeks ago Mr. J. G. Cozzens was employed by the Citizens' Association to ascertain the average actual value of real estate in Cook County, with a view of correcting the discrepancies known to exist between the actual values and the returns made by the local Assessors. Mr. Cozzens, it appears, has succeeded in developing the fact that the total assessment as returned is nearly $3,000,000 less than the total obtained by the investigation. In other words, the assessment, which, contrary to law, is made at one-third instead of full value, if multiplied by three, so as to give the total value of real estate, gives it at less than $5000,000,000, when in reality it should be stated at $562,880,534.29. More than this, it was ascertained that in no case had the Assessors assessed one-third of full values, but considerably less, as, for instance, on acre tracts it was but 12½ per cent, on suburban lots only 14 per cent, and on lots 21 per cent.

The main fact developed by the investigation is, that whereas it has been generally supposed that taxation in this county and city was 5 per cent of full value, it is a fraction less than 1 per cent, which is below the rate in any other city of considerable size in the country.

General Notes.

F. A. Bragg sold 100 feet square, at Clark and Fourteenth streets, for $32,500.

F. C. Vierling sold 75 feet on Forest avenue, east front, north of Thirty-third street, with frame house, for $7,000 and taxes of 1882; also No. 211 Walnut street for $2,100 cash.

E. S. Dreyer & Co. sold 130x120 feet at the southeast corner of Dunning street and Lincoln avenue, with frame house, to John Quinn, for $10,500, and No. 218 Cass street, a two-story brick house, lot 22x80, for $8,500.

T. B. Boyd sold for M. D. Shay to C. B. Hosmer, a lot 55x97, with buildings, on the southwest corner of Desplaines and Quincy streets, for $9,500; for T. J. Sammons to Dr. A. P. Foster, of Woodhull, Ill., the two-story and basement stone-front dwelling and lot at No. 586 West Van Buren street, for $6,600.

The auction sale of Englewood property took place Wednesday, as advertised, the land sold bringing from $8 to $15 a front foot, the larger price being for Halsted street fronts. The attendance was quite large, but the prices, though showing an improvement on many precedents, did not meet the views of the management, and the greater part of the lots were withheld from sale.

Hopkinson & Silva report the following sales: Lot on Cottage Grove avenue, near Bereau avenue, for $1,000 cash; two lots on Sumner street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, for $875; five lots on Seminary avenue, north of Webster avenue, for $3,000 cash; two lots on Perry avenue and Dearborn street, Englewood, for $700 cash; three lots on Elm street, Washington Heights, for $525 cash; fifty feet on Prospect avenue, Morgan Park, for $350; sold for the Blue Island Land & Building Company a two-story house and fifty feet of ground at Morgan Park for $2,400. The firm reports a very good demand for houses at Morgan Park.

The location of the new Board of Trade at La Salle, Jackson, and Van Buren streets has had the effect of improving property all along West Van Buren street as far west as Ashland avenue, and there is a good chance of even a further advance in prices along the thoroughfare as the building progresses. Lots that three months ago could have been purchased for $85 per foot are now held at from $100 to $125 per foot, and there is a good inquiry, especially in the neighborhood of Throop and Loomis streets, where as high as $200 per front foot is asked. One lot at the southeast corner of Van Buren and Laflin streets was sold by G. H. Lafland to G. S. Barber for $150 per front foot.

Other important transfers recorded during the week were:

Canal st, 82½ ft s of Adams, e f 102x160 ft, John D. Platt to William D. Wilson, $35,525.

Ashland av, 758 ft n of River st, w f, 144x111¼ ft, A. S. Piper to Chicago & South Branch Dock Co., $13,000.

Ashland av, 358 ft n of Chicago, w f, 100 ft to canal, Chicago & South Branch Dock Co. to A. S. Piper, $13,000.

Desplaines st, s e cor Indiana, w f, 133x75 and 100 ft, Jacob Birk to the Wacker & Birk Brewing Co., $14,000.

Jefferson st, s e cor Indiana, e f, 40x150 ft, with 75x110 ft adjoining on Indiana, with all buildings, Ferdinand Wacker to the Wacker & Birk Brewing Co., $65,000.

Rhodes av, near Thirty-second st, w f, 200x150 ft, and e f 160x164½ ft, Uzziel P. Smith to Fireman's Insurance Co., $27,000.

Michigan st, s e cor of La Salle av, n f, 80x100 ft, dated Sept. 15 (Allan M. Culver to Charles E. Culver); $65,000.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

Two New Mansions.

Messrs. Burnham & Root, the well-known architects, have completed plans for Mr. J. V. Farwell's new house which he will soon erect on Pierson street. The structure will be seventy-five by sixty-five feet on the ground floor, and will be constructed of gray and buff marble from the north shore of Lake Michigan, which will be laid in small stones, which will be bush-hammered. The type of the design is laid perpendicular English of the period of Henry VII. The entrance is on Pierson street, and to it leads a wide flight of granit steps, with two square landings, the main direction of the steps being parallel with the front of the house. Flanking the main entrance is a large decorated gable on the west and a large octagonal tower on the east. In this, as in the other façade, the windows are divided by tracery, and the upper portion is filled in with stained glass. On the west front is a stone carriage porch, and above it is a large octagonal bay, marking on this front the position of the staircase. The detail of the exterior has been carefully studied in the style which it is intended to express, so that it should not be a modern rendition of English gothic, but a renaissance of a distinct period of work. Passing through the south doorway into the front hall the reception room is to the right, and the library, which is 22 by 26 feet, is to the left. Beyond these rooms and opening from the front hall and diagonally from the two rooms is the central hall. This is a large room 20 by 25 feet, at the end of which and opposit the entrance to the hall is a deep chimney corner and a large open fireplace. The music-room opens from the hall on the east and from the reception-room on the north, and on the west of the hall opposit the entrance to music-room rises the staircase. The dining-room, located in the northeast corner, opens from the music-room and from the north end of the hall. Occupying the northwest corner of the building are the kitchen, store-rooms, butler's pantry, servants' lift, and passenger elevator. The staircase is especially roomy, being broken by many landings, and on the flight between the first and second stories is a large landing opening into the octagonal bay, heretofore referred to, sufficiently roomy to be furnished. The second story is divided into six large bedrooms, and the attic story is also made up of sleeping apartments, and a large room that will be devoted to private theatricals and dancing. The first and second stories will be finished throughout with hardwood. The structure will be at the edge of an ample lot that will give a fine lawn. Mr. C. B. Farwell owns the lot adjoining and when he builds, as he doubtless will at an early day, the houses will be separated only by a wide lawn.

The same architects have also finished the drawings for the residence which S. A. Kent, Esq., will build on Michigan avenue, near Twenty-ninth street. The house will be 60x100 feet, constructed entirely of Philadelphia pressed brick, with molded jams, string courses, and red terra cotta made from the same clay. It is designed in the renaissance of Francis I., the front being decorated with elaborate carvings in panels of red terra cotta and rich friezes. The two large bays which flank the doorway on the main front are united in the second story, and their outer lines are carbelled out to the main-wall line of the house, so as to be included under one great roof. This leaves the front doorway recess in a deep loggia, in which are also windows opening into the bays. The only windows in the third story on this front are included in a large twisted gable, which is enriched with an elaborately-modeled tympanum of terra-cotta. The design and decorations of the front are continued, with equal care and finish, around the sides. The first story consists of a large hall 18x27 feet, a parlor, library, dining-room, private office, elevator, kitchen, serving-rooms, etc., and the second and third stories are divided into bedrooms. The first and second stories are finished in hardwoods, the first being designed to embody in its detail and decorative carvings employed a peculiar richness and delicacy of the French chateau of this period.

Building Permits.

Although it will not be long before cold weather is here, there was no falling off in the number of permits for new structures issued by the Building Department. Among the more important issued were the following:

J. L. Stewart, 2-story dwelling, 44x47 feet, Nos. 540 and 542 West Van Buren street, $7,000; C. Dannenl, 3-story store and dwelling, 24x75 feet, No. 571 Ogden avenue, $6,000; Mrs. Mary Mott, 2-story dwelling, 22x40 feet, No. 358 South Clinton street, $2,500; J. A. Whidden, 2-story dwelling, 22x60 feet, corner of Twenty-second street and Jones place, $6,000; J. A. Homan, 2-story dwelling, 22x50 feet, No. 1122 Fulton street, $4,000; Fortune Bros. Brewing Company, 4-story ice-house, 66x93 feet, corner of Pearce and Desplaines street, $20,000; Beemis & McAvoy Brewing Company, 1-story boiler-house, 50x50 feet, Nos. 2345 to 2349 South Park avenue, $7,000; H. V. Bemis, two-story rear addition, 16x50 feet, to residence No. 2322 Indiana avenue, $4,000; A. W. Harlow, two-story dwelling, 25x86 feet, No. 475 Congress street, $6,000; Peter Schoenhoven, elevator, 72x100 feet, on Canalport avenue, near Canal street, $50,000; Samuel Berkhardt, two three-story stores and dwellings, 48x68 feet, Nos. 3817 and 3819 Halsted street, $10,000; J. H. Thompson, two three-story dwellings, 44x56 feet, Nos. 15 and 17 Seymour street, $8,000; J. H. Brooks, two three-story dwellings, 69x156 feet, Nos. 612 and 614 Division street, $18,000; M. J. Andryzyk, two-story store and dwelling, 70x30 feet, 673 Ashland avenue, $5,000.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: Frank Hlava, two-story dwelling, 21x50 feet, No. 442 Nineteenth street, to cost $3,000; George Lauterbach, two-story dwelling, 24x30 feet, No. 51 Thirteenth street, to cost $2,500; Honora Graham, three-story store and dwelling, 23x60 feet, No. 70 Douglas avenue, to cost $3,000; D. B. Peck, three-story dwelling, 25x60 feet, to cost $5,000; William Silman, three-story factory addition, 41x60 feet, Nos. 132 and 134 Lake street, to cost $4,000; E. Wehlein, two-story dwelling, 24x50, No. 50 Granger street, to cost $7,000; Bartholomae & Leicht, three-story dwelling, 50x75 feet, Sedgwick, near Centre street, to cost $16,000; Francis Rew, three-story dwelling, 24x60 feet, No. 526 North Wells street, to cost $7,500; Louise Fowler, three-story dwelling, 30x64 feet, No. 15 Willard place, to cost $8,000; A. C. Norris, two-story dwelling, 25x62 feet, No. 460 West Congress street, to cost $7,000; James Todd, two-story addition, 30x65 feet, Nos. 331 and 333 Wabash avenue, to cost $3,000; Sutter Bros., three three-story dwellings, 24x50 feet each, Nos. 3551 and 3553 Lake avenue, to cost $15,000; John Rogers, two-story dwelling, 40x67 feet, No. 485 Fulton street, to cost $4,000.

Building Notes.

The old Anchor Pickle & Vinegar Works, at Blue Island, are being revamped, and will be used as a mill by Pelton, Pomeroy & Cross, Chicago.

Work on the new Board of Trade Building is being pushed rapidly, every possible advantage being taken of the fine weather to get in the foundation.

The Cook County Electric Light Company have now made all their arrangements to proceed at once to build their works. A general meeting to elect officers, etc., will be held Tuesday at the office of E. S. Dreyer & Co.

The carpenter work on the new Farwell Building, on Market street, is about three stories above the brick work, which has reached the fourth story. The cause of this is that brick cannot be secured in sufficient quantities to supply all of the workmen who might be employed on the structure.

SUBURBAN.

Hyde Park Real Estate.

The demand for real estate in various parts of Hyde Park continues firm at slightly advanced prices. A large amount of building of all kinds is going on, especially in the southern portion of the village, where the number of new buildings is entirely without precedent in its history. At Oakland the square at the head of Drexel boulevard will be improved by the village as soon as the terminal works of the cable-car system are completed at that point. A number of private residences are going up at Kenwood and Hyde Park, and ground will be broken for others this week. The demand for houses to rent is considerable, and entirely beyond the supply. A brick house, two stories, on Hyde Park avenue near Fiftieth street, was rented last week for $110 per month, which is considered cheap. The Village Board of Trustees have appropriated $3,000 towards the construction of adequate drainage facilities at Grand Crossing, to cost $31,000, and adopted the report of a committee recommending that a special assessment be levied on the property benefited to defray the balance of the cost. The plan proposed is the construction of a large ditch from Grand Crossing to Calumet Lake. Nothing definit can be stated as to the details of a rumored ship-canal from Grand Crossing to Lake Michigan; but the gentlemen interested state that the enterprise is on a solid foundation and will be in shape to give to the public at an early date. If the plan is carried to consummation it will be the most important enterprise of the season, and will necessarily include other enterprises of great importance to Grand Crossing and its vicinity. The United States Rolling Stock Company is unwilling at present to give any definit information as to its location; but it is believed that the location has been picked out, and the delay is caused by the signing of the necessary contracts. The Chicago Lock Company is about to begin work at its new works at Grand Crossing, and the Lyman Barbed Wire Manufacturing Company have bought land at the junction of the Illinois Central and "Nickel Plate" Roads, and will build extensive works at that point. Lamb's foundry, for some years shut down, located on the corner of Torrence avenue and Ninety-eighth street, South Chicago, has been purchased by the Chicago Polished Steel Shafting Company, which will begin operations at an early date. The McKenney Tubular Rail Company it is stated is looking for a suitable location at South Chicago with a view to erecting extensive works for the manufacture of its patent rails. One hundred and five nailers from Wheeling, W. Va., arrived in Cummings last week for the Calumet Iron & Steel Company, whose nail-mill will hereafter run night and day. A contemplated "gravity elevated railroad" from Chicago to South Chicago is attracting considerable attention, and several South Chicago men are said to be interested in the enterprise. The "gravity" road is a series of inclined planes and elevators or lifts.

It is claimed that a lift of eight feet will run cars four blocks. If hydraulic power be used the cost is one-half cent per car per mile; if steam, one cent per car per mile. The inventor is Mr. Richard Collins, of Chicago. South Chicago is experiencing a "boom" of the largest size. It is said that there is not an idle mechanic or laborer in the town, and not an unoccupied house. Building is going on in every direction, and from 600 to 700 buildings of all kinds are in process of erection. The Calumet & Chicago Canal & Dock Company report from five to nine sales per day, and other real-estate dealers are busy in proportion. As a fair sample of the advance in prices, 25 feet of Lot 21, Block 84, fronting on Commercial avenue, was sold last week for $2,300. Property worth $800 a year ago is now selling readily at from $2,000 to $2,500.

Persons about to visit New York will find comfortable quarters at the Buckingham Hotel, on Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street. The location is very convenient, and the facilities for reaching any part of the city are ample.

PARIS GOSSIP.

The Suicide of the Young Russian Actress, Julie Feyghine.

Her Dramatic Failure, and Her Liaison with the Duke de Morny.

An Unhealthy Summer in the French Capital—Miss Dora Henninges.

Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune.

PARIS, France, Sept. 15.—All Paris is talking just now of the suicide of the beautiful young Russian actress, Julie Feyghine, who shot herself the other day for love of the young Duke de Morny. She was buried this morning very quietly, the funeral services taking place in the Russian church in the Rue Darv. A stranger, sadder tragedy has not been played out on the vast stage of Parisian social life for a long time. Its poor young heroine was not 20 years of age. Her life seems from the very commencement to have been A STORMY ONE.

She was born in the little town of Klynne near Moscow. Her mother died while she was still a child. Her father was a man of dissolute habits and of furious temper. In one of his fits of passion he so maltreated one of his sons that he broke the boy's leg in a manner that necessitated amputation. Arrived at years of womanhood, the beautiful Julie fled from this horrible household, and took refuge, first with a relative in Brussels, and afterwards with her aunt, Mme. Damcke, in Paris. There Rubinstein met her one evening, and she confided to him her aspirations for the stage. Struck with her extraordinary and weird loveliness, the great pianist introduced her to M. Perrin, the Director of the Comedie de Française. He in turn was captivated by the strange beauty of this singular, impetuous girl, and engaged her as a member of his company. After long and careful training she made her début in a very small part in one of Alfred de Musset's comedies. She was and only her personal charms saved her from being hissed off the stage. Nothing daunted, the manager assigned to her one of the most difficult rôles in the modern répertoire—namely: that of Mrs. Clarkson in "L'Etrangere," a part superbly played by Sarah Bernhardt, who created it. Every one of the great actors of the theatre tried to teach this lovely creature how to act. Got, Delaunay, Coquelin, Feine exhausted all their science and experience in giving her lessons, but in vain. The dramatic instinct was not there; and where that is lacking no teaching in the world will suffice to make an actress.

Then the Duke de Morny came upon the scene. Son of the hero of the coup d' etat, he is said to inherit much of the personal fascination, not only of his father, but of his uncle, Napoleon III. That he was passionately loved by the strange, wild creature that he succeeded in winning, the sequel proves only too clearly. As for himself,

HE SOON GREW TIRED OF HER.

She was exceedingly beautiful, certainly; but she was most inconveniently in love with him. She was, moreover, hot-tempered and jealous, and was much given to scenes. So the Duke attempted to break with her in a gentlemanly and ducal fashion. He had given her some furniture and some diamonds, and what more could any reasonable woman want? But Julie Feyghine was not a reasonable woman; she was an untrained, passionate child, and she had given her wild, wayward heart up wholly to the keeping of this man, who valued it so little. So, in the very act of giving him a farewell kiss,

SHE SHOT HERSELF WITH A REVOLVER.

The ball penetrated the walls of the stomach; and, after a few hours of atrocious suffering, borne with uncomplaining and stoical firmness, the poor child left a world of which she was weary, and possessed the repose that had never been her own in life, and the Duke de Morny went home to his mamma. She, the still beautiful Duchess de Sesto, is herself a Russian lady. I wonder if she found in her heart of hearts any touch of compassion for her poor young countrywoman. And so ends the story of the fairest woman that for years has dazzled Parisian audiences with the lustre of her beauty.

There is a good deal of alarm felt here just now about

THE CHOLERA.

In fact, it was reported that a fatal case of the disease had taken place at the Hospital of the Saltpêtriere, but on investigation the patient proved to have died of an aggravated case of cholera-morbus. But Paris has been so often and so terribly tried by this epidemic that no wonder she fears a fresh visitation. I was here during the period that it last made its appearance. It was in 1865, and the authorities carefully hushed up every fact concerning its presence. But every now and then some incident would reveal the existence of the scourge. Men suddenly attacked would fall prostrate in the public streets, and would be borne away by the police. There were funerals everywhere, and half the churches of the city were draped in mourning. One day a panic seized upon the people and 30,000 people fled from Paris in the course of twenty-four hours. What was then the rate of mortality, and how many victims there were in all, are statistics that have never been made public to this day. So much for the past. As to the present, the city has been

VERY UNHEALTHY ALL SUMMER.

Much of its insalubrity has been caused by the lack of water in the reservoirs that supply the city. The gutters have lacked their usual thorough daily cleansing; and in certain quarters of the city (and those amongst the most elegant and fashionable) the sewers have become exceedingly offensive. When there is no rain, the streets, outside of the Champs Elysées, send up clouds of dust from their unsprinkled roadways. The typhoid-fever has been very prevalent all through the past summer; and, if further and very thorough hygienic precautions are not taken, the consequences to the public health may be very serious. Fortunately the season has proved a cool and rainy one; for, had the summer proved hot and dry as it was last year, it would almost certainly have been signalized by the outbreak of some epidemic.

I have been quite interested of late in a young lady from Cincinnati who has come to Paris to perfect her musical education under the skillful tuition of Mme. de Lagrange. She is the who graduated at the Cincinnati College of Music and afterwards made a successful debut in "Fidelio" under the management of Mr. Mapleson. Miss Henninges has a fine stage-presence and carriage, and Mme. de Lagrange declares that she have one of the finest diomatic sopranos that has ever come under her tuition during all the years of her professorship. The gifted instructress also says that Miss Henninges is the only pupil she has ever had to whom she would like to intrust the rôle of Norma. If all prognostications prove correct, the young lady has a brilliant future before her; for soprano voices of the heavy dramatic order have become of late years exceedingly rare. The Grand Opera itself only possesses one singer of that calibre, and that is Mme. Krauss.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Minister Morton and Mrs. Morton are expected to arrive in Paris tomorrow (Saturday). The Hon. Perry Smith, of Chicago, and family are still at the Hotel Continental, with the exception of Mr. William P. Smith, who has returned to America to reënter college. Mr. and Mrs. Emery Storrs are expected to return to Paris next week from their trip to Switzerland and Italy. Paris is thinning out gradually of its foreign tourists. In another fortnight nearly all will have departed.

LUCY H. HOOPER.

An Alligator Waiting for Dinner.

Sunny South.

An alligator's throat is an animated sewer. Everything which lodges in his open mouth goes down. He is a lazy dog, and instead of hunting for something to eat, he lets his victuals hunt for him. That is, he lies with his great mouth open, apparently dead, like the 'possum. Soon a bug crawls into it, then a fly, then several gnats and a colony of mosquitoes. The alligator dosen't close his mouth yet. He is waiting for a whole drove of things. He does his eating by wholesale. A little later a lizard will cool himself under the shade of the upper jaw. Then a few frogs will hop up to catch the mosquitoes. Then more mosquitoes and gnats will light on the frogs. Finally a whole village of insects and reptiles settle down for an afternoon picnic. Then all at once there is an earthquake. The big jaw falls, the alligator blinks one eye, gulps down the whole menagerie, and opens his great front-door again for more.

A SINGULAR CASE.

A North Side German Woman Claims to Have Been Victimized by a Private Watchman Who Has Skipped with Her Bank-Book—Fears that She Is $10,000 Out.

A German woman, respectably dressed and evidently in great trouble, called upon Lieut. Lehlum at the Desplaines Street Station Friday and told him a story of how she had been deceived and robbed by a man she believed to be a policeman. He listened to her tale and then, as it was a purely North Side case, he gave her a note to Capt. Hathaway and directed her to lay the case before him at the Chicago Avenue Station. She went away, saying that she would go to see him, but did not appear at the station. A TRIBUNE reporter, who happened to run across the case, made an effort to get at the bottom of it, and was only partially successful. He learned that the German woman was the widow of a well-to-do German merchant, who left her at his death something like $10,000 in cash and bonds. She has a family of four children, and lives on Wesson street. The man in the case is said to be a private watchman named Armstrong, who traveled a beat on Division street, and made the acquaintance of the old lady, having an eye solely to her wealth. It is alleged that he went through a form of marriage that was not legal, and that directly after the wedding he got her to make a will bequeathing $6,000 to him and $1,000 to each of the four children, and a few days ago got hold of her bank-book. Thursday he disappeared, it is said, and the old lady fears that he will draw her money and leave the city. To add to her misery she is in a delicate condition, and the anxiety she suffers is almost unbearable. The thought of being penniless and deserted in her condition has driven her almost crazy, and she scarcely knows what to do. It is likely that she will state her case to Capt. Hathaway today, when the details will be brought to light.

There seems to be some question as to the old lady's sanity. It is said that she has paid visits to numbers of attorneys and banking-houses making preparations to receive a large sum of money that she seems to expect from across the ocean. Her actions on the occasion of these visits induce the belief that she is somewhat out of her mind. It is thought, therefore, that while she may have suffered wrong at the hands of some-one, her story as presented above exaggerates the truth.

DESOLATION.

For The Chicago Tribune.

O pitying Angels, weep with me,
And fold your shining wings!
Let every flower withered be,
And hushed each bird that sings.

Let waters cease their glad refrain!
Let mortals silence keep!
Let Nature die, and naught remain
But ashes, black and deep!

Strew ruins—wasted ruins—wide!
Bring sackcloth for the dead!
Mourn for the love and hope that died!
Mourn for the life that's fled!

SEPT. 25, 1882. CLARA P. BURLINGAME.

Miss Mary Anderson, the distinguished tragedienne, so universally a favorite with the Chicago public, is among the artists who talk with enthusiasm over our Chicago parlor organ, the "Kimball." Miss Anderson purchased one of the fancy designs in ebony and gold finish a year ago, thinking that she might as well have something "handsome as well as useful," and now thinks that for parlor service or orchestral effects there is no instrument on earth to be compared to a Kimball organ.

WHOLESALE POISONING.

A Fiend Arrested for Poisoning His Wife and Six Children.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The police have arrested W. G. Whittaker, residing in Pashcalville, near the city limits, charged with poisoning his wife, Jennie, aged 44, and his children, Mayson, aged 24; Mary, aged 19; Eve, 15; Sarah, 20; Bertha, 8; and Willie, 2 years. A boarder named Wayson Cooper, 19 years old, was also poisoned. Some of the sufferers are in a critical condition. It is alleged Whittaker placed arsenic in the bucket of water with which the tea was made.

WORDS OF CHEER.

For The Chicago Tribune.

They came like a whisper of fresh, green boughs
Fanned by a Southern breeze,
Freighted with tropic sweets from afar—
From lands beyond the sea;
Like pearls from the mantling cup of Joy
That I quaffed in my early youth;
Like a beaker that flashed with the crystal draught
Drawn from the well of Truth;

Like pearly tints; like neutral rays;
Like the flash of waters cool
Thro' the solemn shade of some dim old wood;
Like a star-reflecting pool.
Afar from the glow of the torrid hours
Came the gentle words to me,
To soothe, like a wanderer's dream of home,
My spirit's agony.

Like a shimmer of pearls; like a faint perfume
That floats from the lily's breast;
Like the calm that comes with the dewy hours
When the Eve-Star lights the West;
Like the holy thoughts that quiet the heart
When we dream of the life to be—
Are tender, and bright, and pure, and sweet,
The memories I cherish of thee.

I muse of a wealth of golden hair,
Of the flash of a radiant eye;
Of a clear, sweet voice whose earnest tones
Will thrall me till I die.
And my faith grows strong that the "pure of heart"
Yet gladden this world of ours;
That, amid the weeds and piercing thorns
We yet may look for the flowers.

UNION STAR, Ky. MAGGIE A. COYNE.

It Will Do It.

Food will lodge in the interstices between the teeth, and it becomes a source of their decay. Sozodont will dislodge such deposits, and prevent the mischief. All parents should provide Sozodont, and thus secure the health of their children's teeth.

BUSINESS.

The Local Money Market More Active—Foreign Exchange Still Drooping.

Another Bear Raid on Stocks in New York—The Closing Feeling Was Weak and Feverish.

The Produce Markets Active, but Generally Stronger—A Boom in October Pork—Meats Buoyant.

Corn Steadier, with a Better Shipping Demand—Close of the September Wheat Deal—Other Cereals Quiet.

FINANCIAL.

The local money market was more active on Saturday. There was a better demand for loans to make the monthly settlements in produce and other merchandise. There was no material change in rates of discount, quoted at 6@8 per cent, with 7 per cent the usual rate except for large lots. There was a moderate inquiry for money for the country, but nothing remarkable in the movement. Eastern exchange was quoted firmer, with transactions between banks at 25@50c discount per $1,000.

The clearings of the city banks are reported as $7,600,000, being an increase of $600,000.

Sterling exchange continues heavy. We quoted posted rates 482@486½; actual, 481½@486; documentay, 479@479½. Bankers' francs, 516¼@520; documentary bills, 527½; bankers' marks, 94½@95¼; documentary marks, 93¾@94. The supply of bills was only moderate.

New York opened rather firm on stocks Saturday, the majority of operators looking for an advance, though the Gould brokers said that magnate had not got through with depressing prices. The interest chiefly centered early in Louisville & Nashville, and Lackawanna, with large transactions in both at falling prices. Union Pacific and Erie preferred also weakened, and the rest were very quiet. Oregon and the other Villard stocks were unusually steady. During the last hour there was more doing, and the market closed with a feverish tone, discouraged holders being disposed to unload. The later weakness was chiefly in Michigan Central, Union Pacific, and Canada Southern. The market will open Monday at 10 o'clock, being one hour earlier than usual.

The bears say that $22,000,000 is a pretty steep price to pay for 200 miles of road by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; while the bulls claim that it will pay over 10 per cent on the investment within a few years.

Among Saturdays purchases were 10,000 shares of Reading. It was about the only stock that showed real strength.

Vanderbilt is reported to have said he will support his stocks at current prices. There was some buying of St. Paul, alleged to be for the younger Vanderbilts.

The raid of L. & N. was accompanied by rumors that it is in bad financial condition.

European financial news includes the items that American railways were steady, except Erie ⅛ higher, and S. W. ⅛ lower.

Keenan says the market was a manipulated one, with very little outside trading, but a good deal of shaking out. Keene was thought to be behind the attack on Louisville & Nashville. In the coal trade the demand for domestic sizes is reported very active this week on account of cool weather and the advance announced for October. Delaware & Hudson has advanced prices 20 cents per ton on stove and chestnut and 10 cents on egg. Reading, Wilkesbarre, and Scranton have also raised prices, and the other companies are expected to do so. No further restriction is thought necessary until the close of navigation. Freights are much higher and still advancing, with vessels scarce. The stock of domestic sizes at tide-water points is quite small and vessels are considerably delayed in loading.

The following are the footings of transactions at the Chicago Clearing-House the week ending Sept. 30:

| Date. | Clearings. | Balances. |
|---|---|---|
| Monday | $8,671,041.86 | $735,832.71 |
| Tuesday | 7,867,478.76 | 465,886.71 |
| Wednesday | 7,466,863.31 | 512,613.59 |
| Thursday | 7,250,173.33 | 412,615.00 |
| Friday | 7,784,045.25 | 467,066.62 |
| Saturday | 7,653,316.97 | 708,032.82 |
| Total | $46,901,917.66 | $3,353,676.39 |
| Corresponding week last year | 50,023,914.27 | 4,421,901.45 |

The clearings of last week were again less than those of the corresponding week last year, after two weeks in which the balance was the other way.

Following are yesterday's quotations of local stocks:

The leading produce markets were active on Saturday, and averaged higher. October pork, September wheat, and rejected corn were the most marked objects of interest. The latter sold up to the same price as No. 2, though the better grade was stronger, as was generally expected would be the case after the Ricker corn was understood to be out of the way. September wheat was wanted to fill shorts, and they were pretty generally covered, mostly at 13c above the price for October. Pork for the coming month was excited. It was generally understood that Armour has the deal. Acting on this, B. P. bought freely up to $22.00, and the crowd did the rest. Lard and meats were firmer in sympathy, the latter being very strong. Barley was stronger, and there was little change in other cereals. The receipts of grain were not so large as they were expected to be on the last day of September. Mess pork closed 77½c higher, at $22.32½@22.35 seller October and $18.90@18.92½ for January. Lard closed 2½c higher, at $12.70@12.75 for October and $11.30@11.32½ for January. Short ribs closed 25c higher, at $13.25 for October. Red winter wheat closed 1@2c higher, at $1.08 asked for car-lots. Regular wheat closed 1@2c higher, at $1.08 asked for car-lots and 93¾@93⅞c seller October. Corn closed ⅛@¼c higher, at 57⅞c bid for car-lots and 58@58⅛c for October. Oats closed unchanged at 31@31⅛c for September, 31@31⅛c for October, and 31¼@31⅜c for November. Rye closed unchanged, at 58¼@58⅜c for October and 60c for November. Barley closed 1c lower for No. 2, at 86c, and 1½c higher for No. 3, at 60½c. Hogs were firm, at $7.60@8.40 for light and at $7.70@9.15 for heavy. Cattle were fairly active at $2.75@7.50 for inferior to extra. The receipts for the week were 40,300 cattle, 64,800 hogs, and 19,400 sheep, against 36,672 cattle, 116,974 hogs, and 17,024 sheep for the corresponding week last year.

The demand for dry goods continues steadily active. Large numbers of country buyers are present, and orders by mail and telegraph are pouring in from all quarters. In boots and shoes, clothing, and millinery goods there was continued activity, and prices were firm all around. Groceries were in good demand, but the general movement is on a less generous scale than at this time last year. Prices were without important change. Dried fruits are meeting with a fair inquiry and average steady. Fish were unchanged, lake descriptions being easy, and salt-water cured ruling steady. The butter and cheese markets had no new features. Fine goods remained firm. Oils were active, with carbon, whale, straits, and miners' quoted higher. The former advanced ¼@½c and the latter 2c. Coal and pig-iron were steady.

Green fruits were in active demand, peaches being a trifle plentier and easier, with other kinds generally unchanged. Eggs were steady at 24c per doz. Building materials are moving briskly at unchanged prices. Hides are quiet, with little call from local tanners. Grease and tallow quiet and unchanged. Metals and tinners' ware are active and firm for all descriptions. Potatoes were firmer, selling at 45@50c per bu by the car-lot. Growers are not sending their stock forward very fast, being engaged in the fall farm work, and probably anticipating better prices later in the season. Wool is steady. Hay was steady at Friday's prices. In seeds timothy was dull, selling at $1.65 for prime, and flaxseed a shade easier at $1.18@1.18½, mostly at the inside.

In lake freights there was a fair inquiry for room, partly for Canadian ports, with the rates holding about as the day previous—2¼c for corn and 2½c for wheat. The charters up to the close of 'Change covered 149,000 bu corn, 25,000 bu wheat, and 100,000 bu oats.

Rail freights were nominally steady on the basis of 25c per 100 lbs on grain and 30c on provisions to New York. Through to Liverpool, via Atlantic ports, was quoted firmer at 35c asked. Through to Liverpool or Glasgow, via Montreal, was a shade below rates via our Atlantic ports.

The receipts of wheat at Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Toledo, and Detroit, reported Saturday aggregated 529,000 bu. The shipments from the same points were reported at 185,000 bu. The shipments reported from New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore were 454,000 bu.

The wheat shorts for September were generally willing to settle at about 13c above the price for October. A few orders were received to default, but they were not all obeyed. The difference was not nearly so great as in the case of the July deal; and the temptation to default was therefore much less. The aggregate of defaults was, however, estimated at a little in excess of 500,000 bu. Out of this there was at least one delivery made to the wrong party, and perhaps some others like it will reduce the total a little. The magnitude of the deal is believed to have been a little short of 8,000,000 bu, and nearly all of it was out a month ago. The long party is believed not to have made any purchases of moment since the close of August.

A telegram from New York yesterday noted the sale there at 93¼c afloat of a load of wheat which had been inspected out of store here as straight No. 2 spring. That is equal to about 81c here. The telegram said there was a little "smell" to the wheat, but otherwise it was in good order.

No. 2 rye sold above the price of No. 2 corn yesterday and on Friday, for the first time in four months. During all that weary time the rye crowd has had to eat its pie without cheese.

During September the receipts of cattle amounted to about 165,000 head. This number exceeds by something like 14,000 the receipts for any previous month. For the past six weeks cattle have been arriving at an unprecedented rate. Within that period there have been received at the Union Stock-Yards 228,000 head, which is a daily average of 6,333. Since Jan. 1 we have received some 9,800 in excess of the receipts for the same time last year.

PROVISIONS.

HOG PRODUCTS—Were active and much stronger. There was a general upward movement, which most people seemed to think was in sympathy with corn, aided by an advance of 6d on lard in Liverpool. But the real reason was a sharp pressure to fill shorts in October pork and meats, the demand being by parties who generally make quotations for other markets when they operate at all, instead of being governed by news of what others are doing. October pork advanced fully 75c per brl, and closed at the top. It was bid up to $22.00 mainly by one man's purchases, and smaller shorts sent it up the other 30c. November pork sold down 15c, then advanced 25c, and closed nearly the same as on Friday afternoon. The longer futures went up about 22½c, but closed easy. We note that a round lot (250 brls) spot pork sold 27½c above the current price for October delivery. The transactions in pork included one lot of 20,000 brls for February at $19.00, which had been sold short recently at about $18.70. Lard for October sold 10c higher, and for November 7½c higher, both losing nearly half the advantage by the close. The longer futures in lard were relatively steady. Short ribs were much higher, under purchases by a firm which is supposed to hold nearly all there are here, but preferred to buy in on the market and keep the cash stuff to sell to consumers. The stocks of meats are very small here, and there are scarcely any at other points. The summer packing of this city to date is estimated at 1,454,000 hogs, against 2,350,000 for the same seven months last year, and 2,526,000 for do in 1880.

MESS PORK—Advanced early 80c per brl, October closing 75@77½c above the close of Friday at $22.30, and November at $20.90@20.92½, or 2½@5c advance. Cash sold 2½@5c above October. Sales were reported of 250 brls cash at $22.37½; 500 brls seller September at $21.87½; 69,750 brls seller October at $21.50@22.30; 27,250 brls seller November at $20.75@21.00; 10,750 brls seller the year at $19.00@19.25; 32,500 brls seller January at $18.75@19.00; 47,250 brls seller February at $18.70@19.00; 10,250 brls seller March at $18.75@19.00; 500 brls seller May at $19.30@19.35. Total 199,000 brls. The following table shows the range of the day on the leading deals, including Call Board transactions:

| | Closed Friday, bid. | Range Saturday. | Closed do, bid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| September | $21.55 | $21.87½ | $21.87½ |
| October | 21.55 | 21.50 @22.30 | 22.30 |
| November | 20.87½ | 20.75 @21.00 | 20.90 |
| Seller the year | 19.00 | 19.00 @19.25 | 19.25 |
| January | 18.75 | 18.75 @19.00 | 18.90 |
| February | 18.72½ | 18.70 @19.00 | 18.90 |

LARD—October advanced 10c early, closing 5c higher, at $12.70@12.75, with about the same price for round lots spot or seller the month. November closed 2½c higher. Sales were reported of 7,250 tcs seller October at $12.70@12.75; 13,000 tcs seller November at $12.17½@12.30; 6,250 tcs seller the year at $11.42½@11.55; 5,750 tcs seller January at $11.25@11.32½; 3,500 tcs seller February at $11.22½@11.32½; 5,500 tcs seller March at $11.25@11.32½; 500 tcs seller May at $11.32½; 500 tcs seller June at $11.30. Total 42,250 tcs. The following table gives the range of the day, including the call transactions:

| | Closed Friday, bid. | Range Saturday. | Closed do, bid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| October | $12.67½ | $12.70 @12.75 | $12.70 |
| November | 12.22½ | 12.17½@12.30 | 12.25 |
| January | 11.27½ | 11.25 @11.32½ | 11.30 |
| February | 11.25 | 11.22½@11.32½ | 11.27½ |
| March | 11.30 | 11.25 @11.32½ | 11.30 |

MEATS—There was a strong feeling in meats. The prices of the leading cuts were as follows at the close of trading:

| | Shoulders. | Short ribs. | L. & S. clears. | Short clears. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Loose, part salted | $10.25 | $14.25 | $14.25 | $14.50 |
| Do, boxed | 10.50 | 14.50 | 14.50 | 14.75 |
| October, loose | 9.50 | 13.40 | | |

Short ribs closed at $11.40 asked for November and $9.85 asked seller January. Long clears were quoted at $14.00 loose and $14.25 boxed. Cumberlands, 14¼@14¾c boxed; long cut hams, 14@14½c; sweet-pickled hams quoted at 13¾@14¼c for 16-lb averages; green hams, same average, 13@13¼c.

Bacon quoted at 11@11½c for shoulders, 15@15½c for short ribs, 15½@15¾c for short clears, 15@15½c for hams, all canvassed and packed. Sweet-pickled shoulders, 10@10½c.

BEEF—Was quiet at $12.25@12.50 for mess, $12.50@12.75 for extra mess, and $17.50@18.00 for hams.

BREADSTUFFS AND SEEDS.

FLOUR—Was dull and unchanged. Buyers were holding off for a possible decline after the excitement of the September wheat-deal was over, while holders were firm. Sales were reported of 75 brls winters, 300 brls springs, and 375 brls rye flour—all on private terms. Total, 850 brls. Winters were quoted at $5.25@5.75 for choice, $5.00@5.25 for good, $5.25@5.75 for new, and $4.00@5.00 for supers; springs were quoted at $5.25@6.00 for good to choice; Minnesota patents are $7.25@7.50; and rye flour at $3.80@4.00.

OTHER MILLSTUFFS—Were quiet, with little change in prices. Sales were reported of 11 cars bran at $12.00@12.75, 10 cars middlings and shorts at $13.00@14.50, and 1 car coarse corn-meal at $24.00—all per ton.

REGULAR WHEAT—Was active and irregularly stronger. The market for September was generally 1¼c higher, most of the active trading being on the basis of $1.07 in settlement, but the price advanced another 1c a little before the close; it opened at $1.05 and wound up at $1.08, with sales of two lots of 100,000 bu each at the top figure, besides several smaller lots. It is understood that the September deal involved very nearly 8,000,000 bu, of which a little over 500,000 bu was unsettled at the close. Other deliveries advanced ⅝c, and closed easier at ⅛c above the latest prices of Friday. October opened at 93⅞c, sold at 93¾c, advanced to 94c, and fell back to 93¾c bid at the close. November ranged ⅛@⅛c above October, the difference being generally ⅛c, and the year was ⅝@⅞c below November. May sold sparingly at 97@97⅛c. The British markets were quoted dull but firmer on cargoes to arrive. Our receipts were large, but neither equal to those of the previous day nor to general expectation. Of course the last-named fact chiefly told on futures; it was regarded as indicating that there will not be a pressure to sell wheat from first hands at the reduced prices of the coming month; and this helped to give confidence, though some folks thought there will be a flood of deliveries on Monday. The September shorts were numerous, and filled in freely at the price set by the longs. The following table shows the range of the day on the leading deals:

| | Closed Friday, bid. | Range Saturday. | Closed do, bid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Seller September | $1.05¾ | $1.05 @1.08 | $1.08 |
| Seller October | 93⅞ | 93⅞@ 94 | 93¾ |
| Seller November | 93⅞ | 93⅞@ 94⅛ | 93⅞ |
| Seller the year | 92⅞ | 92¾@ 93⅛ | 93 |

WINTER WHEAT—Advanced 1@2c, with round lots generally ½c higher than car-lots, owing to the demand to fill September contracts. Spot sales were made of 205 cars red, including long-berried, at $1.05¼@1.08; 134 cars lower grades at 80@91c; 4 cars by sample at 60@92½c. Total about 172,000 bu.

SPRING WHEAT—Was 1@2c higher, with round lots generally at a premium of ½c over car-lots. Spot sales were made of 218 cars and 70,000 bu Nos. 1 and 2 at $1.05¾@1.08; 25 cars No. 3 at 80c; 2 cars rejected at 61c; 32 cars by sample at 70@83½c. Total about 257,000 bu.

CORN—Was active and stronger. The near futures advanced about 1c, and closed ⅛@¼c above the latest prices of Friday. The British markets were called dull and lower, Liverpool being quoted at 6s 5d per cental, which is 2½d below the last preceding quotation. But our receipts were much smaller, and the last day of the month did not bring in any canal corn, while there was a widespread sense of relief over the news that the Ricker corn had been about cleared out of the way. It was also supposed that the deliveries of Monday on October contracts will all find their way into the hands of shippers. There was a good shipping demand for the outside grades on Saturday, and rejected sold at one time at the same price as No. 2. It was remarked that several parties were buying corn who had held aloof from the market pending the uncertainty about the Ricker deals, and there was a rather widespread idea that the market will rule stronger now that that uncertainty is over. Car-lots of No. 2 closed at 57⅞c bid, with rejected at 57⅛c, and 60c bid for high mixed. Spot sales were reported of 81 cars high mixed at 60@60½c; 40,000 bu and 71 cars No. 2 at 57⅛@58⅛c; 9,100 bu and 59 cars rejected at 57@58c; 11 cars by sample at 58@59½c on track; and 11 cars do at 58@61c free on board. Total about 175,000 bu. Seller October opened at 58⅛c, sold down to 57⅞c, advanced to 58⅛c, and receded to 58c bid at the close. Seller the month ranged ⅛c below to ⅛c above October. November was ⅛c below to the same price as October. Seller the year was 4⅞@5c below November, and May sold 1¼@1½c below the year. January sold at 49⅞@50c, closing at 49⅞c. The following table shows the range of the day on the leading deals:

| | Closed Friday, bid. | Range Saturday. | Closed do, bid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Spot, fresh receipts | 57¼ | 57¼@58⅛ | 57⅞ |
| Seller September | 57¾ | 57¾@58⅛ | 58 |
| Seller October | 58 | 58 @58⅛ | 58 |
| Seller November | 57¾ | 57¾@58⅛ | 58⅛ |
| Seller the year | 53 | 52⅞@53⅛ | 53 |
| Seller May | 51⅜ | 51⅜@51⅝ | 51⅜ |

OATS—Were dull, with the aggregate trading higher than any day during the week. Early in the day prices were a shade firmer, with sales ⅛@⅛c above Friday's closings, but for the remainder of the session sales dragged, and at the close cash and seller October were at about the latest prices of the day previous, while November was ⅛c higher, and the later futures were ⅛c lower. No. 2 spot sold at 30⅝@31⅛c, closing at 31c. No. 2 white sold at 35c, and rejected at 28c. Seller the month was dull at a range of 30⅝@31⅛c, closing at 31c. Seller October ranged at 31@31⅛c, closing at 31@31⅛c. Seller November sold at 31⅛@31⅜c, closing at 31⅛@31⅜c. Seller the year ranged at 30⅞@31⅛c, closing at 31@31⅛c. January sold at 31⅞c, and May at 33⅝@33⅞c, closing at 33⅞@33⅞c. Samples were active and strong. Cash sales were made of 17 cars at 30⅞@31c for No. 2, 35c for No. 2 white, and 28c for rejected in store; 15 cars by sample at 30@32c for rejected mixed, 34@35c for rejected white, 32@32½c for No. 2, and 36@37c for No. 2 white on track; 45 cars at 33@35c for rejected mixed, 32@36c for good to choice rejected white, 32@35c for No. 2, and 35½@38c for No. 2 white (the former at country point) free on board. Total equal to about 62,000 bu. Following shows the closing prices of Friday with the range Saturday:

| No. 2 oats. | Closed Friday, bid. | Range Saturday. | Closed do, bid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Spot | 31 | 30⅝@31⅛ | 31 |
| Seller September | 31 | 30⅝@31⅛ | 31 |
| Seller October | 31 | 31 @31⅛ | 31⅛ |
| Seller the year | 31 | 30⅞@31⅛ | 31⅛ |
| Seller May | 33⅞ | 33⅝@33⅞ | 33⅞ |

RYE—Was steady for cash and future, No. 2 selling at 57⅛@58c, the latter gilt-edged, and rejected at 52c. Cash sales were made of 29 cars and 5,000 bu at 57⅛@58c for No. 2 in store; 2 cars by sample at 54@55c for rejected on track; 4 cars at 59c for No. 2; and 53@55c for rejected free on board. Total equal to about 23,000 bu.

BARLEY—Was strong, with considerable activity in No. 3 at an advance of 1@1½c. There was no demand for No. 2. Sales of spot were made at 86c; No. 3 sold at 59@60½c. Samples were firm for good grades, with slow sales, while the poorer kinds were not wanted. Cash sales were made of 2 cars and 10,000 bu at 86c for No. 2 and 59@60½c for No. 3 in store; 40 cars by sample at 50@55c for No. 4; 61@85c for good to choice No. 2; and [illegible] for No. 2 on track; 7 cars at 50@55c for No. 4 free on board. Total equal to about 55,000 bu.

SEEDS—Timothy showed light receipts, but with the lack of any special demand the market ruled weak. Sales of prime were made at $1.65 and good to choice were quotable at $1.55@1.75. Flaxseed was a shade easier, selling at $1.18@1.18½ on track—mostly at the latter price. Prime clover was quotable at $4.75@4.80. Sales were reported of 1 car and 423 bags timothy-seed at $1.61@1.67; 74 cars and 5,000 bu flaxseed at $1.18@1.19½ cash on track and delivered, and $1.17¼ for November.

SLEEP AND DEATH.

Translated from the German for The Chicago Tribune.

The shades of night were drawing on apace,
The sun had well-nigh run his wonted race,
When Sleep and Death, like brothers hand-in-hand,
Strolled forth upon the Earth from Spirit-land.
They sat them down upon a hillock green,
Near man's abode, and yet by man unseen.
O'er all a peaceful quiet seemed to come,
And in the distance vesper-bells grew dumb.
Noiseless as is their wont, the two reclined—
Good spirits, bound to bless mankind.
At last from his moss-covered couch arose
The kind Sleep-angel, friend of sweet repose.
With unseen hands the seeds of sleep he shed,
And zephyrs bore them to the silent bed.
Now gentle slumber locked the lids of all;
From old to young each felt the welcome thrall.
The sick man felt no more his lingering pains;
The poor forgot their need, the rich their gains.
The arms of rest embraced each weary one,
And perfect quiet told the night begun.

His task performed, the Genius thus began:
"How sweet a duty thus to visit man!
When morn with rosy fingers paints the sky,
The world, refreshed, will lift my praises high.
What joy in secret thus to bless mankind—
To be by Deity for this designed!"
But Death, the "King of Shades," sat sadly by,
And sighed and wept as angels weep and sigh.
"Alas! O favored one!" the angel cried,
"That I might be in this with you allied!
For men revile me when my scythe annoys,
And name me fell destroyer of their joys."
But gentle Sleep his answer thus addressed:
"Will not the good awake to call thee blest?
Are we not brethren—servants of the One Whose will in Earth and Heaven shall be done?"
Thus reassured, Death clasped his brother's hand,
And thus they sped away to Spirit-land.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. GEORGE W. HATCH.

What's Saved Is Gained.

Workingmen will economize by employing Dr. Pierce's Medicines. His "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" and "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanse the blood and system, thus preventing fevers and other serious diseases, and curing all scrofulous and other humors. Sold by druggists.

Rev. Father Wilds'
EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother to the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.
MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor, affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent. stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.
Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA
Cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

CATARRH AND ECZEMA.

No argument is necessary to show that these diseases are of a blood origin; S. S. S., therefore, being composed of the most powerful vegetable alteratives, destroys the disease, root and branch, by putting the blood in a pure, healthy state.

"S. S. S. for Catarrh is a sure cure; cured me after all other treatment had failed."
C. C. BURNS, Greencastle, Ind.

Rev. W. J. Robinson, member North Georgia Conference: "Have taken S. S. S. for a clear case of Eczema; eruption has disappeared and I am well."

"Have taken S. S. S. for Catarrh with great benefit; think three bottles more will completely cure me."
E. R. BROWN, Spartanburg, S. C.

J. W. Cottrell, St. Louis, Mo.: "I regard S. S. S. as a most wonderful remedy, and have no doubt but that it will cure my Catarrh."

"S. S. S. has cured me of a troublesome Catarrh which has baffled the treatment of all the best physicians North and South."
S. L. McBRIDE, Atlanta, Ga.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 17, 1882.
I have had what my physicians termed Eczema for over eight years. Came five years ago to this place to live in order that I might be cured. During that time I energetically applied all the healing art of the physicians here (both internal and external) in connection with the celebrated Thermal hot baths, and in addition have taken more than a hundred bottles of various medicines without the desired result. Up to three months ago I had almost believed my case incurable, and began taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) with all the skepticism possible. The eruption was at first worse, yet there were some signs of improvement, and after three months' use of S. S. S. I am sound and well, not a sign of the eruption, my skin smooth and clear, and my general health as good as it ever was. If there are any doubting ones, let them write to me here.
D. S. PRATT.

From the Great Drug House of the Northwest.

We do not hesitate to say that for a year past we have sold more of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) than all other blood purifiers combined, and with most astonishing results. One gentleman who used half a dozen bottles says that it has done him more good than treatment which has cost him $1,000. Another who has used it for a Scrofulous affection reports a permanent cure from its use. Yours truly,
VAN SHAACK, STEVENSON & CO.

HAWLEY'S
Improvements in House Construction, Floor Warming and Ventilation, and Heating by Air Radiators.

Nothing succeeds like success, may well be said of the popularity with which these inventions are received. Thinking men universally commend; insurance companies say everybody should be obliged to build as you do for the protection of the city; all heating firms say, We like to heat your buildings, because so much tighter than others.
Our Air Radiators beat any other known plan of heating.
These inventions are covered by seven separate patents, and our rights will be defended. We want agents in every city, and all can make it pay, as our terms are very liberal. Either one of these patents may be used separately, or two, three, or all in one building. Notice the names of some of the gentlemen who have recently adopted our plan of construction: S. H. Wheeler, James Charnley, C. W. Fullerton, H. H. Shufeldt, Amos Grannis, H. A. Huntington, W. K. Nixon, W. D. Walker, O. F. Aldis. Send for circular.

THE STAGE.

A Very Prosperous Week at All the Chicago Theatres.

Remarkable Pecuniary Success of Margaret Mather at Cincinnati.

Local Amusement Notes—Forthcoming Attractions at Hooley's, Haverly's, and the Grand.

Review of the Past Week.

The attendance at all of the theatres during the week has been very good, and any one looking over the audience can see that Chicago's floating population is, at present, very large. Immense audiences have witnessed Mr. John McCullough's magnificent performance of Virginius at Haverly's, and the "standing-room" sign has been in use several times. At Hooley's Miss Marion Elmore has drawn large houses with her play of "Chispa," showing that her personal popularity here is very great, as her play is not a strong one by any means, and the supporting company, taken as a whole, is only fair. But her rollicking, Lotta-like ways have made her a favorit with theatre-goers, and, even though her emotional powers are weak, she will undoubtedly make money for her managers and friends for herself. The Hanlons have received a fair share of patronage at McVicker's, and have presented their funny and absurd "Le Voyage en Suisse" to large houses. At the Academy of Music the new Irish star, William J. Scanlan, has been doing a large business in "Friend and Foe," Bartley Campbell's new play. He has made a good impression, and has demonstrated the fact that an Irish comedian can be seen to advantage without a green necktie, a bit of blackthorn, and a company of redcoats. At the Olympic Denier's "Humpty-Dumpty" company has appeared to large audiences, and the Criterion and Lyceum have been well patronized.

The Olympic's Attractions.

Manager Meade has just recovered from a severe illness, and is at his post again at the Olympic. He was unable to furnish for last Sunday's TRIBUNE a list of his attractions for the season, as the other managers did, and it is printed herewith. The staff of the Olympic is as follows: James H. Meade, manager; James A. Barnes, director of amusements; Tony Asbach, musical director; E. P. Young, treasurer; Cheney Parker, advertising agent; Thomas Tipping, master machinist; Abraham Jacobs, master of properties. Among the engagements made are the "Jesse James" combination, Barry and Fay, Leavitt's "All Star" specialty combination, Leavitt's Rentz-Santley burlesque company, Frank Frayne, Pat Rooney's variety combination, Oliver Doud Byron, Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrels, Leavitt's specialty company, Stanley's European burlesque company, Leavitt & Porter's variety company, Kiralfy's "Black Crook," Castle's celebrities, the Big Four variety combination, Manchester & Jennings' variety company, and Niles & Evans' variety company. The Olympic is becoming quite a popular resort under the new management.

Miss Margaret Mather.

Manager Robert Miles, of Cincinnati, at whose theatre Miss Mather recently played an engagement, telegraphed Manager Hill as follows: "In reference to the engagement of Miss Mather, just closed, I feel impelled to express my satisfaction at its success artistically and financially. The latter is the proof of the former, for in matters dramatic more than in most things does the proverb hold true, "Vox populi, vox Dei." With criticisms I have, however, nothing at present to do, but am gratified to say that Miss Mather has played to more money than ever did any female star in the same characters at the Grand Opera-House, not excepting Neilson, whose gross receipts during her last engagement Miss Mather has exceeded by $2,500." It would appear from this that Mr. Hill's young star is gaining a hold on the public.

Miss Mary Anderson.

Miss Mary Anderson, the popular young tragedienne, will begin an engagement of two weeks at McVicker's Theatre Monday evening Oct. 9. Her repertoire for the first week of the engagement is as follows: Monday, "Romeo and Juliet"; Tuesday, "Ingomar"; Wednesday, "Ingomar"; Thursday, "The Hunchback"; Friday, "Lady of Lyons"; Saturday matiné, "Pygmalion and Galatea"; Saturday night, "Love." There will be no Wednesday matinees during the engagement. Miss Anderson is supported by a strong company and her engagement has already opened auspiciously. The sale of seats begins Thursday morning, Oct. 5, at 9 o'clock.

Local Amusement Notes.

F. M. Chapman, business agent for Miss Mary Anderson, is in the city preparing for his star's opening.

Sid C. France will appear at the Criterion his week in his thrilling sensation "Dead to the World." A variety olio precedes the drama.

Prof. Samuel Kayzer, the elocutionist, has severed his connection with the comic opera stage, and is preparing for a series of entertainments with his pupils.

Collmer, Isenstein and Wurster's German operetta company will make their first appearance this season at McVicker's this evening in the "Chimes of Normandy."

At the Olympic this week a bloodthirsty drama entitled "Jesse James, the Bandit King," will be seen. The two horses owned by the outlaw are in the cast, and the piece is said to be very realistic.

Miss Laura Don will present her new play, "A Daughter of the Nile," at the Grand Opera-House for one week, beginning Monday, Oct. 9. The Miln-Burleigh combination will follow her at the same theatre, opening Oct. 16 in "Hamlet."

The last performance of "Chispa" will be given at Hooley's this evening. Mr. George Osborne, who makes a good character hit of Indian Jack, leaves the company at Omaha and goes back to 'Frisco to form a "Chispa" company of his own for the road.

Barry & Fay's comedy company appears at the Academy of Music this week in their funny bit of romance entitled "Irish Aristocracy at Muldoon's Picnic." The pair are droll Irish comedians, and their new piece, by William Carlton, is said to be quite clever.

Joe Emmet, the German dialect comedian, will present at Hooley's tomorrow night a new version of his old play entitled "Fritz Among the Gypsies." Next Sunday evening Salsbury's "Troubadours" appear at the same house in "Green-Room Fun"—their latest burlesque.

At McVicker's this week Miss Jeffreys-Lewis, Mr. Newton Gotthold, and a strong company will present "La Belle Russe," a play written by David Belasco, of San Francisco. It is said to be a powerful emotional drama, and to have made a hit at Wallack's Theatre last season. The engagement is for one week.

Variety is offered at the Lyceum this week and the bill includes the Spanish Students, Harry Thorne and Maggie Willett, Varney and D' Ome, Pearl Dresser, the Lorbeys, McGlone and McAvoy, the Laverde sisters, Shannon and Vidocq, Charles Morgan, Mlle. Aida, and Minnie May Thompson. The performance concludes nightly with a pantomime entitled "Hanky Panky."

The testimonial benefit to "Uncle" Dan Emmet, the veteran minstrel, which takes place next Thursday afternoon, promises to be a success. Mr. John McCullough will recite "The Little Hero"; Col. John L. Burleigh, of the Miln-Burleigh combination, will appear in recitations; J. K. Emmet, the popular Fritz, will sing some of his most popular songs; and the beneficiary will make his appearance with the "fiddle" which gave birth to "Dixie." Among the volunteers who will appear are Maggie Willett and Harry Thorne, the Hollywood Children, Minnie May Thompson, Mealey and Hague, Paul Dresser, Golden and Drayton, John F. Sherry, and the entire Academy of Music orchestra under Otto Vogler.

Mr. J. C. Vale, the gentleman who piloted Oscar Wilde about the country, is arranging for a series of illustrated lectures on foreign countries, which are to take place at Farwell Hall, Oct. 14 to Nov. 2. The lecturer is Mr. H. H. Ragan and his entertainments are on the plan of those given by Stoddart. Mr. Ragan will be given a complimentary reception at Farwell Hall, Monday evening, Oct. 9, upon which occasion he will deliver a lecture on "Paris, the Magnificent," illustrating it with views.

This week Mr. John McCullough will appear in a round of Shakspearean characters at Haverly's Theatre. His repertoire is as follows: Monday, "Othello"; Tuesday, "Macbeth"; Wednesday, "Richelieu"; Thursday, "Othello"; Friday, "King Lear"; Saurday matinée, "The Hunchback"; Saturday, "Richard III." These pieces will be mounted and cast in splendid style, and large houses are assured. There will be no Wednesday matinée. "The Gladiator" is in preparation.

The monster whale of Engelhardt, which arrived here a week ago, is now on exhibition. For the last few days a large force of men have been employed, and a complete stage has been constructed, and a marine scene painted by Charles Gasche, showing the leviathan desporting himself in his native element. In the foreground massive rocks form a border for the striking picture. Never before has the whale been so regally bestowed, and it is as near an illustration of how the monarch of the sea looks when on old ocean's bosom as it is possible to produce. The entire front of the Chicago Museum has been redecorated, and the number and variety of the attractions draw very large crowds. For a pleasant place to visit and also to learn much that is instructive to both young and old, the museum is well adapted, and its popularity has become an established fact.

Amusements Abroad.

Tom Keene's real name is Thomas W. Eggleston.

Manager Abbey intends to charge the American public $3 per head for the privilege of seeing Mrs. Langtry act.

Anna Dickinson is rusticating for a few weeks at Honesdale, Pa. A week since she delivered a lecture "Joan of Arc," for the benefit of a church guild there.

Clifton W. Tayleure, the well-known autheure, acteure, and billiard-playeure, is playing Archibald Carlyle in "East Lynne" with Henrietta Chanfrau through New England.

Charles Wyndham, while in New York, will inspect the working of the double stage of the Madison Square Theatre with a view to its use in the new theatre he is building in London.

"An Old Stager" is the title of the new play written by Jessup & Gill for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Florence. The Florences will commence their season Oct. 23 at the Grand Opera-House, New York, with "The Ticket-of-Leave Man.

The Londoners think that Miss Fannie Davenport is endeavoring to win their favor through her handsome toilets, and the newspapers seem bent on impressing her with the truth of the saying that "fine feathers do not make fine birds."

The details of the dramatic festival in Cincinnati have at least been definitly agreed upon. McCullough, Barrett, and Mary Anderson will appear conjointly, supported by people picked from their own companies. Keene, it is said, will also help to make the occasion festive.

A member of James O'Neill's company, writing to a friend in this city, says that they are doing a very poor business in the East, and that the play and the cast, himself included, are being slaughtered by the newspapers. It appears that Mr. O'Neill has been brought to a realizing sense of the fact that Chicago's newspapers were pretty near right when they told him that his "American King" was not a good play.

Every plot to discover what attractions Col. Haverly secured during his trip to Europe has dismally failed. The other day a professional interviewer, quite in despair, went up to Col. Haverly and said: "Tell me one thing. Is it true that you have engaged Queen Victoria to star in America as Rosalind in 'As You Like It,' against Mrs. Langtry?" The Colonel never flinched. "Good heavens!" he cried, "has Gladstone given me away, when he was sworn to secrecy?"

The cast for "Young Mrs. Winthrop," Bronson Howard's new play, which will receive its initial performance at the Madison Square Theatre Oct. 9, has just been completed. The play is in four acts, calling for two changes of scene. The action is laid in the mansion of Douglas Winthrop, a wealthy New York society man. The following is the cast: Douglas Winthrop, Mr. George Clarke; Constance, his wife, Miss Carrie Turner; Mrs. Ruth Winthrop, his mother, Mrs. T. Whiffen; Mrs. Dick Chetwynd, a lady of society, Mrs. Agnes Booth; Buxton Scott, Mr. Thomas Whiffen; Dr. Mellbanke, Mr. W. J. Lemoyne; Herbert, Mr. Henry Miller; Edith, sister of Constance, Miss Maude Stewart; Martha, Mrs. Della Stillwell.

SHIPHERD SUED.

An Unsatisfied Claim for $200 Against the South American Billionaire.

New York Sun, Sept. 27.

Jacob R. Shipherd was yesterday defendant in Marine Court, Part II., before Judge Hyatt, in a suit in which one of his creditors sought to compel him to pay $200. The suit grew out of the indebtedness of a bank which Shipherd controlled in Chicago, and which collapsed in 1874. One of the creditors of the bank was Thomas Keiher, of Chicago, who, in common with others, received in acknowledgment of his claim a paper, of which the following is a copy:

SETTLEMENT CERTIFICATE.

No. 17. $80.

CHICAGO, July 7, 1874.

The undersigned will pay to the order of Thomas Keiher, upon surrender of this certificate, properly indorsed, on demand, eighty dollars, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, value received. JACOB R. SHIPHERD.

At the side of the certificate was this:

This certificate may be converted, as cash, into real estate at or before maturity, at holder's option.

Mr. Keiher did not get a chance to demand his money in Chicago, because Shipherd left town. When Mr. Keiher found that Shipherd had located in New York he employed Lawyers Peckham & Tyler to try to collect his bill. Shipherd declined to pay, and his defense is that he "loaned to the plaintiff, at his request," the sum of which he demands payment "in a note delivered to the plaintiff at the said time, and which note is set forth in the said complaint, and he demands judgment for said sum, with interest from July 7, 1874, and which shall be an offset to any recovery by the plaintiff." Mr. Peckham characterizes Shipherd's position as that of a debtor pleading his own notes as a claim against his creditors.

The case occupied the court all day yesterday. Shipherd was on the witness-stand during the greater part of the day. Here are some of the questions and answers:

Q.—Did your clerk, Foster Shores, perjure himself when he swore that you hid yourself when the rush of unfortunate depositors threatened you? A.—He did. He lied out of whole cloth. He told an outrageous lie.

Q.—Did Mr. Brown, your Chicago lawyer, perjure himself when he swore that you hid? A.—He did; he lied.

Q.—Did the plaintiff perjure himself when he swore that these certificates were all you gave him for his deposit in your bank? A.—Yes; it is a lie.

Some of Shipherd's answers were very long and discursive, and Judge Hyatt ordered him to desist from delivering lectures, and to answer the questions put to him. In the course of his testimony Shipherd swore that he had paid all his Chicago creditors.

In his remarks to the jury Mr. Peckham spoke of Mr. Shipherd as "a parson, yet an impostor and swindler; a banker, yet now undergoing supplementary proceedings; and a lawyer, yet an ignoramus."

The case is to be continued today. [A verdict has since been given for Keiher.]

Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, at the residence of the bride's mother, No. 249 Hermitage avenue, was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Edward S. Olcott, son of Mr. Charles Olcott, of the firm of Olcott, Duross & Co., of St. Louis, and Miss Florence D. Hobbs, of this city. The attendants were Mr. J. D. and Miss Alma Hobbs, brother and sister of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Kittredge.

John Curran Keegan and Miss Mary Anne O'Conor were married Sept. 25 at St. Patrick's Church, La Salle, Ill., by the Rev. D. Downing.

Miss Nellie Warner, daughter of Mr. Francis Warner, will be married to Henry B. Gates Tuesday evening at the residence of her parents, No. 247 Hermitage avenue.

Social Happenings.

The First M. E. Church held its closing sociable for the conference year last Thursday night. A goodly number was present of both old and young. After musical exercises, conducted by Brother Martin, in the audience-room, the company adjourned to the lecture-room for refreshments and social intercourse. Dr. Williamson and his wife were surprised with a fine French clock and an elegant silver tea-set, presented by their friends of the church, accompanied with appropriate remarks by Judge Goodrich, Ald. Dixon, and Brother and Sister Thompson. The Doctor responded in a very feeling manner.

The Juvenile Social Club held its first meeting last Monday night at No. 3215 Prairie avenue, and elected the following officers: President, Charles Hazard; Secretary, Will Overman; Treasurer, William Crooks.

Society Topics.

The cards at the places of the ladies at a dinner party lately given by ex-Gov. Leland Stanford in San Francisco to the millionaires of the Pacific coast were of thick white satin four inches wide and six long, exquisitely hand-painted, and carrying the menu in gilt letters, while beside each plate was a little old-gold basket of roses, each basket bearing different species.

The Placque portrait, the exquisite new style recently introduced by the art photographer, Rocher, requires so much time and care in finishing that orders for the holidays must be left this month or next at the latest.

And now, as the persimmon ripens and the leaves take on a tint of dead gold, the young lady whom you met in the mountains during the summer will send you her card, that you may call upon her or supply her with tickets for the matinée and a Mrs. Langtry performance.

The universal verdict of all ladies using sewing silks or embroidery silks is that the popular brand known as "Corticelli" is the best on account of its strength, smooth finish, and brightness of color.

A picturesque touch is given to girls' simplest toilets by the quaint hats they wear. The newest of these is the fish-wife poke that may be folded double and flat and carried under the arm.

Since the occupancy of No. 83 State street by James Hall the store has become very popular on account of the elegant stock of millinery and hair goods carried by him and the very moderate prices charged.

A lady of fashion has written to the London Times begging all women to set their faces against wearing birds on their bonnets or costumes. If they don't set their faces against the birds in their bonnets now, what do they do?

The lady visitors to our city find nothing more interesting than the superb display of hair goods at Burnham's Central Music-Hall Hair-Store. Courteous treatment to all.

Boston lovers now write their love letters in cipher, and when the old man finds a note reading "No. 5—before—x—18—page 21—A. B. C.—17," he drops it like a hot potato.

Incomparable, superb, exquisite, graceful, artistic, faultless fitting are some of the terms used by Keller's patrons to express their admiration of his ladies' boots. 48 Monroe-st.

Velvet and felt are the materials settled upon for ladies' bonnets, and the importations continue to be made up of small bonnets for dress, medium large pokes for those to whom they are becoming, and very large round hats.

Mrs. S. Prior has returned from the East with all the latest novelties, and will be pleased to see all her customers and all ladies desiring choice millinery, at her parlors, 165 Wabash avenue.

Dark woolen dresses will be worn by girls 2 years of age and more, while white dresses are confined to smaller girls, and even these have some dark dresses in their outfits.

An increase of business has compelled Mme. Angely to open a more central dress-making establishment at 170 State street, opposite the Palmer House. Ladies will find it to their interest to call.

The latest novelties from Paris in ladies' handkerchiefs are daisies, wild flowers, or pansies embroidered in their natural colors on black borders.

A philosopher objects to Vienna because the "air is too balmy, the women too beautiful, and Strauss' music warms the blood too much."

For frames and artists' materials go to the Chicago Artist Supply Company, 232 Wabash avenue, Edward Hammarskold manager. Please send for catalogue.

Many of the new small bonnets have soft cap crowns of velvet, some of which are beautifully embroidered. There are also striped plush and tufted plush crowns that are very handsome.

The choice and exclusive styles of millinery shown by Mrs. M. E. Taylor, designer and trimmer, at 567 Wabash avenue, are creating a sensation among the ladies of the South Side.

The quaint and picturesque styles for girls' dresses seen during the summer will prevail throughout the demi-season.

Mrs. G. L. Brown has just returned from Paris with the latest designs in bonnets and hats. A grand "opening" will soon be announced.

It is thought that the fashion of bracelets on the arms and wrists of men is spreading. Salvini and Rossi wear broad bands of silver, framing medals of St. George, riveted upon their upper right arms; the Archduke Rudolph wears a bracelet of chain-mail.

Pure homeopathic medicines, medical books, and family cases at Boericke & Tafel's Homeopathic Pharmacy, 234 Wabash avenue.

In boring an artesian well in California the drill struck the bones of a whale sixty feet under ground. He was perhaps looking for a short cut from the Pacific to Hudson's Bay.

"Radiant Home" and "High Art and Low Feed" parlor heaters, brass fenders, and fire sets at Harbeson & Judd's, 88 N. Clark street.

Sleep-walking used to be considered a strange thing, but since policemen do it and draw pay at the same time the novelty has worn off.

Young men should spend their evenings at H. B. Bryant's Business College. Valuable knowledge can be obtained during the winter.

If a man could only lose both cuff-buttons at the same time it would be all right. It is losing one that kills him.

You may laugh at cold weather if you buy a Western Empire Furnace of Hatch & Breeze, 50 State-st.

For bridal-dress garniture white lilacs are now combined with orange-blossoms, according to the French custom.

"Bontecou," our leading modiste, 189 Wabash av., is in receipt of latest Parisian styles.

America is once more victorious over a foreign foe. A San Francisco heiress has refused an English lord.

Latest styles in hair goods at Reidy & Kline's, 163 Wabash avenue.

The time wasted by men in feeling in the wrong pocket would make the next generation rich if they had it.

Paragon ranges, Seavey's furnace, invincible and Hecla stoves. Seavey & Co., 49 State.

A newspaper in Maine, in soliciting donations for a prison library, says: "Any one having a copy of 'Gates Ajar' or 'Gates Wide Open' will confer a favor by sending it to the librarian of the prison."

F. Heinig, 193 Dearborn street, makes our clothes, thanks to THE TRIBUNE's hint.

A Brooklyn man is never down on monopolies until he is refused a free pass on the street-cars or receives a bogus nickel in change at the ferry dock.

The old reliable Stewart parlor, office, and store stoves. Dalton, 51 State.

There are now about 2,400 different diseases, and every year the strain on a single patent medicine becomes harder and harder, yet the medicine stands up manfully and promises to cure them all.

As a proof of the genuineness of his father's posthumous work, and probably owing to the unfortunate controversy on the subject, Julian Hawthorne is to have photographed pages of the manuscript bound with the printed pages of the romance.

Mrs. Hampson, of 326 East Indiana street, has returned from the East with choice designs in dress costumes, and will be pleased to see her patrons and others.

FALLING STARS.

For The Chicago Tribune.

We three were walking beside the sea;
My friend and the love of my heart were with me.

The maid gazed up in the sparkling sky;
She spake, midway 'tween a laugh and a sigh:

"Let us wish and watch the Milky Way,
'Twill be granted if a star fall, they say."

Then silence sank in the hearts of all;
We waited and watched for a star to fall.

Swift, in the sight of my friends and I,
A meteor shot from the Western sky!

A glad cry broke from the lips of three,
When the star was lost in the heaving sea.

I scanned her face in the pale, pure light,
As, breathless, she followed the meteor's flight.

I saw her eyes from the skies above
Were turned to the face of the man I love;

And his face, as dark as a face could be,
Was lit by a smile that I dared not see.

Low from the hight of Heaven above
Two stars have fallen from a world of love.

RUPTURE CURED.

August 25, 1882.

DR. PARKER:
Dear Sir: I am free to say I was discouraged when I called to see you. For ten months all truss adjusters had failed to hold my rupture, which was scrotal hernia much larger than a goose-egg. Thanks to your superior skill and new appliance I now consider myself as sound as I ever was, not having worn a truss for more than a year, and am often lifting in and out wagon weights of 100 pounds or more. My age is 50 years.
